Dive From a Clyde Bridge

A professional diver known as "Dare-devil Tootser" created some sensation by diving from Jamaica Bridge, Glasgow, into the Clyde. The tide was low, and necessitated a dive of about 40 feet. Mounting the side of the bridge he made a graceful descent into the water, rising to the surface almost immediately.

Gipsy's Tragic Death

A tragic scene was witnessed in a hotel at Rhyl, Wales. Mrs. Sarah Antrobus, a gipsy, went into the hotel and asked for a glass of rum and said, "Oh, dear, there is no cab to take me home." Before she could be served she fell back and expired.

Fox in a Garden

In his garden in Burford road, in the heart of Nottingham, Mr. David Willman saw a fox prowling about. Chased into a shed the animal was captured, but it was not chained up before it had bitten Mr. Willman badly in the hand. The fox is a fine specimen, with a splendid brush.

Thunder Causes Suicide

At the inquest on Mrs. Ada Hardy, aged fifty-six, of Northwich who hung herself in a tool house, her suicide was attributed to a thunderstorm.

"She had been suffering from depression and sciatica," said Dr. Terry, "and was a very highly strung woman. There was a great thunderstorm in the district during the night. I think that this roused her, and that, feeling miserable, the impulse came on her then."

Bath's Roman Temple

When Aquae Sulis, as Bath was called in the first century, was a fashionable Roman health resort, a temple was erected to the worship of Sul-Minerva, a combination of Sul—the native deity of the Hot Springs—and the Roman goddess, Minerva. Quite recently a replica of the portico of this temple was opened by the Marquis of Bath in the Sydney Gardens.

Cupid on the Ocean

A romance of the sea ended in the orthodox manner when Mr. David Oscar Hughes, of Liverpool, an officer of the Elder-Dempster line, and Mrs. Elizabeth Case-Case, widow of a Leicester jeweller, who met during a voyage in the Mediterranean, were married at Matlock. The day after the ceremony Mr. Hughes had to leave Matlock for Liverpool to rejoin his ship for a voyage to West Africa Mrs. Hughes who is seventy-four, is interested in several businesses in Leicester. Her husband is only twenty-eight.

Supposed Spy Insane

He was discharged by the Portsmouth magistrates, and at once taken charge of by a relieving officer for conveyance to where he will be placed under supervision.

Horse's Great Leap

An extraordinary jumping achievement by a cob belonging to Mr. Baker, an Ascot butcher, was witnessed in High street, Ascot. The horse, which was harnessed to an ordinary butcher's cart, took fright, and as it bolted along the High street it broke away from the cart. Coming to an open carriage, which was being drawn across the road, the horse jumped clean over the carriage, one of its hind hoofs cutting the rubber tire of the carriage as the horse came down on the other side.

Extraordinary Bigamy Story

An extraordinary story was told in connection with a charge of bigamy brought against a man named William Davidson Cheyne, at Aberdeen. Cheyne admitted having married a widow belonging to Cullen while his wife was alive. In extenuation of the offence it was stated that the woman whom he bigamously married saw his wife before the marriage took place, and he acknowledged that she was his wife. The widow paid for everything with her own money, and was aware that he was married. Sheriff Young passed sentence of six months' imprisonment.

A UNIQUE POST OFFICE

SUITS FOR SHIPWRECKS

In One a Person Can Live For Days in the Water

Since the Titanic and Empress of Ireland disasters hundreds of ideas and inventions have been brought before shipping companies and shipping authorities, with the object of minimizing the risk of life at sea. Perhaps the most ingenious of these ideas is a device which takes the form of a combination of life-belt and suit made of watertight canvas, which envelops the whole person. The suit has sleeves ending in gloves, and there is a porthole in the head, which can be closed when the weather is rough. When this porthole is closed, air enters through a tube above the head, this tube being so constructed that no water can enter.

Furnished with this device, it is claimed that a passenger might be thrown into mid-Atlantic and live in comfort for many days, while waiting to be picked up, for the suit can be equipped with sufficient food and drink to keep a shipwrecked passenger alive for a week or more. A man or woman using this device stands with feet in a sort of bucket, which forms the base. This bucket takes in a certain quantity of water, which acts as ballast and keeps the life-saver and its occupant upright. Furthermore, the apparatus is provided with a revolver and signal lights with which the shipwrecked passenger can signal for help by day or night. Attached to the apparatus are ropes by which two or three people can keep themselves afloat if they have not the good fortune to have one of these life-saving suits. The suit is the invention of a German named Gustave Heurich, and of 133 miles, and another walked so he declares that it will deprive shipwreck of all its terrors in all circumstances.

Farmer's Mysterious Death

A Tullamore tragedy took a sensational turn when after the inquest on a farmer named Patrick Raleigh, aged sixty, who resided on a farm in the townland of Cappancur, and who died of a gunshot wound, his son, John Raleigh, who lived with him, was taken into custody on the capital charge. When the police arrived they found Raleigh lying dead on a bed upstairs with a deep wound over the breast. He was undressed except for a linen shirt, and his clothes which were on a chair in the bed room, were saturated with blood There was a hole in the kitchen door like that which would have been made by a gunshot.

"Variety's the spice of life," and "Not much the worse for wear," were coined by Cowper.

SURVEY YOUR OWN FARM

Did you ever take an afternoon off and stroll over your own farm, viewing it in the impartial manner in which you would survey a neighbor's farm? Looking the farm in the face in this way is a wonderful educator, and all of us can afford to do it at least once a year.

Sticking too close to hard work makes us narrow in our vision. Obvious faults are apt to escape our notice. For instance, it is easy for one of us who has plowed for 40 years around a large boulder in the middle of an otherwise clean field, to come to regard that obstruction as a necessary evil; a few pounds of blasting powder and half an hour's work would remove the obstruction and improve the field immensely. The barnyard may be very unsightly and mussy to a stranger, but all right to us because we have become accustomed to seeing it that way. A gate that insists on sagging and dragging may lose us enough time and energy in a year to build half a dozen new ones to take its place, but we have become so accustomed to hauling that old gate around that it too is classed as a necessary evil.

It is wonderful how many small points in need of improvement we can find if we will only give our farm a square look in the face. Many of the most obvious faults may be remedied by half an hour of energetic work. There are few of us whose farms are so perfect that they would not be the better of an annual clean-up.

ANNIE EDNEY

Annie Edney is said to have screamed herself into a job once upon a time in London. She was looking for a position with a theatrical company, so the story goes. A consultation with the manager indicated that she would have to scream in the part assigned to her.

She "allowed" that she could scream to order in first class fashion. So a short synopsis of the play was given to her. Her husband was supposed to have dropped dead. She, seeing the figure of her loved one at her feet, then was to give a cry which would send shivers over the audience.

Miss Edney walked to the stage door, turned, and gave the requisite shriek—which drew stage hands, police, and people off the street to discover what was the matter.

She got the job!

Belgium's People Heaviest Drinkers

Belgium has the greatest number of public houses per head in the world. Whereas in Norway there is one to every 9,000 inhabitants, in Sweden one to every 5,000, in England to every 430, in the United States to every 300, in Germany to every 246, in France to every 82, Belgium has one public house to every 30 inhabitants. The drink revenue in Belgium amounts to $500,000,000, the Belgian working man being computed to spend two and a half months' wages on alcohol.

Surgery Extraordinary

There appears to be no limit to the daring and skill of the modern surgeons, which are nowadays so amazing that they verge on the miraculous. Recently there were the case of the restoration of a blind man's sight by transplanting sections of the cornea from a boy's eye which the surgeon had been obliged to remove; and of a girl, part of whose brain had been taken away, without the least harmful consequences.

In another case the heart of a woman, who had been stabbed, was sewn up at a Paris hospital; and a few minutes later she walked off as sound and well as ever. A Swiss surgeon removed the entire stomach of a patient, who gets along just as well without it, eating and digesting through the gullet; and a noseless man was provided with a new organ from one of his own fingers. The patient's arm was encased in plaster, and for four weeks he had to hold his "live" finger to his face until it took root, when it was amputated, to flourish as a nasal organ!

Machine's Fast Work

A speed of 100 bottles a minute is claimed for a new bottle capping machine which does its work automatically without the constant attention of an attendant.

BRITISH-CANADIAN

Do you desire to make large profits on your investment in Alberta Oil Shares?

If you do you must use good judgment in the selection of the companies in which you invest.

In order that you may use this good judgment it is absolutely necessary that you investigate and analyse a company thoroughly before placing your money in its shares.

In order that you may do this in the case of the British Canadian Oils, Ltd., we hereby give you the information we have secured through our rigid investigation and analysis of said company, and in giving this information we would say that we believe it is correct in every detail.

(1) The British Canadian Oils, Ltd., is incorporated for $1,000,000; 10,000,000 shares at the par value of 10c.

(2) About 500,000 shares of the stock have already been sold, and are now in the hands of the investing public.

(3) The Directors' and Officers' stock is all pooled.

(4) The Company is the holder of petroleum and natural gas leases on over 7,000 acres of land in the Province of Alberta.

(5) The Directors, Officers and Solicitors of the Company are all reliable and conscientious business men who have the welfare of the company at heart, and who desire in every manner in their power to give the public a square run for their money.

(6) The Company is now erecting on Section 31, Township 24, Range 4, an up-to-date combination rotary and standard rig.

(7) The Company expects to commence drilling inside of 3 days, and continue with all possible despatch.

(8) The Company has secured as Field Superintendent a man who knows his business thoroughly.

(9) The said Superintendent has engaged competent drillers to carry out his instructions.
(10) The treasury of the Company is now well financed.

(11) A reputable local geologist in reporting on adjoining property makes the following statement in said report:

"There is a plunging tendency in the crest of the anticline which causes its crest to sink toward the Elbow river. The crest of this dome-shaped structure seems to be in the neighborhood of Section 31, of Township 24, and Section 6 of Township 25."

(12) A reputable petroleum engineer in reply to an enquiry from us, stated that the lease held by the British Canadian Oils, Ltd., in Section 31, is situated on the most perfect anticline he has seen in Western Alberta.

(13) British Canadian shares are listed on the three Calgary exchanges, and are very active traders.

(14) The price of British Canadian shares is very low at the present time; we expect to see it go much higher.

In view of the above information secured by us, we have no hesitation whatever in advising you to at once buy the shares of the British Canadian Oils, Limited, at 15c per share, believing that you will get a square run for your money, and big profits on your investment.

We are prepared to fill your orders for British Canadian shares at 15c each, but this price is subject to raise without notice. Any new strike in the oil field, or any other exciting report might send this stock to a very high price. We would suggest that you wire us at our expense and let your remittance follow, or if you prefer, write us and enclose your remittance.

Our market letter giving information on the Alberta Oil Fields is free for the asking.
Write for it.

PRESERVING ANTELOPE

Dominion Government Undertaking to Prevent Them Becoming Extinct

The rescue and perpetuation of the rapidly disappearing prong-horned antelope is to be undertaken by the Dominion Government. To this end it enlisted the services of Ernest Thompson-Seton, the naturalist, and Maxwell Graham, chief of the zoological division at Ottawa, who have outlined a scheme which promises success.

This proposes the establishment of three fenced parks for antelope in different parts of their favorite range on areas not desirable for agriculture and in regions that still contain wild antelope.

The first step was to outline the ancient and present range of the antelope, then to ascertain the probable number at large. The combined evidence of many game wardens and mounted police shows that there are yet between 1,000 and 1,500 antelope still at large in the Canadian Northwest.

Prior to the hard winter of 1906 and 1907, there were at least ten times as many; but that long, fierce spell of frost and deep snow killed them off by thousands. In the spring when the driving remnants were making their way north over the frozen Saskatchewan, the rotten ice gave way [illegible] and eve- 300 were [illegible] on one occasion, as he watched them from the bank.

Seton and Graham, acting for the Dominion, set out to select the lands needed. Three parks were secured, one in each of the prairie provinces, Alberta, Saskatchewan and Manitoba. On the two former the wild antelopes still range. All the conditions, climatic, topographic and botanic have been pronounced perfect. Each park will be about thirty-six square miles in extent. The fencing will be horse high, strong and coyote proof. A competent warden will be in charge and in residence in each.

Egyptians Grew Alfalfa

There is nothing new about alfalfa. Alfalfa is as old as the pyramids. It was grown in the time of Rameses, the first Egyptian ruler that history tells us very much about. Caesar and his predecessors were strong believers in alfalfa, and their cavalry horses were fed upon it. Books on agriculture, written in the early days of the Roman empire, tell how to grow alfalfa. Doubtless the world-wide supremacy of Caesar's armies and the Roman empire was due in no small way to the abundant yields of alfalfa grown by the Roman farmers.

Knee Joint Stiff Three Years

CURED BY NERVILINE.

Anyone would marvel at my recovery, writes Mr. Leonard Lotham, a young man well known about Chatham. I had inherited a rheumatic tendency through my mother's family, and in my early days suffered frightfully. About three years ago the pain and stiffness settled in my left knee joint. I was lame and walked with a very distinct limp. Nerviline was brought to my notice and I rubbed it into the stiff joint four or five times a day. It dispelled every vestige of pain, reduced the swelling, took out the stiffness and gave me the full use of my limb again. I don't believe there is a pain-relieving remedy, not a single liniment that can compare with Nerviline. I hope every person with pains, with sore back, with lameness, with lumbago, with neuralgia—I do hope they will try out Nerviline which I am convinced will quickly and permanently cure them."

If Nerviline wasn't a wonderful painless remedy, if Nerviline didn't quickly relieve, if Nerviline wasn't known to be a grand cure for all rheumatic conditions, it wouldn't have been so largely used as a family remedy for the past forty years. No better, stronger, or more soothing liniment made. Get the large 50c. family size bottle; small trial size 25c.; sold by any dealer, anywhere.

The Failure of German Diplomacy

The frantic efforts of German diplomacy are tragically amusing; but they have so far failed most signally all round.

They failed to secure the support of Italy to the Triple Alliance.

They failed to secure the neutrality of Britain.

They failed to secure the passive permission of Belgium for the German armies to cross her territory.

Here are three great and fatal failures which must make that master-diplomat, Bismarck, turn over in his grave. He did secure the neutrality of France when he attacked Austria. He did secure the neutrality of Britain when he attacked France. He did make very sure of the friendly passivity of Russia while he was attacking both these nations.

To-day German diplomacy seems striving to accomplish two new "coups"—it is trying to egg on Turkey to declare war in its favor, and it is trying to tempt Sweden to attack Russia. With Turkey, it began by making that nation a present of two fine cruisers; to Sweden, it is probably offering Finland.

It is too soon to say that it will fail on both counts. The Turks seem restive, as must a military nation in the presence of so much fighting. If they see a way to wrench back from the Greeks the territory torn from them during the late Balkan Wars by that plucky little people, they are very apt to move. In that part of the world, however, the last word lies with Roumania; and it has not spoken. Once German diplomacy had Roumania as an ally; but characteristically, it lost her.

As for Sweden, it is hardly to be conceived that that pacific country will commit the supreme folly of embarking in the German ship. If it should do so, and if the Allies win, nothing on earth can save it from becoming a Russian province; whereas, if it stands neutral, no one dare in any case molest it.

Removal to Bordeaux

The decision of the French Government to remove to Bordeaux is a sure proof that our gallant Allies—who must now be the chief sufferers from the continuation of the war—are doubly determined to fight on, and to resolutely endure any sacrifices necessary to ensure ultimate victory. Only in appearance is this a step backward. It is, in reality, a firmer settling of the feet of the French nation in their native soil that they may the more effectively maintain the titanic struggle now in progress.

It would have been theatrical to stay in Paris. It is practical to go to Bordeaux—and it is the practical that wins.

This does not mean necessarily that the Germans are certain to get to Paris. They must fight their way there across entrenchments at enormous cost in human life. Already we are told that the vigor and dash of their attack has slackened. Unless they are more than human, this ought to be so. It has been a bloody and terrible pathway from Liege down to La Fere; and no army which has trodden this Via Dolorosa could possibly fail to show signs of the strain, the slaughter, the constant contact with visible death.

If they get to Paris, the first phase of the campaign will have closed. But this prompt and business-like removal of the French Government to Bordeaux—not to Tours, as was first tried in 1870—shows that then the second phase of the campaign of the West will begin, with the French people more resolute than ever in their determination to shake off the German grip. Clearly, whatever section of French soil may be lost, the French armies are to be kept as organized and effective units. They have fallen back; but they have not suffered a single disorganizing defeat. This difference is vital and important. The English fell back from Quatrebras; but the French were routed at Waterloo.

Paris—if the Germans attempt either to hold or take it—will cost them at least half a million men. Merely to surround it will require an immense force. This force will be removed from the fighting armies in the field. It will be—to employ a parliamentary expression—"paired off" with the much smaller garrison of Paris. Here at once will be a distinct gain for the Allies. It will be equivalent to reducing the German army corps by that many men. The campaign about and below Paris must then proceed with the Germans that much short of their present strength, with them that much further from their home base, and with the pressure of the Russian attack on the East always increasing.

As for Britain, the southern advance of the Germans does not disarrange her campaign at all. She has absolute command of the sea, and can just as well land her reinforcing armies at Havre or at Nantes as at Boulogne. That is one of the great advantages of supreme sea power. It gives a mobility to what land power a nation possesses which multiplies its effectiveness. It is clear, from Lord Kitchener's advice to his training officers not to waste time on drill but to teach their raw recruits "how to shoot," that he intends to continue to pour British riflemen into the arena of war as rapidly as he can get them ready to be of any use there. It is a trying and perilous business this—the creating of an army after war has broken out; but Kitchener is doing the best he can under the circumstances.

OIL THE GREAT WEALTHMAKER

We hold over 3,000 acres, more or less, of oil leases North and South of Monarch and several of our leases are in the same range as the Monarch well.

Many companies claim to be close to Monarch but we are one of the very few who are in Range Six upon which the Monarch Well is situated. Therefore, we must be on the same anti-cline and as it is a foregone conclusion Monarch will get oil, so will we.

Fifty-Seven Feet of Oil Bearing Sands Passed Through in Monarch Well

OFFICIAL STATEMENT IS GIVEN OUT BY PRESIDENT GEORGESON—WELL IS NOW DOWN OVER 1,800 FEET AND FLOW OF WET GAS HAS BEEN STRUCK IN LOWER LEVELS—GEOLOGIST DUNN IS AWAY AT PRESENT

Heavy oil showings are being found in the Monarch well, west of Olds, although the oil has not yet come in in commercial quantities.

To put the exact facts before the public, President William Georgeson and Treasurer G. W. Morfitt, of the company, this morning issued an official statement from the drillers setting forth the results.

The heaviest oil seepage has been encountered through a stratum 57 feet thick, and the well is now 1850 feet deep.

A sample of this oil baled out at 1,775 feet was brought to the city this morning and is in the office of Mr. Morfitt, Grain Exchange Building. The oil is a heavy black petroleum with the characteristic petroleum odor.

The statement issued by the officers is as follows: In the absence of Mr. Dunn, Mr. Van Alst, the head driller, reports that from the depth of 1,775 feet to 1,832 feet he went through oil bearing sands for 57 feet. Throughout there was a heavy showing of black oil in the baler. Two further showing of black wet gas were met at 1,805 feet and 1,915 feet.

The well is now down 1,830 feet. Wet gas has shown at 633 feet, 1,430 feet, 1,805 feet and 1,815 feet.

Oil sands have shown at 893 feet, (48 feet), 1,430 feet (40 feet), 1,740 feet (14 feet), and 1,775 feet (57 feet).

The well is now down 1,850 feet, and while there are good oil showings there is not as yet oil in commercial quantities.

Our stock is on the market at 50 cents a share, a Dollar par, and will be advanced without notice any day pending Monarch Well developments. It is practically a certainty that Monarch will be in oil in commercial quantities within two weeks, Our stock will jump away above par and you had better hurry if you wish to share our prosperity.

AS LIGHT AS LAGER
BUT BETTER FOR YOU

You wash dishes about two hours every day. That's one hour wasted!

Dishes get dirty, greasy and sticky and soap will not clean them. Soapy dish water merely cleans the surface; it doesn't dig into the corners and drive out the decayed food particles.

Gold Dust is the sanitary dish washer. It not only cleans the surface, but digs deep after hidden particles of dirt and kills the germs of decayed food which ordinary dish-water overlooks. Gold Dust sterilizes as well as cleanses.

Besides doing the work better than soap or any other cleanser can, Gold Dust will save just half the time you spend in washing dishes.

Gold Dust is sold in 5c size and large packages. The large package means greater economy.

How People Feel When They Have Tape Worm

Tape worm is bred from a parasite. This parasite is a creature male and female in one. It is a pear shape, having two, four and six suckers. It lays the eggs, which are only connected together with slime. They develop and form a body, which is the worm. Each joint is an individual, having a sucker or mouth. The worm grows to be much longer than the bowels where it is located, and sometimes a whole colony of them are found, enough to fill a quart of solid worm, and when put in a bucket of water would apparently fill it. It is the hardest task in the world to destroy this parasite without doing injury to the individual who may be so unfortunate as to have it, as the parasite clings to the bowels, freeing itself from the body of the worm, and remains there to breed another. It is an internal demon and causes its victims to suffer all the symptoms of disease imaginable. The cleverest physicians are led to believe the patient is suffering from some other disease, as nearly every person has different symptoms. Some have been treated for cancer of the bowels, consumption of the bowels, consumption of the lungs, chronic dyspepsia, nervous prostration, melancholia, hypochondria, hysteria, inflammation of the bowels, appendicitis and other complaints, when one or more of these internal demons were eating their lives away.

Prof. Mulveney has made the discovery to free the victim of this monster without injury to the system, destroying the parasite as well as expelling the worm with one dose of medicine without any previous starvation. Visit his office, where he has in his possession the most wonderful collection of these death-dealing monsters in the world, which have been expelled from hundreds of people by his famous remedy, some bottles containing colonies of worms and anyone seeing them cannot imagine how a person could possibly live with them in his bowels. It is surprising the number of people that have them. Thousands have them and are not aware of the fact. The letters and testimonials the Professor has in his possession are enough to convince one of this alarming fact. Some of the most prominent symptoms are: ravenous appetite, dizzy spells, headaches, cramps in the bowels, a feeling of something moving in the bowels, also a feeling as though something was crawling up the throat. The only certainty of having one in the system is when segments or joints are seen, which come away almost any time. They are flat and from ½ of an inch to 1 inch long, which have often been mistaken for pin worms by those who do not know the difference. There are many other feelings of distress which would take long to enumerate. Strange to say, some people of strong constitution, have very little distress.

Prof. Mulveney's world-famous Tape Worm Exterminator is safe, sure and harmless. No starvation, no danger, is not disagreeable to take. One dose nearly always affects a cure. Further information free. Send stamped envelope, telephone Parkdale 4830 or call at 167 Dundas street, Toronto. Open from 8 a.m. to 10 p.m. daily.

GIRL BARONESS ENGAGED

Two of England's Oldest Families to be United

Baroness Beaumont, not yet out of her teens, has become engaged to the Hon. Bernard Fitzalan-Howard, heir to Lord Howard of Glossop. He is twenty-nine.

This announcement heralds a union between two of the oldest families in the British Isles. Lady Beaumont has been a peeress in her own right since the age of two, when the title, which fell into abeyance on the death of her father, was continued by Queen Victoria.

The Beaumonts are one of the oldest Roman Catholic families in England. The first baron, Henry de Beaumont, supposed, according to "Debrett's Peerage," to have been a grandson of John de Brienne, last King of Jerusalem, came to England in the time of Edward I., by whom he was made King of the Isle of Man.

Hon. Mr. Fitzalan-Howard is a relative of the Duke of Norfolk, for his grandfather, Lord Edward Fitzalan-Howard, a brother of the fourteenth Duke of Norfolk, uncle of the present duke, was created a peer in 1869.

Pellet Strikes Train Window

While a passenger train on the Redhill branch of the South-Eastern Railway was proceeding between Reigate and Redhill a window was splintered from the outside. It is believed the damage was caused by a bullet from an air gun. At the same spot the previous day the panel of a door of another train was struck.

KING ALFONSO'S JOKE

King Alfonso is fond of taking motor trips incognito. He motored recently through a wild region of Castile, and put up at a modest inn.

"I am sure," he said, "that they won't know me here!"

Well, they did not know him there. They treated him like an ordinary traveller. So much so that when he went to shave the next morning he found there was no mirror in his room. So he went into the inn yard in his shirt sleeves, and there a chambermaid brought him a broken piece of mirror which he set up beside the well.

The girl stood chatting with him. Finally she said:

"You are not just an ordinary traveller, are you?"

"Why do you ask me that?"

"I don't know," said the maid, "but there's something about you—perhaps you belong to the Royal Court at Madrid?"

"Yes, I do," he answered.

"Perhaps you work for his Majesty himself?"

"Yes, I do."

"And what do you do for him?" asked the chambermaid.

LORD CROMER

His Lordship has been called the one man who brought Egypt out of its bankruptcy and changed a mummified land into a land that really lives. The population of Egypt grew under Lord Cromer from under seven millions to over ten. The great pro-consul's health has been giving anxiety to his friend for some time. A very large part of his life has been spent in public service.

MILLION-MILE RECORD

English Lad Who Became a Prince of the Pacific Coast

A hale and hearty Englishman of whose record Californians are proud is visiting his home in Guernsey, after fifty-seven years' absence. He sailed for the West when a boy of fourteen and when twenty-one was made a captain of the ferry service at San Francisco. He returned as Captain John Leale, with his wife and two daughters, to a retirement earned by establishing a rare Pacific coast record.

In fifty years' service he travelled a million miles—an average of over fifty miles a day—on the waters of 'Frisco Bay. He carried passengers who in this long life numbered millions, and has not lost one. This is the record of the bay.

Sightseers Hoaxed

Some 3,000 people were attracted to Irvine Harbor to witness the departure of a shipyard worker in a 16-foot open boat in an attempt to cross the Atlantic. At the time announced for the departure there were no signs of him or his craft, and all inquiries failed to discover his whereabouts. Amongst the crowd were many camera men, some of whom represented newspapers, while many of the spectators had travelled as far as from Glasgow to witness the departure.

Quick Marriage; Quick Release

Married on the day after he proposed, Mr. Douglas Duncan Boddle an Aberdeen granite merchant was left three days later by his wife because he remonstrated with her for speaking to a former sweetheart. He was granted a decree in the Scottish Divorce Court at Edinburgh.

Selfish Cricketers

Dr. Lyttelton, headmaster of Eton, speaking at a meeting of the Duty and Discipline Movement at Lansdowne House, said that the decline of cricket was due to selfishness. "It is the selfishness of the batsmen which has made the game intolerably dull and I am glad to find that the gate money is falling off," he said.

Old rails, erected in pairs, are used by a Brazilian railroad for telegraph poles in a region where insects destroy wood rapidly.

EUROPE PAYS DEARLY FOR CROWDED CITIES

Out of 11,000 Manchester men examined only 1,000 were found physically fit for the British navy.

There are 5,000,000 more men in the cities of Germany than in the rural districts; yet, notwithstanding the enforced service of all young men physically fit for the army or navy, two-thirds of 621,210 soldiers and sailors examined by Prof. Pasadowsky were from the country.

The ratio of deaths to 1,000 population in four-room homes in the Finsbury district of London is 6.04, while the ratio of deaths for one-room homes is 39.

A RECORD BAG

Great Sport For Haileybury and Cobalt Hunters

Probably one of the largest bags of game secured in the North country was made by a party of Cobalt and Haileybury hunters. The gentlemen in question, eight in number, were out in the bush five miles from Gillies, for a week, and in that short space of time, secured one moose, one bear and eight deer, a remarkable record for a trip of that duration.

That the chase was most successful the "bag" captured attests, and the hunters report that deer were most plentiful in that neighborhood, and could easily be shot. Those deer which they themselves obtained were shot in a thicket, and there was very little necessity to go hunting them. The moose, also, which was a good specimen of the monarch of the bush, was obtained without much trouble, being shot from a distance of two hundred yards, and three shots despatched the animal.

The presence of the bear in the "bag" was due largely to Bruin's fondness for fresh venison. Attracted by the smell of deer flesh the bear approached the hunters' camp and proceeded to make short work of the head and entrails of one of the slain deer. He had spoiled the former for mounting purposes before his presence in the immediate vicinity was noticed, but, once he had been observed, no time was lost in adding his carcase to the list of trophies secured.

The bodies of the various animals captured were towed across the river behind a canoe, and were afterwards loaded in sleighs and in that way brought back home. The hunters reported that before the snow fell, the deer, especially, were captured without any great difficulty, but, after the storm, more trouble was experienced in shooting them. The party returned home well pleased with the result of the trip.

An Appeal to the Intelligent Investor !

Does a logical presentation of a good investment interest you? Do you believe there is an oil in commercial quantities in Alberta? If you are alive to the situation you do. Then it will pay you to investigate our proposition and our holdings.

Please Read Carefully and Note!

THAT Oil authorities are agreed the Alberta Oil Field is of an anticlinal formation. It has been fairly accurately ascertained in what general direction these anticlines run. Geologist B. W. Dunn chose wisely in the selection of the now famous Monarch well. WINDSOR OILFIELDS, LIMITED, has holdings located close to the Monarch.

THAT Cunningham Craig, one of the world's most eminent geologists, selected the site of the Mowbray-Berkeley well. Stock in that company is not offered at any price. We possess acreage adjoining the Mowbray-Berkeley (Section 12, Township 23, Range 5, West of 5th). If a strike is made at the Mowbray-Berkeley what will shares in our company be worth?

Our holdings consist of 1380 acres, carefully selected and judiciously spread over the entire oil field.

THE MAIDEN SPEECH OF PRINCE OF WALES

Performed the Ceremony of Laying Corner Stone of Church and Was Heartily Received

The occasion of the laying of the foundation stone of St. Anselm's Church, on the Prince of Wales' estate in South London was a red letter day in his career for it marked his first independent public appearance and his first set speech. The young Prince, looking very boyish, yet with a certain dignity of manner, went through the ordeal very well. He laid the mortar as one quite familiar with the process, tapped the stone at its four corners and then applied the spirit level.

The Prince was wearing a black frock-coat with light grey trousers and throughout the whole of the ceremony, which was rather lengthy, he carried his hat in his hand. Having performed the customary rites, he spoke his first public words: "In the faith of Jesus Christ we place this stone, in the name of God the Father, God the Son, and God the Holy Ghost." He has a clear but not very strong voice.

Returning to the platform, his Royal Highness received an address of welcome from the Bishop of Southwark, to which he made the following reply reading from a typewritten copy:

"I have to thank you very heartily for the kind welcome you have given me in the name of your diocese. It has long been my wish to visit South London, and it is a real pleasure to me that my first public duty should be on behalf of the Church. It was here that the first Duke of Cornwall, Edward, the Black Prince, had his palace, and, according to one of the old writers, it was almost on this very spot that he died. This site, therefore, is of no ordinary interest, and it is of happy significance that a great church should rise where five centuries and a half ago dwelt a prince who was noted for his piety.

It was to God that he first gave the praise for his victories, and even his coins were inscribed with words taken from his favorite psalm. "Auxilium meum a Domino" ("My help cometh from the Lord").

I have listened with pleasure to your graceful reference to the visits to this neighborhood of my father and grandfather, who always took a deep interest in the Duchy estate. To my dear father, who, in the midst of innumerable other duties, has given much time and anxious thought to the problems and perplexities which must always attend the work of rebuilding an estate, I can never be sufficiently grateful, but I shall hope to show my gratitude by endeavoring to walk worthily in his footsteps.

At present I cannot pretend to much knowledge of the difficulties which beset the housing reformer, but by studying the comfort and happiness of my tenants, I hope to gain experience.

I pray that it may please God to pour His blessings on all who shall worship in this place and to prosper the work of those who, now or hereafter, may be called upon to minister in the parish."

Only those in the immediate neighborhood of the platform could hear what the Prince was saying, but the speech was cheered for all that, and when immediately afterwards his Royal Highness entered his carriage and drove away a great demonstration took place.

SYNOPSIS OF CANADIAN NORTH-WEST LAND REGULATIONS.

THE sole head of a family, or any male over 18 years old, may homestead a quarter-section of available Dominion land in Manitoba, Saskatchewan, or Alberta. Applicant must appear in person at the Dominion Lands Agency or Sub-Agency for District. Entry by proxy may be made at any Dominion Lands Agency (but not Sub-Agency), on certain conditions.

Duties—Six months residence upon and cultivation of the land in each of three years. A homesteader may live within nine miles of his homestead on a farm of at least 80 acres, on certain conditions. A habitable house is required except where residence is performed in the vicinity.

In certain districts a homesteader in good standing may pre-empt a quarter section alongside his homestead. Price $3.00 per acre.

Duties—Six months residence in each of three years after earning homestead patent; also 50 acres extra cultivation. Pre-emption patent may be obtained as soon as homestead patent, on certain conditions.

A settler who has exhausted his homestead right may take a purchased homestead in certain districts. Price $3.00 per acre. Duties— Must reside six months in each of three years, cultivate 50 acres and erect a house worth $300.

The area of cultivation is subject to reduction in case of rough, scrubby or stony land. Live stock may be substituted for cultivation under certain conditions.

Land Without Owners

Nearly fifty acres of land have been discovered without owners at Trefin, Llangammarch Wells, Breconshire. In the course of investigations for valuation, it has been found that no owner exists. The value is between $1,000 and $1,500. The land is more or less common, and there are grazing rights on it belonging to adjoining farms.

Mrs. Lloyd George at Baby Show

Mrs. Lloyd George delivered a practical little lecture to mothers at a baby show held at Rhostrfan. Mrs. Lloyd George said that when rearing her first-born she was, according to a frequent practice among the country nurses of those days, offered some bread and beer. This she resolutely refused. Crestfallen and disappointed, the nurse left the room and confided to others in the house her fears that she (Mrs. Lloyd George) would never recover to rear the child. She, however, reared that boy and four other children without the aid of either gin or bread and beer.

BUTTER MAKING

1. Cool the cream from the separator as soon as possible to 55 degrees F. or lower.

2. Never mix warm cream with cool cream.

3. Mix all the cream to be churned in one vat or can at least 18 hours before churning.

4. Ripen at a temperature of 70 to 75 degrees F. from six to eight hours stirring frequently during this period.

5. Cool cream to churning temperature as soon as ripe.

6. Let cream stand eight hours or more (over eight) at the churning temperature.

7. The temperature of churning should be such as to make the butter come in from 25 to 40 minutes, usually 55 to 60 degrees F.

8. If it is desired to use artificial coloring, it should be added to the cream just before churning.

9. Stop churning when the granules are about the size of peas, varying to wheat, and draw off the buttermilk.

10. Wash the butter once with pure water at the churning temperature, agitating three or four times, and drain.

11. Wash a second time with water about four degrees above churning temperature, agitating seven or eight times, and drain.

12. Add the salt wet while the butter is in granular form, using about one to one and one-half ounce for each pound of butter, according to the demands of the market.

13. Work the butter just enough to distribute the salt evenly.

14. If the butter is to go on the market it should be put up in neat attractive packages.

Should You Whip a Child the Way He Should Go?

By Winifred Black

(Copyright, 1914, by Newspaper Feature Service, Inc.)

Winifred Black

MRS. HARRY HASTINGS of the far and boundless West says that children ought to be whipped—when they need it.

"Some children can't be ruled any other way," says Mrs. Hastings "and children must be ruled—they must not rule.

"The greatest virtue the finest child in the world can have is obedience—obedience to the letter—blind, dumb absolute obedience. I know a little boy who was playing on a railroad track. His father suddenly shouted to him, 'Lie down between the rails.' The little boy lay down between the rails and the train passed over him and did not hurt him.

"Now, if that boy had stopped to reason or argue, or even to wonder, he would have been killed. He had been taught to obey—and that teaching saved his life.

"Yes, I believe in whipping children—for their own good. The best children I know are children whose parents whip them—when they have to be whipped to make them mind. This country is full of careless parents and spoiled children. Let's go back to the old-fashioned spanking and see if we can't get some old-fashioned children."

How interesting—how enlightening—how sweetly reasonable—and, furthermore, how civilized.

I always like to meet a woman who says she whips her children to make them mind. She's always such a dear, simple creature—so easy to understand. One look at her, one half-hour spent in her society, always tells me just exactly why her children won't "mind" without a whipping.

Ruling by Fear.

Now that highly intelligent father who told his little boy to lie down on the track and let the train pass over him. If he'd been any kind of a man with any kind of common sense, he would not have let his little boy play on the track at all.

Of course, if you're going to be the kind of man or woman who allows the children to take such risks as that, the rest follows, as a matter of course. You don't have to tell us any more about that particular father, Mrs. Hastings. We know all about him right this minute.

Now, it seems to me that the man in this story would have made a better job of being a father if he had taught his boy that a railroad track is hardly the place to use as a playground, and had relied upon the child's common sense to keep him out of such danger—or, if he got into it, to show him the quickest way out.

The most obedient child in history was Casabianca—the boy who stood on the burning deck. And we know what obedience brought him.

I never could get up very much sentiment about poor little Casabianca. He may have been blindly obedient—he certainly was blindly stupid, too. Probably his father whipped him to "make him mind"—and that's why the poor, dazed little fellow, who had never been taught to think for himself, couldn't save his own life without an order from the father who had taught him such blind obedience.

I know a cousin of Carabianca—oh, yes, he's a real cousin, he'll tell you so a dozen times a day—if you'll let him. All about how his great-grandfather emigrated from Corsica, and all the rest of it that is such a romantic story—in a poem—and such a commonplace affair of third class tickets, a loaf of black bread and a bunch of garlic—in real life.

Casabianca's cousin carries out Casabianca's idea of obedience. He obeys, implicitly, any one who can shake a big enough stick at him. He's rather a good sort of chap, naturally, this Casabianca of today—but those who rule him are not good. Some day poor Casabianca is going to find himself on the burning deck—alone—and what in the world will he do then—poor thing?

So you believe in whipping children—for their own good—Mrs. Hastings? Well, then, I don't agree with you.

I never saw a child who was whipped for his own good in my life. And I never knew a child who was whipped at home who wasn't a demon to manage away from home. The minute the whip is put away the child is unmanageable—and you really can't keep whipping every minute.

Character by Training.

I asked my friend, the school teacher, about it the other day, and she said that the worst children she had in school were children who were whipped at home.

Sullen—defiant—deceitful—sly—cowardly—bullying—oh, she called those children terrible names—and I believe the names she called them were all true. Why not? Rule a child by fear, and what shall you make of him but a liar, a coward and a bully? How can he be anything else?

No, no, Mrs. Hastings—you're wrong, you're all wrong.

Your idea of things may have been all right back in the days when people were nothing much but children themselves, and had to have kings and whipping posts and ducking stools, and things to make them "mind."

And two or three generations ago in this country people were too busy to stop and explain things—a cuff on the ear is a good deal easier than a good, sane, logical talk.

You can't blame a pioneer mother for cuffing one of her children under the bed—when she heard a queer noise at the door and was afraid to look out of the window for fear of seeing a befeathered head looking in.

But nowadays the Indians are not on the warpath, and mother has time enough, and strength enough, and she ought to have sense enough, to learn how to rule a little bit of a child—without being helped out by a whip.

If my brain and my strength of character are not equal to the strain of training a weak, helpless, little tike of a rascal to do what I tell him, not because he's afraid of me, but because I've made him realise that what I tell him is pretty apt to be the best thing there is for him to do—then I think I'd better stop trying to raise children—and go to raising dogs.

Advice to Girls

By ANNIE LAURIE

Dear Annie Laurie:

I am a girl of 19. I went with a fine young man having no bad habits; an accomplished young man. We went together for over a year, but not steady.

We quit as good friends, he went with other girls, and I with other boys, but I never enjoy myself for thinking of him.

Five months passed, and he came back; both being happy again. I kept regular company with him for eight months. About two months ago he was away for three weeks, and I got acquainted with a strange young fellow that came to our town.

In some ways I liked him better. He made love to me, and I let him, but he proved to be a bad young man and has left the town. Trouble came between my old friend and me, but he says he loves me yet, and asked me to forgive him if he hurt my feelings; but, somehow, I can't like him as I did.

SORRY.

POOR little Sorry. I should think you would be—sorry.

You took a perfectly good diamond out of a perfectly good ring and threw it away, and now the poor bit of stained glass that you put in the diamond's place has gone, and what shall you do?

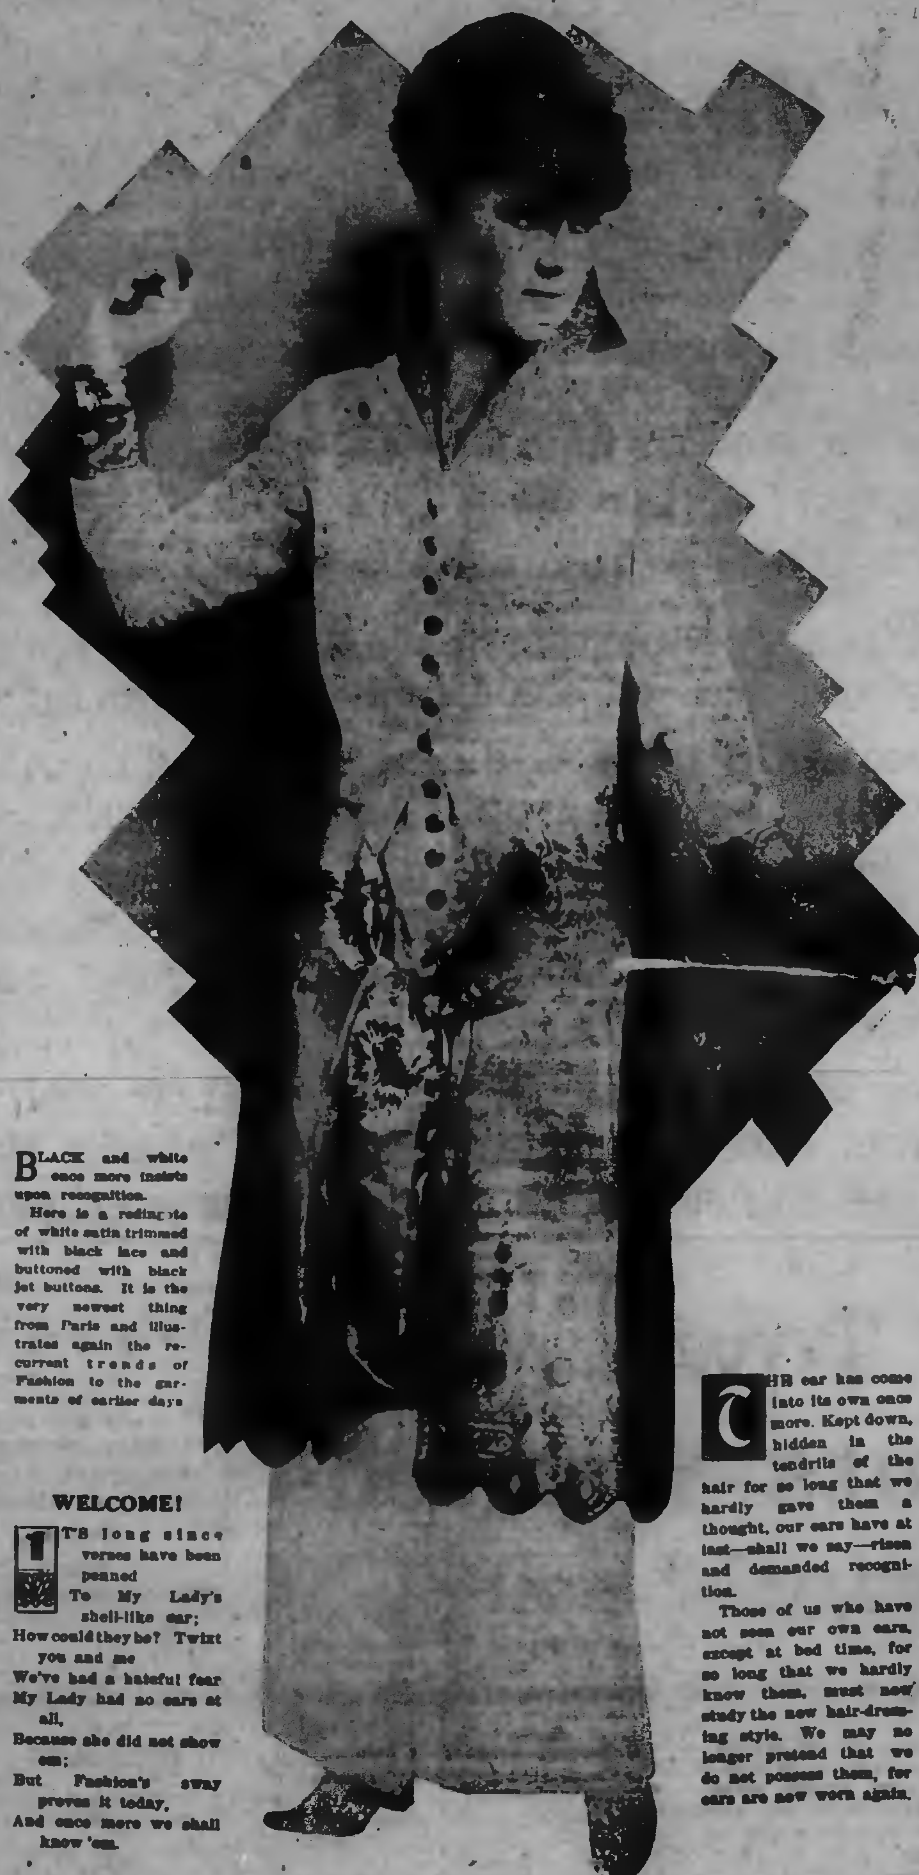
What do you mean when you say you can't like him as you did? Which one? Your letter is as confused as I'm afraid your mind is.

I don't believe you ever really cared for the first young man at all, and it is quite evident that the second young man never really cared for you. So it seems to me that the best thing you can do is to forget them both as soon as possible, and the next time you are lucky enough to be loved by a good, true man, go down on your knees and say your prayers and be thankful and very good—and very happy.

Annie Laurie

Miss Laurie will welcome letters of inquiry on subjects of feminine interest from young women readers of this paper and will reply to them in these columns. They should be addressed to her, care of this office.

EARS ARE NOW WORN AGAIN



BLACK and white once more insists upon recognition.

Here is a redingote of white satin trimmed with black lace and buttoned with black jet buttons. It is the very newest thing from Paris and illustrates again the recurrent trends of Fashion to the garments of earlier days.

WELCOME!

IT'S long since verses have been penned
To My Lady's shell-like ear;
How could they be? Twixt you and me
We've had a hateful fear
My Lady had no ears at all,
Because she did not show 'em;
But Fashion's sway proves it today,
And once more we shall know 'em.

THE ear has come into its own once more. Kept down, hidden in the tendrils of the hair for so long that we hardly gave them a thought, our ears have at last—shall we say—risen and demanded recognition.

Those of us who have not seen our own ears, except at bed time, for so long that we hardly know them, must now study the new hair-dressing style. We may no longer pretend that we do not possess them, for ears are now worn again.

Peter's Adventures in Matrimony

By LEONA DALRYMPLE

Author of the new novel, "Diane of the Green Van," awarded a prize of $10,000 by Ida M. Tarbell and S. S. McClure as judges.

The truth about "the girl in the case" distinguishes this new series by Miss Dalrymple. Her character studies will not appear unfamiliar to the majority of readers, who will follow the fortunes of "Peter" with interest.

No. 130.

Marriage and Chivalry.

LEONA DALRYMPLE

UNABLE to endure the electric tensity of the atmosphere I seized my hat again and went forth to walk. The night was very clear and cold. A winter moon hung high above the town, silvering the snowy roofs and the church steeple at the end of the street. At the corner I met my father-in-law.

"Well, Peter," he said, "out for a walk?"

"Yes," I said uncomfortably, for I was not quite sure how he felt about my quarrel with his wife. "The night was so bright and keen I couldn't resist it."

He glanced at me a little quizzically, and, all at once, I realized that he, too, was out to free himself from the marital atmosphere of home. With the maid and the doctor and his wife stirring things up, what wonder that he needed the relaxation of fresh air and solitude?

I glanced at his kindly face—it was heavily lined and his hair was grayer this winter than I have ever seen it, and I realized again that all his life he had been fighting this problem that I was facing now—the extravagance of a thoughtless, silly woman.

"Mr. Penfield," I blurted, for I have never made any secret of my liking for him, "I want to tell you that I'm very sorry I bolted into your house tonight and talked as I did. You've likely heard of it. But Mary and I are running behind in expenses, and when I found she'd been getting money from her mother—it, well, it seemed the last straw. I had to say something. I suppose a man ought never air his views to a woman as I did——"

"Chivalry," said Mr. Penfield, a little bitterly, "there's nothing in it, Peter. Chivalry is the sentimental science that keeps a man from telling a woman what a rotter she is, when he'd thrash another man. Chivalry is the convenient sex arrangement that gives a woman in silk and satin, who's been playing bridge all afternoon, the right to the only seat in a car, while the workman with blisters on his feet stands gallantly up. Chivalry——" but here he paused and flung his cigar into the road.

"Ah, well," he shrugged, "what's the use? Chivalry ought to be for mothers—not for women as a class—and only for mothers who've made good."

And I knew from the way he spoke that Mrs. Penfield's hysterics and her fictitious faint had gotten upon his nerves—that he didn't entirely blame me—and that his own married life had been none too happy.

"Business is bothering me a lot," he said after a while. "And, to tell the truth, I've been dabbling a little in stocks. Don't do it, Peter. It's a fool's pastime. I'm always putting up margin lately. Somehow, when you find your income isn't elastic enough to stretch over a year's expenses, you immediately cast about in your mind for a way to make more money easily—and speculating sounds simple enough, but it isn't."

I spoke of my nightly work over the factory books for extra money.

"You're beginning wrong, Peter," he said. "I've learned a bitter lesson. Mary's my daughter, and a sweet, pretty girl, but when she gets the money fever she'll drive, and drive hard. Half of the human runaways that end in jail are the result of a money-mad woman driving hard, and when the crash comes she weeps and doesn't understand why. Men are great, sentimental fools. The passion and pity that women awaken in them complicate their lives at times beyond endurance. Take a firm stand, Peter, and handle your own money. It's the only way."

Passion and pity! They were the only emotions, indeed, my Wife aroused. Was marriage worth it?

Secrets of Health and Happiness

Why Your Hair-Cut Should Be a Sterile Rite

By Dr. LEONARD KEENE HIRSHBERG

A. B., M. A., M. D. (Johns Hopkins).

DR. HIRSHBERG

BARBERS, unlike other individuals, need not be judged by the company they keep. Nor need they be held as abominations because they continue to perpetuate the Pilgrim's mistakes of 400 years ago.

The herbs and other tonsorial messes which the razor-handed myrmidon caresses as cure-alls of falling hair and baldness are the heirlooms of a once dignified but now badly trained "profession."

Heaven has sent many a man a fine suit of hair, and the barber has deported it from him. Not that the barber is wicked, or wishes ill to his patrons, but because barbers are notoriously unobservant and, unconsciously, avoid seeing the results that do not accord with their treatment.

Many barbers, nowadays, have fallen into a pit of ink. They cannot, it seems, be washed clean again. The arts and practices of barbers are even more antiquated than those of many doctors and merchants.

Take, for example, the filthy practice of shampooing the head with eggs. If there is a better nest for germs and microbes to make their home in it is unknown to bacteriologists.

If there is one germ or fungus of ringworm, itch, eczema or dandruff present before the egg shampoo is applied you may hazard a can of stale sardines with assurance that there are a centillion billion of them a few hours later. For if there is anything a microbe loves better than an egg shampoo it must be two egg shampoos.

Yet this tonsorial delusion is no worse than singeing the hairs to make them grow and stop them from falling. Singeing the hairs really splits them, dries them, and injures them almost beyond redemption.

Each time a barber singes a victim's hair he opens up the hair shaft and permits moulds, microbes and other disease germs to be gradually squeezed downward into the hairs. Thus, before decay's defacing fingers have swept the lines where beauty lingers, the singeing process brings on baldness.

The haircut, though necessary, also has its dangers. It kills off the shafts almost as often as singeing. The reason lies partly in the fact that a barber's scissors are rarely, if ever, sterilized, and germs of disease, like the proverbial flea, jump from head to head without respect to color, race or previous condition of servitude.

We have become civilized enough to pass pure food laws and clean milk statutes, now let us get after the barber. Sterilization of every instrument in a barber shop should be compulsory.

Skirts Are Short and Fuller and the Fitted Basque Is Here

By MADGE MARVEL

FLOUNCED from ankles to hips and buttoned straight up the front from hips to neck, with her hair strained back and her ears sticking out under funny little hats or floppy big ones, the woman of the summer looks like a stranger to those of us whose minds can't travel fast enough to keep up with the styles.

It is not the styles that are so ugly and muddled and incongruous. It is the adaptation of them. To be sure, we hardly know what is in style now, for no two makers of clothes seem to agree on many points, and every wearer of clothes tries to give them that ruling element of the times, individuality.

Four style facts are apparent: skirts are short; skirts are fuller; basques are here; hats are larger.

Also there is a splash of bright color on nearly every dress. Also, there is such a conglomeration of periods that one's head seems in a hopeless historic whirl. To see 1880 basques, topped by early Norman collars, shadowed by Napoleonic hats, shaded by oriental parasols, with military capes thrown over the shoulders, is a trifle disconcerting to those of us who have always cherished a belief in the eternal fitness of things, even of fashions.

Out of it all should come some interesting developments by fall. The basque and the redingote are the two garments which, from this midsummer view, it seems we shall have to reckon with.

Personally I like the basques. Perhaps, they will not be so attractive when every one gets to wearing them, and they are made in all kinds of goods, set upon all sizes and varities of figures and fashioned with various degrees of skill. But these first basques have the merit of being creations. They have good lines, are well fitted and have worlds of that desirable quality known as "chic."

Black satin is coming into favor with the advent of the basque. Some exclusive modistes are using it in preference to taffeta. It is quite the rage in Paris.

Mrs. John Jacob Astor, the beautiful young widow in whom all the world is interested, has worn black chiffon a great deal this summer, and her gowns are charming in their simplicity. One in particular seemed to be draped on her figure, with a long tunic, a blouse which fitted rather closely, with no hint of bagginess at the waistline, and a surplice front effect. The sleeves were set in, which is somewhat unusual in such a sheer fabric. Also they were long and close fitting, and finished with small white organdie cuffs. The bodice was collarless and she wore her superb pearls. Her hat was a medium affair with a flare over the face, in the manner of the poke.

To go back to basques: Some are plain and fitted with darts, others are tucked round and round, leaving the shoulders plain in yoke effect, and others are wrinkled. All the sleeves are set-in at a normal place and are long and fitted to the arm. The buttons on the basques are large round affairs and make a conspicuous line directly up the front of the garment. They are often of rubies or jet.

The redingote is like the basque in front, but has long back portions which reach to the hem of the skirt and fall free. Plain redingotes, worn over a plaid skirt made of a series of flounces, are novelties.

M. LATTARD

THERE is no more delicious food than the egg, and it lends itself to so many delightful combinations that the kitchen would be crippled without it.

The two recipes that I offer you here together you will find particularly pleasing these hot summer days. If you will follow the directions with painstaking faithfulness you need have no fear of "bad luck." You will have as good luck as I have myself.

EGG PUPKE.

HAVE some Bearnaise sauce ready. Prepare ahead of time the desired number of unsweetened cream puffs. Fifteen or twenty minutes before serving put these in an oven to warm. In the meanwhile prepare a stuffing of lobster as follows: Two-fifths artichoke bottoms, two-fifths fresh mushrooms, one-fifth smoked salmon, all cut in small cubes. Fry these in butter and set aside in a warm place.

Now take out your cream puffs, cut the top off, scoop out, and, inside, place a spoonful of lobster stuffing, over this a soft-poached egg. Mask the egg with a spoonful of Bearnaise sauce, place the top that you cut off over this and serve at once.

COLD EGG NUREMBERG.

A SOFT boiled egg placed on a little crab meat salad made with some hashed green peppers and highly seasoned. Serve in a china cassolette, glaze with paprika cream sauce.

THE TORONTO EXHIBITION

Some Interesting Exhibits at Canada's Big Fair This Week

Patriotic Manufacturing Firm.

It is not only on the firing line that a man can serve his country well, and the truth of this is well exemplified by the policy of the great firm of Christie, Brown and Co., Limited, Biscuit Manufacturers.

When war was declared and certain gentry used it as a heartless practice extortion on the public's necessity, this company immediately announced to the trade that prices would remain exactly where they were. Further, their energies would be bent not only towards retaining all their employes during the winter, but increasing the number if possible. Prices will remain as they are unless the raw materials rise to such a figure as to compel them to take notice. It is by such high-minded and public-spirited action that the strain of war is in part modified and it cannot be doubted but that this declaration of policy has had a restraining influence on others who might have been tempted to follow in the footsteps of certain purveyors of the necessities of life. The Golden Rule still stands: deeds and not words are required just now.

Toledo Scales.

The demand for the scale with the Honest Weight reputation is greater than ever, and within the last month the Toledo Scale Co. have doubled the capacity of their factory at Windsor, Ont., notwithstanding that other companies are working short time, and some have closed entirely.

An explanation of the principle of these machines at the exhibit in the Manufacturer's Building explains why. Don't miss it.

Bird's Dining Hall.

One of the most dependable things in the whole Exhibition is Bird's Dining Hall, opposite West end of Grand Stand. A full course meal for 35 cents or a special meal in the private dining room for 50 cents is sure to satisfy the most particular. A modern, clean, sanitary kitchen, a neat dining room, prompt service and good food are the principal features of Birds Dining Hall. Take your dinner and supper at Birds.

Johns' Glass Blowers.

Every year the most popular show on Toronto Exhibition Midway, with those who want value for their money, is Johns' famous troupe of glass-blowers. Glass blowing in all its phases is being done here all the time by real experts. Admission is only ten cents and every visitor is given a free souvenir. Don't miss these wonderful glassblowers.

Pember's Toupees

Toronto Exhibition visitors are cordially invited to call at the up-to-date hair goods store of W.T. Pember, 129 Yonge St., Pember Toupees are well known among gentlemen who wish to look well. Pember goods please people because they are natural.

"1900" Gravity Washers

Our readers have often heard of the "1900 Washers." Those who are visiting Toronto Exhibition will have a chance to see them doing their work.

The "1900" Washers are on exhibition underneath the Grand Stand (in centre of building) and are proving to thousands how a tubful of clothes can be thoroughly washed in six minutes without wearing or damaging the Lindsay Men Upset.

Five Lindsay young men camping over Labor Day near Graham's Landing at Sturgeon Point, had a very exciting time Sunday morning about ten o'clock while out paddling in a canoe. The whole five undertook to navigate in one canoe, but before long found themselves floundering in the water and had great difficulty in making the shore.

Local Y. M. C. A. Helps

The Y.M.C.A. has decided to give all the proceeds from the City Track and Field Championships to the fund which provides tents for writing letters home, and also furnishes material, amusements in the shape of moving pictures, athletics, baseball and football games for their spare time and camp fire and song services in the evenings.

Wants Local Goods

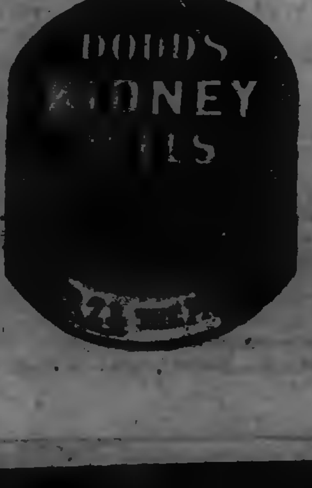
Mr. C. E. Jamieson announced to the Board of Trade that he had received a letter from the Trade and Industry Committee of the Royal Colonial Institute, asking him to make a report on the particular class of goods hitherto purchased by dealers in this locality from firms in Austria and Germany. He was also asked what goods could be made here to supply other parts of the Empire.

Shot at Belleville.

Belleville, Sept. 9.—A peculiar shooting accident occurred on Labor Day afternoon near Cooper's Mill on Moira street. Mr. William Cook, a guard at the Kingston Penitentiary was on Asseltine's bus, having come up from Kingston to visit Mr. Asseltine, who is a friend of his. He was sitting in the middle of the front seat with Mr. Asseltine senior at his left and Mr. Asseltine, jr., at his right, driving. They were going south west towards the mill when along the deep bank over the flume, a shot was fired. There was scarcely any noise, but the horse saw or heard something and gave a leap. Just then Mr. Cook said he thought he had been shot. Examination showed a hole in his coat, vest and shirt and blood was flowing from a wound in his left shoulder. Mr. Asseltine, jr., made an examination of "the island" on the other side of the flume but nobody was seen.

Youthful Burglar Arrested.

The mystery surrounding a number of recent cases of burglary in Lindsay has been partially cleared up in the arrest late on Saturday night of a thirteen year old youth (son of respectable parents), from the east ward while in the act of burglarizing Fred Thomas' bicycle shop. The youth was seen by two young men to enter the store. As soon as the youth realized that he had been detected, he ran through the machine shop, and finding that the glass door barred his progress, either plunged through the large glass or smashed it with his fist. When arrested it was found that he was bleeding profusely, and upon investigation it was seen that the right hand and wrist has been badly cut. The youth also had in his possession a bag containing cartridges and other accessories carried by Mr. Thomas. He was immediately taken to the police station. The injuries sustained by the boy were of a serious character.



Empress Hotel Nearly Ready.

The fine new local hotel, formerly called the National, but now entitled the Empress, is approaching completion. The carpenter contractors, Messrs. Ephgrave and Barrett, who, incidentally have done good work, as have the other contractors on this big job, will complete their work today. Messrs. Alexander and Miller, the local electricians still have some work to complete as have Messrs. Duncan Bros., the paper hangers and painters. A large quantity of furniture has already been placed in the hotel. This includes brass bedsteads, carpets, tables, dressing cases, etc. The telephone system is also complete, every bedroom being supplied with an individual telephone. Mr. George Graham, the new proprietor, will probably take possession within the next week, and will, with this modernly reconstructed and admirably equipped hotel, get a big slice of the trade from both the travelling public and from local residents.

MOTHER! THE CHILD IS COSTIVE, BILIOUS

Don't hesitate! A laxative is necessary if tongue is coated, breath bad or stomach sour.

No matter what ails your child, a gentle, thorough laxative should always be the first treatment given.

If your little one is out-of-sorts, half-sick, isn't resting, eating and acting naturally—look, Mother! see if tongue is coated. This is a sure sign that its little stomach, liver and bowels are clogged with waste. When cross, irritable, feverish, stomach sour, breath bad or has stomach ache, diarrhoea, sore throat, full of cold, give a teaspoonful of "California Syrup of Figs," and in a few hours all the constipated poison, undigested food and sour bile gently moves out of its little bowels without griping, and you have a well, playful child again.

Mothers can rest easy after giving this harmless "fruit laxative" because it never fails to cleanse the little one's liver and bowels and sweeten the stomach and they dearly love its pleasant taste. Full directions for babies, children of all ages and for grown-ups printed on each bottle.

Beware of counterfeit fig syrups. Ask your druggist for a 50-cent bottle of "California Syrup of Figs" then see that it is made by the "California Fig Syrup Company."

PREMIER ASKS FOR HALF A MILLION MORE TROOPS

Statement From Commander of Field Force From Battle Line Northeast of Paris Thrills Empire--Take Many German Prisoners

London, Sept. 10.—Premier Asquith to-day asked Parliament to add another half million men of all ranks to the regular army.

The supplementary estimates issued in the form of a white paper, asking Parliament to vote this increase, say it represents the probable excess beyond the similar increase voted August 5, which will be required for the army service. This will bring the total of all ranks in the army to the unprecedented figure for Great Britain of 1,186,400 men.

Tells of Speedy Recruiting.

Premier Asquith said that 439,000 men, exclusive of the Territorials had joined the army since the declaration of war. On one day, he said, 33,290 men had enlisted. The average enlistment in the army in an ordinary year was 35,000 men.

In moving a resolution authorizing the raising of an additional half million men, the Premier said that the time had not come to relax efforts to obtain more troops. After the reserves had been called out, there were 400,000 men with the colors. On August 6 he proposed that an additional half million be recruited, making a total of 900,000.

This suggestion was approved and the recruiting was so successful that by September 9, 431,000 men had joined, making the total under arms only about 60,000 less than the 900,000 planned for.

No Statement By France.

Paris, Sept. 10.—The French War Department did not issue the customary communication this afternoon regarding the military operations of the allied armies

The British Statement.

London, Sept. 10.—The Official Press Bureau has given out the following statement:—

The battle continued yesterday. The enemy has been driven back all along the line. Sir John French reports that our first corps has buried 200 German dead and taken 12 Maxim guns. Some prisoners also were taken.

Our second army corps has captured 350 prisoners and a battery. The Germans suffered heavily. Their men are stated to be very exhausted.

British troops have crossed the River Marne in a northerly direction.

Cheering News From the Front.

That the enemy was driven back all along the line yesterday, is the news, cheering to British readers, that Field Marshal Sir John French, Commander-in-Chief of the British Expeditionary Force, sent to England this afternoon from the battle line of the allies to the east of Paris.

This statement of the British commander is driven home to Englishmen by the further announcement of the annexation by British troops of a dozen German Maxim guns and a battery of German field guns, and it is further emphasized by official confirmation of the capture of numbers of German prisoners

Field Marshal French's telegram shows that fighting of the fiercest character is in progress, and his statement that the German forces are very exhausted, confirms unofficial information from other quarters that the counter attack has been delivered with such speed and impetuosity that the invaders have been given no chance to recover from the effects of their rush from the north.

What Ambassador Page Finds.

Washington, Sept. 10.—Great Britain is determined not to make peace until she has decisively defeated Germany. This sentiment has been conveyed to President Wilson in despatches from Ambassador Page at London.

Hit by "Triphammer."

Paris, Sept. 10.—The left end of the curved battle line which, on September 7 extended in the segment of a slight circle from Meaux to Vitry-le-Francais, about 100 miles to the east of Paris, was hit by the English triphammer yesterday, and forced to double back for a distance of approximately 25 miles. This outcome of the fighting has aroused a great degree of satisfaction in Paris. It is argued here that it probably has resulted in an equal degree of anxiety for the German general staff concerning its line of communications.

UNWORTHY OF CREDENCE

Peterborough, Sept. 9th, 1914.

Mr. Editor:

A certain rumor, which I am willing to believe was started as a joke rather than with malicious intent, has gained such widespread circulation that my friends have suggested that I make some public statement. I thought of allowing the matter to drift along rather than give notice to any such absurd and unfounded rumor; but to set the rumor at rest, I have decided to ask you to publish the following for those with whom I have not had the pleasure of an acquaintance, my friends and associates need no such explanation:

I beg to say that I am of English and Irish descent, all the living members of my father's family being still residents of Manchester, England. I am, therefore, possibly more English than some who have helped to spread this story. There is absolutely not the least foundation for the story; it is a pure fabrication from the beginning. No argument nor altercation has occurred at any place, nor at any time, to warrant the rumor. During such times as these, people are apt to grasp at such rumors and form opinions accordingly.

I trust this explanation will correct the impression which may be held by a few. Any further circulation of the story will be with malicious intent, and wholly unworthy of credence.

Thanking you, Mr. Editor, I am,
Yours sincerely,
W. H. DENHAM.

FOUR VENDORS OF DRUGS ARRESTED

New Orleans, Sept. 10.—Detectives Mullen and Stubbs Saturday night did much towards minimising the cocaine and opium traffic when they arrested four vendors of the deadly poisons and confiscated a quantity of cocaine and opium.

The detectives first caught George Johnson and Harry Taylor in the act of attempting to dispose of cocaine to negresses at Gravier and Franklin streets. Johnson had sixteen capsules of cocaine and Taylor fourteen.

Through them they ascertained the names of Harry Flung, a Chinaman, and Frank Irving, who were arrested at Tulane avenue and Rampart St. Eleven cards of opium were found in their possession.

The quartette admitted having the poisonous drugs in their possession for sale, and that they had sold much of the drugs.

Splendid Report of Our British Soldiers is Told Regarding Recent Fighting

London, Eng., Sept. 10.—In the course of his report on the operations up till Sept. 1st, General French says: "At daybreak on the 25th it became apparent that the enemy was throwing the bulk of his strength against the left of the position occupied by the second corps and fourth division of my force. At this time the guns of four army corps were in position against them and Sir Horace Smith-Dorrien reported to me that he judged it impossible to continue this retirement at daybreak as ordered in face of such an attack. I sent him orders to use his utmost endeavours to break off action and retire at the earliest possible moment, as it was impossible for me to send him support, the first corps being at the moment incapable of movement.

"The French cavalry corps under General Sordet was coming up on our left rear early in the morning, and I sent him an urgent message to do his utmost to come up and support the retirement of my left flank but owing to the fatigue of his horses he found himself unable to intervene in any way. There had been no time to entrench the position properly but the troops showed magnificent front to the terrible fire which confronted them. The ar-artillery, although out-matched by at least four to one, made a splendid fight, and inflicted heavy losses on their opponents. At length it became apparent that if complete annihilation must be attempted and order was given to commence it about 3.30 in the afternoon. The movement was covered with the most devoted intrepidity and determination by the artillery, which had itself suffered heavily, and the fine work done by cavalry in the further retreat from the position, assisted materially the final completion of this most difficult and dangerous operation. Fortunately the enemy had himself suffered too heavily to engage in an energetic pursuit.

PRAISE FOR ALL CONCERNED

"It is impossible for me to speak too highly of the skill evinced by the two general officers commanding the army corps, the self-sacrificing and devoted exertions of their staff, the direction of the troops by the divisional brigade and regimental leaders, the command of small units by their officers, and the magnificent fighting spirit displayed by the non-commissioned officers and men. I wish particularly to bring to your Lordship's notice the admirable work done by the Royal Flying Corps under Sir David Henderson. Their skill, energy, and perseverence has been beyond all praise.

"I cannot close the brief account of this glorious stand of the British troops without putting on record my deep appreciation of the valuable services rendered by Sir Horace Smith-Dorrien. I say without hesitation that the saving of the left wing of the army under my command on the morning of the 26th could never have been accomplished unless a commander of rare and unusual coolness, intrepidity and determination had been present to conduct the operations.

"Our aeroplane corps were fired at by friend and foe alike but they hesitated not to fly in every kind of weather, They have remained undaunted throughout. Further by actual fighting they destroyed five of the enemy's machines.

"I deeply deplore the very serious losses which the British forces suffered in this great battle, but they were inevitable in view of the fact that the British army—only a few days after concentration by rail—was called upon to withstand the vigorous attack of five German army corps of 200,000 men."

GIGANTIC FOOD PLOT PARED IN NEW YORK

Albany, N. Y., Sept. 10.—The charge that there exists in New York State a "gigantic conspiracy" of owners of cold storage and refrigerating plants to increase the cost of food is made by Attorney General James A. Parsons.

He declares that soon he will institute legal proceedings against the firms involved. He refused to make public any names.

Mr. Parsons added that investigators have ascertained that when prices were highest it usually was found that the largest amounts of food products were in storage.

FOOD FACTS
What an M.D. Learned.

A physician went through a food experience which he makes public.

"It was my own experience that first led me to advocate Grape-Nuts food and I also know from having prescribed it to convalescents and other weak patients, that the food is a wonderful rebuilder and restorer of nerve and brain tissue, as well as muscle. It improves the digestion and sick patients gain very rapidly, just as I did in strength and weight.

"I was in such a low state that I had to give up my work entirely, and went to the mountains, but two months there did not improve me; in fact, I was not quite as well as when I left home.

"My food did not sustain me and it became plain that I must change. Then I began to use Grape-Nuts food and in two weeks I could walk a mile without fatigue, and in five weeks returned to my home and practice, taking up hard work again. Since that time I have felt as well and strong as I ever did in my life.

"As a physician who seeks to help all sufferers, I consider it a duty to make these facts public." Name given by Canadian Postum Co., Windsor, Ont.

Trial 10 days of Grape-Nuts, when regular food does not seem to sustain the body, works wonders. "There's a Reason."

Ever read the above letter? A new one appears from time to time. They are genuine, true and full of human interest.

A Large Detachment of German Cavalry Surrounded

Paris, Sept. 10.—All morning long lines of couriers in automobiles coming from the fighting lines east of the city have been arriving at the headquarters of Gen Gallieni, the military commander of Paris.

An automobilist attached to the headquarters of Sir John French, the commander in chief of the British forces on the continent came into Paris this morning Speaking of the situation to the east he said the spirit of the British soldiers was cheerful and that they were confident of winning.

The British troops are in much greater force than commonly is supposed, this man said. Figures for military reasons have been avoided. One hundred thousand Germans passed through Crecy-en-Brie, in the Department of Seine-et-Marne Sunday night and Monday morning. They were retiring. A part of this column was marching eight men abreast.

A large detachment of German cavalry which was cut off from the army and took refuge in a forest last night is now surrounded by French troops.

French Death List Low Germans Aim Badly

London, Sept. 10.—The Bordeaux correspondent of The Exchange Telegraph Company, states that according to a statement made today by a member of the health department in the Ministry of War, the present European war was not resulting in a very heavy loss of life.

"Of every hundred men placed hors de combat only two are killed," this official said. "Our wounded are numerous but their injuries are generally slight, the most men being hurt in the arms or legs and the wounds almost invariably heal rapidly.

"Many of those wounded have already returned to the front. However our low mortality rate may be attributed in part to the poor aim of the Germans."

Few Severely Wounded.

A despatch to the Reuter Telegram Company from Paris reports a French military doctor as saying that the proportion of severely wounded fighting in France is only about five per cent. He confirmed the reports that the German troops had completely evacuated the northern region of France with the exception of small parties of Uhlans, who have been entrusted with the difficult task of guarding communications. These Uhlans also are gradually backing eastward.

... Villagers Returning Home

The situation is clearing according to the doctor. He says that many emigrants whose villages are no longer threatened by Germans are returning to their homes.

Traffic has been partially resumed on the northern railway. Two reconnaissance trains went yesterday to a place where heavy fighting occurred quite recently. The neighborhood was found cleared of the enemy but the ground was strewn with the putrifying bodies of dead horses.

JAMES K. HACKETT IS CANADIAN BORN

The distinguished actor, who will appear at the Grand Opera House, Friday night, Sept. 11th, as a legitimate claim on the favor and goodwill of the Canadian people. Though both of his parents belonged on the other side of the water, the fact remains that Mr. James K. Hackett himself first saw the light of day on Canadian soil, and the sentiment and affection with which he regards old friends and associations, in our part of the world, is deep and enduring. Mr. Hackett was born on Wolfe Island, not far from Marysville, in the comfortable home of Captain Morgan—who, by the by, died only two months ago, in the same house where young Hackett was born. The latter has been spending the summer at Clayton, on the New York side of the St. Lawrence, and in his private motor yacht has been cruising through Canadian waters and spending many happy hours at his birth place and among his boyhood friends on Wolfe Island. He is still proud of their friendship and they are proud he has made his name stand for in the world of dramatic art.

So, there is a genuine sentiment attached to his deliberate purpose in making his first appearance of Othello on Canadian soil and as near his birth place as he could secure a suitable theatre. It is only a short half hour's ferry trip from Wolfe Island to Kingston. And it is safe to say there is scarcely a single native of that delightful locality that will not be on hand, on the evening of Monday, September 7, and applaud their old friend and playfellow when he first steps on the stage of the Kingston Grand Opera House in the rich robes and the swarthy visage of the noble Moor of Venice. In fact the coming event is already the eager topic of both Kingston and Wolfe Island; and if ever Mr. James K. Hackett faced a friendly and appreciative audience he will see all past friendship eclipsed on the night of his Othello premiere on Canadian soil.

As a matter of fact, Canada is entitled to feel a legitimate satisfaction that one of the foremost, and probably the most popular, of the young stars in this part of the English-speaking world, has chosen to give us the first view of what is admittedly, his most ambitious histrionic effort. Mr. Hackett is playing "Othello" for only a brief preliminary fall tour of two weeks. Not alone will the first performances be given in Canada, but the entire fortnight's bookings will be played in Canadian cities. After his initial appearance in Kingston Grand Opera House in the play in succession Ottawa, Peterboro', Hamilton, London, St. Thomas, Galt, Brantford and St. Catharines. [illegible] therefore, that we should deem a ready appreciation of his enterprise and assume, as partly our own, the credit that may result from the forthcoming performances of Shakespeare's great love tragedy, as Mr. Hackett will present it.

Just One Application and the Hairs Vanish

(Toilet Talks)

Any woman can keep her skin free from unsightly hair or fuzz if she will follow these simple instructions: When hairy growths appear, apply a simple paste, made by mixing some water with powdered delatone. Apply this to hairy surface and after 2 or 3 minutes rub off, wash the skin and the hairs are gone. This is a harmless treatment, but be sure you get the real delatone.

AUSTRIANS FALL BACK BEFORE IMPETUOUS RUSSIAN ATTACKS

Reports Say That Cracow, the Main Rallying Point, is Already Being Evacuated in Face of Muscovite Advance Toward Germany

London, Sept. 10.—A despatch to the Reuter Telegram Company from Petrograd says that the Austrians have begun evacuating Cracow. Cracow has been described as the main rallying point for the Austrian and German forces in Galicia. It is the old capital of the kingdom of Poland and is situated in a broad plain on the left bank of the Vistula, 30 miles from the frontier of Silesia, is a city of about 100,000 and is about 100 miles west of Lemberg. Between Cracow and Lemberg is the very strong position of Przemysl, still in possession of the Austrians.

Undertook Night March.

Petrograd, Sept. 10.—The following references to the progress of the Russian campaign in Galicia were made public today through official channels:

The continued offensive movements of the Russian troops makes it possible to establish definitely the quantity of trophies taken from the enemy.

The Russian army having occupied the fortified position of the Austrians at Nicolaieff south of Lemberg in Galicia, after incessant fighting which lasted two days, undertook immediately after allowing the men only two hours of rest, a night march for the purpose of attacking new positions occupied by the enemy.

Make Many Prisoners.

Hundreds of prisoners as fast as they fall into Russian hands are sent to railroad stations bordering on the battle front. These prisoners are not even enumerated.

A Russian battery placed on the Vistula River engaged with success an Austrian steamboat armed with rapid fire guns.

A Cossack regiment brought in from Frampol 15 officers and 445 Austrian soldiers who had been taken prisoners; also numerous convoys of horses and cattle.

Took Money, Too

The regimental strong box, containing $29,600 belonging to the 17th Landwehr, was captured.

Twelve miles southeast of Zamosc (a town in Russian Poland 45 miles southeast of Lubin), a Russian infantry regiment took prisoner 700 Austrian soldiers and their officers.

Important Austrian reserves have been sent into the region between Rawa Ruska (32 miles northwest of Lemberg), and the Dniester River.

It has been established that German soldiers have despatched wounded Russian dragoons in the region of Velugne.

Germans Will Be Late.

London, Sept. 10—The Times has received the following message from its Petrograd correspondent:

I understand that a German army division proceeding along the banks of the River Vistula formed a vanguard of the German forces hurrying to relieve the hard pressed Austrians, and that these reinforcements are advancing by way of Czenstochawa and Kielce. Experienced observers here believe that they will not arrive in time.

I hear on excellent authority that General Samsonoff's staff officers are all safe with the exception of one killed. Thus the story that Gen. Samsonoff and all of his staff were killed by German shells was evidently false.

Russians Too Impetuous.

The Times' Petrograd correspondent referring to the fighting around Lemberg, says that if any criticism is permissible it might be urged that the Russian onslaught on the Austrian army had been a bit too impetuous. Strategy would have been better served, the correspondent believed, if Auffenberg's army had still held its former line at Belz and Zamosc.

Wounded to Vienna.

Rome, Sept. 10.—The Tribuna's Vienna correspondent states that six thousand wounded arrived in Vienna on Tuesday, 5,000 on Monday, and 9,000 on last Sunday. About a third of these are Germans. Budapest and Prague also report the arrival of large numbers of wounded.

Russians At Carpathians.

Geneva, Sept. 10.—A party of Swiss who have returned here from Vienna, bring information that thousands of laborers are at work on defences around the Austrian capital. They declare furthermore that the advance guards of the Russian army already are at the summits of the passes through the Carpathian Mountains, and that the Austrians are retiring.

BRITISH FLAG TORN DOWN TO MAKE WAY FOR STARS AND STRIPES

Baltimore, M.D., Sept. 10.—A number of men late Sunday went aboard the British steamer Marmion, at the foot of the Broadway here, while the officers and crew were in their cabins and threw overboard the British flag. It was recovered later. Previously they had demanded that an American flag be raised and had been told by the ship's officers that none was on board.

The Marmion had been "dressed" in honor of the "Star-Spangled Banner" centennial and the captain had given orders that visitors to the pier should be permitted to board the vessel.

FUHRMANN GETS BLACK HAND NOTE

Buffalo, N. Y., Sept. 10.—Threatening terms demanding that Mayor L. P. Fuhrmann place $500 within twenty-four hours in the rear of his home at No. 174 Jewett Avenue, or pay the penalty of having his domicile blown sky-high, has caused an armed guard to be thrown around the house. One of the missives came Thursday, the other Saturday. The mayor gave the letters little thought but out of respect to Mrs. Fuhrmann, who is caring for their sick child, the official reported the matter to the police. Special watch was stationed at the house on Monday night and has been there since Mayor Fuhrman said he has received any number of similar letters but never from the same persons twice. He said both letters were written in an exceptional legible hand except for the signatures which were undecipherable. Good stationary was used and the phrasing was of the best. The epistles made known that if the money was not forthcoming a bomb would be exploded underneath the house. Supt. Regan said today he had not heard of the letters.

HAPPY CONVICTS

A Swiss prison appears to be the very place in which to spend a cheap holiday, as you have practically all you want—a comfortable cell, central heating, electricity, good food, a fair quantity of wine or beer and tobacco, and a library. You can learn a trade, have plenty of exercise, and there is little work to do in return for all these advantages. Until a year ago, at Thorberg Prison, good conduct prisoners were even allowed out once a week on "parole," but though no prisoners escaped, this custom has been suppressed.

Of all the Swiss prisons perhaps the jolliest is that of Kreuzlingen, in the Canton of Thurgau. The inmates have weekly smoking concerts, when the latest music hall songs can be heard, and good music, with the result that at evenings the townspeople—Kreuzlingen has nearly 6,000 inhabitants—gather enviously under the prison walls and promenade in the street enjoying the free entertainment, especially as some of the convicts have good voices. On these occasions there is no warden to prevent a conversation between the prisoners and their visitors across the wall, and thus the former learn the latest news.

It is noticed that the prisoners are very polite when young women are present. Packets of cigarettes and other small luxuries—not on the regular menu—find their way over the walls, and this custom, though strictly forbidden, is winked at. These pleasant little "soirées musicales" are now threatened with extinction.

It is only fair to the authorities to say that crime is decreasing, as the population increases, in the country.

Merthyr Corporation has accepted the offer of Mr. D. A. Thomas of a statue of Trevithick, the inventor of the locomotive, who ran his first steam engine in the neighborhood.

Statue to Late Lord Mayor

It has been decided that the memorial to the late Lord Mayor of Belfast (R. J. M'Mordie, M.P.) shall take the form of a statue.

Calves in Carriages

In Limerick Mr. M. O'Grady, of Blackwater, was fined $5.00 for receiving four calves from a prohibited area. The calves were, it was alleged, conveyed in covered carriages.

Burglars Overlooked the Money

Burglars who broke into the office in Athlone of Messrs. Wallace Bros., coal merchants, of Dublin, and ransacked them, overlooked a drawer in which there was a large sum of money.

Stout Hearted Knight

Sir Thomas Bucknill, although not yet recovered from a serious illness, stopped a runaway horse at Epsom. Some months ago Sir Thomas arrested outside his residence a powerfully built man who was assaulting another man, and held him until the arrival of the police.

Tragedy of a Caravan

At Lavenham, near Long Melford, Sucolk, a wheeled hut, or caravan, occupied by a Mrs. Murdoch, aged 82, and her son, aged 30, wife and son of Mr. Walter Murdoch, a small holder who had just bought some land and was about to build a house, caught fire, and both occupants were burned to death.

Pavements of Rubber

"Before long I hope to see the streets round the Mansion House, at any rate, paved with rubber. It would be conducive to sound sleep and better health." This is the view of the Lord Mayor of London, at the Rubber Exhibition.

Physician Killed by Gun

Dr. John Augustus Hogg, who held several public appointments in Derbyshire, after rabbit shooting began to clean his gun, forgetting that there was a cartridge still in the breech. While he was apparently leaning over the muzzle he accidentally fired it and the charge entered his side. He died in an hour.

"Snail" Egg

Mrs. Gamlin, of Dudley street, Cardiff, who has kept poultry for forty years, found a remarkable egg in her hen coop. One of her sons threw a fine healthy-looking snail to the fowls and it was gobbled up. Shortly afterwards there was laid a peculiarly curved egg—just the shape and size of the snail.

Time Limit For Cock Crowing

At Stonehaven, Scotland, Town Council a reference was made to a cock-crowing nuisance. The town clerk reported that he had written to the owner of the fowl, who had replied that he had "taken means to prevent the cock crowing until after six a.m."

Tickling Her Neck

When Annie M'Kenzie, a middle-aged woman of respectable appearance, was charged at Glasgow with attempting to steal a chain from the neck of a young farm girl in High street, she protested that she was only tickling the girl's neck. Sheriff Lyell however sent her to prison for three months.

Wrong Kind of Ale

At Dublin a fine of $2.50 was imposed on John O'Connell, a licensed beer dealer, for supplying a boy under age with ale which was not contained in a properly sealed vessel. The boy, who had the liquor in a can, said his father sent him for "Indian ale," which is a temperance drink, but he got ordinary ale instead. The boy's father said he was a teetotaler.

A Bird the Thief

The residents of Port Eynon, Gower, were mystified by the disappearance of handkerchiefs from clothes lines, and they communicated with the police with a view to the discovery of the thief. Now the thief has been discovered. A Swansea boy was birdnesting round Port Eynon, and found in a large oak tree a bird's nest constructed of the missing handkerchiefs, twisted into knots, among the twigs.

Hugh Daily Business

The London General Omnibus Company issue something like 2,000,000 tickets in the course of a single day, and for those people who like to have such matters elaborated into statistical details it may be remarked that a day's supply of tickets weighs about one ton. If placed end to end they would stretch from London to Dover, would cover a space of nearly an acre, or if placed flat on top of one another would reach to a height of 1,666 feet.

A Costly Out-patient

At Saffron Walden over $5,000 has been spent on radium for a patient who is in receipt of out-relief.

In Fear of Tramps

Mr. P. Harding Roberts, clerk of the Holywell Board of Guardians, appeared before the Holywell magistrates and explained the scheme for relief stations for vagrants which had been adopted by the unions of North Wales. He asked the Bench to commit to prison any vagrants brought before them for begging, as there was now no necessity for any on the road to beg. One of the magistrates said many of the farmers in the country assisted these tramps because they were in fear of them.

KNIGHT WEDS SERVANT

Gardener's Daughter the Bride of Sir F. Powell, Octogenarian Artist

Sir Francis Powell, the octogenarian artist, was married quietly before the Glasgow sheriff to Annie Ing Hamilton Boyd Macnab, a girl of twenty-three, who has been employed in the bridegroom's household as a servant, and is a gardener's daughter.

Sir Francis and Lady Powell's home is Torr Aluinn, Dunoon, which is the mansion he built about fifty years ago when he took up his residence on the Firth of Clyde.

Sir Francis was born at Pendleton, near Manchester, in 1833. He is the only son of William Frederick Powell, a Manchester merchant, and studied at the Manchester School of Art. In 1858 he married [illegible], daughter of Joseph Brockett, of Strangeways Engraving Works, Manchester, who died in 1912.

Since it was founded in 1878 Sir Francis has been president of the Royal Scottish Society of Painters in Water Colors. He was knighted in 1893.

GOLF LOOKS EASY UNTIL YOU TRY IT

Fascination of the Game and Its Effect on the Player

What is the secret of its fascination? Probably at bottom that it looks so easy and is so hard. Nothing can well seem simpler than hitting a stationary ball with a club. But in actual fact the human body proves to be curiously ill-adapted for any such task. The problem of dispatching that insolent ball in the desired direction becomes suddenly terrifying. Weak little men with hardly an effort send it flying a sixth of a mile. Huge burly fellows, with a blow that would shake St. Paul's, hit it 30 yards. It is the most baffling, tantalising, vexatious of games.

But if the sorrows of golf are great, so also are its rewards. There is a feel and a glow about a clean-hit drive, or an approach that dribbles up to the hole, that very few strokes at polo, cricket, lawn tennis, or billiards are able to evoke. In the course of a two hours' round a player has every variety of chance to cover himself with glory or disgrace. It depends altogether on his own skill and nerve and self-control. One suffers for one's own shortcomings; one profits by one's own prowess—with just enough luck and chance thrown in to remind one of the mutability of life. And to many people this sense of standing on one's own merits or defects, and of being solely responsible for victory or defeat, is part of the attraction of golf. It comforts the diffident, it inspires the self-reliant; and the essential companionableness of the game saves it from egotism. Judgment and concentration and the courage never to submit or yield, and evenness of temper; these are all tested and disciplined by golf; while as a physical exercise it has the supreme virtue of being equally good for the young, middle-aged, and the old of both sexes. A veteran of fifty-five with a touch of lumbago defeats a champion of twenty-seven; a boy of twenty disposes of famous and seasoned masters of the game who have been playing it longer than he has been alive. People may point at the golfer as a but too typical product of our soft and leisurely age; but golf itself, so long as it remains a game and does not grow into a disease, needs no excuse.

USES CATS AS HOUNDS

Big Felines Trail, Point and Retrieve Like Hunting Dogs

T. G. Nimmo, of Missouri, probably has the strangest "pack of hounds" in the world. It consists of two huge domestic cats, which he has been training for more than three years until they trail, point, and retrieve small games as well as any dogs ever seen in his district. The cats are named Tom and Jerry, and are used principally in hunting rabbits, tree squirrels and quail, though they have tackled and helped kill opossums and raccoons, both of which are plentiful in that part of the State.

According to their owner, who began training the cats when they were kittens, on sight of a rabbit, squirrel or quail they assume rigid positions, like that of a pointer, except that they move their tails slightly, and wait for him to come up and shoot the game they have found. They have never, since he finished their training, rushed forward to kill the game themselves, or to attempt to stalk it. When the shot is fired they retrieve the fallen animal or bird, and if it is not quite dead give it a quietus by biting it in the neck.

The especial value of these cats, Mr. Nimmo says, is in their ability to trail, capture, and kill wounded squirrels which flee to the tree tops after being shot.

Yacht Fortunes

Few men have spent so much money on racing yachts as Sir Thomas Lipton, and few have won so many races as he has. The cost of racing yacht construction varies considerably, depending a great deal upon the kind of material used in the hull.

Racers are built up nowadays of wood, composite, bronze, aluminium, and steel. A racing yacht of composite construction—steel frames planked with wood and sheathed with copper—will, if of 20 tons measurement, cost, roughly, $10,000; of 40 tons, $17,500; of 90 tons, $35,000.

The suits of canvas required for racing yachts generally need renewing every season, and the cost often runs into big figures. The cost of a racing season, inclusive of fitting out, etc., would be: for a 20-ton boat, $3,000; 40-ton boat, $6,000; 90-ton boat, $10,000.

BRITISH-CANADIAN

Do you desire to make large profits on your investment in Alberta Oil Shares?

If you do you must use good judgment in the selection of the companies in which you invest.

In order that you may use this good judgment it is absolutely necessary that you investigate and analyze a company thoroughly before placing your money in its shares.

In order that you may do this in the case of the British Canadian Oils, Ltd., we hereby give you the information we have secured through our rigid investigation and analysis of said company, and in giving this information we would say that we believe it is correct in every detail.

(1) The British Canadian Oils, Ltd., is incorporated for $1,000,000; 10,000,000 shares at the par value of 10c.

(2) About 500,000 shares of the stock have already been sold, and are now in the hands of the investing public.

(3) The Directors' and Officers' stock is all pooled.

(4) The Company is the holder of petroleum and natural gas leases on over 7,000 acres of land in the Province of Alberta.

(5) The Directors, Officers and Solicitors of the Company are all reliable and conscientious business men who have the welfare of the company at heart, and who desire in every manner in their power to give the public a square run for their money.

(6) The Company is now erecting on Section 31, Township 24, Range 4, an up-to-date combination rotary and standard rig.

(7) The Company expects to commence drilling inside of 3 days, and continue with all possible despatch.

(8) The Company has secured as Field Superintendent a man who knows his business thoroughly.

(9) The said Superintendent has engaged competent drillers to carry out his instructions.
(10) The treasury of the Company is now well financed.

(11) A reputable local geologist in reporting on adjoining property makes the following statement in said report:

"There is a plunging tendency in the crest of the anticline which causes its crest to sink toward the Elbow river. The crest of this dome-shaped structure seems to be in the neighborhood of Section 31, of Township 24, and Section 6 of Township 25."

(12) A reputable petroleum engineer in reply to an enquiry from us, stated that the lease held by the British Canadian Oils, Ltd., in Section 31, is situated on the most perfect anticline he has seen in Western Alberta.

(13) British Canadian shares are listed on the three Calgary exchanges, and are very active traders.

(14) The price of British Canadian shares is very low at the present time; we expect to see it go much higher.

In view of the above information secured by us, we have no hesitation whatever in advising you to at once buy the shares of the British Canadian Oils, Limited, at 15c per share, believing that you will get a square run for your money, and big profits on your investment.

We are prepared to fill your orders for British Canadian shares at 15c each, but this price is subject to raise without notice. Any new strike in the oil field, or any other exciting report might send this stock to a very high price. We would suggest that you wire us at our expense and let your remittance follow, or if you prefer, write us and enclose your remittance.

Our market letter giving information on the Alberta Oil Fields is free for the asking. Write for it.

THE NEWEST PROFESSION

"Cambridge man is prepared to give lessons in idiomatic English to those who through lack of early opportunity are at a disadvantage in society."

The above advertisement in the "Agony column" of a London newspaper attracted a reporter's attention and he set out to investigate.

He found the advertiser ensconced in a tastefully-furnished little bachelor flat in the fashionable Kensington district of London. He is a young man, clean-shaven and well-groomed, and with the quiet air of easy self-confidence that is everywhere the acceptable hall-mark of the world.

"Mind you," he said, in the course of a conversation, "I don't profess to be an authority on the English language. I only profess to teach clients the particular brand of idiomatic English which is spoken at the present time in good society, the little subtleties of which vary from year to year and which can only be acquired by experience. And I not only teach them what to say; I teach them—and this is far more important—what not to say.

"Let me explain. I have as a client an agriculturist, who is an authority, naturally, on that subject, but who knows absolutely nothing, we will say, about art. Very well. I tell him to talk pigs, not pictures, in general society. In the bosom of his family, of course, it is different. There he can air his views about Royal Academy art if he cares to do so. He is only making himself ridiculous to his wife and children, and possibly not even to them, since it is quite conceivable, in fact probable, that they know as little about the Royal Academy as he does.

"Mostly my clients are men who have knocked about the world and 'made their pile' in the process, and who realize that there is a certain advantage accruing to them in being able to translate what is usually a varied and interesting experience of life into good idiomatic English, such as one hears across the dining-table of any middle-class household.

"A little while back a man came to me who had begun life as a navvy on the Canadian Pacific Railway, and had afterwards blossomed into a prize-fighter, and finally into a full-fledged millionaire.

"At the beginning he had an accent that you could cut with a knife, his grammar was atrocious, his vocabulary strictly limited; he spluttered when he drank whisky, and sighed when he ate soup. In six weeks I had taught him sufficient to enable him to hold his own fairly well in any society. I had, indeed, if I may say so, revolutionized the man."

Our Point of View

No Clarence, a restaurant is not the only place where you can get a good stew. For instance, there's a thirst parlor on Hunter Street.

When Germany asked Holland if she could get needed supplies from Rotterdam, the reply was notterdam thing, or words to that effect.

If we are not mistaken, Chlorinda, the battle cry of the Russians is, "Three sheerski for Nicoloff. On to Berlinovitch."

In the last four weeks the horrors of war have been many, but so far no pretzel famine has occurred to bring distress to our friend Baron von Staub.

The Russian team in the European League is batting at such a furious clip that the friends of Manager Wilhelm, of the German Giants, are beginning to fear he will lose the pennant.

We would be greatly obliged to our old friend Vic Emmanuel if he should call to the colors those patriotic and leather-lunged Italian reservists who peddle bananas and cabbage in the early hours of the morning.

We do not believe there will be any general engagement between the British and German fleets until the British accept the challenge of Admiral Von Tirpitz to leave the water and fight it out on land.

The Russians ought to be good fighters, because their national beverage, vodka, is so strong that in comparison to it aqua fortis tastes like a chocolate sundae.

We have not the least doubt that the embattled French find time between fights to pray that "the bear that walks like a man" may put on more speed.

* * *

"Small, hot bullets cause little pain," says a war dispatch. That may be true, but it doesn't alter the fact that they cause a good deal, of trench digging.

Our Two Duties

The appeal of Sir George E. Foster, Minister of Trade and Commerce, to Canadian producers, should not fall on deaf ears. The minister calls upon his countrymen who are in a position to do so to make a special effort to supply the large amount of the world's trade which Germany and Austria-Hungary formerly supplied, and will now be unable for many years to supply.

In 1913 the exports from Germany were $2,402,967,000. In recent years Germany has come forward as the manufacturer of the world; so much so that public opinion in Germany has readily taken to the view put forward by the Kaiser and his militarist colleagues, that Britain has made war on Germany because of trade jealousies. Many things about this tremendous conflict in Europe Canadians are only beginning to grasp, and one of these is, as Sir George Foster points out, the putting out of business of the German nation as a factor in world economics.

Because of the war, the demand of the world for merchandise of all kinds will be less than it was, but the supply, by reason of the failure of the German production, will be much less than formerly. The present, therefore, is a testing time for Canadian business men. No doubt exists as to the opportunity, and it remains to be seen just how efficiently and energetically our business men will rise to the occasion.

The statement from Sir George Foster gives official confirmation to what a section of the press of Canada has been pointing out, that Canada has a business as well as a patriotic duty to fulfil in this war crisis.

A YEAR'S SUFFERER CURED BY "NERVILINE."

No person reading this need ever again suffer long from Neuralgia.

Nerviline will quickly cure the worst Neuralgia, and Mrs. G. Evans, in her strong letter written from Russel post office, says:—"One fall year, the longest of my life, was almost entirely given up to treating dreadful attacks of Neuralgia. The agony I experienced during some of the bad attacks was simply unmentionable. To use remedies by the score without permanent relief was mighty discouraging. At last I put my faith in Nerviline; I read of the wonderful pain-subduing power it possessed and made up my mind to prove it valuable or useless. Nerviline at once eased the pain and cured the headache. Continuous treatment with this magic-working remedy cured me entirely, and I have ever since stayed well."

Mrs. Evan's case is but one of hundreds that might be quoted. Nerviline is a specific for all nerve, muscular or joint pain. It quickly cures neuralgia, sciatica, lumbago, lame back, neuritis and Rheumatism. Forty years in use, and to-day the most widely used liniment in the Dominion. Don't take anything but "Nerviline," which any dealer anywhere can supply in large 50c. family size bottles, or in a small 25c. trial size.

"EMMINENT COIFFURE SPECIALIST IS COMING."

Prof. Dorenwend of the Dorenwend Co'y., Toronto, will be at The Oriental Hotel, Peterboro, on Friday and Saturday, September 18th and 19th., when he will be in consultation with their many patrons in this vicinity. The Dorenwend Co'y. is well known throughout the Dominion and their visits here are always signalized by activity in their line. During the visit there will be shown a sample stock of the most fashionable hair-goods and the latest modes in everything pertaining to the hair. A specialty will be the Dorenwend Sanitary Patent Toupee, an invention which should be examined by every man who is bald. A cordial invitation is extended to the people to call and inspect these goods.

"CASCARETS" RELIEVE SICK, SOUR STOMACH

Get a 10-cent box now.

That awful sourness, belching of acid and foul gases; that pain in the pit of the stomach, the heartburn, nervousness, nausea, bloating after eating, dizziness and sick headache, means a disordered stomach, which can not be regulated until you remove the cause. It isn't your stomach's fault. Your stomach is as good as any.

Try Cascarets; they immediately cleanse the stomach, remove the sour, undigested and fermenting food and foul gases; take the excess bile from the liver and carry off the constipated waste matter and poison from the bowels. Then your stomach trouble is ended. A Cascaret to-night will straighten you out by morning—a 10-cent box from any drug store will keep your stomach sweet; liver and bowels regular for months. Don't forget the children—their little insides need a good, gentle cleansing, too.

The Patriotic Fund.

The Peterboro papers have been receiving numerous letters during the past week, roasting those in charge of the patriotic fund for not looking after the families of soldiers gone to the front. One wife of a volunteer had to be taken to the hospital on account of neglect, and two others with families of five and six respectively had been neglected. These were people who have never been in circumstances where any assistance had been required. A prominent business man roasted the I.O.D.E. for contributing so much to the Hospital Ship, when the Imperial Government had adequate provision for this kind of thing and especially so when the money was needed at home. Hastings wants no such occurrences as this. This is no charity. It is a duty. If you cannot go to defend our country and empire as a fighter, it is your duty to guard the dependants of those who do.—Hastings Star.

OIL THE GREAT WEALTHMAKER

We hold over 3,000 acres, more or less, of oil leases North and South of Monarch and several of our leases are in the same range as the Monarch well.

Many companies claim to be close to Monarch but we are one of the very few who are in Range Six upon which the Monarch Well is situated. Therefore, we must be on the same anti-cline and as it is a foregone conclusion Monarch will get oil, so will we.

Fifty-Seven Feet of Oil Bearing Sands Passed Through in Monarch Well

OFFICIAL STATEMENT IS GIVEN OUT BY PRESIDENT GEORGESON—WELL IS NOW DOWN OVER 1,800 FEET AND FLOW OF WET GAS HAS BEEN STRUCK IN LOWER LEVELS—GEOLOGIST DUNN IS AWAY AT PRESENT

Heavy oil showings are being found in the Monarch well, west of Olds, although the oil has not yet come in in commercial quantities.

To put the exact facts before the public, President William Georgeson and Treasurer G. W. Morfitt, of the company, this morning issued an official statement from the drillers setting forth the results.

The heaviest oil seepage has been encountered through a stratum 57 feet thick, and the well is now 1850 feet deep.

A sample of this oil baled out at 1,775 feet was brought to the city this morning and is in the office of Mr. Morfitt, Grain Exchange Building. The oil is a heavy black petroleum with the characteristic petroleum odor.

The statement issued by the officers is as follows: In the absence of Mr. Dunn, Mr. Van Alst, the head driller, reports that from the depth of 1,775 feet to 1,832 feet he went through oil bearing sands for 57 feet. Throughout there was a heavy showing of black oil in the baler. Two further showing of black wet gas were met at 1,805 feet and 1,815 feet.

The well is now down 1,850 feet. Wet gas has shown at 633 feet, 1,430 feet, 1,805 feet and 1,815 feet.

Oil sands have shown at 908 feet, (48 feet), 1,430 feet (40 feet), 1,740 feet (14 feet), and 1,776 feet (57 feet).

The well is now down 1,850 feet, and while there are good oil showings there is not as yet oil in commercial quantities.

Our stock is on the market at 50 cents a share, a Dollar par, and will be advanced without notice any day pending Monarch Well developments. It is practically a certainty that Monarch will be in oil in commercial quantities within two weeks, Our stock will jump away above par and you had better hurry if you wish to share our prosperity.

AS LIGHT AS LAGER
BUT BETTER FOR YOU

Clean pots and pans with
GOLD DUST

Germs of decay accumulate on oft-used pots and pans, and ordinary soap and water only clean off the surface.

Gold Dust does the work—and does it right. It digs deep after germs, cleans like a new whistle and leaves your pots and pans as new, as bright as the day they were new—and sanitarily safe.

Gold Dust does this work in just half the time required by soap or any other cleanser. Does it better, too.

Gold Dust cleans everything like magic.

Gold Dust is sold in 5c size and large packages. The large package means greater economy.

How People Feel
When They Have
Tape Worm

Tape worm is bred from a parasite. This parasite is a creature male and female in one. It is a pear shape, having two, four and six suckers. It lays the eggs, which are only connected together with slime. They develop and form a body, which is the worm. Each joint is an individual, having a sucker or mouth. The worm grows to be much longer than the bowels where it is located, and sometimes a whole colony of them are found, enough to fill a quart of solid worm, and when put in a bucket of water would apparently fill it. It is the hardest task in the world to destroy this parasite without doing injury to the individual who may be so unfortunate as to have it, as the parasite clings to the bowels, freeing itself from the body of the worm, and remains there to breed another. It is an internal demon and causes its victims to suffer all the symptoms of disease imaginable. The cleverest physicians are led to believe the patient is suffering from some other disease, as nearly every person has different symptoms. Some have been treated for cancer of the bowels, consumption of the bowels, consumption of the lungs, chronic dyspepsia, nervous prostration, melancholia, hypochondria, hysteria, inflammation of the bowels, appendicitis and other complaints, when one or more of these internal demons were eating their lives away.

Prof. Mulveney has made the discovery to free the victim of this monster without injury to the system, destroying the parasite as well as expelling the worm with one dose of medicine without any previous starvation. Visit his office, where he has in his possession the most wonderful collection of these death-dealing monsters in the world, which have been expelled from hundreds of people by his famous remedy, some bottles containing colonies of worms and anyone seeing them cannot imagine how a person could possibly live with them in his bowels. It is surprising the number of people that have them. Thousands have them and are not aware of the fact. The letters and testimonials the Professor has in his possession are enough to convince one of this alarming fact. Some of the most prominent symptoms are: ravenous appetite, dizzy spells, headaches, cramps in the bowels, a feeling of something moving in the bowels, also a feeling as though something was crawling up the throat. The only certainty of having one in the system is when segments or joints are seen, which come away almost any time. They are flat and from ¼ of an inch to 1 inch long, which have often been mistaken for pin worms by those who do not know the difference. There are many other feelings of distress which would take long to enumerate. Strange to say, some people of strong constitution, have very little distress.

Prof. Mulveney's world-famous Tape Worm Exterminator is safe, sure and harmless. No starvation, no danger, is not disagreeable to take. One dose nearly always affects a cure. TIPS TO HOG RAISERS

The more pigs a sow has, the more feed she needs.

The older pigs grow, the more food it will take to make a pound of gain.

Young sows that do well with their first litters may be considered good breeding sows.

The health, thrift and growth of swine are best and most economically secured in a clover field.

With pigs as with all other young stock, sweet food is preferable to that which is fermented or soured.

Hogs may be fed out in winter to a good advantage if there is warm and dry shelter kept perfectly clean.

Usually pigs from large litters are more thrifty than those from small litters and are better feeders.

A good thing about the hog is that he may be able to utilize much of the wastes of the farm and orchard.

The easier feed is digested the greater the gain made from it. The more hogs can be made to eat in a certain time the more profit.

The hog is raised only for its meat and this being the case, the object is best subserved by turning into meat as soon as possible.

A good snout and a long back make a good hog combination. Then feed for growth and not for fat until it is time to fatten.

It is less expensive and more satisfactory in every way to keep the boar in a good thrifty condition rather than stuff him to get him fat.

The fattening hogs should have warm shelter and protection from storms, as it will require more grain to finish them off. Besides, they will not grow so rapidly.

There is one particular virtue about pigs which makes them emphatically the stock for the poor man to grow, and that is the very quick returns which they afford by the rapidity with which they increase and come to maturity.

To Peel Boiled Eggs

When eggs are to be peeled for egg salad or deviled eggs boil them in salt water. The salt cracks the shell somewhat and loosens it from the egg.

CARE OF THE HORSE

Feet, Mane and Tail Require Constant Attention

The care of the feet, mane and tail is probably more often neglected than any other step. Besides the usual daily brushing of the mane and tail, we should at frequent intervals wash them. Washing with warm water and castile soap, rinsing with cold water, and then rubbing till almost dry, gives good results. Washing not only cleanses the tail thoroughly, but induces a great growth of hair. The care of the hoof means cleaning out the sole with a hoof hook, washing out the sole and the outside of the hoof with water and sponge and wiping them quite dry with a rag. Many times this means the discovery of nails picked up, or stone bruises, and if carefully attended to there would be little trouble with hoof diseases. It is essential that the hoof be wiped dry after each washing, for if it is left to dry alone the hoof soon becomes brittle and liable to crack. The use of hoof preparation is sometimes advisable. A very little application of vaseline is all that is ever necessary for a healthy hoof.

A Big Eagle Killed

Michael Carney, a farmer, residing near Westport, Ont., killed a baldheaded eagle. The big bird was sitting on a fence, watching a flock of hens and chickens. When M. Carney saw it he picked up a broom-handle and, throwing it, struck the eagle with such force that it was stunned. It was then quickly despatched. The measurement was seven feet six inches from the tips of the wings.

Business in Farming

Ask a business man in the city what particular line of his stock gives him his best returns, and he can tell you without hesitation. Upon this hangs his chance of success. Farming is a Business of many parts, but few farmers have any correct idea of just what portion of their mixed operations pays them best. The modern method of profitable farming is not all work in the fields, but considerable "head work" is made count in the final reckoning. To use the head to best advantage it is necessary first to find out what is wrong and what is right with the farm operations. There is only one real way to do this, and that is by figures. Figures talk in farming, and the quicker more of our farmers get busy and by a simple method of bookkeeping find for themselves what makes the old farm pay its way and what keeps it from paying more, the better for all. —Farmer's Advocate.

Marking Poultry

There are two ways of marking poultry, one by punching holes in the webs of the feet and the other by using what are called leg bands, metal devices bearing numbers which go around the shank of the fowl. The punch marks are usually made when the chick is first hatched, though sometimes later. Different combinations of holes indicate different breeding, etc. Leg bands may be purchased from dealers in poultry supplies for very reasonable prices, amounting to only two or three cents each in small quantities and not over a cent each in large quantities. These bands can be put on at any time after the birds are nearly grown, and by keeping a record of the numbers the identity of each specimen can be established.

SELECTING SEED CORN

Should be Chosen Early and While Crop is Still Standing

Hill selection of seed corn is urged by every institution interested in the improvement of corn. By selecting corn from the standing stalks in the field one can consider other things besides the ear itself. The height of the ear on the stalk and the strength of the stalk may both be considered, and whether or not the ear grew on a stalk that had the whole hill to itself or had to compete with two or three other stalks can be determined, while if one awaits until the corn has been cut these factors cannot be considered.

Early selection of seed corn from the hill has many important advantages over the selection later in the season. In the first place, it enables one to select ears that are known to have matured at the proper time, while if the selection is deferred and weather conditions continue favorable, some of the later maturing ears may be selected, because they are likely to be larger and heavier.

While the large and heavy ears are desired, one cannot profitably select them at the expense of maturity, because corn that will not mature is likely to be an unprofitable crop. Early selection from the hill avoids the danger of the corn being injured by frost while it is still damp in the field. It also allows for ample time for the corn to become thoroughly dried out before freezing weather, which is very important in maintaining a strong germination.

TO PRODUCE GOOD EGGS

Feed the Hens With Clean Food, If Quality is Wanted

Just because an egg is freshly laid by an apparently healthy hen it can not be assumed that it is a good egg according to an expert, who emphasises the need of clean, wholesome food for the production of first-class eggs. Hens that are forced to obtain the greater proportion of their living as scavengers and given a poor range to work on cannot produce eggs of as good quality as can a flock which regularly is fed a good ration.

Eggs lacking in protein have a watery white and the shell is apt to be thin owing to the partial absence of lime. Such eggs, besides being of less value as food, are more than likely to bring forth puny chickens of low vitality, subject to white diarrhoea and an early death. With proper quantities of wheat, bran, clover, oyster shell and sound grains in the ration fed to laying hens, eggs with firm shells rich in protein and delicately flavored are sure to result, providing, of course, that the flock is given clean nests and runs and is kept free from mites.

A railroad in Utah has been rebuilt and given a less steep grade to make the operation of down hill trains more safe.

Oil From Tomato Seeds

From heretofore waste tomato seeds Italian canners are making an oil with rapid drying qualities that is useful in varnishes.

A Misunderstanding.

At yesterday's police court, a local citizen was charged with stealing chickens. Mr. Kerr, acting for the defense, elected for summary trial and pleaded not guilty. Mrs. Ray in the box, said she had moved to her present residence from defendant's house. She had 10 chickens. The chickens were to have come in the last load of her furniture but did not arrive. Five were afterwards found in the possession of defendant's boy. The other five disappeared. It seems that the Ray's defendants, former tenants, had promised to clean the closet and defendant kept the chickens as security for the promised cleaning. The chickens were given back during yesterday afternoon and case dismissed.

An Appeal to the Intelligent Investor !

Does a logical presentation of a good investment interest you? Do you believe there is an oil in commercial quantities in Alberta? If you are alive to the situation you do. Then it will pay you to investigate our proposition and our holdings.

Please Read Carefully and Note!

THAT Oil authorities are agreed the Alberta Oil Field is of an anticlinal formation. It has been fairly accurately ascer-tained in what general direction these anticlines run. Geologist B. W. Dunn chose wisely in the selection of the now famous Monarch well. WINDSOR OILFIELDS, LIMITED, has holdings located close to the Monarch.

THAT Cunningham Craig, one of the world's most eminent geologists, selected the site of the Mowbray-Berkeley well. Stock in that company is not offered at any price. We possess acreage adjoining the Mowbray-Berkeley (Section 12, Township 23, Range 5, West of 5th). If a strike is made at the Mowbray-Berkeley what will shares in our company be worth?

Our holdings consist of 1380 acres, carefully selected and judiciously spread over the entire oil field.

DIRECTION FINDER

New Wireless Device to Increase the Safety of Ocean Traffic

During a recent passage of the Royal George of the Canadian Northern line, across the Atlantic a series of demonstrations was given of the possibilities of a new wireless aid to navigation. The new device is classified as a "direction finder." Its duty is to seek out all wireless stations, whether stationary or in motion—or in other words on coast line or high seas, within a radius of fifty miles and to indicate for the guidance of the navigating officers the exact relation of the ship to these in terms of latitude and longitude. Its sphere of usefulness, even in the present experimental stage, is to assist the captain during "thick" weather, in maintaining a clear course in the travelled ocean "lanes" in passing points and in making port. Like many inventions to mankind this wireless finder is remarkable for its simplicity. Although one of Marconi's engineers, Signor Emilio Ichino, came out on the "Royal George" to make the tests, its operation does not require an expert and any of the bridge officers can obtain a bearing as easily as with a compass and just as conveniently, the instruments being set up in the chart room.

Both the Marconi engineer, Signor Emilio Ichino, and the Captain of the "Royal George," expressed themselves on arrival at Quebec as highly pleased with the experiments which had been made on the voyage. The instrument had been accurate to a degree of detecting the compass direction of other stations whether on shore or on other vessels. They had been able to ascertain the compass position of Cape Ray, Father Point and the ships Columbia, Calgarian and Sicilian. The Columbia had been 68 miles away, the Calgarian 53 and the Sicilian 18. Both men were confident that neither wind, wave or fog would affect the accuracy of the new wireless device.

Axe-grinding is a case of swapping favors, but the other fellow claims the privilege of deciding the nature of both articles exchanged.

At the psychological moment of a church reception, a little girl stepped up to the new pastor's wife with an enormous bouquet of roses. Tucked into the centre was found a card reading, "Compliments of Smith and Jones, Grocers." They might have added, "and axe-grinders."

When a man hands out a Masonic grip upon his introduction, I always suspect, if a business matter is impending, that he is anxious to get a grip on the new brother's pocketbook.

Young man, let me counsel you not to join a lodge for the favors you can secure from its membership. Some do it; some advise others to do it. If a man suggests that you ought to become a Mason or a Maccabee, an Owl or an Elk, because it would help you in your business, tell him that if you really want to exploit your brother man, you will join the Ancient Order of Hounds.

It is entirely legitimate to join a lodge for good fellowship, discipline in deportment or training in public speech, but do not, I pray you, become a lodge man for the pull it will give you. The best pull is that of your own right arm. If it is weak, all the lodges in the world won't help you; if it is strong, you will not need a lodge grip at the end of it. Some fools still think that secret society affiliations will keep a rogue out of jail. A judge who observed the culprit before him for sentence give some secret sign of distress, said: "Sir you should have given that signal while you were being tempted to commit this crime, and answered it yourself."

The real friendship, that of David and Jonathan, that of Damon and Pythias, will always be found in all grades of society. It is uncommercial, because it expects no returns. And yet, it turns out to be most profitable, for its beneficent dividends continue even unto the tomb.

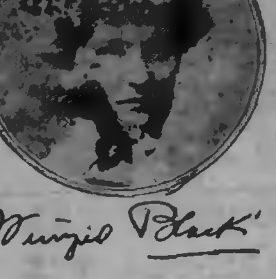
There's No Place in Life For a Broken Heart

By Winifred Black

Copyright, 1914, by Newspaper Feature Service, Inc.



Winifred Black

THERE is no such thing as a broken heart. It's a broken mind under the wrong name. Melancholia is a disease of the brain—it has nothing whatever to do with the heart."

So declares Dr. W. A. Evans—the man who tells us all whether to sleep on the porch when the weather's below zero or not, and why breakfast food is not always the only thing you need to keep you alive. A thousand thanks, Dr. Evans—we're all obliged to you—again.

Broken hearts are entirely out of the fashion—and I'm glad of it. I shall never forget the first time I ever met any one with a "broken heart."

I was a young person of some sixteen summers—and winters—hard winters at that, in the part of the country where I lived then. You had to put a copper cent on the window pane to see out, most mornings from December to the middle of March. And any one who wore gloves instead of mittens after nightfall was rather apt to come home with frost-bitten fingers.

I had heard about the woman with the broken heart—her sweetheart had deserted her for another girl—and the woman with the broken heart never smiled again.

Heart-Break a Distinction.

We were all crazy to see her. And when I heard that she was coming to visit right in the family I felt as if Garibaldi, or Gen. Funston, or Florence Nightingale, or any one else distinguished and "different" had bought a ticket to our town, and was going to sleep in the best bedroom, and look out from behind the best blue curtains of that bedroom's windows.

I expected—I don't know what—something better, and satirical, and heart broken and wildly emotional—all hidden under a strange calm—with just a flash of the eye, now and then, to show the torment of the troubled soul. A Lord Byron in petticoats—or something like it.

When the woman with the broken heart came—she proved to be at least thirty-five. She had a very long nose, a very short chin, not any too much thin, sleek, faded hair, and a pair of eyes that couldn't have flashed to save the life of the owner of them.

Poor thing—they say tears are bad for the eyes. And she had shed enough of them—and more than enough.

For a day or two it was rather interesting—and then I slowly woke to the consciousness that the woman with the broken heart was just a selfish, peevish, emotional, unreasonable, silly old maid. Her "broken heart" saved her from hard work. Who wants to ask a Broken Hearted One to make up a bed, or stir the preserve kettle?

She was a frightful bore—a kind of fussy Niobe, all tears, and all little selfish ways of self-pity and self-petting. I have never cared for people with broken hearts since.

Now, if that woman lived today, we'd either laugh her out of her ridiculously prolonged grief, or we'd put her somewhere in a sanatorium and have her treated for a broken brain, and see if it wouldn't help her broken heart. And quite right it would be, too.

There is no time, no place, no room in this world for a "broken heart." No heart that is worth beating ever stays broken very long. There isn't time.

Selfishness has gone out of the fashion, too, and so has cowardice, and lazy self-indulgence in grief. Courage is the mode today, and a brave and gallant mode it is.

I met a woman the other day whose husband turned her out of her own home because he fell in love with a silly little girl.

The woman had given up a great deal for her husband and she had spent some of the best years of her life with him—trying to make a man of him. Foolish, ill-spent, wasted years. When it all came upon her how foolish and ill-spent those years had been—it nearly killed her—for a little while.

Today's Better Fashion.

If she had been an old-fashioned woman, she would have gone somewhere into the country and lived with her children on the pittance the man who had promised to love, cherish and protect her sends her grudgingly—and she would have worn a widow's dress and wept a widow's miserable tears.

This is a modern woman—and she does nothing of the sort. She gathers her friends around her, takes her children in her arms, and sets her face, aglow with courage and with resolution, to the East, where the sun is rising. Never once has she had either time or wish to look back to the West, where her poor, foolish, ineffective sun has set.

I saw her when she was first stricken down by the hand she loved and I thought that she would die.

Yesterday, when I met her in the street, she looked stronger and happier and younger and more full of interest in life than she has looked for years. Her "broken heart" has healed—for her brain did not break.

She isn't such a romantic figure as she might have been if this sort of thing had happened, say, twenty years ago, when broken hearts were rather admired. But, dear me, she's useful and worth while—and that's something much better than being "broken hearted."

I'm for the new fashion. I'm for it with every drop of blood in my heart.

Here's to you, Dr. Evans, for telling us the truth. You're absolutely right when you say it.

A broken heart isn't a broken heart at all; it's a broken brain. How much it helps—when you call things by the right name.

Advice to Girls

By ANNIE LAURIE

Dear Annie Laurie:

I note your advice to some young girls is: "Don't tie one's self down to one friend, but, instead, have a number of admirers."

Do you not think that a young girl about 19 would soon get the name of being a flirt if she were seen out with a different fellow every time? Not only that, but I know some girls who seem to have taken your advice in this matter, until at the present time they have some half a dozen young men taking them to the theatre and other places.

This seems to me to be the final extreme of your advice regarding "more than one friend." G. C.

NO, I do not think that a young girl about 19 would soon get the name of being a flirt if she were seen out with a different fellow every time.

A young girl of 19 has no business being seriously in love with any one—she's too young to "settle down"—and "make up her mind." And how is she ever going to make it up, pray tell, if she never meets more than one man?

And—tell me true and tell me honest, G. C.—don't you think that a girl can have a good time with a man, and give him a good time, too, without being in the least in love with him? Isn't there any such thing as companionship or friendship in your scheme of life?

Why, I have a dozen friends—men who would go half across the continent to do me a serious favor, and I would make great sacrifices to be of real help to any one of them—and not one of them ever thought of such a thing as being in love with me for a minute.

Can't a man enjoy taking a pretty girl to the theatre without having her expect him to be madly in love with her? Why shouldn't a girl have some half dozen young men take her to the theatre—if the young men want to ask her—and why shouldn't a man invite any girl he likes to go to the theatre with him, or anywhere else that is respectable and interesting?

Get the engagement and marriage fad out of your head, G. C., and get it out quickly. It doesn't belong in a good sensible head like yours at all.

When the right man finds the right girl there won't be any trouble about the other men and the other girls. Until that time it is not only perfectly right, but perfectly sensible, for a girl to have as many friends as she likes, so long as they are decent, self-respecting chaps who respect her and who are—nothing but friends.

Miss Laurie will welcome letters of inquiry on subjects of feminine interest from young women readers of this paper and will reply to them in these columns. They should be addressed to her, care this office.

REPOSE IS SECRET OF ART

Eleanor Brent in "Everywoman."

Eleanor Brent Tells How She Acquired Calmness

By ELEANOR AMES

WHENEVER a girl asks me if I would advise her to go on the stage," chatted Miss Brent on the cool porch of her summer home, "I always take both her hands in mine and, Yankee-like, answer her question by asking another:

"'How are your nerves, my dear? No, not your nerve, but your nerves?'

"And the girl is always surprised, for it is the last thing in the world that she expected me to ask her about, and yet, it is the most important of all the qualifications the stage demands.

"I did not know this when I accepted my first part, but six months of travelling taught me. At the beginning of the second six months I faced a battle with myself. It was the battle of success against my nerves—I would have to conquer them or they would conquer me. So I set about conquering them as calmly as I could.

"No matter what happened I would not let it bother me. Every hardship and seeming disaster I smoothed by sleep into a little annoyance. And then I made the personal discovery that occurrences that loom like huge disasters to a nervous person are to the calm person just little annoyances. I am a self-educated woman in the art of calmness.

"I paid the price of what little success I have won by taking care of my health, and health on the stage means more than ordinary good health. It means health plus nerves that never know weariness and are always in repose.

"Repose is the secret of the art of acting. To appear to do the most difficult of things easily is the height of any art, and the secret of ease is repose. And repose, I have found, is simply the outer reflection of inner calmness and good nerveless health."

No. 129

A Woman's Silence.

LEONA DALRYMPLE

MY mother-in-law was packed off to bed after her fit of hysterics and her "sinking faint," and Mary and I went home in terrible silence. That I should be ostracised for days I knew very well. I did, however, hate this uncertain pall of silence.

When a woman is absolutely silent, you may depend upon it there are terrific forces at work. And you may be sure of their nature. She may be considering murder or apology, a grievance or a feeling of guilt, but, if she stays absolutely silent, you may rest assured she's taking a tantalizing delight in your disturbance. It's like having a woman stare fixedly at your feet in a trolley car. You don't know why, and you're sure there's a reason, wherefore it bothers you a lot.

A girl once told me a recipe an old woman had given her to squelch a masher.

"Stare at his feet,' dearie, for all you're worth," the old woman had said, "and pretty soon he'll lose his poise and begin to fidget, and as soon as he does you have him. Keep him uncomfortable and mystified, and he won't bother you."

I endured Mary's silence as long as I could. We climbed in silence to our apartment, and I switched on the lights in the library. And, somehow, as I did so, I had a hopeless married feeling—a feeling of chains—a horrible, galling feeling of the commonplace.

Was there, after all, any romance in marriage? Did it ever linger? Wasn't it imbued with undue sentimentality by novelists and women, who saw in it their sole protection? The morality of a nation depends, of course, upon its marriage laws, but doesn't the bitter monotony of petty detail in domestic life drive many a man into the hunt for adventure?

There in my library lay my check book and Mary's fancy work, and there the evening paper. A sickening feeling of revolt shuddered its way the length of my spine. I wanted, somehow, to get away from it all—from this eternal bickering over money—away from the daily worry of making one dollar do the work of two—away from the eternal clash of sex.

Viewpoint—there was where Mary and I eternally floated apart. We were facing the everlasting problem which must confront every two people of opposite sex who take up their abode together under the same roof, the psychology of sex. Here were we—two people—brought up quite differently, bound together in matrimony through an accident of sex, and forced to adjust our lives to the approval of each other. Every married pair soon realizes they were brought up with slightly or widely divergent aims, ambitions and points of view.

In every home there is a great, big, painful problem to be worked out, and whether it is hidden or not, boys and girls are not sufficiently similar to mix much better than oil and water when they mate at maturity. They may keep it decently hidden even from their own children—or they may not. But the problem's there, and will be there until boys and girls climb the high road to maturity shoulder to shoulder and begin the inevitable problem of adjustment at an early age.

Something of all this flashed through my mind as I stared at my wife, her lips set in a hard red line, and two feverish spots of crimson in her cheeks. Mary is beautiful—there's no denying it—but it's a wilful, spoiled sort of beauty, a little insolent about the eyes. A woman, whose sole claim for admiration lies in her beauty, inevitably grows indolent or haughty. She's bound to be spoiled. I saw that my wife was, too.

"Well," I flung out suddenly, unable to bear the silence any longer, "I insulted your mother, I suppose. Why don't you say something?"

Mary flung back her head with the gesture of an empress and left the room.

Strange SUPERSTITIONS About ANIMALS

One of the superstitions perpetuated from age to age among the common people is, that the human body weighs no more after a meal than before. If there were any foundation of fact in this idea no human being could ever get fat.

In almost every country in Europe there is a current belief that the presence of crickets in a house is a fortunate omen, and that the singing of the crickets at night betokens good luck for the next day.

French housemaids have a pet superstition that it is unlucky to kill a "money-spinner," i. e., spider, and therefore spare many webs in situations where they can be left without suspicion of negligence.

Secrets of Health and Happiness

Why an Excess of Sugar May Not Mean Diabetes

By Dr. LEONARD KEENE HIRSHBERG

A. B., M. A., M. D. (Johns Hopkins).

DR. HIRSHBERG

THINGS, says the poet, sweet to taste prove in digestion sour. This melodious dictum has its proof in "diabetes," that great and illy understood disorder. This affection keeps such an excess of sugar in the cataracts of the blood stream that the kidneys are not endowed with the capacity or strength to keep the sweet stuff from passing forth.

Thus, there has arisen a fallacious understanding that this sugar disease is a kidney distemper. Nothing could be more absurd. You may as well consider childbirth a disease of the mind.

Thus it comes about that a craving for sugars and spice and sweets which are nice are anathema to the "diabetic." These words may rob the hiving bees, and, therefore, leave them honeyless, but sweets are bitter substances to these very bones who long most for them. If you, by an analysis of the waste fluids, are told that you have diabetes, then "sweets to the sweet farewell!"

Yet, despair not, for there are many disorders, actually not diabetes, which throw out lots of sugar into the blood and into the kidney torrents. "Goitre," or a large thyroid, is one of these.

Infections of the liver and affections of the medulla oblongata—the tail of the brain—also cause either a diminished destruction of sugar by your muscles and flesh, or an increased outpouring of sugar into the blood.

The perverted grinding up and structural use of starches, sugars and similar "carbohydrates" exaggerates the real and the pseudo-sugar complaints. An analogous distorted absorption of fats and heavier foods—called "proteins" or "egg whity"—results in a formation of pseudo-acetic and butter vinegars and similar poisonous acids in the scarlet canals.

Diet more surely than drugs determines the trend of sugar maladies. The victim of these ailments is neither killed nor does he suffer more than the annoyance of absent starches and sweets.

A new remedy for diabetes has just been tried by Dr. Marcel Labbe. It consists of a diet of dried vegetables. To aid his treatment the doctor prescribes 10 ounces of dried vegetables with fresh eggs, and five ounces of buttered albumen of bread with a small quantity of fresh vegetables and wine.

Society Is in Training For the Smaller Waist

By MADGE MARVEL

BEGIN to draw in your waists. The first sign of the fall will be fitted garments and smaller waists. So, all this beautiful freedom we have enjoyed will be curtailed and we shall probably have to endure some of the old misery of lacing.

This is an advance hint given by a modiste who sails soon for Paris. There are only vague whisperings yet of what the fall will bring forth, but every one is prepared for fitted gowns, made with seams and possibly held in place with whalebone, although so far, the fit has been accomplished without them.

The low-busted corset will be retained, it is believed, [illegible] every woman must have a waist line. And that line must be a little under the 20-inch limit which the woman of today allows herself before she begins to start a reducing regime.

"How shall she accomplish it?" said the modiste, in reply to my query. "I don't exactly know, but rest assured, if it is the style to have a smaller waist women will have it. In some marvellous way women manage to meet every style demand. They are thin as shadows when they should be thin, and they allow themselves to have curves when curves are worn.

"We have been tending toward the fitted waist for some time. The blouse has looked a bit out of date all summer. The lowered prices of excellent gowns with kimona sleeves and bloused, seamless waists have been a sign of future changes. Exclusive makers have fitted all their costumes closely since last winter.

"Two years ago Paquin showed the fitted, pointed bodice. Women would have none of it. When a woman won't, she won't, even in the world of fashion. Gradually she has been getting ready for it.

"Now she demands that her dresses be fitted and blousiness done away with. She knows she must have a smaller waist. Therefore she is already in training. She eliminates sweets and starches, omits afternoon tea, obeys her masseuse and exercises.

"Paquin and Cheruit both appeal to the American type. They are both pretty much in accord. Both believe in the fuller skirt and the closer waist."

The American buyers and fashion importers begin to appear [illegible] Trouville and all the places where [illegible] indicating the direction of the wind.

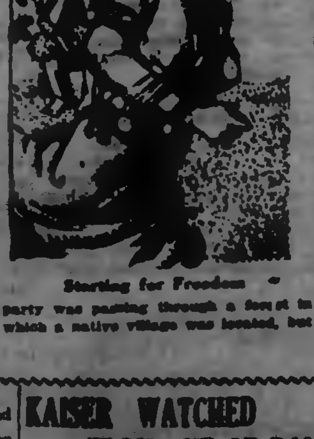
The 8th of August Paris begins to show the Autumn styles. By the middle of September the Americans are back in America with a fairly comprehensive idea of the next season's clothes. There may be minor changes and additions, and there are sure to be adaptations, but the salient features of style are settled then.

Three Minute Journeys

Where DIVORCE Is a Matter of SPEED

By TEMPLE MANNING

WHILE I was among the Gwari in the heart of Africa a curious marriage custom came to my attention in rather a startling way. Our party was passing through a forest in which a native village was located, but at which we did not stop, desiring to push on to Kuta that night, when from the right there came wild yells and the underbrush parted. A small, lithe girl dashed out and sped up the trail. Close behind her came a rather sickly native, much older than she, who pursued her, yelling as he ran.



Starting for Freedom

Puzzled, I turned to one of my men and demanded what it all meant. Laughing, he told me that the girl was the elderly native's latest wife, and, as she did not want to live with him any longer, she was running away. If he were not able to match her in speed, and if she could gain the shelter of a village to which she was speeding, she would win her divorce, and become the wife of the young man to whom she was hurrying. As we met the man coming down the trail next day alone I judge that his young wife won the race and her freedom.

Rather than help a man recover a runaway wife, the Gwari seem inclined to treat the whole matter of these desertion-divorces in the light of humor. Somewhat after the spirit that makes us smile behind our hands when we hear of one of our friends being henpecked. And yet, if the deserted husband is powerful enough he can sometimes take his wife back by force, but usually the runaway wife takes care to choose as her next spouse some one more powerful than her old husband.

60,000 INDIAN TROOPS AIDING THE ALLIES

LONDON, Sept. 9.—Lord Kitchener's "unknown factor," heretofore held to be a secret, which has so altered the situation at the front, is now known to be the arrival of forces from India. Two divisions of infantry and a brigade of cavalry constitute these forces.

A dozen Indian potentates have been selected to accompany this expeditionary force. These include Sir Pertab Singh, Sir Gangi Bahadur, Maharaja of Bikaner, and Sir Bhupindra Singh, Maharaja of Patiala.

If the Indian divisions are organized on the same basis as the British home army, the Indian contingent will add about 60,000 combatants to the allied armies, together with approximately 130 pieces of artillery, comprising both light and heavy field pieces and howitzers.

House of Commons Cheers India

In the House of Commons this afternoon Mr. C. Roberts, one of the under secretaries of the Colonial Department, read a message from the Viceroy of India, which said that the rulers of the Indian native states, nearly 700 in number, had with one accord rallied to the defence of the Empire with personal offers of service as well as the resources of their States.

One Indian Chief, 70 years of age, demanded the right to render military service along with his nephew, a youth of 16 who is now with the expeditionary force. Offers of troops, horses, money, and even jewels, had rolled in, the Viceroy said. The Dalia Llama of Tibet had offered a thousand soldiers to aid the Empire, and thousands of Llamas were praying daily for the success of the British forces and for the repose of the souls of the dead. In addition to men and money, some of the native rulers of India, are equipping a hospital ship.

ADVERTISE IN THE TIMES

KAISER WATCHED FROM OUT OF RANGE

London, Sept. 9.—The Geneva correspondent of the Express hears from a German source that Emperor William watched the attack on Nancy from a hill outside the range of the French artillery.

Standing alone with his glasses glued to his eyes, he followed the progress of his battle for several hours while his staff, consisting of several high officers, remained discreetly in the background. He departed alone in a waiting motor car.

A branch of the Patriotic Fund has been formed at Waterloo.

Already the Austrians are willing to admit that "the bear that walks like a man" also fights like a wildcat.

MARVELOUS BALSAMIC ESSENCES CURE CATARRH NO DRUGS TO TAKE--A DIRECT BREATHING CURE

STATISTICS PROVE NINETY-SEVEN PER CENT OF CANADA'S POPULATION IS INFECTED WITH THE GERMS OF CATARRH

This disease is most dangerous owing to its tendency to extend to the Bronchial tubes and lungs, where it causes Consumption. Unfortunately the people have had faith in sprays, ointments and snuffs, which can't possibly cure, and in consequence catarrhal disease has become a national curse. Science is advancing every day, and fortunately a remedy has been discovered that not only cures but prevents Catarrh. This new treatment "Catarrhozone" has sufficient power to kill the germs of Bronchitis, Catarrh and Asthma. It contains pure pine essences and healing balsams that go to the remotest part of the nose, throat and lungs, carrying health-giving medication to every spot that is tainted or weak. You don't take Catarrhozone like cough mixture—you inhale its healing vapor at the mouth and it spreads all through the breathing organs, soothing and curing wherever Catarrh exists. This is Nature's way of supplying the richest balsams, the purest antiseptics known to science.

A sneezing cold is cured in ten minutes. A harsh cough is eased in an hour, the most offensive catarrh is thoroughly drawn from the system.

For Asthma and Bronchial irritation nothing can equal Catarrhozone—every physician and druggist says so, and we advise our readers to try this treatment if suffering with a winter ill. The complete outfit costs $1.00, medium size 50c, at all dealers.

CITY AND DISTRICT

DASHES HERE AND THERE BY TIMES REPORTERS.

Under Hawkers' By-Law.

At yesterday's court John Morris was charged with stopping his peanut cart in front of Minocolos' fruit store on Hunter Street. Morris has a peddler's license. The case was enlarged and Morris told he must keep his cart moving.

Where the Dime Went.

A few days ago a man living on Brock Street had his twelve year old boy on George Street. The boy passing Minocolo's fruit shop asked his father to buy him an orange. The father replied, "buy it youself. Where's that dime I gave you this morning?" The lad replied, "It's down my neck." "Well shake it out." "I can't because it was in my mouth when it went down myneck."

The Outfall Sewer.

Should the city secure the right of way in Monaghan for the outfall sewer without further cost, the thing will have been accomplished at a relatively very small cost. So far the expenses have consisted chiefly of the cost of the deputations to Toronto and the payment of a bill of costs of $160 to Peck, Kerr & McElderry, who acted as solicitors for the township.

Lakefield Fair.

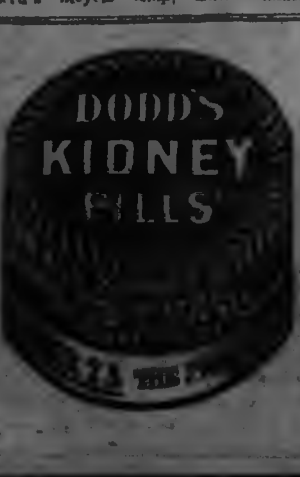
The annual exhibition of the Lakefield Agricultural Society, will be held in Lakefield on Tuesday and Wednesday, September 15 and 16.

The directors are using every effort to make the Fair a success and a splendid exhibition is expected.

Prize lists, entry forms, etc., may be obtained from the Secretary, W. Sherin, Lakefield, Ont.

Lindsay Thief Confesses.

The North Ward youth, who was arrested by Constable Woods at Thomas' bicycle shop late Saturday night, has confessed to Chief Short to having entered Tressider & Killaby's grocery, Warder office, Shepherd's bicycle shop, Bates' bakery and Williams' garage. He denied entering Robinson's motor works, but Chief Short has since recovered goods belonging to Mel Robinson. The party turning them over to the Chief stated that he got them from the youth.—Post.



Trent Canal Notes.

The Government dredge has now almost completed it work here and will probably leave for Cameron Lake on Thursday. The last few days Canal Overseer Jas. W. Laidlaw has been giving the summer's work a final thorough inspection and has sounded the river bed with a special rock-detecting drag in such a thorough way as has never been done before on the Scugog. In consequence a number of large boulders have been discovered in the channel and the dredge is now removing them. —Lindsay Post.

Paving Starts on Monday.

Messrs. Foley and Gleeson have informed the city autharities that they will move their street paving plant into Peterborough this week, and commence paving next Monday morning. So that, if there plans do not miscarry a considerable number of local men will find employment very soon. The paving will be commenced on Charlotte Street, the company working East to George Street and North to Simcoe.

A Fine Exhibition.

The Exhibition will be on next week Thursday, Friday and Saturday, the 17th, 18th, and 19th, and everything points to a grand exhibition in all classes. The grounds and buildings are being put in good condition to receive the exhibits and everything will be in good shape the first of the week. The main building has been made weather proof. All the glass in the building has been replaced and exhibitors can rest assured that their exhibits will in no way suffer.

Aeroplane Seen at Lindsay.

Lindsay Warder: Another aeroplane has been discovered hovering around Lindsay, and, like the first one noticed a week ago, it was seen at night as it flitted through the sky. A couple of nights ago as Mrs. Bentley, a lady living on Durham Street, was pottering around the outside of the house she suddenly discovered an aeroplane winging its way across the sky. It was lighted up and the craft was quite discernable. Mrs. Bentley called her husband out, and he too was in time to see the aerial craft before it got beyond the range of vision.

THICK, GLOSSY HAIR FREE FROM DANDRUFF

Girls! Try it! Hair gets soft, fluffy and luxuriant at once—No more falling hair.

If you care for heavy hair, that glistens with beauty and is radiant with life; has an incomparable softness and is fluffy and lustrous, try Danderine.

Just one application doubles the beauty of your hair, besides it immediately dissolves every particle of dandruff; you cannot have nice, heavy, healthy hair if you have dandruff. This destructive scurf robs the hair of its lustre, its strength and its very life, and if not overcome it produces a feverishness and itching of the scalp; the hair roots famish, loosen and die; then the hair falls out fast. If your hair has been neglected and is thin, faded, dry, scraggy or too oily, get a 25 cent bottle of Knowlton's Danderine at any drug store or toilet counter; apply a little as directed and ten minutes after you will say this was the best investment you ever made.

We sincerely believe, regardless of everything else advertised, that if you desire soft, lustrous, beautiful hair and lots of it—no dandruff—no itching scalp and no more falling hair—you must use Knowlton's Danderine. If eventually—why not now?

Peterborough Canoes.

Peterboro' Times, Sept. 17th, 1884. —At the Dominion Exhibition just held at Montreal, Peterborough is very favorably represented. The Ontario Canoe Company has a fine display, consisting of nine canoes of different varieties, with specimens of single and double paddles, etc. The Montreal Gazette says of this exhibit:—

"The Ontario Canoe Co. of Peterborough, Ont., have an attractive exhibit of their celebrated Peterborough canoes, which is the centre of attraction for many of the visitors. An exceedingly pretty rib canoe, complete with tails, is on view and looks the very picture of neatness. The folding canoe is a great curiosity, and shows what progress the work of canoe building has made of late years. There are also displayed a number of cedar rib canoes and a cedar rib kit."

German Army In France Reported As Becoming Demoralized--Constant British Successes Confirmed, Enemy Are Driven Back Forty Five Miles

[illegible]uccess of Allies Believed to Have Been Greater Than Their Official Statements Indicate

London, Sept. 11.—Don't shout un[illegible] this stupendous battle is really ov[illegible]. This is the advice Englishmen are [illegible]ving one another this morning, as [illegible] bits of news are allowed thro[illegible] from the front. What everyone [illegible]waits is official news of the German [illegible]tre falling back. It is evident the [illegible]itish section of the allies has had [illegible] Germans on the run, while the [illegible]ench generally are stoutly main[illegible] a foothold. The fact that this [illegible] defeat is frankly admitted in [illegible]rlin, is taken to indicate that the [illegible]' success so far has been even [illegible]ter than the British official mes[illegible] suggest.

Russia Warmly Praised.

Pride of place, however, to-day is [illegible] Russia for her astonishing ad[illegible]. As the Times says, the Rus[illegible]an brilliant operations in Galicia [illegible] Southern Poland are doing no [illegible] than shattering an ancient em[illegible]. They have already destroyed a [illegible] portion of the Austro-Hungarian army, and are steadily closing in upon the remainder. These forces, which have given way before the Russians are declared by the Times to be the only dependable Austrian troops.

Why Austrians are Lax.

They were chiefly drawn from Hungary and the German provinces of Austria, for no Austrian Slav regiments would fight with any ardor against the Czar's legions. Hence the German despatch of sufficiently effective help from Austria to check the Russian march on Berlin. The end of the Austro-Hungarian army as a serious factor in the present conflict, seems approaching. How can the Austrian empire itself hope to survive

Kaiser Nearly Wrecked.

As for Germany, Berlin letters via Copenhagen speaks of the Kaiser as looking worn and haggard. His press bureau recently sent broadcast assertions that Kitchener's appeals for men produced only 2,000 untrained recruits.

[illegible]elegation to the 'United States Enumerates Number of Incidents

New York, Sept. 11.—A partial list [illegible] the alleged German atrocites in [illegible]elgium, against which the Belgian [illegible]ing has sent a protest to President [illegible]lson, was made public today by [illegible] Louis De Lichtervelde, secre[illegible]y of the Belgian commission bear[illegible] the protest. The commission reac[illegible] this city to-day on its way to [illegible]ashington.

"At Linsmeau when the Germans [illegible] the village, two uniformed [illegible] attacked the Germans, [illegible] de Lichtervelde said. "In re[illegible] the village was invaded on the [illegible] of Aug. 10. The farms were des[illegible] the crops were destroyed or [illegible] away; six houses were burned, [illegible] all the men were compelled to [illegible] over their arms.

"It was found that none had been [illegible] recently, and finally the [illegible] were separated into three detach[illegible]. Two of the detachments dis[illegible]. A third, consisting of 11 [illegible], were driven at the point of the [illegible] into a ditch and when they [illegible] piled in the German soldiers set [illegible] them and beat their brains out [illegible]th the butt ends of their rifles. [illegible] eleven battered bodies were found [illegible] by Belgian troops.

"On August 12th, after the battle [illegible] Haelen, Colonel Van Damme, com[illegible] of a Belgian regiment, was [illegible] wounded on the battlefield. He [illegible] unable to move. Several German [illegible] found him, and placing their [illegible] against his mouth, blew [illegible] head off.

"On Aug. 10 the German cavalry [illegible] the town of Velen while the [illegible] slept. One in spite of what [illegible] did may be cited in the case of [illegible] man named Deglimme, whose house [illegible] fired and looted. He and his wife [illegible] taken from the house half nak[illegible]. He was dragged in one direction, [illegible] in another. She was released when [illegible] miles away and told to run. When [illegible] ran the German soldiers fired at her, but she escaped the bullets and staggered back to the cite of her ruined home in a pitiable condition. He was found, mortally wounded, next day on the road outside the town."

Count de Lichtervelde said he had read the statement attributed to the said harsh treatment of Belgians was German Emperor in which he was made necessary in some cases because the Belgian civilians fired on German soldiers. "I do not see how it is possible for a man to lie so," Count De Lichtervelde said.

To keep the face, neck, arms and hands truly beautiful and youthful in appearance, the treatment which seems most sensible is one which will actually remove the skin itself immediately it begins to age, fade, coarsen or discolor. The only known treatment which will do this, aside from a painful, expensive surgical operation, is the application of ordinary mercolized wax, which is as harmless as it is effective.

The wax is put on at night, just as you apply cold cream, and washed off in the morning. It absorbs the dead and half-dead surface skin in almost invisible flaky particles, a little each day, no discomfort being experienced. With the disappearance of the old cuticle, the newer healthier skin underneath gradually appears, richly beautiful with the flush of youth. This mercolized wax, which you can get at any drug store in original package, is indeed a veritable wonder-maker.

Allies Are Triumphing At All Points On Battle Line British Capture 1,500 Men

German Right Wing Has Been Forced Back Between 40 and 45 Miles, While an Attempt on the French Centre Has Failed and the Allies Have Moved Foward There--Many Germans Found Hiding in the Woods

London, 3.30 p.m., Sept. 11.—The war office thisafternoon for the first time declared that the Germans in France are showing signs of demoralization. "The German retreat is general and continuous. On Thursday 1500 prisoners, several guns and a large quantity of transport were taken. The enemy is retreating very very rapidly east of Scions, and there are evidences of some disorder. Considerable bodies of the enemy are being found hidden in the woods; they are surrendering on sight. The fact that these troops are found in these positions and the rifling of villages and evidences of drunkeness, point to the demoralization in the ranks of the routed army. The pursuit will be continued."

London, Tept. 11.—News from the battle front in France today confirmed the reports of constant British successes The British supported by the army of defence of Paris, continued to crumple up the German right wing, taking many prisoners and guns. The force of the German attack seems spent They are unable to break through the allied defence at any point, and now their communications in Belgium are seriously threatened. The Belgium army heretofore cooped up in Antwerp, is now on the offensive cooperating with the British, who are in the neighborhood of Ostend. The news from the Eastern theatre of war is not so bright. In accordance with the their policy since the opening of the war in telling the exact truth, the Russians admit that they have again been compelled to retire in East Prussia. The Germans there have been heavily reinforced and now threaten the Russian main army, which has been driving the Austrians out of Russian Poland.

Paris, Sept. 11.—General Gallieni announced today that the British-French offensive movement on the north continues unchecked. The Germans continue to retreat in the face of a superior foe, the French troops having been reinforced from the army of defence of Paris. The military governor, however, added nothing to the details made public at midnight at Bordeaux. His statement issued at 10.30 was in effect a duplication of that already declared. It merely stated that the French and British were well across the Marne and are pressing the retreating Germans hard. meanwhile taking many prisoners and guns. The battle in the centre continues without definite result, and according to General Gallieni both sides are constantly receiving reinforcements.

Basle, Switzerland, Sep. 11.—It is reported here that the French army are now operating again in Upper Alsace, and has occupied Mulhausen.

Nish, Sept. 11.—The Servian army took Semlin at the point of the bayonet in a battle that was as bloody as was that of Shabats. As a result of this successful conflict the entire Austrian army which three days ago forced the Servians under the command of the Crown Prince across the Save river at Mitroviesa, is now retreating panic stricken.

ALLEGED SHORT CHANGE ARTIST REMANDED

Chas. Rose and William Bar, were charged with stealing $16 from Bernard Smith. Mr. McEldery acted for the prisoners and "declined to elect. Smith, in the box, said he met prisoners at C.P.R. station platform on Aug. 27th. He was seated in a passenger car at Peterboro station. Prisoners entered and sat beside him. Bar asked him, if he, witness, had a $5 or $10 bill on him. Barr asked witness to give him two $10 bills for small bills. Barr counted out three $5 and four $1 bills. Barr asked witness to count the smalls. The $5 bills were same color as the $1 bills. Witness handed back the $19. Bar counted the money. Barr had the two $10 bills on his knee. Barr gave him back the small bills and $1 in silver. Barr handed the bills back rolled up. Witness found the roll only contained 4 $1 bills. The train had begun to move. Barr walked away when he hand the roll. He followed Barr but could find neither him nor his pal. The conductor wired Chief Thompson from Indian River. Detective Newhall, in the box, said when he arrested the prisoners on George Street Rose was wearing a blue felt hat. Barr was wearing a grey suit. He arrested the prisoners the same night as they stood south of the eastbound midnight train.

Another case was charged against the prisoner of stealing $80 from a man named McEwin, on June 27th. Fred McEwan, first witness, said he comes from Iroquois but has been working at Virgie, Ont. Barr was made walk across the court room with his cap on and sit down. The witness then identified Barr. Rose was put through the same test, but witness would not swear to him. He was on his way to a point East of Peterborough, from Toronto. When the train stopped at Peterboro, Barr was sitting beside him on the car Barr told him his mother was in the Hospital here and he wanted to send her money. He wanted large bank bills instead of small ones. Barr handed him $99, i.e., 14 $1 and 17 $5 bills Witness counted out ten $10 bills of his own. Prisoner said he would give witness the other dollar in silver and gave him one dollar in silver and a roll of bills. Witness then handed over his $100 to Barr. He found Barr had only given him 14 $1 bills and one $5 bill. Barr disappeared so had $80 of witness money. Witness telegraphed description of Barr from Havelock to Peterborough. The case was enlarged till this morning.

Spanish Fort Picnickers See Youth Lose Life in Bloody Water Struggle

New Orleans, Sept. 11.—While a great crowd of picnickers looked on horror-stricken, Peter Kontopoulas, a seventeen-year-old Turk, fighting desperately and silently, lost his life late Saturday in a half-hour battle with a man-eating shark just off the Spanish Fort steamboat pier.

When a boat reached the spot where the fight occurred, the young Turk, barely able to keep his head above the bloody water, had received his death wound. As he pulled himself loose from the giant fish, his left leg was torn away.

He bled to death before the boat reached shore. The two men who went to his assistance stood ankle deep in the skiff.

"A shark," Konotopoulas gasped as he was pulled out of the water made red with his blood and frothy with the thrashing of the great tail of the maneater. His rescuers said that he became unconscious after he was pulled in.

Those who gazed upon the young man's body in the morgue Saturday night turned away with a shudder at the sight. His left leg, just above the knee, was chewed away. In a semi-circular line, showing the imprint of the shark's teeth, the flesh was cut through to the bone. In one spot, just above the knee, the inner part of the leg was chewed into shreds, including the bone, the wound being almost through the leg.

Donald McElvene, of the Monteleone Hotel, and Wilson, Calendar, 3907 Carondelet, were in bathing and first noticed the youth's distress. They put out in a boat which they hired.

Albert Kontopulas, a brother, was overcome when he saw the body on one of the slabs in the morgue. He made arrangements with J. G. Roche & Sons, undertakers, to prepare the body for burial.

Kontopoulas was born near Constantinople. There his father, mother and several brothers and sisters live. He came to this country about two years ago after his brother. For a time he was a shoeblack at 138 Carondelet street, but later, through his brother, secured a position as bus boy in Brasco's restaurant, Gravier near St. Charles. Recently he secured a similar position at Kolb's German tavern where his brother is employed, but left three days ago. Friday he applied for a position at Brasco's restaurant, but was told there was no vacancy and to call later. He and his brother lodged at 704 Royal street.

NO PERFORMANCE AT GRAND LAST NIGHT

Mr. James K. Hackett did not present his advertised performance of "Othello" at the Grand Opera House last night, owing to labor conditions over which he had no control. It appears that the stage hands, whom Mr. Hackett carries are union men. and on receipt of a telegram yesterday from union headquarters in New York, refused to work with the Grand Opera House stage hands, who are not affiliated with the International Stage Workers' Union of America. As the scenery carried by Mr. Hackett's company is very expensive and intricate, entailing that knowledge in handling which can only obtain by constant experience, Mr. Hackett felt that in justice to his own financial interests he could not afford to risk its manipulation by the local stage staff without the support of his own experts. The production was consequently called off.

S. K. Hackett's secretary, Mr. Cubitt, informed the Times last night, that Mr. Turner offered to put up a bond to reimburse the company should any of the latter's stage hands injure any of the Company's valuable scenery. As this bond would only cover such damages as might affect the show in Peterborough, and not compensate for subsequent damages resulting therefrom, the proposition was regretfully declined. Mr. Hackett, we are informed paid the sum of $43.90 incurred by the Grand Opera House in advertising, bill posting, etc.

We give the above without prejudice eithet way. Mr. Turner called us up last night and regretted the incident. He said Mr. Hackett's company had refused to make the presentation as advertised, and had paid damages occurring therefrom.

Both Mr. Turner and Mr. Hackett deplore the situation, not so much from a financial standpoint, as owing to the disappointment inflicted upon the dramatic-loving public. Both gentlemen were anxious to meet their obligations, but unfortunately labor conditions intervened. We are assured that Mr. Hackett's scenery is unusually heavy, expensive and intricate, necessitating the supervision of his own men to avoid disaster.

KAISER AND GENERAL STAFF NARROW ESCAPE BOMB ATTACK

Belgian-French Aviators Flew Over Lixemburg and Attempted to Drop Bombs on Legation Buildings--Canadians Will Soon Leave For the Front--Liners Requisitioned to Transport Them

Toronto, Sept. 11.—The head offices here of the parious Canadian Atlantic steamship companies announced to-day that all sailings for the next two weeks are cancelled, and all Canadian liners in port at Quebec, Hallifax, and Montreal, are requisitioned by the Canadian government. It is expected that other steamers will be requisitioned as they come in. A large staffs of carpenters and other work men have been engaged at these ports to make steamers into transports, with suitable maximum accommodation for the troops. This means the early movement of the Princess Patricia regiment and the Canadian Expeditionary force now at Valcartier. No details of the departure or dates will be given out and the censors will permit no information in that line to go from the ports of sailing. The only way the Canadian people will know that their soldier relatives have left for the war zone will be the cessation of correspondence from Valcartier

Berlin, via the Hague, Sept. 11.—It was admitted here today that the Kaiser and the general staff have been in danger from a Belgian-French bomb attack by aviators, in the German legation in Luxemberg, from whence they are directing the campaign. A few nights ago Belgian and French aviators flew over the city, and attempted to drop bombs on the legation buildings, four bombs fell near it but it is stated they did no damage.

ALLIED FORCES ARE TASTING THE RARE JOY OF OFFENSIVE

London Times Corr spondent Describes the Fighting East of Paris

London, Sept. 11.—A despatch to the Times from Bordeaux, dated Thursday, says:

"Since Sunday. when the enemy's sweep at the eastern side of Paris was checked on the Grande Morin, the German war machine has been showing signs of wear, and each fresh day of battle has closed with the allies in a more favorable position.

"On Sunday there was fierce fighting along the Grande Morin which continued at Laferte-Gaucher throughout the night, and on Monday morning the enemy began a retreat upon their next line along the Petit Morin.

"Here they were allowed no rest, for the allied forces were stating the rare joy of offensive, and wished to taste it to the full.

"On Tuesday the German command first became apprehensive for the safety of its columns, and saw looming on its right flank a possibility of disaster.

"North of Paris the French found ample room for assembling a large army, and while the British were slipping from the north-east of Paris to the east with the Germans, their place of glory was taken by a strong French force, which moved up to the River Ourcq and became a very serious menace to the enemy's retreating movement.

"The Ourcq formed the upper blade of a pair of shears, of which, as they were gradually closed, the Grande Morin, the Petit Morin, and the river Marne formed the lower blade.

"Immediately the German staff realized this situation it endeavored to extricate itself from between the blades by a rapid retreat and by a series of furious but fruitless onslaughts upon the French holding the right bank of the Ourcq.

"The fighting here has been of a peculiarly desperate character, which is shown by the fact that of two standards captured, one, that of the 36th Infantry Regiment of Madgeburg, was torn from the hands of its bearer by a French infantry reservist.

"The French, however, stand firm along the Ourcq, while the British have cro[illegible] the Marne and driven the enemy a distance of 25 miles.

"From the centre news is meagre, but the French are understood to be progressing.

"The Germans apparently are suffering from lack of ammunition, and it would seem that their difficulties in obtaining supplies from their base have only begun. If all their plans succeed, as they have done during the last few days, the allies should be well on their way to victory."

The same correspondent sends the following:

"It is now beyond doubt that the German turning movement to the south-east of Paris has been defeated and there is a dawning hope that the allies' left, which has borne a rain of the enemy's blows since the fighting at Mons began, is now about to take its revenge.

"The Germans have been fighting desperately to guard their line of communication, which is in considerable danger from the allies' left.

"They have been forced to retreat before the onslaught of the British, and the withdrawal of the German right is bound to assist the French in forcing back the centre, unless the Germans desire again to find themselves obliged to follow the Imperial Chancellor's advice and 'hack' their way through.

"The German check in front of the Meaux and Verdun line has had its echo throughout the field of operations. On the extreme French right the enemy's division, bearing down upon Nancy, has been thrown back behind the forest of Shampenoux."

NAVAL BATTLE IN GULF OF BOTHNIA

Copenhagen, Denmark, Sept. 11.—It is reported that the German Baltic fleet and the Russian squadrons are in battle off the Aland Islands at the entrance to the Gulf of Bothnia.

The German Baltic fleet was yesterday reported steaming eastward in the Gulf of Bothnia, headed for the Gulf of Finland, where the Russian fleet was reported to be.

In the first days of the war the Russians and Germans were reported to have fought a brief skirmish at this point and the Russians were said to have retreated into the Gulf of Finland.

PLANNING THE FARM IS IMPORTANT ITEM

It Should be Laid Out With Same Regard For Economy as a Big Factory

There is no longer any question about the advisability of planning the farm and arranging to carry out a system of rotation of crops as nearly as possible. To get the best arrangement of fields considerable study and planning are necessary. One of the important factors to be considered is to economize in fencing, and to do this the size and shape of the field must be carefully considered. A large square field can be fenced more economically than a small, narrow field. On the other hand, an important factor in arranging the fields of the farm is to have them of a shape convenient to work. Rather long fields are to be preferred from this standpoint, or at least fields long enough so that teams and machinery can be operated to advantage. Another feature that is of equal importance is to economize in distance of travel to fields. It is always desirable to have one end of the field just as near the farmstead as possible, so that little travel will be wasted in getting from the farmstead to the field.

Another important consideration in planning the farm is to have the fields of uniform size, or better, uniform producing power, so that about the same amount of pasture, feed and other crops can be expected each year. That is, one must arrange for enough pasture to furnish plenty of feed for the amount of stock to be kept, and as the pastures are changed, if they are to be changed, there should always be enough for approximately the same amount of stock. Likewise, in the production of feed, one should aim to have sufficient acreage of the feed crops at least so that an average crop will furnish an abundance of feed. It is much better to have an over-supply of feed in good crop years than to have a shortage in poor crop years.

Preliminary Plans—There are no hard and fast rules that may be laid down, but any farmer can get much value from a careful study of his farm. Time is well spent in drawing a comparatively accurate map of the farm just as it is, and studying this map with some of the points mentioned above in view, namely, laying out the fields to economize fencing; second, to permit of convenient cultivation; third, to enable one to reach each field with a minimum amount of travel, and fourth, to so arrange the fields as to size that as the crops are changed from field to field year after year, approximately the same producing power of each crop will be maintained.

Consult Others—It is usually safe to assume that two heads are better than one. All members of the family should be consulted and several schemes of arrangement of fields considered. All people do not see alike, and often what one fails to see will be observed instantly by someone else. Planning the farm is a very big and important problem that has not received due consideration. Many days or evenings can be profitably spent in this way, and many friends and neighbors profitably consulted.

The point to emphasize is that the planning of the farm is a problem worth while and one to which much time can profitably be devoted. A farm rightly planned can be operated most economically. A farm wrongly planned means that the operator will always be handicapped in his work.

SOME POULTRY POINTERS

Egg production depends on four things and if any of these four be absent, maximum egg production need not be expected.

1. The hen must be bred to lay, that is she must have that invisible inheritance that gives her capacity and ability to lay. Some people call this "an inborn tendency to lay." This means that the breeding will have more influence than the breed. Breeding surely tells.

2. The hen must be physically strong enough to withstand the drain of heavy egg production, and the chances of disease. She must be able to withstand the abuse that man generally gives her by making her environments unnatural, be able to lay a large number of eggs when prices are high, and produce hatchable germs when the incubation season arrives. Constitutional vigor is of first importance, and though the hen be well-bred and every environment exactly right, if she has some physical weakness that is either hidden or apparent, the results will be unsatisfactory.

3. The hen must have suitable environmental conditions, such as housing, yarding, condition of range, etc. The house is the home of the hen, and as such should be comfortable. Dampness, draft and poor ventilation all retard egg production. A small yard or bare range is not conducive to success.

4. The hen makes eggs out of the food given. She depends upon it and must have it in large enough quantities to induce rapid growth and large production. A hen cannot lay well on just any food that may be given. This has been demonstrated too many times on the farm and at experiment stations.

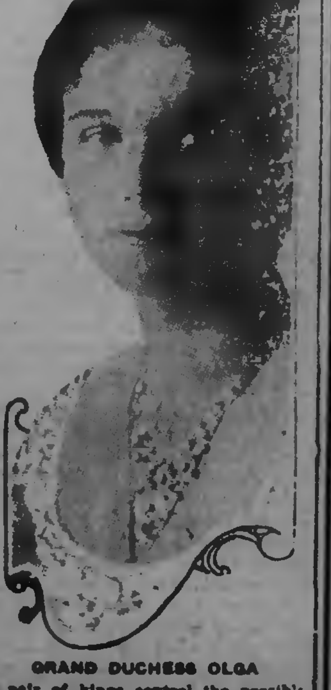
Egg production is one of the chief aims of the poultry raiser, and it is for this reason that these four things are mentioned. They are given in the order of their importance. The bird itself must be the first consideration.

No Race Suicide There

The youthful population of Prince Rupert is increasing in very much greater proportion than the adult population of the city, and if the increase continues in the same ratio as it has in the past three years the youths will soon outnumber the adults.

Insurance Bill in Australia

The commonwealth ministry of New South Wales is preparing a national insurance bill on the lines of Lloyd George's measure. Provision will be made for benefits for funerals, maternity sickness, accidents and unemployment.



GRAND DUCHESS OLGA

A pair of kings control the possible fate of a beautiful girl. Olga, oldest daughter of the czar, is 18 years old, and as a possible husband Prince Charles of Roumania has been visiting in St. Petersburg with his father. In addition to the title of duchess for social occasions, Olga also carries the title of colonel of the Hussars.

PAINTING UNDER THE SEA

Artist Uses Oil-soaked Paper and Waterproof Paint

What are undoubtedly the most unique pictures in the world were exhibited in a special salon in Chicago. These pictures were painted literally at the bottom of the sea by Mr. Z. H. Pritchard, an Irishman by birth. Mr. Pritchard learned the delights of deep-sea bathing and diving and the beauties of sea-life and vegetation which he noticed while remaining for a few seconds under water. He ultimately decided to devote himself to art and with this object in view devised an extraordinary set of apparatus in order to paint picture of the ocean's bed and the creatures which inhabit the water, while actually at the bottom of the sea. Sometimes he goes down in an ordinary diving suit, furnished with a pair of pearl diver's goggles. At other times he wears a diver's helmet, which is connected with the upper air by means of a rubber tube. He uses a drawing board made of glass, and paper which had been soaked in cocoanut oil to make it waterproof. French waterproof paints and a heavy weight to keep him at the bottom complete his outfit. Of course, Mr. Pritchard does not finish his paintings beneath the water. He makes sketches in crayons for them there, and then ascends to fix the scene permanently in his studio. This he does on leather. On leather alone, says the artist, can be reproduced anything like the tone of the sea.

CHINA AND ATHLETICS

Wonderful Interest Being Taken in Sports in the Celestial Kingdom

Evidences are displayed of a great awakening of interest in athletics throughout China. Enthusiasm is at a high pitch in some quarters and it is said to be only a matter of a few years when Peking shall be the scene of the world's Olympic. It was a striking instance of the new order of things when the historic Temple of Heaven grounds, for centuries past dedicated to the exclusive use of the Emperor, were thrown open for a national athletic meet at Peking. The competitors, for the most part from mission colleges, government schools and the Young Men's Christian Association.

The honors showered upon the students who led the field in the mile runs or did the 100-yard dash in ten seconds, recall the fact that it was only a few years ago that the scholar's ideal in China was altogether that of the long-gowned youth with hands in sleeves and philosophic countenance bent to the ground.

Floating on the Dead Sea

The wonderful buoyancy of the Dead Sea, that strange inland sheet of water in Palestine, is proverbial. It is some 47 miles long by 9 miles wide, and lies no less than 1,300 feet below the surface of the Mediterranean, the lowest-lying lake on the face of the globe. Its waters are so bitter that fish cannot live in them. We get an idea of its density when it is stated that in a ton of water from the Atlantic there is 31 pounds of salt against 187 pounds from a like quantity in the Dead Sea. The result is that it is impossible for a human being to sink in these waters.

An Oil Burner Record

The freighter Santa Cruz arrived at San Francisco with a new record for the passage by way of the Straits of Magellan. From the time the vessel left Sandy Hook till she slowed down off Los Angeles harbor, the engines run at full speed without a stop, and the distance of about 13,000 miles was made in 47 days and 4 hours. The Santa Cruz is an oil burner, and therefore did not need to put in any port for fuel.

Beware of the Canary

Medical men are warning those who have feathered pets to take measures for their disinfection. It is pointed out that even the dainty canary, the last thing held by its owner to be the subject of suspicion, is unable, without help to free its down from unwelcome animal life. Therefore plenty of water for its morning bath, with a disinfecting solution for germicide carefully added, is necessary.

Face Shield for Motorists

As an improvement on the usual types of motorists' goggles an Oregon inventor has patented a face shield to be attached to a cap and with one large opening for the eyes instead of two.

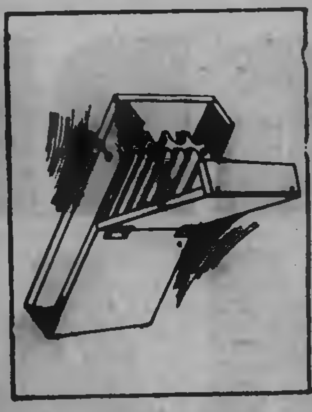
Paddle Wheel on Row boats

A patent has been granted for paddle wheels to be attached to row boats and operated by cranks.

GOOD TOOL HOLDER

Grooves Keep Bits or Chisels of Various Sizes Apart

This convenient box for holding tools will keep separate a number of bits or chisels of different sizes, and each can be selected and removed in a twinkling. The box is a flat, rectangular affair, with a lid that consists of half of the top and one end, as the cut shows. The inside of the box is divided into two by a lengthwise partition, with different size grooves on both sides. This partition terminates within a few inches of the open end of the box so that when the lid is opened the ends of the tools project beyond it and make them easily accessible. With each tool separate, as in this receptacle, the nicking of points and edges, as happens when they are jumbled up together, is obviated.



EASY TO SELECT TOOL.

COW TESTING

One Man Has Had an Increase of of Thirty-five Dollars a Month

Speaking of his experience with cow testing for three years one farmer near St. Hyacinthe, Qubec, recently expressed himself as very well satisfied. He had good reason to be for his 9 cows now average 1,203 pounds of milk each, a total of 10,8[illegible] pounds. Three years ago the average was only 823 pounds, the total only 7,411 pounds. In other words, his income from the nine cows has increased thirty-four dollars in one month.

Instances very similar to this may be found in every county where cow testing has been taken up intelligently. Near Listowel, Ontario, is a herd of 16 cows that gave on the average 2,700 pounds of milk more per cow than three years ago. The addition of four hundred and thirty-two dollars per year to one's income, without increasing the number of cows, is a substantial and tangible result of intelligent weighing and sampling.

Again, at Wooler, Ontario, is a herd now giving 8,207 pounds of milk per cow, an increase of almost 3,000 pounds per cow.

BRITISH-CANADIAN

Do you desire to make large profits on your investment in Alberta Oil Shares?

If you do you must use good judgment in the selection of the companies in which you invest.

In order that you may use this good judgment it is absolutely necessary that you investigate and analyze a company thoroughly before placing your money in its shares.

In order that you may do this in the case of the British Canadian Oils, Ltd., we hereby give you the information we have secured through our rigid investigation and analysis of said company, and in giving this information we would say that we believe it is correct in every detail.

(1) The British Canadian Oils, Ltd., is incorporated for $1,000,000; 10,000,000 shares at the par value of 10c.

(2) About 500,000 shares of the stock have already been sold, and are now in the hands of the investing public.

(3) The Directors' and Officers' stock is all pooled.

(4) The Company is the holder of petroleum and natural gas leases on over 7,000 acres of land in the Province of Alberta.

(5) The Directors, Officers and Solicitors of the Company are all reliable and conscientious business men who have the welfare of the company at heart, and who desire in every manner in their power to give the public a square run for their money.

(6) The Company is now erecting on Section 31, Township 24, Range 4, an up-to-date combination rotary and standard rig.

(7) The Company expects to commence drilling inside of 3 days, and continue with all possible despatch.

(8) The Company has secured as Field Superintendent a man who knows his business thoroughly.

(9) The said Superintendent has engaged competent drillers to carry out his instructions.
(10) The treasury of the Company is now well financed.

(11) A reputable local geologist in reporting on adjoining property makes the following statement in said report:

"There is a plunging tendency in the crest of the anticline which causes its crest to sink toward the Elbow river. The crest of this dome-shaped structure seems to be in the neighborhood of Section 31, of Township 24, and Section 6 of Township 25."

(12) A reputable petroleum engineer in reply to an enquiry from us, stated that the lease held by the British Canadian Oils, Ltd., in Section 31, is situated on the most perfect anticline he has seen in Western Alberta.

(13) British Canadian shares are listed on the three Calgary exchanges, and are very active traders.

(14) The price of British Canadian shares is very low at the present time; we expect to see it go much higher.

In view of the above information secured by us, we have no hesitation whatever in advising you to at once buy the shares of the British Canadian Oils, Limited, at 15c per share, believing that you will get a square run for your money, and big profits on your investment.

We are prepared to fill your orders for British Canadian shares at 15c each, but this price is subject to raise without notice. Any new strike in the oil field, or any other exciting report might send this stock to a very high price. We would suggest that you wire us at our expense and let your remittance follow, or if you prefer, write us and enclose your remittance.

Our market letter giving information on the Alberta Oil Fields is free for the asking.
Write for it.

WINGS FOR AEROPLANES

Linen the Best Material; Silk Lighter But Not so Durable

Although to the lay mind the suggestion that aeroplanes should be fitted with silk wings may seem an unnecessarily extravagant idea, there are certain advantages to be gained by such an innovation which would warrant the extra expense. Not that the latter would be very great. The cost of using silk on a modern biplane would not increase the expense by more than $100 per machine, while it is estimated that it would reduce the weight by about 20 pounds. Such a saving in weight, of course, is high[illegible] when it is mentioned that from $5,000 to $6,000 is usually spent on a biplane, the item of cost seems in no way considerable.

In the opinion of experts there are certain objections to using silk for aeroplane wings. It is pointed out that while it is superior to linen which is now used, in regard to strength, it does not stand exposure to sun and rain so well. Furthermore silk does not lend itself so well to dressing with tautening liquids which is essential in order that the wings may not suffer unduly from the vagaries of the climate.

Various experiments have been made not only with silk, but with every kind of material in making aeroplane wings—catgut, cotton, transparent celluloid films (in the hope of invisibility), fine aluminium foil (for fireproofness), wooden slats, and feathers. None of them, however, equal linen, which when dressed with the tautening liquids seems impervious to everything except accidents.

The dressings, which consist of solutions of casein, are applied after the linen has been stretched over the framework. Three or four thin coats are applied, and the effect of the dressing is to pull the whole fabric together in every direction. When the coats are dry the linen rings like a drum to the flick of the finger, and affords a fairly smooth surface, which is sometimes further improved and rendered water-resisting by a coat.

Our Point of View

Should the German army, weary and hungry, be compelled to retreat from France it will probably fall back on the town of Krautsburg.

—o—

The Chefoo liar, completely eclipsed by his competitors in Europe, has retired from business with a broken heart.

—o—

When the history of the present European war is written a chapter will probably be devoted to the masterly defeats of the Austrians.

—o—

"Italy's course," says a contemporary, "indicates that she has a cool head." That may be true, but there are some people who think it indicates that she has cold feet.

—o—

Austria seems determined to establish herself permanently at the bottom of the percentage column. She hasn't won a game since she started to play in the European League.

—o—

We are told that modern bullets make a clean, neat hole through a man. If the war news is true they also prepare him for an unclean hole in the ground.

—o—

A war dispatch says it is difficult to locate the lines of the Czar's army. This, no doubt, is due to the fact that the Russians have a way of hiding behind their whiskers.

—o—

Colonel Nicholai Galojewsky is the military attache to the Russian embassy in Washington. His name sounds like a jug of real old corn stuff.

The cloud shall pass from England,
And bright shall be her day,
For the Lion's cubs from near and far
Come roaring to the fray.

General Pau is reported to be the most active officer on the firing line. In the meantime, no doubt, his wife, General Mau, is very busy at home mobilizing the clothes, shoes and stockings of the little folks.

Indefensible Sophistry

Hundreds of clergymen are protesting against the inconsistent attitude of pacifists who preach peace and the brotherhood of man, in the face of existing conditions in Europe.

The lesson of the springing up of a great European war, which is a great world war, has not been learned by all. The clear inference to be drawn from this catastrophe is that much of what has been written and and most indefensible sophistry. How said about world peace is the merest can it be that, in defiance of the evidence of their senses men will continue to parrot world peace and the brotherhood of man when nations are flying at each others throats? How can it be that, with the nation to which we belong in peril from a foreign foe, men in this country will waste their time in chasing bubbles of this kind?

The explanation lies in human vanity. Hypocrites, cowards, and their kind prefer to pretend that our civilization is further advanced than it really is. They learn nothing from experience, reading and thought. They reject the conclusions of sanity for the delusions of what is little removed from insanity. Deliberately and cold-bloodedly they turn their backs on facts. The thing about war that annoys them is its reality: they cannot deny it, so they prefer to refuse to recognize it. For years they have been permitted to gull the people into believing that nations were preparing for war as part of the sham. The hard realization that nations were preparing for war to make war confounds them, because it tears the mask off them and leaves them in all their nakedness, held up to the scorn of the thinking world.

The Kings Statement

It is no boastful or arrogant tone, but in one of confidence, satisfaction and strong faith that His Majesty King George in his historic message has given official utterance to the united front which the British Empire turns to the enemy in this war crisis. Never in history has such a spectacle been presented as that which shows a great world-empire standing firm in the face of an aggressor, fighting for human liberty. Never have men received such a tribute as that which goes out from thinking foreign observers to those who have constructed the British Empire.

From all parts of the world flock to Europe to-day men who appreciate British rule. There are strange Eastern races, colored men who know nothing of the Western world; there are, in spite of Bourassa, Frenchmen who speak no English; there are Dutchmen who, a few years ago, shed their blood to repel the onslaught of what they termed then the British tyrants; there are Canadians who have left their peaceful farms where false prophets have told them to stay and live in comfort. Surely the inspiration is wonderful which can accomplish this tremendous result!

Kaiser William the Second is fighting humanity itself, and the best proof of that lies in the fact that the whole British Empire is arrayed against him, united, determined, strong. The appeal of British rule goes straight to the best instincts of mankind. The man who cannot appreciate its benefits is not able to appreciate human liberty. For this Empire has not grown up by accident. It has grown up on a solid foundation, taking root in the greatest of all human documents—the British constitution—which is nothing more nor less than an agreement to be guided by the most reasonable dictates of contemporary common sense. The British Empire and not the German Empire is ruled by Divine right. And Divine right rules the British Empire through the statesmen whom the people put over themselves. Divine right comes into play in the British Empire not through the vain boastings and arbitrary rulings of a proud Kaiser, or even of a King, but through the composite wisdom of the people expressed by their representatives in public assemblies. So long as statesmen in Great Britain put their trust in a Higher Power, the British Empire will be ruled by Divine right, and in the sunlight of that blessing, this Empire will not cease to prosper.

The modest, dignified statement of His Majesty King George claims the admiration of all free people. It breathes the spirit of a prayer. The British Empire is stronger after it is issued, because the meek shall inherit the earth.

Dangerous Throat Troubles Prevented By Nerviline

IT ENDS MISERY OF COLDS QUICKLY.

Don't wait till night.

Get after your cold now—this very minute, before it grows dangerous you should apply old-time "Nerviline."

Rub your chest and throat, rub them thoroughly with Nerviline. Relief will be immediate.

Nerviline will save you from lying awake to-night, coughing, choking and suffering from congestion in the chest and acute pain in the throat.

Nerviline will break up that dull neuralgic headache—will kill the cold and chill at its very beginning—will save you from perhaps a serious illness.

To take away hoarseness, to break up a grippy cold, to cure a sore throat or bad cold in the chest, you can use nothing so speedy and effective as Nerviline. For forty years it has been the most largely used family remedy in the Dominion. Time has proved its merit, so can you by keeping handy on the shelf the large 50c. family size bottle; small trial size 25c., sold by any dealer anywhere.

NERVOUS DYSPEPSIA GAS OR INDIGESTION

Each "Pape's Diapepsin" digests 3000 grains food, ending all stomach misery in five minutes.

Time it! Pape's Diapepsin will digest anything you eat and overcome a sour, gassy or out-of-order stomach surely within five minutes.

If your meals don't fit comfortably, or what you eat lies like a lump of lead in your stomach, or if you have heartburn, that is a sign of indigestion.

Get from your pharmacist a fifty-cent case of Pape's Diapepsin and take a dose just as soon as you can. There will be no sour risings, no belching of undigested food mixed with acid, no stomach gas or heartburn, fullness or heavy feeling in the stomach, nausea, debilitating headaches, dizziness or intestinal griping. This will all go, and, besides, there will be no sour food left over in the stomach to poison your breath with nauseous odors.

Pape's Diapepsin is a certain cure for out-of-door stomachs, because it takes hold of your food and digests it just the same as if your stomach wasn't there.

Relief in five minutes from all stomach misery is waiting for you at any drug store.

These large fifty-cent cases contain enough "Pape's Diapepsin" to keep the entire family free from stomach disorders and indigestion for many months. It belongs in your home.

"EMMINENT COIFFURE SPECIALIST IS COMING."

Prof. Dorenwend of the Dorenwend Co'y., Toronto, will be at The Oriental Hotel, Peterboro, on Friday and Saturday, September 18th and 19th., when he will be in consultation with their many patrons in this vicinity. OIL THE GREAT WEALTHMAKER

We hold over 3,000 acres, more or less, of oil leases North and South of Monarch and several of our leases are in the same range as the Monarch well.

Many companies claim to be close to Monarch but we are one of the very few who are in Range Six upon which the Monarch Well is situated. Therefore, we must be on the same anti-cline and as it is a foregone conclusion Monarch will get oil, so will we.

Fifty-Seven Feet of Oil Bearing Sands Passed Through in Monarch Well

OFFICIAL STATEMENT IS GIVEN OUT BY PRESIDENT GEORGESON—WELL IS NOW DOWN OVER 1,800 FEET AND FLOW OF WET GAS HAS BEEN STRUCK IN LOWER LEVELS—GEOLOGIST DUNN IS AWAY AT PRESENT

Heavy oil showings are being found in the Monarch well, west of Olds, although the oil has not yet come in in commercial quantities.

To put the exact facts before the public, President William Georgeson and Treasurer G. W. Morfitt, of the company, this morning issued an official statement from the drillers setting forth the results.

The heaviest oil seepage has been encountered through a stratum 57 feet thick, and the well is now 1850 feet deep.

A sample of this oil baled out at 1,775 feet was brought to the city this morning and is in the office of Mr. Morfitt, Grain Exchange Building. The oil is a heavy black petroleum with the characteristic petroleum odor.

The statement issued by the officers is as follows: In the absence of Mr. Dunn, Mr. Van Alst, the head driller, reports that from the depth of 1,775 feet to 1,832 feet he went through oil bearing sands for 57 feet. Throughout there was a heavy showing of black oil in the baler. Two further showing of black wet gas were met at 1,805 feet and 1,815 feet.

The well is now down 1,850 feet. Wet gas has shown at 633 feet, 1,430 feet, 1,805 feet and 1,815 feet.

Oil sands have shown at 808 feet, (48 feet), 1,430 feet (40 feet), 1,740 feet (14 feet), and 1,775 feet (57 feet).

The well is now down 1,850 feet, and while there are good oil showings there is not as yet oil in commercial quantities.

INTRODUCTION

The Glenaladale Silver Black Fox Company, Limited, was incorporated in 1913 with six pairs of foxes, at $90,000. This Company re-capitalized in 1914, with 20 pairs of beautiful Silver Black Foxes, at $15,000 per pair, making a total capitalization of $300,000.

THE FOXES

Six pairs (one year old) proven breeders, and fourteen pairs (1914 pups), making a total of 20 pairs — all young foxes— good for at least 10 years. This Company has bought some of this year's options on foxes with a guarantee that they are pedigreed and of the highest strain and very best quality P. E. Island famous foxes.

THE RANCH

The ranch is situated on the well known Glenaladale Farm, owned by Major C. McKinnon, formerly the homestead of Sir William McDonald, and is only 12 miles from Charlottetown, in a quiet locality sufficiently removed from any disturbance.

THE RANCHER

Mr. Arthur W. McKinnon, our Ranch Manager, has had much experience in breeding foxes, and has the practical knowledge necessary to efficiently manage and care for the animals.

The foxes will be ranched free of charge to the Company for the first year. This means a large saving to the shareholders, as some companies have to pay as high as 25 per cent. of the increase for ranching purposes.

The promoters of this Company are retaining $80,000 worth of stock for themselves. $20,000 worth has already been disposed of, leaving $200,000 to be offered to investors at $25.00 per share, with a guarantee that a dividend of 50 per cent. will be paid in cash in 1915, or whatever more it may be.

The Glenaladale Silver Black Fox Co., Limited, in 1913 guaranteed a dividend of 50 per cent. but are going to pay 50 per cent. in cash and 50 per cent., in stock in 1914. The Company is in good standing and to each and every investor the first of September, 1914, we can say— "We have given you 50 per cent. more than we promised." And we feel sure that in 1915 all the shareholders in this re-capitalized company will be able to say they received more than they were promised.

This Company can truthfully say that they have not one cent of watered stock in the Company. Now Mr. Investor, if you were a Company and we the shareholders, we would look to you for justice to give us all that was honestly due us. We would not like for you to buy 3 pairs of foxes at $15,000 per pair ($45,000) and form a fox company and capitalize your concern at $90,000 and make us pay, as shareholders, for it. The Glenaladale Silver Black Fox Company, Limited, will ask you to do nothing like that. We want to let you in on the ground floor.

NOTICE

When a fox company guarantees any specified dividend to its shareholders, and when said company is an incorporated body, you need not be afraid of any unfair play, for such company is compelled to pay what they promise, and, besides, every interest is taken for the welfare of both the investor and the company.

The promoters of this Company are all above board and will not permit any crook to come in and do anything that is not right. Anyone holding stock in this Company who is dissatisfied can, by notifying the Secretary-Treasurer, have his or her money promptly refunded.

FORTUNES IN FOXES

There is money in fox ranching more than anything else ever known. It is good for the rich man and good for the poor man. A poor man cannot buy a pair of Silver Black Foxes but he can easily raise $25.00, $50.00 or $100.00. By investing in this Company he gets back his money in at least two years and then he will have an income for life and for his children to come—and after there will be money in fox farming. One of the reasons for this is that P. E. Island has now 95 per cent. of the world's foxes in captivity. For every one pelt that can be raised there are more than 25 wealthy people waiting for it in London, Russia, France and America.

PELT VALUES

The Fox Pelts have advanced greatly in price since 1910 and you can see for yourself what money was in them then.

Below are the particulars of sale of a consignment of Silver Fox Furs, shipped from Prince Edward Island ranches to London, England, and sold there in March, 1910:

SHARES

Shares are selling at $25.00 each; 25 per cent. with application and the balance on or before September 1st, 1914.

Simply fill out the application form and mail to Major C. McKinnon, Secretary-Treasurer, Glenaladale, P. E. I.

All cheques must be made payable to "The Glenaladale Silver Black Fox Co., Ltd."

A POINTER

Just to give you a little idea of what the free ranching of foxes mean to the investor, we will figure it out for you.

We have twenty pairs of foxes in the ranch and suppose each pair produces a litter of only four foxes this is equal to 40 pairs and at $15,000 per year it would figure out at $600,000. Now, if we had to pay even 15 per cent. of the increase for ranching purposes (which is considerably lower than some companies pay) it would mean that we would have to pay $90,000 for ranching expenses.

We ranch the foxes free for the first year, so that in addition to a guaranteed dividend of 50 per cent., we save you this large outlay of money. While we guarantee 50 per cent., still should each pair in our ranch produce four pups it would mean that your dividend would be about 200 per cent. instead of 50 per cent.

FINAL WORD

A great deal has been written about Ranches, Grades of Foxes, etc., but after all the one object that every investor should keep before him is the dividend he is going to get. We have tried to show you in plain English what we can do for you and now that you have our proposition, compare it with the offer made by any other company now in business— and then judge for yourself to have been paid by some of the Charlottetown daily newspapers.

Former Stockbroker Fenner Given Heavy Sentence in Old Bailey Court

Sentence of four years' penal servitude was imposed by Mr. Justice Rowlatt, at the Old Bailey, upon Charles Edwin Fenner, aged fifty-six, formerly a stockbroker, whose malversations involved among other amounts a large sum belonging to the funds of the Liberal party.

Fenner was indicted for the fraudulent conversion of moneys entrusted to him for investment. Mr. A. H. Bodkin, K.C., said the total amount of money or securities misappropriated amounted to $330,985, the transactions ranging from 1910 up to March, 1913. On May 7 last Fenner, who had been a member of the Stock Exchange, and carried on business in the name of "H. L. Montmorency and Co.," was adjudicated a bankrupt, the claims against his estate amounting to more than $825,000. The estate realised $5,750. He was arrested in Paris, and extradited.

Mr. Bodkin added that the total loss suffered by Lord Murray (who as Chief Whip had control of the Liberal party funds) in connection with the transactions he had with Fenner was $194,775.

Oil Company Fiasco

Fenner's misfortune was that after Mr. Montmorency was drowned in the Stella disaster he had to decide within a very short time whether he would attempt to carry on the business. He decided to continue it, after advice, which, counsel said, might not have been good, and the result was that from 1902 to 1912 bad debts to the extent of over $200,000 were incurred.

But the culminating disaster was his connection with the oil company, which he entered into without thinking that there was any risk. He undertook to finance it on promises made, parted with over $180,000, and had not one penny to show for it.

Fenner had lived a perfectly simple life in a small flat in London, his only extravagance being a small cottage on the river, which he occupied with his brother at a rental of $150 a year. Counsel admitted that in going as he did to Paris Fenner took a regrettable step, but urged that he did not leave the country as criminals generally did. He only took with him a sum of $500, and when in Paris lived in a room rented at $2.50 a week only.

Hardships in Paris Gaol

When arrested, counsel said that Fenner was kept for fifty-one days in Paris. During that time he suffered every hardship and indignity, and was detained under the most filthy surroundings and conditions that it would be a little difficult to believe could exist at the present day, but for the fact that they had heard similar stories from other people.

"Though I recognize the sadness of a scene like this," said Mr. Justice Rowlatt in passing sentence, "one cannot allow one's feelings of compassion in the presence of a tragedy like this to permit any weakening of the criminal law for the repression of malversations of this character. From those who are greatly trusted strict reckoning must be exacted."

Romantic Wedding Recalled

The death of Colonel P. A. Watson Carnegy, of Lour, near Forfar, recalls his romantic marriage of two years ago. At that time the colonel was seventy-six years of age. He had been confined to his bed for some time with a severe illness, and his marriage at Lour to a lady well known in London society created a slight sensation in Scotland and London. The ceremony was performed by an Hon. Sheriff-substitute of Forfarshire, and was attended only by the contracting parties and the necessary witnesses.

HANDLING OF HORSES

Every man who handles horses should have the fundamental gift of common sense.

A young, highly-bred, trotting-bred mare was working on a farm for two years with an aged horse of lighter weight. The young mare fretted and fumed, always half a length ahead of the old horse. Then the man handling the team changed to open bridles. At once the young mare fell into her proper place, accommodating herself to the older horse. She could see what was going on, and seemed to realize what was expected of her. The man showed brains and responsiveness.

Be sure to give each horse exercise every day, in harness or yard—except, of course, during storms.

Box stalls are the ideal ones, and every stable should have several, at all events one or two. On stormy days during winter horses can be changed to these boxes and given a chance to move around.

Gait is a matter largely of breeding. Think of this before it is too late.

Lounging along in the harness is bad for any horse, young or old. It is a sure sign of a slouchy driver. Either drive or let it alone.

Monument to Humorist

In memory of Samuel Langhorne Clemens, "Mark Twain," a monument has been erected at Hannibal, Mo. The monument is so situated that it overlooks the spot on the Mississippi river made famous by the humorous activities of "Huckleberry Finn" and "Tom Sawyer."

Hygiene in the Desert

Nothing under the sun is new. Facts have proved that even the pitch which hygiene has reached at the present day was equalled, and in many instances excelled, under the laws of Moses.

The particular and careful manner in which animals were slaughtered, according to the laws of the Talmud, is acknowledged to-day to be the most sanitary method possible.

Professor Koch gave to the world the valuable results of his investigations in bacteriology, but several thousand years before that the Mosaic law pointed out the danger to humanity from tuberculosis in cattle, but did not forbid poultry as food. It was not many years ago that specialists discovered that fowl tuberculosis was harmless to man.

The yearly exodus to the country and seaside is no new innovation. Moses, the great law-giver, prescribed not only feasting at certain seasons of the year, but the removal of whole families to great camping-grounds in the open spaces, where they could live near to Nature.

"THE SPENDTHRIFT."

There are three classes of women who should see "The Spendthrift," the new four-act drama by Porter Emerson Browne, which will play at the Grand Opera House, Thursday, Sept. 17th. First—those women who are suffragettes or suffragists, should hear the brief but pointed monologue which Gretchen Jans (Alice Johnson) delivers to her niece, Francis Ward (Louise Price). Second—those women who consciously or unconsciously exceed the proper limitations of expenditures from the family purse and live at a rate more extravagant than they can afford because generous husbands fail to object as forcibly as they ought. Third—all other women who appreciate a well-written and well-acted play without a sentence to which fair objection may be made without a situation meriting moral criticism.

The story, the text and the moral of "The Spendthrift" are clearly and cleanly drawn from modern social life. Nor are its situations and its conditions, despite the fact that they are pictured in a family of social standing, inapplicable to households of every other class.

Mr. Browne has drawn a remarkably truthful picture and painted a lifelike portrait of modern social conditions. His Francis Ward is typical of that large and in recent decades constantly growing proportion of women who provide for husbands, homes which are only houses, and association which means little of companionship whose social ambitions are not to be interfered with by the cares of motherhood nor made uncertain by homely duties.

Louise Price leads to the character of the inconsiderate wife, a personality full of charm and attractiveness, and dramatic ability of impressive quality. Margaret Gallagher, in the character of the rich and ancient aunt, combines with the comedy element a note of seriousness quite attractive and amusingly truthful. Ware and Lambert, under whose direction the play is produced, has provided an excellent cast in support of Miss Price which includes Murray Barnard, Alice Johnson, Mable Monroe, and others. "The Spendthrift" is worth seeing from the standpoints of both entertainment and morality.

Soil Fertility Wants

Did you ever hear a man say, "We don't grow the crops we used to. This land is getting run out." Very often this statement applies only too truly, especially where the land has not been properly worked, and is in need of fertilizer. But people worried about the decline of soil fertility over three hundred years ago. In the 17th century an observer wrote: "There has been for a long while, and in every part of the world, complaints that the crops are gradually becoming poorer, both in quantity and quality. Farms no longer yield the returns they used to, and still no one seems to investigate carefully the reasons for this decrease, which is growing more serious every year. Some countries, once the center of flourishing agricultural industries, such as Egypt and Sicily, granaries of which supplied food in abundance to the Roman Empire, have become almost barren, unable even to feed their own scanty population."

An Appeal to the Intelligent Investor !

Does a logical presentation of a good investment interest you? Do you believe there is an oil in commercial quantities in Alberta? If you are alive to the situation you do. Then it will pay you to investigate our proposition and our holdings.

Please Read Carefully and Note!

THAT Oil authorities are agreed the Alberta Oil Field is of an anticlinal formation. It has been fairly accurately ascertained in what general direction these anticlines run. Geologist B. W. Dunn chose wisely in the selection of the now famous Monarch well. WINDSOR OILFIELDS, LIMITED, has holdings located close to the Monarch.

THAT Cunningham Craig, one of the world's most eminent geologists, selected the site of the Mowbray-Berkeley well. Stock in that company is not offered at any price. We possess acreage adjoining the Mowbray-Berkeley (Section 12, Township 23, Range 5, West of 5th). If a strike is made at the Mowbray-Berkeley what will shares in our company be worth?

Our holdings consist of 1380 acres, carefully selected and judiciously spread over the entire oil field.

In Glasgow four-room homes give a death rate of 11.2 per thousand, and one-room homes a death rate of 32.7.

In thirteen cities of Yorkshire the average death rate in houses open on two sides to air currents is 15.51 per thousand; in houses built back to back the death rate is 17.34 per thousand.

Of 72,857 school children in Glasgow between five and eighteen years of age, boys living in one-room homes weighed on an average of 52.6 pounds and were 46.6 inches high; boys living in four or more rooms weighed on an average 64.3 pounds and were 51.3 inches tall. Girls from one-room homes averaged 51.5 pounds and 46.3 inches high; girls from four-room homes averaged 65.5 pounds and stood 51.6 inches high.

Tearing down a large area of rookeries in Liverpool and rebuilding with 2,063 new houses reduced the death rate for that area from 60 per thousand to 27; tuberculosis from 4 per thousand to 1.9; typhoid fever from 1,800 cases in 1896 to 200 cases in 1911, and the number of arrests dropped 50 per cent.

SYNOPSIS OF CANADIAN NORTH-WEST LAND REGULATIONS.

THE sole head of a family, or any male over 18 years old, may homestead a quarter-section of available Dominion land in Manitoba, Saskatchewan, or Alberta. Applicant must appear in person at the Dominion Lands Agency or Sub-Agency for the District. Entry by proxy may be made at any Dominion Lands Agency (but not Sub-Agency), on certain conditions.

Duties—Six months residence upon and cultivation of the land in each of three years. A homesteader may live within nine miles of his homestead on a farm of at least 80 acres, on certain conditions. A habitable house is required except where residence is performed in the vicinity.

In certain districts a homesteader in good standing may pre-empt a quarter section alongside his homestead. Price $3.00 per acre.

Duties—Six months residence in each of three years after earning homestead patent; also 50 acres extra cultivation. Pre-emption patent may be obtained as soon as homestead patent, on certain conditions.

A settler who has exhausted his homestead right may take a purchased homestead in certain districts. Price $3.00 per acre. Duties— Must reside six months in each of three years, cultivate 50 acres and erect a house worth $300.

The area of cultivation is subject to reduction in case of rough, scrubby or stony land. Live stock may be substituted for cultivation under certain conditions.

SALMON FISHING

Other Fish Are Neglected by the British Columbia Canners

The interest in the British Columbia fishing industry has so far been centered almost entirely in salmon packing, and there is no lack of capital and enterprise in that particular branch, which has been exploited to the neglect of other important features of the business. The reason of the salmon run is short, and the canneries are closed down most of the year, while herring can be taken all the year round along the entire coast, although the heavy run is during the winter months. This would enable the factories to continue operations throughout the year and would obviate, to a large extent, the difficulty of securing a sufficient number of hands to handle the business during the high season in the salmon-canning industry. It is only in recent years that halibut have been taken in commercial quantities on the British Columbia coast, and, so far, the packing of sardines is practically an untried enterprise. The herring, which are caught in large quantities, are now mainly used as bait in the halibut fisheries, and for that purpose only the larger fish are kept. Nothing is done with the smaller ones, which could be packed for sardines. There are, along the provincial coast, scores of fine sites for sardine factories, where the fish could be caught in adjacent waters in unlimited quantities and at small expense.

Naming of St. Lawrence River

The St. Lawrence River owes its name to the accidental conjunction of the Festival of Saint Lawrence with the day upon which the first explorer imagined he had discovered the river. Jacques Cartier in 1534 heard from the natives of the Magdalen Islands of a mighty stream threading the continent to an unknown source, and it was while testing this legend that he sailed up the gulf until he could see the land on each side.

Favorite Screen Actor

PAUL PANZER

There are few, if any, men in the photoplay world who have had greater success than Paul Panzer. Every patron of the "movie" houses knows him; though, more often than not, he appears in some clever character guise which almost hides his identity. Panzer has had a varied life. Sometimes he was business man; sometimes traveling man; sometimes student and so forth. To the work in pictures, he has brought a wealth of experience from all these different sources.

OIL VERSUS COAL

Canada Occupies Eighth Place as Crude Petroleum Producer

The world's production of crude petroleum per year according to the last available figures is 52,921,750 tons, with Canada in eighth place as a producing country. The sources, respective quantities and percentages were as follows:

Country.	Tons	Percentage of total production
United States	32,897,060	62.16
Russia	10,173,540	19.23
Mexico	2,910,000	5.50
R[illegible]	1,987,360	3.76
Dutch East Indies	1,672,000	3.16
Ga[illegible]	1,298,620	2.45
India	1,101,450	2.08
Canada	38,750	0.073
Other countries	841,250	1.59

If the whole of this crude petroleum were employed as fuel in steam raising it would not replace, allowing for its higher thermal efficiency, much more than 5½ per cent. of the world's output of coal, whilst if used in internal combustion engines it would be equivalent, as a source of power, to about 16 per cent. of the coal.

Only a small proportion, however, of the crude petroleum can be regarded as available for use as a source of power, for by far the larger part is in demand as an illuminating agent and as a lubricant for machinery.

As the United States produces over 62 per cent. of the world's production of petroleum, it is interesting to note that Dr. Day, of the United States Geological survey, considers that, at the present rate of increase of the output of petroleum, the known oil fields of the United States will, on the basis of the minimum quantity of oil obtainable, be exhausted by the year 1935, while, even if only the present output were maintained, the supply would, on the same basis, not last more than 19 years.

In many countries there are, no doubt, vast tracts of undeveloped petroliferous territory, but only drilling can determine this.

You wash dishes about two hours every day.
That's one hour wasted!

Dishes get dirty, greasy and sticky and soap will not clean them. Soapy dish water merely cleans the surface; it doesn't dig into the corners and drive out the decayed food particles.

Gold Dust is the sanitary dish washer. It not only cleans the surface, but digs deep after hidden particles of dirt and kills the germs of decayed food which ordinary dish-water overlooks. Gold Dust sterilizes as well as cleanses.

Besides doing the work better than soap or any other cleanser can, Gold Dust will save just half the time you spend in washing dishes.

Gold Dust is sold in 5c size and large packages. The large package means greater economy.

How People Feel
When They Have
Tape Worm

Tape worm is bred from a parasite. This parasite is a creature male and female in one. It is a pear shape, having two, four and six suckers. It lays the eggs, which are only connected together with slime. They develop and form a body, which is the worm. Each joint is an individual, having a sucker or mouth. The worm grows to be much longer than the bowels where it is located, and sometimes a whole colony of them are found, enough to fill a quart of solid worm, and when put in a bucket of water would apparently fill it. It is the hardest task in the world to destroy this parasite without doing injury to the individual who may be so unfortunate as to have it, as the parasite clings to the bowels, freeing itself from the body of the worm, and remains there to breed another. It is an internal demon and causes its victims to suffer all the symptoms of disease imaginable. The cleverest physicians are led to believe the patient is suffering from some other disease, as nearly every person has different symptoms. Some have been treated for cancer of the bowels, consumption of the bowels, consumption of the lungs, chronic dyspepsia, nervous prostration, melancholia, hypochondria, hysteria, inflammation of the bowels, appendicitis and other complaints, when one or more of these internal demons were eating their lives away.

Prof. Mulveney has made the discovery to free the victim of this monster without injury to the system, destroying the parasite as well as expelling the worm with one dose of medicine without any previous starvation. Visit his office, where he has in his possession the most wonderful collection of these death-dealing monsters in the world, which have been expelled from hundreds of people by his famous remedy, some bottles containing colonies of worms and anyone seeing them cannot imagine how a person could possibly live with them in his bowels. It is surprising the number of people that have them. Thousands have them and are not aware of the fact. The letters and testimonials the Professor has in his possession are enough to convince one of this alarming fact. Some of the most prominent symptoms are: ravenous appetite, dizzy spells, headaches, cramps in the bowels, a feeling of something moving in the bowels, also a feeling as though something was crawling up the throat. The only certainty of having one in the system is when segments or joints are seen, which come away almost any time. They are flat and from ½ of an inch to 1 inch long, which have often been mistaken for pin worms by those who do not know the difference. There are many other feelings of distress which would take long to enumerate. Strange to say, some people of strong constitution, have very little distress.

Prof. Mulveney's world-famous Tape Worm Exterminator is safe, sure and harmless. No starvation, no danger, is not disagreeable to take. One dose nearly always affects a cure. Further information free. Send stamped envelope, telephone Parkdale 4630 or call at 167 Dundas street, Toronto. Open from 8 a.m. to 10 p.m. daily.

LOCOMOTIVES TOW SHIPS

Forty "Electric Mules" Will Operate at Panama Canal

The forty towing locomotives for hauling vessels through the locks of the Panama Canal weigh 82,500 pounds; measure 32 feet 9½ inches long by 8 feet wide by 9 feet 3 inches the greatest height over the cabs; have an available tractive effort as high as 47,500 pounds, and a windlass rope pull of 25,000 pounds, and four of them, two on each side, will ordinarily propel steamships through the locks. Sometimes six engines will be needed to handle extra large vessels; in every case two astern, acting as a brake on the ship's movements, will give direction to her course. No vessel will be allowed to enter the locks and go through on her own power. The locomotive is propelled by means of a rack rail while towing and while going up or down the steep grades from one level to another at a speed of two miles per hour. While running idle or on return tracks the speed is changed to five miles per hour, and the machine is propelled by the regular traction method, the track pinion being entirely released. This change is effected by manually-operated clutches located in the gear mechanism in connection with a lever in each cab similar to a steam locomotive. The locomotive is driven by two 75 horse-power totally inclosed motors of the mill type, one being direct connected through reduction to each axle.

HOW DO YOU SLEEP

Most people sleep on their sides, with the knees drawn up.

Elephants always, and horses commonly, sleep standing up.

Birds, with the exception of owls and the hanging parrots of India, sleep with their heads turned tailward over the back and the beak thrust among the feathers between the wing and body.

Storks, gulls, and other long-legged birds sleep standing on one leg.

about due to return, the Irishman and his companions drew revolvers from their pockets, covered the crew, overcame them, took over command of the ship, and conveyed it safely to the Russian fleet.

As interesting was the case of the famous steamer "Ban Righ," which once ran as a passenger and cargo boat between Aberdeen and London. After being sold by the Aberdeen Steam Navigation Company, the vessel was fitted out by General Matos, a candidate for the Presidency of Venezuela, under Castro. The Customs authorities detained the "Ban Righ" for a fortnight, but at last they were satisfied that she was a pleasure yacht, chartered by a scientific gentleman who was exploring the Caribbean Archipelago. The "Ban Righ" left the Thames on her scientific mission, dropping down to the mouth of the river near Canvey Island, where in the night barges came down and loaded her up with small arms and ammunition. Then she went across to Antwerp, where she took on board heavier guns and General Matos and a number of Venezuelan patriots (or revolutionists), and sailed as the "Libertador" for the Venezuelan coast, where she landed her rifles and revolutionists.

A Dangerous Calling

The incident is also recalled of the British collier, "John Grafton," which was blown up by her crew in the Baltic with 5,000 rifles on board. She was a Channel Islands coaster, and one morning was seen outside the three-mile limit north-east of Sark, a 6,000-ton steamer being anchored alongside her. All day large cases were being transferred from the steamer to the 500-ton collier, and then they parted. The "John Grafton's" crew, finding themselves chased by Russian gunboats, blew her up and escaped in boats to the Swedish coast of the Baltic, while rifles and revolvers were afterwards washed up in cases on the Finnish coast.

An old man with a flowing white beard, who cried as he gave his evidence, told the judge at the Old Bailey court in London that a young man in the dock was "as great a hero as any man in the country," and had performed deeds "quite equal to anything that Captain Scott did."

The prisoner was John Dicks, aged 23, a stenographer, who was found guilty of causing of wounding a man named Phillips.

Dicks pleaded that he had been "goaded on by an unknown power," and set out his only possible explanation of "what led me to do such an act" thus:

"Having the misfortune to lose both feet and top joint of right thumb, and being deported against my will from Canada

HOBBIES OF ROYALTY

The King of Bulgaria Passes Spare Hours Training Elephants

The Sovereigns of Europe have, and have had some curious hobbies. The Kaiser has a distinct penchant for carpentry, while what King Christian does not know about the printer's craft is not worth knowing.

It has remained, however, for King Ferdinand of Bulgaria to take up the strangest pastime of all—animal training. A little while ago the King, tiring of the ordinary methods of relieving his mind from the cares of State invested in four elephants. And now he spends all his spare time teaching his giant pets all that an educated elephant is required to know. The four beasts are housed at a farm on the outskirts of Sofia, and every day King Ferdinand spends an hour or so with them, superintending their toilet and training them.

The King has brought his usual zeal and enthusiasm to bear on this hobby, and the consequence is that his elephants would do credit to a professional trainer. Not only do the pachyderms recognize their Royal master when he visits them but they can do several simple tricks at his bidding. The King is very proud of his pets, and whenever his Court is visited by anyone of distinction the Royal guest is sure to be taken to the farm to admire the great beasts at their work and play.

"Heap big bird, fly like eagle; Two Guns give his gun for bird like that," was his comment on the flying machine that took him 1,200 feet in the air.

Lockless Wooden Safe

Mr. I. Shenker, a curio dealer, London, has invented a light wooden safe, which has no locks, bolts, or bars of any description, and yet is as safe as, if not safer than, the steel article.

Mr. Shenker offers to put a bank note in his safe and give it to anyone, professional cracksman or otherwise, who can get it out without alarming the household. The safe consists of a mahogany cupboard that can be inlaid and made to look like a piece of drawing room furniture if required. By an ingenious electrical contrivance an electric bell rings immediately it is tampered with, and a light appears. The only thing to distinguish the safe from an ordinary cupboard is an electric wire running into the back. Should the burglar cut this, the alarm will ring just the same.

Utopia Sold For $4,500

The "Model Town" on the Kentucky side of the Ohio River, opposite Evansville, Ind., consisting of ten acres of land, a city hall, and electric light and power plant, was sold at auction for back taxes to the only bidder for $4,500.

The property was valued at over $80,000. The town was laid out four or five years ago by a man named Brown, who announced that the town would be run on the Utopian plan. Stores, factories, and all other businesses were to be operated by the people, and all city ordinances were to be framed by the citizens in town meetings. After Brown disappeared the inhabitants left the town.

Several have already signified their intention of taking up the practice. All service will, of course, be voluntary. The corps may compete for the Agricultural Society's prize on Fair Day.—Register.

When Polly Bit.

Yesterday morning Mr. A. G. Cameron's parrot escaped from its cage and flew out on George Street. Ex-Policeman Hayward happened to be passing and saw the bird. With soothing and seductive voice he cooed, "Pretty Polly; Polly want a cracker?" and grabbed the bird. The parrot also grabbed Hayward. It caught Mr. Haward's thumb in its eak, and bit it to the bone. Mr. Hayward went to Warnes' drug store and received first aid.

A Sad Local Bereavement.

Unusually sad are the circumstances surrounding the death of little William Clifford Gray, the young son of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Gray, 500 Gilchrist street. Only a few days ago Mr. Gray, the child's father, was seriously injured while at work in his saw mill. The same day as he was lying in Nicholls Hospital his two-year-old son passed away. The father, who was unable to attend his young son's funeral, now is further bereaved in the loss of another son, who died in Nicholls Hospital yesterday morning. It is possible too that his condition will prevent him from attending the funeral of this, his second son to die within a week.

To Cure Catarrhal Deafness and Head Noises

Persons suffering from catarrhal deafness and head noises will be glad to know that this distressing affliction can be successfully treated at home by an internal medicine that in many instances has effected a complete cure after all else has failed. Sufferers who could scarcely hear a watch tick have had their hearing restored to such an extent that the tick of a watch was plainly audible seven or eight inches away from either ear.

Therefore, if you know someone who is troubled with head noises or catarrh, or catarrhal deafness, cut out this formula and hand to them and you will have been the means of saving some poor sufferer perhaps from total deafness. The prescription can be prepared at home and is made as follows:

Secure from your druggist 1 oz. Parmint (Double Strength), about 75c worth. Take this home, and add to it ¼ pint of hot water and 4 oz. of moist or granulated sugar, stir until dissolved. Take one tablespoonful four times a day.

The first dose promptly ends the most distressing head noises, dullness, cloudy thinking, etc., while the hearing rapidly returns as the system is invigorated by the tonic action of the treatment. Loss of smell and mucus dropping in the back of the throat are other symptoms that show the presence of catarrhal poison, and which are quickly overcome by this efficacious treatment. Nearly ninety per cent. of all ear troubles are directly caused by catarrh; therefore, there are but few people whose hearing cannot be restored by this simple home treatment. Every person who is troubled with head noises, catarrhal deafness, or catarrh in any form should give this prescription a trial. There is nothing better.

Important—In ordering Parmint always specify that you want Double Strength; your druggist has it or he can get it for you; if not, send 75c to the International Laboratories, 74 St. Antoine St., Montreal, P. Q., who make a specialty of it.

Big Russian Victory Confirmed, Take 80,000 Prisoners and Repulse German Army—British and Belgian Forces Cutting Germany's Communications

ERMANS CAN NEVER RECOVER GROUND LOST IN FRANCE LAST WEEK

en. Gallieni Declares All Danger to Paris is Over--Situation Entirely Changed When Paris Army of Defence Was Sent to Aid of British French Left

Paris, Sept. 12.—"The battle of the arne River marked the high tide of e German offense."

This was the positive prediction to- y of Gen. Gallieni, military gover- r of Paris. He declared that the ermans could never recover the ound from which they are now be- driven and that all danger to aris is over. It is evident that Gen. allieni believes the entire situation e changed when the army of the de- ce of Paris was sent to the aid of British-French left.

he German right, under Gen. Von uck, had overrun its supporting col- in rushing to Provins. Gen. Gal- ni, realizing that the centre was lding fast, had no hesitancy in sen- g his army out from Paris to the t to aid the French-British forces.

Outnumbered two to one, Von Kluk s in grave danger of being com- tely annihilated. He was forced to ndon much of his supplies, and certain points his retreat assumed proportions of a rout. It is not safe and there is a possibility a good part of it will be cut off and captured.

The success of the army of Crown Prince Frederick Wilhelm, which enveloped Verdum, and is operating south of that city, is easily explained here. It is said the kaiser detailed as aides to his heir the best strategists in the German army. In addition, this army is admittedly the flower of the great German war machine.

Reports are current here that the crown prince on several occasions and kaiser in person has been with the at all times keep in direct touch with him. The work of the French troops is surprisingly fine. The change from the offensive has had a bad effect on the German personnel. But it has a correspondingly opposite effect on the French, who are fighting like demons.

In addition, the French artillerymen are becoming better acquainted with their weapons. This was demonstrated at the Marne River, where French guns from the heights shot German pontoon bridges to pieces and killed thousands before the enemy could retreat.

en. De. Wet, Offers Regiment of Picked Sharpshooters

apetown, Sept. 12.—General De t, former Boer commander, offers hed regiment of picked sharpshoot- to join General French's army on continent, on the cause of liberty freedom. Even England's old en- ies are now her firmest friends.

he latest official report from the ine of Champagne tell of consider- le larger numbers of German guns ng captured than were mentioned the last official communication. elgian official reports speak of a t of the Germans by troops mov- southward from Antwerp, but while there is no reason to doubt that the invaders are evacuating parts of Belgian territory, it seems probable that they purposely are avoiding battle, as the main object of their southward move is to get in the fighting zone of the Marne and to relieve the pressure on Gen. Von Kluk's army.

45,000 Austrians Killed and Wounded in Russian Poland

Austrians Were Surrounded and Crushed Before German Reinforcements Reached the Scene--Big Problem Faces Russia in Taking Care of Prisoners--Germans Also Repulsed With Big Losses

Petrograd, Sept. 12.—Tomaszow (Southeast of Lubin in the frontier of Russian Poland on the road to Lemberg) has been taken after a desperate fight.

The German troops near Myszine and Cherzele, Russian Poland (on a line due south from Koenigsberg), have been repulsed with heavy losses.

The Russian troops have taken by assault the fortified positions of Opole and Tourbine Russian Poland, and pursued the enemy 25 miles. The Russian cavalry is still driving the enemy's rear guard.

It is announced that the Russian troops have succeeded in separating the left wing of the Austrian army from the troops which were operating around Tomaszow and Rawa Ruska in Russian Poland.

TOO MANY PRISONERS.

The war office announces that the efforts of Gen. Von Auffenberg to recognize his fleeing Austrians in Galicia have failed and that his forces are still in full retreat. The total losses of the Austrians in the last two days are declared to total 125,000, of whom 80,000 were taken prisoners. It is declared that so many Austrians have been taken prisoners that the problem of caring for them is a most serious one.

The occupation of Tomaszow entailed a desparate chargeby the Russian forces on a strongly entrenched position. The Austrians, heavily reinforced by the Germans, fought desperately, but were badly cut up and forced to retire in the utmost confusion. The Russians took many prisoners here, including two generals of one division. The Germans and Austrians who were driven from Tourbine and Opole in Russian Poland are still being carried by strong bodies of Cossack cavalry.

DEFEAT IS CONFIRMED.

Paris, Sept. 12.—A Havas Agency despatch from Petrograd says that yesterday's news of the defeat of the Austrian left wing, near Tomaszow, Russian Poland, is confirmed. The Austrians were surrounded in a triangle formed by the Vistula River and a tributary, and their wing was crushed before the arrival of the Germans who came by forced marches to the aid of the Austrians. Poor and inadequate bridges delayed the Germans and made the defeat of the combined forces inevitable.

The Russians followed up this victory by uursuing the retreating Austrians 20 miles and taking up positions in the fortified localities of Opole and Tourbine.

The Russians suffered heavily in taking Tomaszow.

The Germans lost heavily when they were repulsed in the vicinity of Myszine and Cherzele, in Russian Poland, on the frontier of Prussia.

ANOTHER RUSSIAN ARMY INVDDING AUSTRIA.

Rome, Sept. 13.—The Russians have sent another strong column invading Austria from unexpected points in the east.

GERMAN ARMY MAKING A STAND.

London, Sept. 12.—German army is entrenched in new position 150 miles long. Expected to make great stand against Allies on Sunday.

Paris Sept. 12.—French War Office reports Germans making stand in well selected position. Big battle expected on Sunday.

A GREAT RECORD FOR INDEPENDENT ORDER OF FORESTERS

The achievements of the Independent Order of Foresters in the field of fraternal insurance societies after years of experience, stands out as evidence of what may be accomplished by an organization guided by men having the highest interests of the Order at heart.

At the head of Society Row at the Toronto National Exhibition, the deputies who have had charge of this great Order's tent, which stands in that proud position, are very loud in their expressions of the successful two weeks they have had. They are somewhat tired after shaking hands with the many thousand members from all parts of the Forestric world, yet they are most enthuriastic as to the future and the good this tent has done, not only in advertising their Order, but in providing a place of rest wheih has been much appreciated. Many names have been left as prospective candidates, whom the deputies will immediately seek, and no doubt enroll as members of this great body of fraternalists.

A visiting member at the tent was heard to say that he wondered why it was necessary to have salaried deputies go out and canvass people for this great Order; that he thought the people should so appreciate the great benefits to be obtained by being a member of the same, that they would be asking for these benefits and not make it necessary to have organizers seeking them. And how true this is! It is an organization that is organized for the pure purpose of co-operating men and women together to advance the welfare of each other, and to give them an insurance policy at cost. This man was noted to say that he was proud of any Order that was able to distribute over forty-two millions of dollars to widows and orphans, which is the amount distributed by this Order in the last forty years. This in itself should awaken men and women to take a more determined stand to assist in promoting such an institution, which is doing so much good for its fellowmen.

Another great feature of this Order's policy is its disability benefit, which practically means that when a member is permanently and totally disabled he is not burdened down with further assessments, but receives 70 per cent. of his policy, in three payments.

Another great feature of this policy is the relief it is to the member when he reaches the age of seventy, as he can cease his payments, if he so desires, and can draw seventy per cent. of his policy in a lump sum. This in itself is a benefit which should awaken the young man to the importance of making application in a society that will guarantee him full protection against death or disability, and when he reaches the age of seventy and finds he is unable to fight the battles of life as he has done in the past he receives all money he has paid in to the Order, with a small interest added.

Another grand feature of this Order's work is the benefit it is to the young man who, owing to the demands of life, feels he is unable to open a bank account. The Order takes him by the hand and gives him an opportunity of paying a certain amount of money every month, which gives him the protection of a $1,000 policy with all of the above benefits added.

Another feature the Order is proud of is the fact that it is privileged to write a policy as high as $5,000. These benefits are open to both men and women, combined with their splendid sick and funeral benefits, by which they have brought comfort to many thousands at the hour of sickness by the visitation of its members and the tender care of a nurse, who many times has been provided for by the Order. During their spell of illness they are privileged to enjoy the benefit of from $3 to $5 a week for the first two weeks, $5 to $10 per week for the next ten weeks, and $3 to $6 per week for the next six months. Many have been cheered and made happy during their moments of sickness, and had it not been for the enthusiastic members they would have had to endure that suffering alone.

The record of this great fraternal body is well worthy of investigation, and should appeal to every right-thinking man and woman, and those in charge of the tent are loud in their expressions in claiming that they expect to have one of the greatest campaigns that has ever been known in the history of fraternal insurance societies, conducted during the fall and winter months.

AN EXPLANATION

Notice to the Grand Opera House Patrons:

We are very sorry for the disappointment caused to many on Friday night on account of James K. Hackett not putting on his production of "Othello." The fault lay entirely with Mr. Hackett as the company arrived late and Mr. Hackett claimed that he could not put the Scenery up in time without his men to help. We claimed that we could and informed Mr. Hackett and his manager that if he did not fill his contract with us and give the show we would claim damages and as Mr. Hackett did not give the performance we put in our claim for damages and expenses that we had been put to in this case. The manager paid our claim, and has learnt a lesson that he cannot break a contract when he pleases.

Hoping this explanation will be satisfactory, we remain,

Yours respectfully,

J. J. TURNER & SONS.

SOLDIERS OF THE KING WILL FIGHT AS THEY ALWAYS HAVE

For God, Their King, Their Allies, and Their Country--Enthusiastic Welcome of British Troops By French Populace With Joyous and Exultant Cries--Britain Keeps Faith With Her Friends And Allies At Any Cost

The war is driving it home to Englishmen that in the British soldier of to-day they have a man of whom they can be proud in every sense. The old stigma of rough and dissolute behaviour, for many years most unjust, is likely to receive its quietus from this war. A vivid description in The London Morning Post of the landing of the Expeditionary Force in France throws a strong light upon the knightly bearing of Thomas Atkins of to-day. The British regular soldier is a well-informed man, intelligent, well-trained, self-controlled and courteous. The battles which followed the landing showed how well he can fight; the article which follows, by an eye witness, shows how he can bear himself among a civilian population.

The roll of the drum beating, "Le Generale," has died out, and Dumanet, the French Tommy Atkins, has gone to his duty manfully, even rejoicing over the fact that the prolonged nightmare that has been disturbing him is about to vanish. "War is imminent," says a newspaper. "It has been imminent for 44 years," says a French soldier. "It is better to have done with it once for all." The woman folk face the ordeal as bravely as he does; there are no "scenes," although tears well up into the eyes of all of them, eyes through which shines the lovelight of motherly and sisterly devotion. The men are off as quickly as they responded to the call to arms and then eyes are strained towards Albion's white cliffs. "Les Anglais viendront pour sul," springs from many lips.

A few days pass by, days spent in patient and confident expectation. On a certain night the cliffs and the strand of the many villages about Boulogne-sur-Mer are lined with fishermen and others, all intent on watching signals made by the "sea-wolves" (destroyers), of which one occasionally sees five, then three. "Ils viennent," is the exultant and joyous cry one early morn. Yes, indeed, they are coming—they being our troops. Thereupon, all those who can tramp towards the town on a hard, dusty road, under a broiling sun, to welcome "Les Anglais," as they speak the word in those parts.

A French Welcome.

In a very few days the town itself and its surrounding hillsides are covered with our tents. Steamer after steamer deposits its load of fine stalwart men and youths, who are welcomed with delight and heartfelt gratitude. "Vivent les Anglais; vive l'entente cordiale; vive la reine Marie; vive le roi George, and vive Lord Kitchener!" An animated scene is to be witnessed daily—nay almost hourly—alongside the basin. The decks are crowded with men, horses, guns, A. S. C. wagons, etc. It is Aldershot transported. The transport is hardly moored alongside when our gallant men clatter down the gangways, the horses are slung over the side; military automobiles, repairing wagons, and all the adjuncts of warfare follow in rapid succession. Cheers, waving of French, Belgian and British flags. The cavalrymen unsaddle their horses and

BELGIANS TAKE OFFENSIVE AND CUT GERMANS COMMUNICATIONS

Between Brussels and Liege--Belgians Retake Malines--Destroy the Railway Between Louvane and Tirlemont--Big German Force Compelled to Retire

Milan, Italy, Sept. 12.—(Via Paris.)—A despatch to the Corriere Della Sera from Basel, Switzerland, says that the Germans are evacuating Southern Alsace.

Belgians Retake Malines.

London, Sept. 12.—The Belgian legation announced today that the Belgian army has again taken the offensive which was being pushed satisfactorily. An extended sortie was made on Sept. 10, and the Germans everywhere were forced to retire.

The Belgian legation stated that Belgians had destroyed the railway between Louvain and Tirlemont, thus cutting off the German communications between Brussels and Liege.

Capture Supplies and 2,000 Men

Antwerp, Sept. 12.—The Belgian-British forces attacked the German line of communication nearly to the Luxemberg boundary this afternoon. Capture large convoy of ammunition and supplies and 2,000 men.

LIEUT. JULER DIES ON BATTLEFIELD

Kingston, Sept. 11.—Mrs. G. M. Giles received a cablegram announcing the death of her nephew, Lieut. Juler, on the battle field. No further particulars were given. He was attached to the 5th Lancers, was 28, and was a graduate of Sandhurst Military College.

VALUE OF BIRDS BEYOND TELLING

Without Them Insects Would Very Soon Destroy Everything That Grows For Man's Use

Ontario's recent experience with the army worm brought to the fore the "greatest friend of man"—the bird. Scientists say that if birds were to be wiped from the earth man would be unable to survive more than twenty-five years, the entire food supply in the meantime being destroyed by insects.

It is probable that no species of insect is so completely protected by its habits of life that it is not found and preyed upon by some bird. There are some insects that smell and taste badly. Certain beetles have a strong caustic secretion giving off a choking odor and cause a burning sensation on the tongue of man. Some draw in their limbs and antennæ and look like pieces of earth; others play possum. There are so-called blister beetles, used medicinally to blister one's skin; many caterpillars are covered with hair, others having stinging rays. Yet some birds eat all of these in egg, larval state, or adult form and do not suffer thereby.

This continent is greatly favored in the number and character of its birds which not only include some of the gems of the bird world such as the warblers and humming birds, but on the whole possess few destructive species. No other creatures are so well fitted to capture flying insects as swallows, swifts, and night hawks. The wren also, trim of body and agile of movement, creeps in and out of holes and crevices and explores rubbish heaps for hidden insects. The woodpecker, whose whole body exhibits wonderful adaptation of means to an end, is provided with strong claws to hold him firmly when at work, a chisel-like bill driven by powerful muscles to dig out insects and a long extensile tongue to still further explore the hidden retreats of insects and drag forth concealed larvæ safe from other foes.

Fifty thousand birds of different species have been examined in 26 years. One man fed a young robin 70 cut worms a day for fifteen days. A young crow in a day eats twice its weight of almost anything. Two parent grossbeaks have been known in eleven hours to make 450 trips to their nest with one or more larvæ at a time. Sparrows, chickadees, vireos, martoms and warblers have been known to make forty or sixty trips an hour with their beaks filled with all manner of insects. More than fifty kinds of birds feed upon different varieties of caterpillars, including the army worm, 28 varieties upon the devastating plant lice; 50 kinds feed upon the most destructive species of scale insects.

The hawks work by day, the owls chiefly by night; so that for the twenty-four hours activities are continued. As many as a hundred grasshoppers have been found in stomach of a swinson's hawk representing a single meal, and in the retreat of a pair of barn owls have been found more than 3,000 skulls, 97 per cent. of which were field mice, house mice and common rats. A ring-neck pheasant's crop contained 800 seeds of chickweed and dandelion's head, more than 12,000 seeds have been found in a duck's stomach.

Of the woodpeckers there are 45 species in Canada some remaining throughout the year; two-thirds to three-quarters of their food consists of insects, chiefly noxious. Of two specimens of flickers' stomachs one showed 3,000 ground ants, the other 5,000.

Of the yellow bill cuckoo, a Canadian bird, one stomach contained 250 tent caterpillars and another 217 web worms. The night hawk or bull bat is one of the most useful birds. There have been identified more than 600 kinds of insects taken from the stomachs of this bird, some birds having thirty to fifty different kinds. They eat the ant and the malaria-bearing mosquito.

Of two hundred and eighty-five stomachs of the meadow lark examined, seventy-three per cent. of the food found was insects. The vegetable food consisted of grain and weed and other seeds. Farmer and town dweller therefore have every reason to protect the birds as their best friends.

In Fear of Tramps

Mr. P. Harding Roberts, clerk of the Holywell Board of Guardians, appeared before the Holywell magistrates and explained the scheme for relief stations for vagrants which had been adopted by the unions of North Wales. He asked the Bench to commit to prison any vagrants brought before them for begging, as there was now no necessity for any on the road to beg. One of the magistrates said many of the farmers in the country assisted these tramps because they were in fear of them.

PLANNING THE FARM IS IMPORTANT ITEM

There is no longer any question about the advisability of planning the farm and arranging to carry out a system of rotation of crops as nearly as possible. To get the best arrangement of fields considerable study and planning are necessary. One of the important factors to be considered is to economize in fencing, and to do this the size and shape of the fields must be carefully considered. A large square field can be fenced more economically than a small, narrow field. On the other hand, an important factor in arranging the fields of the farm is to have them of a shape convenient to work. Rather long fields are to be preferred from this standpoint, or at least fields long enough so that teams and machinery can be operated to advantage. Another feature that is of equal importance is to economize in distance of travel to fields. It is always desirable to have one end of the field just as near the farmstead as possible, so that little travel will be wasted in getting from the farmstead to the field.

Another important consideration in planning the farm is to have the fields of uniform size, or better, uniform producing power, so that about the same amount of pasture, feed and other crops can be expected each year. That is, one must arrange for enough pasture to furnish plenty of feed for the amount of stock to be kept, and as the pastures are changed, if they are to be changed, there should always be enough for approximately the same amount of stock. Likewise, in the production of feed, one should aim to have sufficient acreage of the feed crops at least so that an average crop will furnish an abundance of feed. It is much better to have an over-supply of feed in good crop years than to have a shortage in poor crop years.

Preliminary Plans—There are no hard and fast rules that may be laid down, but any farmer can get much value from a careful study of his farm. Time is well spent in drawing a comparatively accurate map of the farm just as it is, and studying this map with some of the points mentioned above in view, namely, laying out the fields to economize fencing; second, to permit of convenient cultivation; third, to enable one to reach each field with a minimum amount of travel, and fourth, to so arrange the fields as to size that as the crops are changed from field to field year after year, approximately the same producing power of each crop will be maintained.

Consult Others—It is usually safe to assume that two heads are better than one. All members of the family should be consulted and several schemes of arrangement of fields considered. All people do not see alike, and often what one fails to see will be observed instantly by some one else. Planning the farm is a very big and important problem that has not received due consideration. Many days or evenings can be profitably spent in this way, and many friends and neighbors profitably consulted.

The point to emphasize is that the planning of the farm is a problem worth while and one to which much time can profitably be devoted. A farm rightly planned can be operated most economically. A farm wrongly planned means that the operator will always be handicapped in his work.

SOME POULTRY POINTERS

Egg production depends on four things and if any of these four be absent, maximum egg production need not be expected.

1. The hen must be bred to lay, that is she must have that invisible inheritance that gives her capacity and ability to lay. Some people call this "an inborn tendency to lay." This means that the breeding will have more influence than the breed. Breeding surely tells.

2. The hen must be physically strong enough to withstand the drain of heavy egg production, and the chances of disease. She must be able to withstand the abuse that man generally gives her by making her environments unnatural, be able to lay a large number of eggs when prices are high, and produce hatchable germs when the incubation season arrives. Constitutional vigor is of first importance, and though the hen be well-bred and every environment exactly right, if she has some physical weakness that is either hidden or apparent, the results will be unsatisfactory.

3. The hen must have suitable environmental conditions, such as housing, yarding, condition of range, etc. The house is the home of the hen, and as such should be comfortable. Dampness, draft and poor ventilation, all retard egg production. A small yard or bare range is not conducive to success.

4. The hen makes eggs out of the food given. She depends upon it and must have it in large enough quantities to induce rapid growth and large production. A hen cannot lay well on just any food that may be given. This has been demonstrated too many times on the farm and at experiment stations.

Egg production is one of the chief aims of the poultry raiser, and it is for this reason that these four things are mentioned. They are given in the order of their importance. The bird itself must be the first consideration.

No Race Suicide There

SELECTING SEED CORN

Should be Chosen Early and While Crop is Still Standing

Hill selection of seed corn is urged by every institution interested in the improvement of corn. By selecting corn from the standing stalks in the field one can consider other things besides the ear itself. The height of the ear on the stalk and the strength of the stalk may both be considered, and whether or not the ear grew on a stalk that had the whole hill to itself or had to compete with two or three other stalks can be determined, while if one awaits until the corn has been cut these factors cannot be considered.

Early selection of seed corn from the hill has many important advantages over the selection later in the season. In the first place, it enables one to select ears that are known to have matured at the proper time, while if the selection is deferred and weather conditions continue favorable, some of the later maturing ears may be selected, because they are likely to be larger and heavier.

While the large and heavy ears are desirable, one cannot profitably select them at the expense of maturity, because corn that will not mature is bound to be an unprofitable crop. Early selection from the hill avoids the danger of the corn being injured by frost while it is still damp in the husk. It also allows for ample time for the corn to become thoroughly dried out before freezing weather, which is very important in maintaining a strong germination.

TO PRODUCE GOOD EGGS

Just because an egg is freshly laid by an apparently healthy hen it cannot be assumed that it is a good egg, according to an expert, who emphasizes the need of clean, wholesome feed for the production of first-class eggs. Hens that are forced to obtain the greater proportion of their living as scavengers and given a poor range to work on cannot produce eggs of as good quality as can a flock which regularly is fed a good ration.

Eggs lacking in protein have a watery white and the shell is apt to be thin owing to the partial absence of lime. Such eggs, besides being of less value as food, are more than likely to bring forth puny chickens of low vitality, subject to white diarrhoea and an early death. With proper quantities of wheat, bran, clover, oyster shell and sound grains in the ration fed to laying hens, eggs with firm shells rich in protein and delicately flavored are sure to result, providing, of course, that the flock is given clean nests and runs and is kept free from mites.

BRITISH-CANADIAN

Do you desire to make large profits on your investment in Alberta Oil Shares?

If you do you must use good judgment in the selection of the companies in which you invest.

In order that you may use this good judgment it is absolutely necessary that you investigate and analyze a company thoroughly before placing your money in its shares.

In order that you may do this in the case of the British Canadian Oils, Ltd., we hereby give you the information we have secured through our rigid investigation and analysis of said company, and in giving this information we would say that we believe it is correct in every detail.

(1) The British Canadian Oils, Ltd., is incorporated for $1,000,000; 10,000,000 shares at the par value of 10c.

(2) About 500,000 shares of the stock have already been sold, and are now in the hands of the investing public.

(3) The Directors' and Officers' stock is all pooled.

(4) The Company is the holder of petroleum and natural gas leases on over 7,000 acres of land in the Province of Alberta.

(5) The Directors, Officers and Solicitors of the Company are all reliable and conscientious business men who have the welfare of the company at heart, and who desire in every manner in their power to give the public a square run for their money.

(6) The Company is now erecting on Section 31, Township 24, Range 4, an up-to-date combination rotary and standard rig.

(7) The Company expects to commence drilling inside of 3 days, and continue with all possible despatch.

(8) The Company has secured as Field Superintendent a man who knows his business thoroughly.

(9) The said Superintendent has engaged competent drillers to carry out his instructions.
(10) The treasury of the Company is now well financed.

(11) A reputable local geologist in reporting on adjoining property makes the following statement in said report:

"There is a plunging tendency in the crest of the anticline which causes its crest to sink toward the Elbow river. The crest of this dome-shaped structure seems to be in the neighborhood of Section 31, of Township 24, and Section 6 of Township 25."

(12) A reputable petroleum engineer in reply to an enquiry from us, stated that the lease held by the British Canadian Oils, Ltd., in Section 31, is situated on the most perfect anticline he has seen in Western Alberta.

(13) British Canadian shares are listed on the three Calgary exchanges, and are very active traders.

(14) The price of British Canadian shares is very low at the present time; we expect to see it go much higher.

In view of the above information secured by us, we have no hesitation whatever in advising you to at once buy the shares of the British Canadian Oils, Limited, at 15c per share, believing that you will get a square run for your money, and big profits on your investment.

We are prepared to fill your orders for British Canadian shares at 15c each, but this price is subject to raise without notice. Any new strike in the oil field, or any other exciting report might send this stock to a very high price. We would suggest that you wire us at our expense and let your remittance follow, or if you prefer, write us and enclose your remittance.

Our market letter giving information on the Alberta Oil Fields is free for the asking. Write for it.

PRESERVING ANTELOPE

Dominion Government Undertaking to Prevent Them Becoming Extinct

The rescue and perpetuation of the rapidly disappearing prong-horned antelope is to be undertaken by the Dominion Government. To this end it enlisted the services of Ernest Thompson-Seton, the naturalist, and Maxwell Graham, chief of the zoological division at Ottawa, who have outlined a scheme which promises success.

This proposes the establishment of three fenced parks for antelope in different parts of their favorite range on areas not desirable for agriculture and in regions that still contain wild antelope.

The first step was to outline the ancient and present range of the antelope, then to ascertain the probable number at large. The combined evidence of many game wardens and mounted police shows that there are yet between 1,000 and 1,500 antelope still at large in the Canadian Northwest.

Prior to the hard winter of 1906 and 1907, there were at least ten times as many; but that long, fierce spell of frost and deep snow killed them off by thousands. In the spring when the driving remnants were making their way north over the frozen Saskatchewan, the rotten ice gave way, according to one ranchman, and over 500 were engulfed on one occasion, as he watched them from the bank.

Seton and Graham, acting for the Dominion, set out to select the lands needed. Three parks were secured, one in each of the prairie provinces, Alberta, Saskatchewan and Manitoba. On the two former the wild antelopes still range. All the conditions climatic, topographic and botanic have been pronounced perfect. Each park will be about thirty-six square miles in extent. The fencing will be horse high, strong and coyote proof. A competent warden will be in charge and in residence in each.

Egyptians Grew Alfalfa

There is nothing new about alfalfa. Alfalfa is as old as the pyramids. It was grown in the time of Rameses, the first Egyptian ruler that history tells us very much about. Caesar and his predecessors were strong believers in alfalfa, and their cavalry horses were fed upon it. Books on agriculture, written in the early days of the Roman empire, tell how to grow alfalfa. Doubtless the world-wide supremacy of Caesar's armies and the Roman empire was due in no small way to the abundant yields of alfalfa grown by the Roman farmers.

Our Point of View

Two fatalities have occurred at Valcartier Camp. Thirty thousand men anywhere will show at least as many in the time.

The late Sir John Henniker Heaton was an Empire builder, too. He bound the British peoples together with the mail routes.

—o—

The bravest soldiers who go to fight are the Austrians. They have always been licked, and they are in for another trouncing.

—o—

Jack Johnson is one of the refugees who have left Paris. Possibly, Jack and the French government couldn't agree about the gate receipts.

—o—

If the Kaiser ever strays near the firing line, somebody may be given an opportunity to rid the world of a very dirty scoundrel.

—o—

The Russian Cossacks are on trial in this war. Many military experts are of opinion that the day of the Cossack as an effective fighter has passed.

—o—

The wreck of the Oceanic, the great White Star liner, passes almost unnoticed these days. What does it matter if hundreds are in peril now? Death is more familiar these days.

—o—

Far be it from us to object to the entrance of Indian princes into the war, but their advent certainly doesn't make it any easier to follow the news. Vide the Maharajas of Bikenir, Patiala, Jodhpur and Jaipur.

Both's Speech

Not fifteen years after he led brave men to war on Great Britain, as one of the most successful leaders in the South African campaign, General Louis Botha, now Premier of a united South Africa, a British dominion, stands up in Parliament to tell this nation that "the Union of South Africa is at war with the common enemy." So much has the old prejudice been overcome and the old feelings forgotten, that South Africa will send her brave fighters now to repel the German forces which have invaded the union.

Of all the British Dominions, South Africa is submitted to the hardest test as to her loyalty. Not only is she the first British Dominion to be subjected to the trial of strength with the enemy at home, but she is the last British Dominion to receive her autonomy. If one were to look for coldness to the British cause anywhere in the Empire to-day, it is in South Africa one would expect to find it. If Canada, after so many years of freedom, has produced a Bourassa, how many should South Africa have produced? How much more support for sedition could South African Bourassas evoke?

Botha, the bravest of the Boers, has spoken, and there is no doubt that he speaks for a nation. No man is better qualified to voice the national sentiment. No man has given greater proof of possessing those qualities of courage and sanity which commend themselves to a great race. He is the antithesis of the skulking Bourassa.

The Kaiser once showed friendship for the Boers, in an effort to embarrass the British who were endeavoring to give South Africa freedom and prosperity. He will read in the speech of Premier Botha a fitting rebuke. When historians write the glorious story of the British Empire, let them incorporate this passage from General Botha's speech in the South African Parliament—

"The Empire is at war, and consequently the Union of South Africa is at war with the common enemy. This Assembly must realize that South Africa's future is being decided on the battlefields of Europe, and although there may be many here who in the past have been hostile to the British flag, they would to-day ten times rather be under the British than the German flag."

All is Well

It is the very irony of fate that, just as we were preparing to celebrate a century of peace, the nations of the world should be clutching at each other's throats—destroying, wounding, slaying, slaughtering.

The deadly conflict was inevitable, for conditions had arisen that it could not be otherwise. The appalling sacrifice of life, the widespread devastation, and the wanton loss of priceless pleasure, however, shall not have been altogether in vain. Mighty consequences may result:

Stricken Poland will regain her nationhood after a century and a half of tyrannical oppression;

The persecuted Jews of Europe will have their full rights restored;

Home Rule, which until war broke out, was ominously rending Britain in twain, will re-unite the Motherland;

Woman will be given the suffrage and a fearful menace to Britain's home life removed;

And, above all, the nations must unite in policing the world. There should be no more vast squandering of countless billions to maintain gigantic rival fleets and colossal opposing land fighting forces. The untold wealth expended in non-productive war material—for armament destroys and does not produce—could be profitably spent in the betterment of the world. Europe shall no longer be an armed camp. Entirely new and happier conditions will naturally arise, and Canada must naturally share in the better times that are to come.

Even to-day embroiled in war as she is—for when Britain's at war, Canada is at war—comparatively few of our own industries are suffering and many are working overtime. Never were these so busy. Never were the products of the soil and of the factory in such heavy demand.

Godforbid that we should build our prosperity on the misfortunes of others, but it is the consensus of opinion that the New World, far from the scene of the strife, shall gain by the terrible disruption of the Old. New avenues of trade must necessarily be opened, new markets spring up—with a greater demand for our products.

So there is no cause for despair—no gaunt spectre of Blue Ruin before us.

Canada is sending her best blood and her best food and munitions to aid Britain's cause. We cannot all be in the firing line, but every Canadian has a duty just as sacred if not as perilous, as our gallant troops. Those who, many unwillingly, remain at home can help Canada by not being stampeded with the panicky cry of hard times, by not going up and down despairing of the country, by not tamely submitting to the extortions of unscrupulous price-raisers, by co-operating in minimizing want, by lessening the number of the unemployed, and, with a staunch heart and trusting in Providence, by doing that for Canada which will, when the Dove of Peace once more descends upon earth, place her first among the nations of the world as a land of Illimitable Opportunities and Peaceful Prosperity. While mourning the appalling sacrifice of life, deploring the desolation of fair lands, the awful annihilation of peaceful homes, and the utter ruin of countless peoples it may be that the end of this Age of War and Death and Destruction will be followed by brighter and better Era in which the Dominion shall play no inconsequential part.

All that Canadians have to do is to Stand Pat and keep their courage up. ALL'S WELL.

Joint and Muscle Pains Banished by Nerviline

IT CURES RHEUMATISM.

Thousands of people, chuck full of the joy of living—happy, glad, bright people, that Nerviline has cured of their pains, all tell the same wonderful story of its power to drive out the aches and tortures of rheumatism and kindred ills.

"My goodness! but Nerviline is a miracle worker," writes Mrs. Charlotte Chipman, mother of a well-known family residing at Mount Pleasant. "Last month I was so crippled up with sciatica and muscular rheumatism as to almost unable to do a bit of housework. My joints were so stiff and the muscles so frightfully sore that I even cried at times with the pain. For years we have used Nerviline in our family and I just got busy with this wonderful, good old liniment. Lots of rubbing with Nerviline soon relieved my misery and I was in a real short time about my work as usual."

No matter where the ache is, no matter how distressing the pain you can rub it away with Nerviline. For forty years it has been curing lumbago, sciatica, back-ache, colds chest trouble and all sorts of winter ills. Keep a large 50c. family size bottle handy and you'll be saved lots of trouble and have smaller doctor bills. Small trial size 25c. at dealers everywhere.

Guaranteed Investments

The safe character of the security we offer in our "Guaranteed Investment" plan is a feature which appeals to the conservative investor. OIL THE GREAT WEALTHMAKER

We hold over 3,000 acres, more or less, of oil leases North and South of Monarch and several of our leases are in the same range as the Monarch well.

Many companies claim to be close to Monarch but we are one of the very few who are in Range Six upon which the Monarch Well is situated. Therefore, we must be on the same anti-cline and as it is a foregone conclusion Monarch will get oil, so will we.

Fifty-Seven Feet of Oil Bearing Sands Passed Through in Monarch Well

OFFICIAL STATEMENT IS GIVEN OUT BY PRESIDENT GEORGESON—WELL IS NOW DOWN OVER 1,800 FEET AND FLOW OF WET GAS HAS BEEN STRUCK IN LOWER LEVELS—GEOLOGIST DUNN IS AWAY AT PRESENT

Heavy oil showings are being found in the Monarch well, west of Olds, although the oil has not yet come in in commercial quantities.

To put the exact facts before the public, President William Georgeson and Treasurer G. W. Morfitt, of the company, this morning issued an official statement from the drillers setting forth the results.

The heaviest oil seepage has been encountered through a stratum 57 feet thick, and the well is now 1850 feet deep.

A sample of this oil baled out at 1,775 feet was brought to the city this morning and is in the office of Mr. Morfitt, Grain Exchange Building. The oil is a heavy black petroleum with the characteristic petroleum odor.

The statement issued by the officers is as follows: In the absence of Mr. Dunn, Mr. Van Alst, the head driller, reports that from the depth of 1,775 feet to 1,832 feet he went through oil bearing sands for 57 feet. Throughout there was a heavy showing of black oil in the baler. Two further showing of black wet gas were met at 1,805 feet and 1,915 feet.

The well is now down 1,850 feet. Wet gas has shown at 633 feet, 1,430 feet, 1,805 feet and 1,815 feet.

Oil sands have shown at 808 feet, (48 feet), 1,430 feet (40 feet), 1,740 feet (14 feet), and 1,775 feet (57 feet).

The well is now down 1,850 feet, and while there are good oil showings there is not as yet oil in commercial quantities.

Our stock is on the market at 50 cents a share, a Dollar par, and will be advanced without notice any day pending Monarch Well developments. It is practically a certainty that Monarch will be in oil in commercial quantities within two weeks, Our stock will jump away above par and you had better hurry if you wish to share our prosperity.

PATRIOTIC RELIEF FUND

The several committees are at work perfecting their organizations for an energetic campaign for the next two weeks.

It is with pleasure that this journal notes the energy being displayed by the Patriotic Relief Fund Committee. Personal appeals are being addressed to every household. The appeal reads as follows:—

Peterboro', Sept. 11th, 1914.

Dear Sir:—

The objects of this fund are:

(1st) To assist the families of men who have volunteered to go to the front to fight our battles, and to represent those who from necessity stay at home.

(2nd) To assist those who may be in want or distress through the war, such as the present large number of unemployed.

The families of our soldiers are allowed $20.00 per month by the Government and they also will, no doubt, assign a portion of their pay to their wives and families so that it will be up to the people of this city to add to this amount whatever is necessary to have all their families live in a comfortable manner. This is not charity but our plain duty.

The families of our unemployed neighbors must be supported and kept from actual want or distress this is our duty, and we assure you this fund will be so administered that only those who are worthy will be assisted.

The committee recognize that owing to the prevailing hard times it will not be possible for people to give as their hearts would dictate. There are those who wish to pledge a weekly amount for the winter, also those who may not be able to give at the moment but will promise to make a donation sometime during the fall or winter. We on behalf of the Relief committee and those who are to be assisted, will be as thankful for the poor man's dollar as for the richman's hundreds.

Remember the widow's mite, its cheerful giver and the blessing that followed it. In Toronto last week a poor man gave a street car ticket; this was auctioned off for $1,000.00, surely God's blessing rests with those who deny themselves to help others.

The committee will call for you some time during the next two weeks. Contributions may also be handed to any member of the committee.

Yours [illegible]

proceed to massage their saddlebacks. The clap, I say, of the massage makes cheerful music, and a lady remarks to her little son: "Jean, I have always told you that the English were kind to their horses; I saw that years ago when I was at school in their country." The ground is strewn with accoutremenes, and our men, after stretch out on the bare soil in quest having been kind to their beasts, of a short rest, for some of them, if not many, are to be entrained very shortly.

Souvenirs.

A little French girl boldly steps up to a British soldier and asks him for a souvenir. "Jaime bien les Anglais, ils ont de si belles tetes," is the old fashioned mite's speech. He does not understand her words, so they are translated for his benefit. With knightly courtesy does this private in the "Darlings" remove the numeral from his left shoulder-strap (the nearest the heart, I presume) and presents it to the happy and dainty petite demoiselle. She puts up her lips. He understands this time and he reverently kisses the little creature. "How amiable, how gallant those English soldiers are!" exclaims Georgette's overjoyed mother gracefully bowing to the gallant knight, who salutes her in military fashion and presents her with his regimental badge. The crowd cheer vociferously, and a rush is made for the temporary "camp," in a few minutes, hardly a badge or numeral is left. Mothers and fathers lift their children shoulder-high, and the little ones tug at the numerals and badges, not in vain, for Tommy helps them to detach the coveted souvenirs. Having thoroughly "looted the camp" the fortunate ones depart with cries of "Look at what the English soldiers have given us!" Ah, but we must give them something in our turn; they are too polite, too amiable; one can see they are "des gentlemen Anglais." And English gentlemen they are from beginning to end, and a British subject feels proud of them. None of us had, so far, heard of Lord Kitchener's recommendations to the King's soldiers, but they have faithfully hearkened to his advice. For ten days did I go into the town, watching them land, march through Boulogne to their respective quarters, in and about it, wandering across the streets and in adjacent communes, and English gentlemen they were on every occasion. A French lady kisses her hand to them, and many another does so. Off comes caps doffed with a courtly dignity. An Englishman commits the blunder of offering money to one of them for a badge, remarking that he wants it for a French lady. The soldier looks at him, hands the badge to him, remarking the while: "I am an Englishman, sir, and I don't sell presents to [illegible]."

Mastering the Language.

Many French ladies speak English fairly well, and one of them inquiring of a cavalryman to which regiment he belongs, he replies that he has the honour of belonging to Queen Mary, and he adds: "Her Majesty was very kind to us when we left. She gave each of us a pipe and plenty of tobacco." "Vous avez une bien bonne reine," says the lady, forgetting to speak English in her admiration of Her Majesty's kindly thought. On another occasion a "Madame" as Tommy soon gets to call her, asks a tall Highlander what he thinks of his French fellow-in-arms, and she gets his reply in French, English-French and not French-French, but she understands him and is much gratified. "Pettit soldier, but bonne," is how he gives his opinion. English residents and visitors are very proud of the demeanour of the soldiers of their country. To them the clanking of the spurs of our smart cavalrymen sound like music as these, well set, well-groomed young fellows walk along with a swing that delights an English girl to such an extent that I hear one exclaim: "What lovely swank," to which "soldiers three" reply with a "Thank you, Miss!"

Tommy is generous. He brings with him huge pots of jam and marmalade rips off the cover of one, spreads some on a slice of bread, and then hands over the whole lot to a crowd of ragged urchins, male and female. "That's jam," he informs them. They understand that. The French people supply the bread, and the urchins are as happy as a mastmaker's dog curled up in shavings. A neighboring shop is quickly bought out, and fancy bread, (the baking of it has not as yet been prohibited), bons-bons and chocolates are handed over to the Tommies. One lady presents them with a bottle of champagne. It is dexterously uncorked, and all are pleased except a braw laddie who prefers a "wee drappie" to "sweet wine." He is spoiling, so are his comrades, for a "fecht," and they would like to "clure a sicht of the Germans." "There'll be no work for us to do if we let the Belgians do it all." That is the spirit that animates all our men who have been temporarily "left behind."

Scots in France.

A kilted regiment from the north is literally cooped up in an old barracks and the people are hanging to the rails as Londoners hang on to those of the barrack-yard in Bird-cage-walk. One of the Scotsmen comments on this curiosity in the following fashion: "They are taking us for the monkeys at Corstorphine." (the site of Edinburgh's magnificent Zoo). They have marched in with a piper. The fishermen know them and explain that they have seen them at Aberdeen and "Leit," (Leith), but that in those places they wear "de belles jupes." "Why don't you show them?" inquire the fishwives who, with their inbred taste for colour, do not fancy khaki. They insist on seeing the "vrais jupes" and Jock obliges them by removing the khaki covering. Then, womanlike, they speculate as to the price of such "magnificent cloth."

Ere long every Tommy is sporting the French, the Belgian and the Russian colors, and picking up French. A body of the A. S. C. and of the Ambulance Corps march down the Grand Rue, headed by an unmistakable cockney playing "The Cock o' the North" on a mouth organ. This extraordinary regimental band provokes the following comment: "All the same, they have a funny musique, those English." "You understand, mon chou, that it is only in wartime that they play like that. Oh, they have find bands, as good as ours; I have heard them in Hyde Parc." One more humorous incident. A number of Victoria nurses arrive "one fine day." Ah! here are the wives of the soldats ecossais." An explosion of laughter follows this assertion. I explain to my neighbour that they are nurses and am thanked by a lady who adds "Mais, Monsieur, avec de si jolies toilettes elles ne soignent que les officers [illegible]." Again [illegible] that there is no doubt about the matter; they nurse officers and men. "C'est admirable."

That these King's soldiers will fight as they always have done when their turn comes there can be no doubt. But they will always be [illegible], as English gentlemen. I was a good deal among them at all hours of the day, but never did I see one intoxicated, and they were ever generous, kind hearted and polite. "Ils n'insultent personne," "ce sont des braves gens. Nous les aimons toujours," are the words I hear coming unmistakably from the heart as well as from the lips of the Frenchwoman as a trainload of British soldiers is being conveyed towards the path of glory. May many of them come back is the prayer of those who witness them as they leave Boulogne-sur-Mer. The "gentlemen Anglais" will never be forgotten. They have done much to cement the Entente Cordiale.

CHARGED WITH GETTING $45,000 ON FALSE PRETENCES IN TORONTO

Toronto, Sept. [illegible]—Twenty [illegible] hours after he is alleged to [illegible] 100,000 bushels of mythical wheat at the Maple Leaf Milling Company and received in payment $45,000 in "perfectly good money," Chas. E. Hall, alias John Heman, 153 Madison avenue Toronto, was arrested by Detective Guthrie while driving an automobile down Bathurst street on his way to the Exhibition charged with obtaining money under false pretences.

The little "stunt" by which Hall, or Heman managed to pocket the money was very simple. He entered the Toronto office of the Maple Leaf Milling Company and showed shipping bills, which showed that he had 100,000 bushels of wheat consigned to him lying on the Yorkton, Sask., tracks. He offered to sell it to the millers at a somewhat reduced rate for cash, say the police, and after showing credentials which the police say were forged, put across a deal for the entire amount. He got the money at once, in the form of drafts and cash. The milling company at once telegraphed to Yorkton and received the reply that the man was unknown and that the shipping bills were forged.

The police were notified and Heman was traced by Detective Guthrie until Saturday afternoon, when he was arrested. He had shaved his mustache and when arrested denied both his identity and the charges, although he had over $3500 in cash on his person. It is said that over $30,000 had been recovered by the police, and that the entire amount will probably be returned.

Heman is said to have been in Toronto but two months and is not known locally, but is said to come from Vancouver. This is one of the "smoothest" bits of fraud ever attempted in Toronto, according to the police, although the arrest followed so quickly after the incident.

DR. DOBINSON IS SENT TO JAIL

Napanee, Ont., Sept. 11.—The town hall here was packed before one o'clock the hour set for the preliminary examination of Dr. C. K. Robinson of Tamworth, charged with the murder of Blanche Yorke.

Police Magistrate William Rankin presided, the crown being represented by Mr. W. G. Wilson of Napanee, acting crown attorney, while Mr. T. C. Robinette, K.C., of Toronto, and Mr. W. S. Herrington, of Napanee appeared for the prisoner.

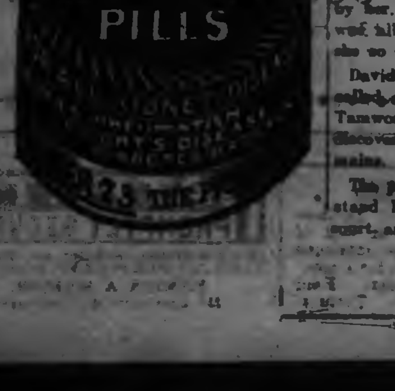
With Dr. Robinson, who looked pale, but collected, were his wife, two of his brothers and Dr. Bel., V.S. of Kingston, his brother-in-law.

The evidence was findings of the coroner's jury at Tamworth, and these were put in and filed, as also was the report of Dr. Wilson of Tamworth and Dr. W. L. Connell of Kingston, who performed the post-mortem examination.

After this, Miss Wales, of Tamworth, the friend of the dead girl, was called and her evidence at the inquest was read to her and subscribed by her. She was not questioned, but was allowed to amend her evidence if she so desired.

David Yorke of Tamworth was also called and examined. Dr. Wilson of Tamworth gave evidence as to the discovery and condition of the remains.

The prisoner was then committed to stand his trial at the next assize court, and taken back to the jail.



BRITAIN MAY USE LEMNOS FOR NAVAL BASE, SAYS GREECE

Rome, Sept. 12.—According to The Tribuna, if Turkey goes to war in aid of Germany and Austria, England is ready to break her naval strength at once. The Greek Government, The Tribuna says, has given England permission to establish a naval base on the Island of Lemnos, which is only forty miles from the entrance to the Dardanelles. The British Mediterranean fleet is reported as already in that neighborhood, and if Turkey enters the fight it will probably strike immediately.

This is said to be the real reason why the British fleet has not been active in the Adriatic. The French squadron has been left to aid the Montenegrins in their attempt to take Cattaro, while the British powerful battle cruisers have been sent to a strategical position, where they can prevent Turkey doing any damage by water to the interests of the allies or to Greece, which will enter the war immediately as England's ally if Turkey fights.

LONDON TIMES OF 1796 WAS READ BY THE TIMES

The Times was yesterday shown a copy of the London Times of the vintage of Nov. 9th, 1796 or 118 years ago. This copy of the paper is owned by Mr. J.A. Cheshire who is in charge of the Oriental Hotel Tea Room. The Times of the date mentioned is about 15 x 22 inches in size. On the front page, which contains nothing but advertising matter, prominently appears the Adv. of a lottery, the adv. of a man who had a rattlesnake, described as "the most beautiful rattlesnake ever imported to this Kingdom. It receives no kind of nutriment except water nor has it any evacuation." These words are an absolutely true copy of the advertisement in the columns of the "Thunderer." The adv. goes on to say that "the Nobility and gentry are informed that this snake is in full vigor but is so well secured that there is no danger." The front page of this issue is mainly devoted to lottery advertisements. Among the advertisements is one stating that "English grown tea is preferable to Foreign Tea." In the Editorial column this issue says "We are sorry to announce the resignation of George Washington Esq., of his situation as President of the United States of America." This event was made known yesterday by arrival of the Belvidere from New York with letters thence dated Sept. 27th." The paper gives the text in full of Washington's resignation. This issue of the "Thunderer" also gives full particulars of the capture of the British ship "Ann" by the French privatier "La Adventure."

AUSTRIAN LOSSES SCARE TTRKEY

Petrograd, Sept. 12.—Word comes from Sofia that influenced by the recent Russian victories, Turkey will not risk an adventure against Russia.

Russians returning from Vienna say that the impression that the Austrian reverses mean the investment of the capital, dominates the spirit of the people of Vienna.

After the capture by the Russians of Lemberg, the capital of Galicia, an extraordinary council was called. Count Berchtold, minister of foreign affairs, presided.

The shipment of gold to Turkey by way of Roumania continues.

Girlish Wrinkle-Free Skin Easy to Have

Since its remarkable astringent and tonic properties became known, clever women all over the world have been using the saxolite face bath to "tone up" their faces, remove wrinkles and draw flabby cheeks and neck back to normal. After using the solution, the face immediately feels much firmer. The skin tightens evenly all over the face, thus reducing lines and wrinkles. The formula is: Powdered saxolite, 1 oz., dissolved in witch hazel, ½ pint.

Another wonderful facial beautifier and rejuvenator that has become quite a rage in the United States as in Europe, is mercolized wax. Druggists report a great demand. The wax literally absorbs a sallow, freckled, blotchy or withered complexion, giving the fresh, vigorous, healthy-hued young skin underneath a chance to "breathe" and to show itself. Applying the wax at night, like cold cream, washing it off mornings, will completely renovate a poor complexion in a week or ten days. One ounce usually is sufficient.

PARIS GAY TILL SOLDIERS LEAVE

Then All Is Sadness as Realities of Terrible War are Borne Home.

Paris, Sept. 12.—The change in the feeling here is marked indeed from the gay optimism of the first days of the mobilization. It seems as though there never had been a Sunday so full of gloom and sadness. People realize now when the soldiers have gone and the effort to be brave and hopeful for them is no longer imperative, the whole tragedy of the war.

At first one saw everywhere the heroic unselfishness that smiled and joked to cover a breaking heart. At San Lazare, one day I watched a long train of soldiers leaving Paris for the front and among the women who were there to say good bye to brothers and sons and husbands, I saw one poor mother burst into sobs as the train started and her daughter clutched her arm and said, "Mother, mother, for the love of God! Henri can see you still."

The women coming from the station wept and shook with long-drawn sobs, but on the platforms as trains drew out was gaiety [illegible] and lively joking.

I have never seen such courage. The trains were hung with garlands and on one car a soldier boy, a gay, sweet fellow, slender and delicate, no more fit to be in that hell of carnage that was to follow than a little child, scrawled with chalk in letters two feet high, "train de plaisir pour Berlin."

The marching regiments in the streets of Paris had bouquets, [illegible] with ribbons to their bayonets and the streets echoed to the songs the people sang. Flags waved and banners streamed and the city was gay, not sad.

But now it is very different. The men for whose sake the women laughed their sobs are gone, and one has time to realize that the homes are desolate, and that the trains are creeping back with their floors covered with bloody straw, on which lie crippled, maimed and suffering men. The tragedy of war is here, O God! that 2000 years of Christianity has left this possible!

Does a logical presentation of a good investment interest you? Do you believe there is an oil in commercial quantities in Alberta? If you are alive to the situation you do. Then it will pay you to investigate our proposition and our holdings.

Please Read Carefully and Note!

THAT Oil authorities are agreed the Alberta Oil Field is of an anticlinal formation. It has been fairly accurately ascer-tained in what general direction these anticlines run. Geologist B. W. Dunn chose wisely in the selection of the now famous Monarch well. WINDSOR OILFIELDS, LIMITED, has holdings located close to the Monarch.

THAT Cunningham Craig, one of the world's most eminent geologists, selected the site of the Mowbray-Berkeley well. Stock in that company is not offered at any price. We possess acreage adjoining the Mowbray-Berkeley (Section 12, Township 23, Range 5, West of 5th). cf a strike is made at the Mowbray-Berkeley what will shares in our company be worth?

THE STAGE IN CANADA

Montreal Journalist Protests Against Second-rate Productions Here

The Dramatic Mirror (New York) and the Montreal Star had a friendly argument of late concerning American and English plays, and their comparative worth to the play-going public of Canada.

Mr. S. Morgan-Powell, in the Star, sized the situation up very neatly in the following:

"I said the American companies sent to Canada were, as a rule, inferior companies. I do not understand the Mirror to question that assertion. We have been assured, time after time, that we were to see 'the original New York company,' and we have seen a company which contained sometimes two, sometimes one, and very often none, of the original New York cast. We have been 'fed up' with second-rate casts and second-rate productions until we are sick and tired of them. And the plays that have been sent to us have been, on the whole, very poor, though there have been some which, as the Mirror points out, we have praised. In general, however, it has been necessary to exercise a great deal of patience and endurance.

"If the Mirror can exercise its influence with New York producers to convince them that Canada wants their best, and will gladly support their best, but that Canada does not want, and will no longer endure, being made the dumping ground for their second-rate dramatic productions, the Mirror will be doing not only Canada, but the producers themselves, a favor.

TREATING BEES FOR FOUL BROOD

Infectious Disease and Spreads Rapidly—Some Hints as to How to Overcome It

Foul brood is such a bad disease and the risk of danger from it so great that it will well pay every bee-keeper to be thoroughly informed upon it. It is a germ disease and spreads like the germ diseases of the human family, says F. G. Herman in The Ottawa Valley Journal. It may be contracted from affected colonies within the distance as far as bees would fly to rob.

The first symptoms of foul brood are only noticeable to the expert on examining the combs in the brood-chamber. The grubs turn a yellowish color and stretch out in their cells instead of being a pearly white and curled up at the bottom. They die from the attack of the germ and become a source of infestation. A bad case is easily recognized by the stench arising from the hive and given off by the state of rottenness within. On examining the combs the open cells will be found to contain a dark, coffee-colored substance of a stringy and sticky nature, while those scaled over will be pierced with irregular shaped holes, and appear sunken instead of exhibiting the prominent and rounded appearance so characteristic of healthy capped broods.

With these suggestions there should be no difficulty in detecting a case of foul brood in any of its stages. Whenever a case is found, the hive should be instantly closed and every precaution taken to prevent other colonies robbing it. At the close of the day, when the bees have about ceased work, it should be thoroughly overhauled. The best plan to adopt would be to obtain a clean hive. If there are any on hand, then shake the bees from their frames on the alighting board of the clean hive, which should stand in the place of the affected colony. After the bees go in shut them up and leave them without food for at least 36 hours. No combs should be left in the hive. After this put them into a new hive with clean combs and a fertile queen, and feed sugar syrup.

The best time to cure foul brood is during the honey-gathering season; but, with great care and feeding, it can be done at other times. Be sure to have a clean hive, a new one is best. An old hive can be used if scraped, and either boiled well or painted inside with kerosene oil and set afire, and then, when going well, some water thrown in and the hive closed tight.

Absolute cleanliness in the apiary is imperative. The hives from which the bees have been removed must not be allowed to stand about while they are holding diseased combs and harboring germs. The frames, combs, quilts, and other movable parts of the hives should be set afire and not left until every scrap is consumed.

SYNOPSIS OF CANADIAN NORTH-WEST LAND REGULATIONS.

THE sole head of a family, or any male over 18 years old, may homestead a quarter-section of available Dominion land in Manitoba, Saskatchewan, or Alberta. Applicant must appear in person at the Dominion Lands Agency or Sub-Agency for District. Entry by proxy may be made at any Dominion Lands Agency (but not Sub-Agency), on certain conditions.

Duties—Six months residence upon and cultivation of the land in each of three years. A homesteader may live within nine miles of his homestead on a farm of at least 80 acres, on certain conditions. A habitable house is required except where residence is performed in the vicinity.

In certain districts a homesteader in good standing may pre-empt a quarter section alongside his homestead. Price $3.00 per acre.

Duties—Six months residence in each of three years after earning homestead patent; also 50 acres extra cultivation. Pre-emption patent may be obtained as soon as homestead patent, on certain conditions.

A settler who has exhausted his homestead right may take a purchased homestead in certain districts. Price $3.00 per acre. Duties— Must reside six months in each of three years, cultivate 50 acres and erect a house worth $300.

The area of cultivation is subject to reduction in case of rough, scrubby or stony land. Live stock may be substituted for cultivation under certain conditions.

ONE HUNDRED ACRES

What It Cost to Run and What It Produced in a Year

A young farmer who has been farming one hundred acres of land in Ontario for four years sent to The Canadian Farm the following account of his financial year, with explanations:

I grow my own roots (two acres, and about four acres of corn for silage and twenty acres of hay every year to feed stock. I keep track of every cent going out and also coming in. My wife pays running expenses of house and little things with fowl and butter and eggs. I keep no track of it, but she does. Anyway, that is not mine.

Electricity on Farm

The securing of electrical energy on the farm means more, in the way of convenience, of safety, of comfort, and of good living generally, than any other one thing, not even excepting the telephone and rural mail delivery.

Sweet clover has the peculiar quality to keep flies off horses or cattle. If you hang a sweet clover bunch on a horse flies will not disturb the animal.

Copper Jumps

"In The Land of Poco Tiempo"

THE SIGNIFICANCE of this is that people are coming to realize that "The Land of Afterwhile" is full of opportunity and that now—having been asleep for 300 years—it is awakening to the fact that somebody is going to make enormous sums of money down there, right away!

How About YOU?

So long as copper was simply a by-product of a few mines—a plaything for the Indians—nobody took New Mexico Copper Mining very seriously—but

Those days are past. As a Copper State New Mexico is coming into its own on the jump!'

The big, quick fortunes in the copper business are made by the men who get in first.

Here is Your Chance--

The Republic Mines Company offers you an interest — as much as you care to acquire — in its enormous tonnage of excellent Copper, Gold and Silver Ore ready to take out and sell, at a price to return you handsome profits upon your investment.

It has tried the experiments—taken the risks—acquired a magnificent estate—demonstrated its ore bodies and their great value—and now offers you

How People Feel
When They Have
Tape Worm

Tape worm is bred from a parasite. This parasite is a creature male and female in one. It is a pear shape, having two, four and six suckers. It lays the eggs, which are only connected together with slime. They develop and form a body, which is the worm. Each joint is an individual, having a sucker or mouth. The worm grows to be much longer than the bowels where it is located, and sometimes a whole colony of them are found, enough to fill a quart of solid worm, and when put in a bucket of water would apparently fill it. It is the hardest task in the world to destroy this parasite without doing injury to the individual who may be so unfortunate as to have it, as the parasite clings to the bowels, freeing itself from the body of the worm, and remains there to breed another. It is an internal demon and causes its victims to suffer all the symptoms of disease imaginable. The cleverest physicians are led to believe the patient is suffering from some other disease, as nearly every person has different symptoms. Some have been treated for cancer of the bowels, consumption of the bowels, consumption of the lungs, chronic dyspepsia, nervous prostration, melancholia, hypochondria, hysteria, inflammation of the bowels, appendicitis and other complaints, when one or more of these internal demons were eating their lives away.

Prof. Mulveney has made the discovery to free the victim of this monster without injury to the system, destroying the parasite as well as expelling the worm with one dose of medicine without any previous starvation. Visit his office, where he has in his possession the most wonderful collection of these death-dealing monsters in the world, which have been expelled from hundreds of people by his famous remedy, some bottles containing colonies of worms and anyone seeing them cannot imagine how a person could possibly live with them in his bowels. It is surprising the number of people that have them. Thousands have them and are not aware of the fact. The letters and testimonials the Professor has in his possession are enough to convince one of this alarming fact. Some of the most prominent symptoms are: ravenous appetite, dizzy spells, headaches, cramps in the bowels, a feeling of something moving in the bowels, also a feeling as though something was crawling up the throat. The only certainty of having one in the system is when segments or joints are seen, which come away almost any time. They are flat and from ½ of an inch to 1 inch long, which have often been mistaken for pin worms by those who do not know the difference. There are many other feelings of distress which would take long to enumerate. Strange to say, some people of strong constitution, have very little distress.

They Must be Taught English—Old World Conditions Must Not be Allowed to Root Here

In Dr. Norman F. Black, of Regina, the alien population of Saskatchewan has an interested friend. He sees clearly the value in the foreign element amongst the peoples of the province, provided always that steps are taken to eliminate what may be objectionable in their racial ways, and to instil what is lovely and of good report in ours. In speaking to the Canadian Club of Indian Head on this subject, Dr. Black said, in part: If we realize that these people can rise to true Canadian citizenship, we must see to it that there is fair play to the emigrant; that there is fair play to Canada. We must see that he gets the English language, and we must cease using the term "white man" to distinguish the native born from the alien; and we must see to it that old world conditions, methods and customs are not allowed to become deep rooted here.

Compulsory Education

Secondly, the Education Departments have a duty to perform; Inspectors should have some knowledge of the conditions and be able to instruct and advise the teachers; the teacher should have some manual for teaching English to foreigners; summer schools should be organized; racial schools should not be allowed, yet we find that in some parts of the Dominion Polish, Ruthenian, German and French schools are being organized; this is to be regretted as the system has a tendency to breed disunion and division rather than that unity and common purpose which is so much to be desired. Third, the legislature has a duty to perform. There should be a workable compulsory education law. We have this now in Saskatchewan in towns and cities, but this Act never has worked, and never will work in rural districts until amended. The legislature should define what is meant by "elementary course"; the school law allows "elementary courses" to be taught in certain foreign languages, what does that mean? We teach "elementary courses" in arithmetic, geography, etc. There should be special kinds of High Schools to meet the needs of this alien element. Our naturalization laws should be protected; at present there is no solemnity, or dignity attached to the handing out of these naturalization papers which are filled with phraseology meaningless to the applicant.

Duty of Trustees

Fourth, school trustees have a duty to perform. In securing proper teachers where there is this alien element. In seeing that special classes are formed in the school. In seeing that there is the necessary special equipment. In seeing that there is, in towns and cities a public place where infant children may be taken care of in order that the elder children may attend school. That night schools be established. Lastly, the private citizen has a duty to perform, and this is the greatest of all, not only in his personal contact with the alien, but in seeing that the Normal schools, the education departments, the legislature and the school trustees perform their duty in their respective spheres. The duty of the private citizen in his personal contact and associations with aliens is of far-reaching importance; it is not enough for us to say "we are not our brother's keeper"; that is a murderer's excuse.

Panama and Forests

With the opening of the Panama Canal the development of the forest resources of the near-by tropical countries should receive considerable stimulus. The wood of the mangrove tree, which grows along the low-lying coasts of British Guiana and adjacent countries, is said to be twice as strong as oak, and, when stood on end, will sustain without crushing a load of 8 tons to the square inch. It is said to be immune to decay which, with its great strength, makes it an ideal wood for railway ties.

Forestry Survey

At an average cost of less than one per cent. per square mile, 15,203 square miles of Dominion Crown timberlands in the Northwest were examined last year by forest survey parties sent out by the Forestry Branch of the Department of the Interior.

PROTECT THE FORESTS

An Economic as Well as Moral Sin to Destroy Them

"The question of the protection of our forests from fire is first of all a question of morals; to burn useful material without any reason for burning is immoral," said Dr. Fernow, Dean of Forestry at the University of Toronto, in dealing with the problem of the suppression or the prevention of forest fires. He said the importance of it would be admitted when it was realized that there are at present over 569,000 acres of potentially marketable timber without any fire protection whatever. Also the Government had lost in potential dues $541,000, and this did not include the value of such timber to the community in preparing it for the market. "The one Province which now stands ahead of all others is British Columbia. They have taken the matter in hand seriously and efficiently," said Dr. Fernow. "Ontario, although the Government spends a large amount of money on forest reserves, protects very little." The reservations in Ontario are merely sections of the country that have been withdrawn from use as farm land. The thought of protecting them from fire has not yet occurred to the Government. The same might be said in regard to the profitable utilization of these forest reserves." Dr. Fernow pointed to the example of the United States, where they are making attempts to deal with the problem of the timber supply of the future.

"It is not wood of any description that we are interested in," said he, "but wood of a kind that has a commercial value. Timber is what we are interested in."

Dr. Fernow went on to say that there were six hundred millions of acres of timber now standing in the United States, five times as much as in Canada, yet the United States wanted to get Canada's timber, the reason being that they desire to conserve for the future.

"The method of detecting fires in these forest regions is by means of watch towers and a system of telephones and trails, so that a fire may be checked at its commencement. As most fires are started by sparks from railway engines, the use of oil instead of coal has been recommended by the Commissioners."

Dr. Fernow said this was a movement for providing for the future and would not benefit the present. Its progress was therefore slow, but he thought it ought to receive the support of all who had the best interests of Canada at heart. It was an economic as well as a moral sin to destroy.

Value of Poplar

Five thousand cords of poplar are used annually in Canada for the manufacture of excelsior, according to statistics recently gathered by the Dominion Forestry Branch. The wood must be clear of knots, peeled, and cut into four-foot lengths, to command the highest price from the manufacturer. In Switzerland excelsior is chiefly made from pine and fir and is used largely for upholstering, for it retains elasticity longer than hair and the small percentage of resin in the wood is said to protect the furniture from moths. The Canadian product is used chiefly for packing furniture, but by using pine and spruce the present uses of excelsior might be extended.

Argentina Forests

The forests of Argentina are said to contain enormous reserves of quebracho, a tree of large size producing a very hard wood containing from 16 to 26 per cent. of tannin. Last year, Argentina exported 68,431 tons of tannin extract, besides 35,792 railties made from this wood and 438,216 tons of the timber.

Look-out Towers

At a cost of only $50 the Dominion Forestry Branch recently erected a lookout tower fifty feet high, overlooking two hundred square miles of woodland. Similar towers are being built on all the Dominion forest reserves in the West in order that fires may be seen and extinguished before they have time to spread beyond control.

Eating Corn

To make eating corn from the cob easier and neater a New Jersey man has invented a knife with concave teeth to loosen the kernels.

Saving Labor

In rebuilding a church spire in England recently a 15 horsepower electric motor did the work of six men at about one-twentieth the cost.

SMOTHERING OF ASTHMA STOPS QUICK THOUSANDS CURED BY "CATARRHOZONE"

Count Ten—Then Relief Comes From Chronic Asthma

Nothing yet discovered can compare with Catarrhozone in bad, ugly cases of Asthma.

Catarrhozone is the one remedy that can be sent quickly and direct to all parts of the breathing apparatus.

The effect from Catarrhozone is a quick one—you feel better in no time. Keep up the good work, use Catarrhozone as directed and you get well.

If your case is curable, if anything on earth can rid you permanently of Asthma, it will be Catarrhozone. It contains that strangely soothing and powerful antiseptic found in the Blue Gum Tree of Australia, and this is fortified by other germ-killing properties which, when so scientifically combined, make Catarrhozone a veritable specific for Asthma, Catarrh and Bronchitis.

Even though many other remedies have failed—even though you are discouraged and blue—cheer up and try Catarrhozone to-day. What it repeatedly has done for others it will surely not fail to accomplish for you.

Catarrhozone is not expensive. One dollar will buy complete outfit from any Druggist. The money will be well spent because your immediate improvement in health will surpass your fondest expectations. Don't wait—today is the day to use Catarrhozone.

Black Rice Crop.

The Indians at Rice Lake are assembling in greater number than ever in a big camp on Sugar Island. From this point they conduct the harvesting of the black rice crop week. The harvest gives promise of surpassing that of late years.

A Record Pumpkin.

Last spring Mr. Edward Grier planted pumpkin seeds on the farm of Mr. Dosis. It was good seed. One vine ran through the fence into the property of Mr. R. Anderson. On that part of the vine on Anderson's farm grew a pumpkin that on Saturday weighed one hundred and eight pounds. The question to be settled by Messrs. Grier and Anderson is "who owns the pumpkin?" Each claims it.

Arranging For Corner Stone.

Charlotte Street Ladies' Aid are giving a New England Supper Monday evening, Sept. 21st in the school room in connection with the laying of the corner stone of the new Methodist church.

Lindsay Rifle Ranges.

A public meeting of the citizens will be held in the Council Chamber for the purpose of urging upon the Government the necessity of providing a rifle range for the use of the 45th Regiment and the Lindsay Home Guard. His Worship Mayor Beal will preside, and a memorial will be forwarded to the Government emphasizing the necessity of providing a range immediately.—Lindsay Post.

Local Teacher Bereaved.

The many friends of Mr. L.J. Colling, Principal of the South Central School will regret to learn of his bereavement in the death of his father, Mr. Jos. Colling, which occurred at Hamilton on Friday. The late Mr. Colling was seventy-two years of age, and had been ill for the past two weeks.

Conditions at Lindsay Jail.

Governor Balfour, of the Lindsay jail, reports seven prisoners taking treatment for various offences, at his mansion on the hill. The longest sentence imposed on any of the inmates is one year. All are males, one of whom is crazy. The prisoner who is serving a year's sentence should have been taken to the Central prison where he was assigned by the presiding magistrate, who imposed the sentence to serve this term, but from unknown cause he is left in the county jail.

Lindsay Pupils Here.

Former Midland Ry. Man Here.

Mr. Sam McElroy of Quay's Station near Port Hope, was in the city over Sunday. In conversation with the Times on Saturday Mr. McElroy told how he lost an arm whilst working for the Midland Division of the G.T.R. at Port Hope, in 1875. It seems that whilst working for the company as a carpenter near the Viaduct he was accidentally run over. His head and face were badly cut, his arm was crushed and a leg badly bruised. The, then President of the road Darcy Bolton drove Mr. Elroy home.

Local Patriotic Club.

The Kitchener Red Cross Club conducted a stall on the market on Saturday morning. The Club are seeking to raise funds for the purpose of purchasing the material for making caps and other necessities for the volunteers at Valcartier. The market authorities kindly granted the organisation free use of a table on the market, and thereupon were exhibited fancy confectionery. The stall was in charge of Mrs. Joseph Knox, convener of the Club, assisted by others, who found no difficulty in disposing of their stock.

Former Lakefield Man Talks.

Mr. J. W. Wallace, who 28 years ago carried on a general store at Lakefield, is in the city after 28 years absence. Mr. Wallace naturally sees much improvement in Peterboro. Interviewed by a Times scribe, Mr. Wallace said he is now living in the centre of the orange and lemon belt. He, in reply to a question put by the Times, said "Yes we have occasioned frosts. Two years ago the inset on my orange trees was almost ripening. Along came a Northener with frost and the whole crop of fruit was destroyed. The trees however recovered next year. We did not feel that earthquake that ruined San Francisco. However we get occasional earthquakes. A short time ago I was walking across a meadow. Suddenly the grass seemed to rise in ridges go high as that, (pointing to the seat of a chair) still no damage was done.

Lakefield Fair.

German Hosts Still in Full Retreat--Pursuing Army Gives Them no Chance to Make a Stand--Crown Prince of Germany is Perilously Near Disaster

GABRIEL HANOTAUX GIVES THE HONORS OF THE DAY TO BRITISH

Where Are the Russian Forces in Belgium--There Presence There Confirmed by Correspondent After Two Days Investigation--Berlin Warns Citizens to be Prepared for Reverses in France and Beljium

Bordeaux, Sept. 14.—Via. London—Gabriel Hanotaux, former Minister of Foreign Affairs, in an article in Figaro, pays a warm tribute to the French army and its British ally. He considers that the honor of the day elong to the latter and to General rench.

M. Hanotaux praises the delicate anner in which General French re-ognized General Joffre's strategy con-eptions.

Returning Home in Record Time.

London, Sept. 14.—The correspond-nt of The Times at Bordeaux sug-ests that the German rout is deepen-g into complete disaster, that the vaders are turning homeward by way f St. Quentin and Mezieres on the uxemburg frontier; that the German orces in the Argonne and south of erdum are likely to be cut off from e remainder, in which event they an escape only at a heavy price. He dds:

"The German rout is so complete at it is more than doubtful whether e enemy will be able to find a brea-ing place on the only likel posi-ion, which runs through Peronne and . Quentio. The enemy is making for line of retreat through Charleville, nd Mezieres, and is doing the home-ard journey in record time."

Where Are They?

London, Sept. 14.—In a despatch om Ghent, the correspondent of The aily News says that after two days investigating he has confirmed the atement that Russian troops are in elgium.

German Flight Continues

London, Sept. 14.—"Incontestable," the adjective used by General Joff-, Commander-in-Chief of the French rces, in describing the victory claim by the Allies along the western attlefront. The latest official com-unication from Paris indicates that e advance is continuing all along e line,, with the Allies' left wing ow across the River Aisne.

But little news, and that of the va-est sort, filters through from Ger-any regarding the operations in the est, though it is evident from the ne of Berlin official statements that e people are being warned not be to o optimistic as certain reverses may expected. The latest actual battle ws in Berlin describes a sortie from aris on Sept. 6, which, it is stated, s been repulsed.

Austrians in Terrible Flight

Despatches from many sources, including Vienna, indicates that the Austrian army in Galicia is in sore straits, but the story of its complete destruction is evidently exaggerated, as the latest Russian reports indicate that General Rennenkampff, in East meeting with great resistance.

It is evident, from the disposition of the compatants, that the Austrian centre was crumpled up, while the left wing was hurled back into the marshes of the River San. This left wing, composed of the flower of the Austrian troops, may be caught in a trap making unconditional surrender their only alternative. This official statement given out in Petrograd says that Genera, Rennenkampff, in East Prussia, is stubbornly retiring before a superior force rather than risk the turning of his left flank by the Germans.

Belgians Do Their Part Well.

The Belgian mobile force has returned to its Antwerp base, with the official explanation that it has served its purpose in preventing German reinforcements from joining the army in France. This force operated for 4 triangle, forcing the Germans to days in the Brussels-Louvain- Malines abandon much of that portion of Belgium. In connection with this movement, it is reported that the Belgians are cutting German communications. Other sources declare that the Belgians were compelled to return because the Germans were strongly reinforced from Liege. The retirement is also expected to have been expedited by a threat to burn Brussels.

Italy Favors Entente Protest.

One of the most interesting rumors coming out of Belgium is a report in a Paris newspaper that the German Government of the occupied Belgian territory entered Antwerp under an agreement of safe conduct in a fruitless attempt to come to an agreement with the Belgian Government.

Italy is still preserving neutrality, but has joined the Triple Entente Ambassadors in a protest against the revocation of the capitulation by Turkey.

Austria evidently fears hostile action on the part of Italy, according to newspaper reports from Rome, for feverish efforts are being made to fortify Triest against attach and the coast in that vicinity is being mined.

MILITANT LEADERS UPHOLD BRITISH

London, Sept. 15.—Miss Christobe, Pankhurst, the militant suffraget who until recently was one of the most severe critics of English law and tradition, made a dramatic reappearance before a great audience last night in support of the government.

"The defeat of our country and the victory of Germany," she declared, "would be a calamity from the women's point of view." Scores of fashionably dressed women, recently freed from jail under the government's amnesty, cheered their leader and waved the flags of the allies.

Miss Pankhurst said that the English women are ready to fight in the line if needed.

"I agree with the prime minister at this time, and I hope he never will disagree again with me," Miss Pankhurst said. The remark provoked prolonged laughter and applause

Miss Pankhurst commended volunteers and their officers and pledged them the undivided support of the militant women. She reminded her hearers thgt only a geographical accident prevented England standing today just where Belgium stands.

"The future of democratic government is at stake," she said. "Our country is in danger, and all sections must be united that we may be strong as we never were strong before."

All suffrage organizations are engaged in recruiting and war relief work. The receipts from Miss Pankhurst's lecture were donated to the relief fund.

Fresh Troops Under Gen. Pau Hot in Pursuit of Fleeing Foe

Germans Had Prepared Strong Position in Anticipation of Possible Retreat, But Were Forced to Abandon it--Servians Still Con inue Successful Operations Against Austria--French Re-Occupy Many Positions

Paris, Sept. 14.—It was officially announced this afternoon that the Germans still are retiring everywhere. They are abandoning all the positions which they had erected to cover a possible retreat.

First—On our left wing the enemy have prepared to the north of the Aisne, between Compiegne and Soissons, a line of defence which it was forced to abandon. Some detachments which it had held at Amiens now have retired upon Pertione and St Quentin.

UNABLE TO HOLD IT.

Second—On the centre also the Germans hed taken up a defensive position behind Reims but were unable to hold it. In the Argonne region they turned back toward the north beyond the forest of Belnoue and beyond Triancourt.

On the right wing the retreating movement of the Germans is general from Nancy to the Vosges. Yesterday evening French territory in this vicinity had been completely evacuated.

THE SERVIAN SITUATION.

Gish Servia., Sept. 14.— By way of Paris.—The Servian offensive movement continues successfully on the left bank of the Save. No important developments along the lower Drina have been reported since the Servian victory of Sept. 1.

THE FRENCH STATEMENT

Washington, Sept. 14.— Official despatches today to the French Embassy from Bordeaux elaborate upon previous reports of the victorious advance of the Allies.

"General Joffre tells the government that our victory is becoming more and more complete and brilliant," says the report. "The enemo is in full retreat and is abandoning prisoners, wounded, and guns and ammunition.

"After an heroic effort during the formidable battle that lasted from the 5th to the 12th, the army is pursuing the enemy in a way unparalleled by its extension and its intensity.

RE-OCCUPY MANY POSITIONS

"On our left we have crossed the River Aisne below Soissons. Valencinnes and Amiens have been evacuated. At the centre our army is north of the River Marne, in the Argonne. The enemy left Betigny, but still hold Laimont.

"In the east we have occupied Saint Die, Raon, Le Tape, Laccarat, Luneville and Remezenville.

"en Galicia the battle, begun seventeen days ago, has ended with a great Russian victory. Austrians are withdrawing on the whole front."

200,000 AUSTRIANS TAKEN.

Rome, Sept. 13.—Via Pari Sept. 14.—News received here from Petrograd is to the effect that the Austrian prisoners now in the hands of the Russians aggregate about 200,000.

REBOUND AGAINST ALLIES

London, Sept. 14.— Telegraphing from Chateau-Thierry, Department of Aisne, France, The Daily Chronicle's correspondent says:

The German general staff's plan of campaign now involves the evacuation of the northwest of France and Belgium for the purpose of a rebound against the Allies or to save the Empire itself, as events may hictate.

This means abandonment of the hope of attacking Paris in the near future. The new plan means improved western communication and a general concentration of the Allies with an opportunity for a decisive battle, possibly on the line of Laon Rheims and Chalons. Even if the combined German armies of the Aisne and the Argonne are defeated then there will remain the great fortresses of the Rhine and the Moselle.

Cure Lied Boldly to Let Four "Tommies" Escape

Paris, Sept. 15. A lady who lived in one of the villages to the northeast of Paris until the approach of the Germans, tells me of the following episode: "On Tuesday or Wednesday last four lost "Tommies" turned up in the village and asked for shelter. They had been chased by uhlans and the cure probably realized risks he ran in taking them into his little house.

Early in the morning a German patrol rode into the place, summoned the inhabitants together and demanded the surrender of the Englishmen, threatening them with penalties. Every one knew where they were and turned to their spiritual guide. The good cure lied boldly in a loud voice, so that his flock should understand, saying that he had not seen the Englishmen and do doubt they had gone on toward Paris. The German soldiers rode on.

What most struck my informant was the exceeding deliberation with which the Atkins four performed their toilet and brushed their hair and clothes before making their escape. The cure then left for a safer place.

When they returned and found all the birds flown, the uhlans took their revenge by burning his house.

The Crown Prince Reported To Be Very Near Disaster

Paris, Sept. 14.—In the opinion of the best military observers here the German army under command of Crown Prince Frederick William is in a critical position. The French have driven the Germans from their positions north of Rheims and threaten his line of retreat to the west of the Argonne region, and it is felt that he is liable to be surrounded and forced to capitulate. This would result in breaking the German host in two. The alternative of the Crown Prince would be to try to force its way through south of Verdum, a desperate expedient in view of the imposing array of forts at this point.

British Cross River Aisne And Capture More Prisoners

London, Sept. 14.—The Official Press Bureau this afternoon issued the following statement:

All day yesterday the enemy stubbornly disputed the passage of the Aisne by our troops, but in spite of the difficulty of fording the river in the face of a strong opposition, nearly all the crossings were secured by sunset.

On our right and left the French troops were confronted with a similar task, in which, like ourselves, they were successful. Many more prisoners were taken.

It is reported from the French headquarters that the German Crown Prince's army had been driven back and that he has moved his headquarters from St. Menehould to Mont Fauson.

FOUND A MOUNTAIN IN PACIFIC WILDS

New York, Sept. 15.—A mountain 11,000 feet high, which Miss Mary L. Jobe, explorer, instructor in history at Hunter College here, believes has never been mapped, was discovered by her in the wilds of British Columbia and a report concerning it will be made, she said last night, to the Canadian Government and to the National Geogrgphical Society.

Miss Jobe returned yesterday from her exploration trip, which lasted six weeks, and announced her discovery, she locates the mountain, to which she will give a Cree Indian name, as about 150 miles north of Mount Robson. The Topographical Survey of Canada extends to a point only a few miles north of Mount Robson.

Miss Jobe and several companions arrived at the foot of the newly discovered mountain on August 22, and began the ascent in a heavy snowstorm. After covering six miles, they were forced to return to camp for food. A flock of grouse enabled them to provision and the ascent was begun once more. On August 25 they reached with 800 feet of the summit. Here great ice caves, with icicles 60 feet in length at their mouths, blocked progress.

The trip was Miss Cobe's seventh into the Canadian north-west.

PARIS SUBURBAN SERVICE RESUMED

Paris, Sept. 12.— Service on the Northern Railway, which was interrupted by the German invasion, is gradually resumed between Paris and the more distant suburbs.

Large numbers of railway employes who left their posts upon the approach of the Germans have been recalled and it was said today that there was a possibility in the event of further retirement by the Germans that communication with the coast would soon be re-established.

RUSSIAN RETREAT DELIBERATE LED AUSTRIANS INTO A TRAP

Then Struck Annihilating Blow After Enveloping the Enemy Which is in Headlong Flight--Capture of Lemberg Big Factor in the Victory--Great Rejoicing in Petrograd

London, Sept. 14.—A Petrograd despatch says: Russian strategy in this campaign is destined to rank as a masterpiece in military history, for while announcements were being made in Vienna of Austrian victories in the region south of Lublin and Chelm, the centre of the Austrian army was being lured on to its fate.

The withdrawal of the Russians, it would now appear, was deliberate. It was continued until the invader was within cannon shot of the indispensable railway line joining Lublin and Chelm. Meanwhile, Russia was preparing an irresistible avalanche on her wings. Having duly assembled her forces she struck a terrible blow, severing communication between the Austrian armies operating respectively around Krasnik and Tomaszow.

In Headlong Flight.

The capture of Lemberg had enabled General Rusky to turn on the rear of the Austrian position at Tomaszow, which, thus assailed on two sides was abandoned on the right. Simultaneously the onslaught of the Russian right drove the Austrians left in headlong flight across the San. What proportion of the Austrian force was lost forever in the marshy tract on the east bank of this river is not known.

Summing up the latest official reports, it appears that the left and centre of the enemy were totally routed while the right on the Rawa Ruska-Dniester line is still maintaining a desperate resistance, in the hope of covering its retreat and preventing a disaster from developing into annihilation.

In East Prussia where most of the 300,000 German reinforcements have been hurried, it will require all the Germans' attention to hold Koenigsberg, which, in its way, is even more important to the Hohenzollern dynasty than Berlin itself. because it is the city where the ruling member of the House of Hohenzollern receives by divine right the Crown of Prussia.

Petrograd Wild With Delight.

A Petrograd despatch to the Central News describes a scene of tremendous enthusiasm on the first night of Imperial grand opera season when a bulletin describing the destruction of the Austrian army between the rivers Bug and Dniester was read in the middle of the performance.

The Russian hymn was sung over and over again and the national anthems of the allies were also sung, while the Ambassadors and Ministers of these countries bowed from their boxes.

Tumultuous demonstrations took place in the streets, the crowds almost fighting to get the newspapers.

BIG CROWD VISIT BATTLEFIELD IN SEARCH OF SOUVENIRS

Dead Bodies Everywhere--The Sight Was a Gruesome One--Hunger-Suffering German Prisoners Being Picked Up and Taken to Paris--Evidence on Every Hand of a Big Victory

Paris, Sept. 11.--Certain parts of the field of the battle of Marne, in the department of the Oise, were objects of a veritable pilgrimage Sunday. The suburban trains of the Northern Railroad carried great numbers of sight-seers, most of whom returned with souvenirs of the great battle

From eight o'clock to midnight on Sunday trains brought into the Northern station many Zouaves, Turcos and infantrymen wounded near Meaux.

The souvenirs brought from the battlefield consisted of helmets, fragments of shells and cartridges, weapons, pennants and equipment. All who visited the battlefield were enthusiastic over the evidence they had seen of their countrymen's victory. They said, however, that the battlefields are still a gruesome sight, and that the bodies of French and Germans shattered by shell wounds, are lying thick along the roads and lanes.

Stray German soldiers suffering from hunger, are still being brought into Meaux. One British soldier Sunday afternoon brought in five Germans who seemed to be willing captives.

N.O. HONEYMOONERS ARRESTED AS SPIES

New Orleans, Sept. 15.—Arrested as German spies and locked up in the same conciergerie in Paris in which Mme. Caillaux was confined, released only when they secured papers from the American consul showing them to be Americans, again arrested and again released, with apologies, when these same papers were presented, were part of the hard war experiences of Dr. and Mrs. Henry F. Ader, of New Orleans, who have just returned from a suddenly and rudely terminated honeymoon tour in Europe.

To add to their troubles Mrs. Ader contracted ptomaine poisoning from eating tainted food on the steamship New York on the vayage home, during which they were compelled to travel third class, owing to the crowding of more than 1,300 persons on a vessel with a capacity of 750 passengers.

Dr. Ader married Miss Evelyn Garrot in New Orleans April 21, and they sailed for Europe immediately afterwards to visit friends in France. They were at home in St. Gaudens of Mrs. Serres, whose husband formerly conducted a grocery at Broad and Esplanade streets, in New Orleans, when the war broke out. They traveled part of the way to Paris in a freight car, standing for eight hours, and experienced much difficulty in securing change for bills of large denomination.

The rest of the experience of the bridal couple were similar to those encountered by many other Americans seeking to get out of the country.

SCHOOLS OF AGRICULTURE

It is not only what these boys learn in these schools, but the fact that they begin study again will mean that they will be better readers of farm journals, better students of books upon different agricultural subjects. In other words, the instruction they get in the schools will start them on upon the life study of the business of farming from a scientific standpoint. It will give them greater ambition not only for themselves, but for their boys in the future, and will mean not only an improvement in farm methods but an improvement intellectually among our farmers until the whole population on the land will finally recognize the necessity and importance of education and training, and its relation to agriculture. This can only be done by placing schools of agriculture at the very doors of the farmer. Fifty miles is quite a distance for a farm boy to travel to go to school, but he can be induced to travel that far, and there is no reason why a country that depends for the production of its wealth upon agriculture should not place the opportunity for education within easy reach of every boy and girl who expects to spend his or her life in developing and improving the land.—Hon. Duncan Marshall of Alberta, in Agricultural G[illegible].

PRESERVING TOOLS

Hints That Every Farmer and Mechanic Should Know

Some general directions for the care and preservation of tools will not be out of place, as even the best tools become useless if they are not cared for. The following hints will no doubt be appreciated by every mechanic who desires to make his tools last as long as possible, and who always wishes to have them in good condition.

The wooden parts of tools, such as stocks of planes and handles of chisels, are often made to have a nice appearance by polishing, but this adds nothing to their durability. A much better plan is to let them soak in linseed oil for a week and then rub them with a cloth for a few minutes each day for a week or two. This produces a beautiful surface and exerts a solidifying and preservation action on the wood.

Coutchouc oil, has proved very efficient in preventing rust on iron; this has been used by the German army. It only requires to be spread with a piece of flannel in a very thin layer over the metallic surface and allowed to dry. To remove it, the article has simply to be treated with caoutchouc oil again and washed after 12 or 24 hours. A solution of benzine has been used for years as a coating for steel, iron and lead, and has been found a simple means of keeping them from oxidizing.

All steel articles can be perfectly preserved from rust by putting a lump of freshly-burned lime in the drawer or case in which they are kept. If the things are to be moved, as a gun in its case, put the lime in a muslin bag.

To keep tools from rusting, take one-half ounce of camphor, dissolve in one pound melted lard; take off the scum and mix in as much fine black lead (graphite) as will give it an iron color. Clean tools and smear with this mixture. After 24 hours rub clean with a soft linen cloth.

To remove dust cover the metal with sweet oil, well rubbed in, and allow to stand for 48 hours; smear with oil applied with a piece of cotton wool after rubbing the steel. Then rub with unslaked lime reduced to a fine powder.

Immerse the article to be cleaned for a few minutes, until all the dirt and rust are taken off, in a strong solution of potassium cyanide, say, about one-half ounce in a wineglass of water; take it out and clean with a tooth brush with a paste compound of potassium cyanide, castile soap, whiting and water.

DUCKS AND GEESE

How to Feed Them—Ducks Require Plenty of Drinking Water

A good ration for ducks is composed of four parts cornmeal, two parts wheat bran, one part low-grade flour, one-quarter part fine grit. During the winter they can be well taken care of by feeding six parts cornmeal and five parts wheat bran, and one part low-grade flour. To this should be added a small portion of beef scraps.

There should always be on hand a liberal quantity of grit and oyster shell. A good supply of green food is necessary at all times. In feeding the mash the ducks should be given all they will eat up twice a day.

A simple ration for goslings is composed of equal parts of cornmeal, wheat bran, ground oats and table scraps. For geese one ration is equal parts of cornmeal, wheat bran and ground oats. Green food should be supplied in abundance. During winter time four parts of steamed clover should be added to the ration.

One of the necessities in the feeding of ducks is to give them plenty of drinking water. This is particularly true at feeding time, as you will notice if you will watch a duck eat a small quantity of food and then go to the water trough, return to the food and go back to the water again, keeping this up till it has had its fill.

Young guinea fowl should be fed a mash on the following order: Very fine oatmeal, two parts; finely-cracked corn, two parts; rape seed, one part; very small particles of cooked meat or finely-chopped hard-boiled eggs, one part.

Guineas for the market should be fattened with milk curds, steamed hulled oats and warm mash, or equal parts of ground oats, barley meal and table scraps.

Many raisers of poultry will be surprised to know that there is an ever-increasing demand for guineas. High-class hotels, restaurants and clubs, as well as private families, are using more. They are a substitute for game birds. The meat of the old guineas is tough, but that of the guinea a few months old is tender and delicious.

Guinea fowls are hard to confine, but they do little damage when allowed to run free. They do not dig up the garden as do the chickens, but walk quietly through the rows, picking up bugs here and there. If yarded, plenty of brush should be placed in the yard, because the guineas have a habit of building nests in secret places. She will usually lay more eggs than she can cover, and therefore some of them must be taken away. Some raisers of guineas declare that the eggs should be removed with a wooden spoon, because the hen can tell, they say, if human fingers have touched the eggs, and she will abandon the nest.

In Fear of Tramps

Mr. P. Harding Roberts, clerk of the Holywell Board of Guardians, appeared before the Holywell magistrates and explained the scheme for relief stations for vagrants which had been adopted by the unions of North Wales. He asked the Bench to commit to prison any vagrants brought before them for begging, as there was now no necessity for any on the road to beg. One of the magistrates said many of the farmers in the country assisted these tramps because they were in fear of them.

CORPORAL PUNISHMENT

Teacher Must be a Psychologist to Know When to Apply it

Corporal punishment in schools is a subject which is brought into the public eye every so often. It is a topic with painful memories for most people and one which is heatedly discussed among the parents of school children, but the average grown-up still believes that corporal punishment is a good thing. Discretion should be used in the application of the rod, however, and it is in the lack of discretion among some school teachers where the system of corporal punishment is weak. There are children who can understand nothing quite so well as a "licking," but there are also children to whom a blow is a serious nervous shock. It is more or less a matter of temperament, which, despite the protests of the press agent, is not the exclusive possession of theatrical stars. The best school teacher must be more or less of a student of psychology and must be able to distinguish between "bad boys" and thoughtless ones.

It must be admitted that there are "bad boys." True, they generally turn out to be the best of men, but there are boys who need an occasional and sometimes frequent application of the cane or strap, whichever happens to be the favorite weapon of the teacher. To them it is an honor to be "licked," and they display their bruised hands with considerable pride. But to the nervous, sensitive child, corporal punishment does more harm than either the teacher or parent may imagine. It bruises the spirit more severely than the flesh. Such a child grows up timid and fearful, shrinking from expected blows before they are threatened.

It is rather a pity that school teachers are not better paid. If they are worth anything at all, they are worth at least double what they receive at the present time. They hold almost supreme power over the children in their classes; it is to them that the rising generation looks for guidance and knowledge, yet they receive what is hardly better than a pittance.—Vancouver Sunset.

CURE FOR SEASICKNES.

Important Discovery is Attributed to Dr. Fischer

Dr. Joseph Fischer, the well known heart specialist of Nauheim, in a Munich medical weekly claims to have discovered method whereby ocean voyages will lose their horrors. According to his reports as the result of extensive experiments with sea sick passengers he found that an injection of atropin completely cured the worst cases. During a trip to New York Dr. Fischer made experiments on the way across the ocean to endeavor if possible to determine what sea sickness is and what causes it. He found that an injection of physostigmine produced the exact clinical symptoms of sea sickness, and that this was caused by an irritation of the vagus nerve. He then discovered that an injection of atropin paralyzed this artificial mal de mer. He immediately began experimenting with atropin in real sea sickness, with excellent results in the wost cases. Dr. Fischer says atropin is not dangerous, and has no ill-effects.

Sold as Black Fox by Some Cheap Fur Dealers

The numerous disappearances of black cats in Great Britain reported to the police, have moved the Royal Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals to activity in the direction of protecting the pussies. It appears that the black cat is stolen for its fur, which is particularly valuable just now. The hunt seems to be very keen, as pussy vanishes from the doorstep in the daytime and never reappears. A firm in London, England, who have a large general fur business stated that there was a great demand for the fur of black cats, especially of the glossy well-fed type. The fur was extensively sold as "black fox" by the cheaper fur dealers. The sight of a large, sleek black cat sunning itself within reach on a window sill is one to arouse the worst instincts of any fur dealer. Cats, said this dealer, would never displace rabbits as universal providers of the raw material for cheap, imitation furs, but no black cat was safe whilst black fox continued to be fashionable.

ON HAPPINESS

It is undeniable that the great quest of humanity is happiness.

But was the world created to be happy? How many are truly happy? I've studied people in all classes and conditions, and everywhere I have found, when you get below the surface, that it is mostly the insincere individual who says, "I am happy." Nearly everybody wants something he hasn't got, and as things are constructed, what he wants is money—more money than he has in his pocket.

But after all, money can buy only a few things. Why should anyone envy the captains of industry? Their lives are made up of those vast, incessant worries from which the average individual is happily spared. Worry, worry, that is the evil of life.

What do I consider the nearest approximation to happiness of which the present human nature is capable? Why, living on a farm which is one's own, far from the hectic, artificial conditions of the city—a farm where one gets directly from one's own soil what one needs to sustain life, with a garden in front and a healthy, normal family to contribute those small domestic joys which relieve a man from business strain.—Thomas A. Edison.

HELEN ARMSTRONG

This little five-year-old girl gets a nice, thick pay-envelope every week for playing child parts before the moving picture film. She plays with her doll, mauls a big dog or whispers to her mother in such a natural and unaffected way that she is in great demand. All patrons of the "movie" shows have seen her very often.

The Canny Scot

Sir Thomas Lipton, having made his fortune out of tea, tells some good stories about the beverage. One of them, illustrating the "canniness" of the Scot, is as follows:

An old farmer of Dumfries-shire was the guest of a fine lady in that country. When the afternoon tea was served the hostess observed that the old man gulped down his before she could serve the other guests. Again and again the farmer passed his cup to be refilled. At the ninth cup the lady, becoming uneasy as to the supply on hand, ventured to ask:

"How many cups of tea do you take, John?"

"How many do ye gie?" asked John warily.

Dog Buys His Own License

With an envelope containing a note and a half-sovereign attached to its collar, a fox terrier called at Prince's Avenue Post Office, Hull, for its dog license. On the license being placed in the envelope, together with half a crown change, the dog trotted home.

BRITISH-CANADIAN

Do you desire to make large profits on your investment in Alberta Oil Shares?

If you do you must use good judgment in the selection of the companies in which you invest.

In order that you may use this good judgment it is absolutely necessary that you investigate and analyze a company thoroughly before placing your money in its shares.

In order that you may do this in the case of the British Canadian Oils, Ltd., we hereby give you the information we have secured through our rigid investigation and analysis of said company, and in giving this information we would say that we believe it is correct in every detail.

(1) The British Canadian Oils, Ltd., is incorporated for $1,000,000; 10,000,000 shares at the par value of 10c.

(2) About 500,000 shares of the stock have already been sold, and are now in the hands of the investing public.

(3) The Directors' and Officers' stock is all pooled.

(4) The Company is the holder of petroleum and natural gas leases on over 7,000 acres of land in the Province of Alberta.

(5) The Directors, Officers and Solicitors of the Company are all reliable and conscientious business men who have the welfare of the company at heart, and who desire in every manner in their power to give the public a square run for their money.

(6) The Company is now erecting on Section 31, Township 24, Range 4, an up-to-date combination rotary and standard rig.

(7) The Company expects to commence drilling inside of 3 days, and continue with all possible despatch.

(8) The Company has secured as Field Superintendent a man who knows his business thoroughly.

(9) The said Superintendent has engaged competent drillers to carry out his instructions.
(10) The treasury of the Company is now well financed.

(11) A reputable local geologist in reporting on adjoining property makes the following statement in said report:

"There is a plunging tendency in the crest of the anticline which causes its crest to sink toward the Elbow river. The crest of this dome-shaped structure seems to be in the neighborhood of Section 31, of Township 24, and Section 6 of Township 25."

(12) A reputable petroleum engineer in reply to an enquiry from us, stated that the lease held by the British Canadian Oils, Ltd., in Section 31, is situated on the most perfect anticline he has seen in Western Alberta.

(13) British Canadian shares are listed on the three Calgary exchanges, and are very active traders.

(14) The price of British Canadian shares is very low at the present time; we expect to see it go much higher.

In view of the above information secured by us, we have no hesitation whatever in advising you to at once buy the shares of the British Canadian Oils, Limited, at 15c per share, believing that you will get a square run for your money, and big profits on your investment.

We are prepared to fill your orders for British Canadian shares at 15c each, but this price is subject to raise without notice. Any new strike in the oil field, or any other exciting report might send this stock to a very high price. We would suggest that you wire us at our expense and let your remittance follow, or if you prefer, write us and enclose your remittance.

Our market letter giving information on the Alberta Oil Fields is free for the asking.

"Cambridge man is prepared to give lessons in idiomatic English to those who through lack of early opportunity are at a disadvantage in society."

The above advertisement in the "Agony column" of a London newspaper attracted a reporter's attention and he set out to investigate.

He found the advertiser ensconced in a tastefully-furnished little bachelor flat in the fashionable Kensington district of London. He is a young man, clean-shaven and well-groomed, and with the quiet air of easy self-assurance that is everywhere the accepted hall-mark of the world.

"Mind you," he said, in the course of a conversation, "I don't profess to be an authority on the English language. I only profess to teach my clients the particular brand of idiomatic English which is spoken at the present time in good society, the little subtleties of which vary from year to year and which can only be acquired by experience. And I not only teach them what to say; I teach them—and this is far more important—what not to say.

"Let me explain. I have as a client an agriculturist, who is an authority naturally, on that subject, but who knows absolutely nothing, we will say, about art. Very well. I tell him to [illegible] talk p[illegible] pictures, in general society. In the bosom of his family, of course, it is different. There he can air his views about Royal Academy art if he cares to do so. He is only making himself ridiculous to his wife and children, and possibly not even to them, since it is quite conceivable, in fact, probable, that they know as little about the Royal Academy as he does.

"Mostly my clients are men who have knocked about the world, and 'made their bit' in the process, and who realize that there is a certain advantage accruing to them in being able to translate what is usually a varied and interesting experience of life into good idiomatic English, such as one hears across the dining-table say, of an educated household.

"A little while back a man came to me who had begun life as a navvy on the Canadian Pacific Railway, and had afterwards blossomed into a prize fighter, and finally into a full-fledged millionaire.

"At the beginning he had an accent that you could cut with a knife, his grammar was atrocious, his vocabulary strictly limited; he spluttered when he drank whisky, and sighed when he ate soup. In six weeks I had taught him sufficient to enable him to hold his own fairly well in any society. I had, indeed, if I may say so, revolutionized the man."

Our Point of View

The pact between England, Russia and France means "all for one and one for all." In other words it is a fight to a fine finish.

IF MEALS HIT BACK AND STOMACH SOURS

"Pape's Diapepsin" ends Indigestion, Gas, Dyspepsia and Stomach Misery in five minutes.

If what you just ate is souring on your stomach or lies like a lump of lead, refusing to digest, or you belch gas and eructate sour, undigested food, or have a feeling of dizziness, heartburn, fullness, nausea, bad taste in mouth and stomach headache, you can get blessed relief in five minutes.

Ask your pharmacist to show you the formula, plainly printed on these fifty-cent cases of Pape's Diapepsin, then you will understand why dyspeptic troubles of all kinds must go, and why they relieve sour, out-of-order stomachs or indigestion in five minutes. "Pape's Diapepsin" is harmless; tastes like candy, though each dose will digest and prepare for assimilation into the blood all the food you eat; besides, it makes you go to the table with a healthy appetite; but, what will please you most, is that you will feel that your stomach and intestines are clean and fresh, and you will not need to resort to laxatives or liver pills for biliousness or constipation.

This city will have many "Pape's Diapepsin" cranks, as some people will call them, but you will be enthusiastic about this splendid stomach preparation, too, if you ever take it for indigestion, gases, heartburn sourness, dyspepsia, or any stomach misery.

Get some now, this minute, and rid yourself of stomach trouble and indigestion in five minutes.

American Railways Set Forth Principles.

The American Electric Railway Association will make a distinct departure when at its annual Convention to be held in Atlantic City October 12th to 16th a Committee consisting of some of the strongest men in the electric railway field will present for consideration a Platform of Principles embracing what the Committee believes to be a statement of the relations that should exist between public utilities and the public.

Public Relations is the all important topic in public utilities' affairs at this time. Drastic measures aimed at public utility corporations have made it of the greatest importance to operators and investors alike that in the readjustment that is now going on all along the line the case of the utility should be properly presented to the people of the country, and the American Electric Railway Association has come to the conclusion that the first step in such a campaign should be the adoption of a platform which will embody what it believes to be fundamentals underlying any effective readjustment of the relations existing between the utilities and the public.

This is but one of the many important matters that will be taken up at the coming Convention. The Association represents practically every important electric railway on the North American Continent and a very large number in South America. An attendance of between four and five thousand railway men is expected at Atlantic City and in spite of the depressed business conditions the exhibit of electric Railway appliances and apparatus will cover over 70,000 square feet of floor space on Young's Million Dollar Pier. The Association consists of a parent organization and four allied bodies covering the Engineering, Accounting, Claims and Transportation departments of railways, so that during the five days of the meeting there will be five conventions in continuous session and over 70 committees will report.

The parent Association which devotes its attention largely to questions of policy will consider a number of matters of great importance to the industry at the present day and will listen to addresses from a number of prominent men including F. W. Stevens, former Chairman of of the Second District, Public Service Commission, New York State; Calvert Townley, Chairman of the Board of Directors, Lackawana and Wyoming Valley Rapid Transit Company; H. A. Bullock, Secretary, New York Municipal Railway Corporation, who will talk on Workmen's Compensation Laws, and R. B. Stearns, Vice-President of The Milwaukee Electric Railway and Light Company, who will describe the experiment now being conducted in that city with the zone system of railway fares.

This is the system in general is used in European countries instead of the flat-rate system common to the United States. Milwaukee is the first city where it has ever been carried out on anything like an extensive scale and railway men are watching the experiment with the closest interest, as a possible remedy for conditions arising in this country from the expansion of the cities, the corresponding growth in the length of the haul, and the consequent cutting down of the per passenger revenue, which it is believed has had much to do with the present depression in railway extension. A falling off in new construction in electric railways is giving railway men much food for thought and the causes are being sought for in various directions, some of the financiers believing that the tendency of regulating bodies in the restriction of earnings being the fundamental reason for the marked decrease.

H. C. Donecker, Assistant General Manager, Public Service Railway Company, Newark, N.J., is also on the program for an address on "The Organization and Functions of a Valuation Staff."

Among other important matters to be considered in the report of the Joint Committee on the Joint Use of Poles which has now been working for two years in the drafting of an agreement and a set of specifications which it is hoped will be adopted by pole users in the cities throughout the country and which, if adopted, will very largely reduce the number of unsightly obstructions in the city streets.

The Convention is one of the largest held in the United States during the year, and is the event of the railway men's year.

OIL THE GREAT WEALTHMAKER

We hold over 3,000 acres, more or less, of oil leases North and South of Monarch and several of our leases are in the same range as the Monarch well.

Many companies claim to be close to Monarch but we are one of the very few who are in Range Six upon which the Monarch Well is situated. Therefore, we must be on the same anti-cline and as it is a foregone conclusion Monarch will get oil, so will we.

Fifty-Seven Feet of Oil Bearing Sands Passed Through in Monarch Well

OFFICIAL STATEMENT IS GIVEN OUT BY PRESIDENT GEORGESON—WELL IS NOW DOWN OVER 1,800 FEET AND FLOW OF WET GAS HAS BEEN STRUCK IN LOWER LEVELS—GEOLOGIST DUNN IS AWAY AT PRESENT

Heavy oil showings are being found in the Monarch well, west of Olds, although the oil has not yet come in in commercial quantities.

To put the exact facts before the public, President William Georgeson and Treasurer G. W. Morfitt, of the company, this morning issued an official statement from the drillers setting forth the results.

The heaviest oil seepage has been encountered through a stratum 57 feet thick, and the well is now 1850 feet deep.

A sample of this oil baled out at 1,775 feet was brought to the city this morning and is in the office of Mr. Morfitt, Grain Exchange Building. The oil is a heavy black petroleum with the characteristic petroleum odor.

The statement issued by the officers is as follows:

In the absence of Mr. Dunn, Mr. Van Alst, the head driller, reports that from the depth of 1,775 feet to 1,832 feet he went through oil bearing sands for 57 feet. Throughout there was a heavy showing of black oil in the baler. Two further showing of black wet gas were met at 1,805 feet and 1,915 feet.

The well is now down 1,850 feet. Wet gas has shown at 633 feet, 1,430 feet, 1,805 feet and 1,815 feet.

Oil sands have shown at 868 feet, (48 feet), 1,430 feet (40 feet), 1,740 feet (14 feet), and 1,775 feet (57 feet).

The well is now down 1,850 feet, and while there are good oil showings there is not as yet oil in commercial quantities.

Our stock is on the market at 50 cents a share, a Dollar par, and will be advanced without notice any day pending Monarch Well developments. It is practically a certainty that Monarch will be in oil in commercial quantities within two weeks, Our stock will jump away above par and you had better hurry if you wish to share our prosperity.

Canada's Laughing Philosopher

COLONEL G. H. HAM'S MILITARY RECORD.

In 1866 and 1870, saw active service during Fenian Raids, and received medal for merit.

In 1885, acted as correspondent for the Toronto Mail and St. Paul Pioneer Press during the Riel Rebellion. With General Middleton at Fish Creek, and was on the steamer Northwest at Batouche when she ran the blockade of rebel fire.

In 1914 appointed by the Minister of Militia at Ottawa Honorary Lieutenant-Colonel attached to the Department of Intelligence.

NATIVITY.

Col. Ham is descended from U. E. L. stock. His forefathers fought in the American Revolutionary War, 1776. He was born at [illegible], Ont., August 23, 1847.

PUBLICATIONS.

"The New West" (1884)—A historical review.

"The Flitting of the Gods" (1906)—A most exquisite piece of imaginative humor.

By J. D. LOGAN, Ph.D.

Author of "The Religious Function of Comedy," Etc., Etc.

Genius has both a convex and concave [illegible] the obvious [illegible] being, and, [illegible] the gift of [illegible] the [illegible] but that which is due to [illegible] of the relations of finite [illegible] to the infinite [illegible] and of [illegible] in a world where the parts must not conceive themselves to be greater than the whole.

Practically, humorists may be divided into two classes, those who laugh at the universe and those who laugh for it. The first are the so-called "funny men" or the cheerful cynics; the second are those who, with the same sort of vision possessed by Sophocles and Shakespeare, see life steadily and see it whole. Mark Twain belonged to the latter class; and to this class, when he employs seriously his gifts of creating laughter, belongs Lt.-Col. George H. Ham, for the last quarter century publicist for the Canadian Pacific.

A Classical Title.

The present writer has signalized the concave or inner side of Col. Ham's genius by a summary descriptive title to the real man, namely, "Canada's Laughing Philosopher." In ancient days Democritus was popularly known as "The Laughing Philosopher"; but Democritus was a materialist and his was laughter at the universe—at the emptiness and futility of existence. Why weep, he asked, over life when it is all a vain show, and when, in the end, we perish as the grass of the fields? Smile, laugh,—eat, drink, and be merry. On the other hand, Col. Ham is an idealist, and his is laughter for the human race. It is laughter with a philosophy of faith and hope and love as its source and end, because Col. Ham perceives that despite sorrow, misfortune, defeat, and even death, men and women can make themselves at home in the world and essentially enjoy their sojourn on earth by affirming in thought and conduct that human misfortune and evil are but dissonances which are somehow resolved in an ultimate divine harmony. It is because the genuine—the philosophical—humorist takes, either consciously or unconsciously, this attitude to himself to life, to the universe that he is the most serious of men, even more so than the conventionally serious man or the religious ascetic.

Function of Humor

"That's me," the present writer once overheard Col. Ham say in his colloquial way to a friend who wanted him to speak at a public function, "that's me. I'm always for forlorn meetings. Well, I'll be there with the sunshine." In short, Col. Ham has a definitely realized theory of the function of humor and of his mission in the world. "I spread the gospel of good cheer, despite the caprice in the universe," he said to the present writer, "in order that men and women may love and enjoy life and do so abundantly. Even if it should happen to prove in the end that death ends all, men can make themselves at home on earth by thinking evil away and, like Robert Louis Stevenson, setting about to get happiness, in Satan's despite, out of existence."

Discerning the Real Man.

It is by virtue of Col. Ham's philosophical observations such as the preceding, uttered casually but with conviction, and by virtue of his equally casual expression of his serious views on the persistent problems of life and death, that one divines the mind and heart of the real man behind the mask of the humorist,—the philosopher behind the infectious laughter with which he has made men love their enemies, fostered faith and hope in mankind, and brightened or enlivened existence for thousands of human beings. Will not the practical philosophy of such a versatile man as Col. Ham, who has been a patriot-soldier, war correspondent, civic officer, journalist, publicist, traveller and speaker at public functions, be of great value to all who wish to see life, as he sees it, steadily and whole? Following are some of his reasoned views on the serious phases or problems of existence.

Love, Sorrow and Death.

It was Kipling who invented the poetical phrase "The cruelty of love." Lovers are truly blind because under the first emotion of the passion of love and the colored existence it creates for the heart and imagination, they do not realize that lovers eventually become husbands and wives and later fathers and mothers; and that these relations inevitably bring disillusionment, disappointment, and a train of troublesome burdens and sorrow, misfortune, defeat, and even a train of pleasures and joys. But it increases the over-balance of human ills in the world. Love, in short, is cruel. Yet it is essentially only those men and women who have the comic vision of existence that declare it is better to have loved and sorrowed and lived and lost than not to have loved at all.

"Suppose," said Col. Ham to the present writer, "suppose that a young brakeman marries a sweet girl, and that after their honeymoon has ended, he takes up his routine work. One morning he bids her good-by, and takes his place on his train. Stealing a ride on the same train is a hobo. A wreck occurs. The young brakeman is killed and the dirty, good-for-nothing, vicious hobo escapes. How can one justify such caprice in God's universe? According to our view of God's economy the hobo should have had his existence ended, and the brakeman should have escaped. It is this malign sportiveness in the universe that does more than anything else to destroy men's belief in God.

Tragic View is Narrow.

"Now," continued Colonel Ham, "it has not destroyed my belief in the existence of the Deity. In a million million years, what is the signifance of our existence? We can imagine the worm when trodden upon and killed saying in its dying agonies, 'Ah, there is no God.' Well, from the point of view of eternity, love, sorrow, defeat and death are but drops of experience in the great ocean of experience since the universe began. The intense tragic point of view is too human and personal. Man's few days and the vicissitudes of his life are, under the tragic vision, raised to an importance which they do not deserve. But the genuine comic vision places man and his virtues and follies against a background of eternal reality; clarifies man's vision of his place and part in God's economy, and thus effects in him sanity and peace. The laughter of the genuine, the philosophical, humorist, is pure laughter of the spirit. Ours is a Show world, and behind it all there is a beneficent Showman, and therefore the genuine humorist laughs with those who laugh and weeps with those who weep because, unless there were evil in the universe, he would not perceive that there must be also a resolving divine harmony."

Spiritualism, Telepathy.

Col. Ham has positive philosophical views on spiritualism, telepathy, occult affinities and repulsions. In his view some dreams do come true, but his belief in this is thoroughly scientific. That is to say, in his experience the number of dreams that have had fulfilment in fact has been so great that Col. Ham is compelled to believe that the universe is spiritual through and through, and that "spirit with spirit can meet"—though separated by space and time. In other words, like a scientist, he makes an induction from many like instances of a phenomenon.

LT.-COL. GEORGE H. HAM.

A veracious and characteristic portrait, reproduced from a recent art photograph.

To the present writer he cited several instances of telepathic influence. One kind is especially interesting. Col. Ham declares that frequently he has suddenly thought of friends long absent, and far away, or that he would dream of receiving a letter from them, and, sure enough, when he arrived at his office there was a letter awaiting him from the very persons he had thought of. "This phenomenon has occurred so often in my experience," he says, "that inductively I conclude that there are spiritual influences all around us, and that they can communicate mysteriously with us. I do not, however, believe in spirit rappings, mediums and seances. These are fakes, pure and simple."

Affinities and Repulsions.

In a like manner Col. Ham believes that there are occult affinities and repulsions in the universe. "I have had letters from certain people whom I never saw," he said to the present writer, "and immediately some subtle spiritual influence moved me so that I knew that I would or would not like the persons if ever I met them. So indeed it has proved scores of times. At the moment of actual meeting I felt genuinely friendly or repelled. The great hidden soul of the universe had sent its occult message to me, and I found the message was real in fact."

Practical Morality.

Coming to problems of practical morality, Col. Ham's views of the vulgar sins of intemperance and profanity are interesting.

He has no faith in the comforting theory of the man who boasts that he can drink and leave it alone. "I have noted," says Col. Ham in one of his ingenious epigrams, "that the man who thus boasts of his powers with booze, usually doesn't leave it alone; he is with it always." (See several others of the epigrams under that head on this page.) He admits that for certain natures and temperaments drinking is an unmitigated evil—a deadly destroyer; and as to those who are destroying themselves in this way, he says that they must be treated just as men who are sick of a mortal ill. But he contends that most men are sane with their pleasures and social living, and that all right living, whether one takes a drink or does not, is a matter of horse-sense about one's ambitions and responsibilities.

As to the vulgar habit of profane swearing, Col. Ham holds to the "explosive theory," as it is called. "Profanity is on the increase to-day, not because men are less religious, but because the high pressure of modern life has created a nervous condition which tends to make men explode on the least provocation—and profanity is the escaping steam of pent up nervous energy and emotion." This theory has good psychological warrant.

As Banquet Speaker.

As a speaker at banquets and public occasions, Col. Ham has for many years been a "sine qua non." He is unequalled as a raconteur; all his stories or anecdotes have 'tang,'—the piquancy which evokes not only laughter but reflection on the deeper meaning of his humor or wit.

"Many, or indeed most, people believe," he said to the present writer, "that the function of a humorist at a banquet or public occasion is to dispense new jokes, witticisms and enlivening stories. As a matter of fact, the banquet speaker has no justification except in aiming higher. The pressure of life to-day demands, of course, relief. Banquets themselves help in this end; and while I do dispense jokes and anecdotes in my role as speaker at banquets and at like occasions, I aim most to create a feeling of good fellowship, to nourish tolerance, to foster faith in mankind, and to cause men to believe that, despite the caprice and vicissitudes of life, the good green earth is a pleasant place in which to sojourn. True men do go to banquets to hear a new joke or a clever new anecdote. Sometimes they do hear one; usually they do not; but, at any rate, they leave the banquet, after the speaker is done, affirming life to be worth while, even if it has its kinks and up-and-downs. It is the latter effect which justifies the banquet or public dinner speaker." This larger view of his function as a humanizing humorist, or dispenser of good—which is God's—cheer to his fellows is based on thoroughly sound philosophy.

If the present writer may be allowed to phrase his own formula, not for conventional, but for really socialized successful achievement in life (taking the human point of view), to every man it would be put thus: "Be unique in thought and deed."

Amongst Canadians of this day Lt.-Col. George H. Ham stands forth a man unique as a patriot, soldier, journalist, publicist and raconteur. "The greatest wit, unprinted and unbound, in North America," a writer in Collier's Weekly described him some years ago. And I, reverting to my borrowed Greek title for summarising his qualities, signalise his versatile genius under the formula: "Canada's Laughing Philosopher." For it was George H. Ham, as one has said, who brought laughter to Canada,—the sane, hopeful, happy, pure laughter of the spirit when the soul divines that time and its vicissitudes are merely passing, inconsequential ripples on the surface of universal experience.—J. D. L.

BIG STEEL CASTINGS FOR QUEBEC BRIDGE

Sixteen castings for the new Quebec Bridge are worthy of note because they are much larger than any steel castings previously made in Canada. The weight of each is about 43 tons. Each is 21 ft. x 6 ft., 8 in. x 4 ft. in dimensions. Owing to the intricate design of the interior of these castings necessitating a large number of cores the making of the moulds required a high degree of skill and accuracy. The material used in them is a high grade of steel, being scrap metal procured from the wreck of the old Quebec Bridge. They are bolted in pairs, two pairs to each concrete pier carrying the main columns of the bridge.

FORESTS AND NAVIGATION

It has been urged that in the interests of navigation the Dominion Government should purchase such denuded forest land in the Eastern Provinces as might be necessary to reforest in order to prevent floods and the filling up of streams with sediment. In this connection the report on the Trent Watershed Survey, published by the Commission of Conservation, is of considerable interest. In this region of Ontario, as a result of fires, [illegible] acres are practically a desert and the report urges a policy of forest conservation under Dominion [illegible] or municipal control [illegible] the usefulness of the [illegible] Valley canal, [illegible] invested. [illegible] which with [illegible] Government [illegible] to produce valuable forests [illegible]

In Canada [illegible] low-water stages have been [illegible] prevented by the timely action of the Dominion Government in setting aside as forest reserves the wooded slopes where the great rivers of the interior of the Dominion have their origin. On the east slope of the Rocky Mountains over 20,896 square miles of non-agricultural land have been thus reserved, for the double purpose of regulating the run-off and of providing a perpetual supply of timber to meet the ever-increasing needs of the prairie settlers. In the Railway Belt in British Columbia smaller reserves have also been set aside, chiefly for the purpose of maintaining a steady flow in the streams on which the fruit-growing industry is absolutely dependent.

New Head of Forest Laboratories

Mr. John S. Bates recently appointed Superintendent of the Dominion Forest Products Laboratories in connection with McGill University, was born at Woodstock, Ont., and is a graduate of Acadia University in arts and science. After leaving Acadia he went to Columbia University, New York, and graduated in chemical engineering, specializing in pulp and paper. He made a study of the utilization of Southern pine waste while at Columbia, and after the conclusion of a brilliant course there had practical experience with several big paper and chemical companies.

Strength of Hickory

Hickory is the strongest Canadian wood. When properly seasoned a hickory column will support a weight of twelve tons per square inch cross-section, which is considerably more than what could be borne by a pillar of cast iron or steel of the same length and weight.

Whose honor to him was as brute
force to you,
Are you mad, bloody tyrant, or fool

With God's Holy Name ever glib on your lips,
You value Him less than your bay-

Professing allegiance to Christ as your Lord,
His Gospel of Peace is mocked by your sword.

With impious tongue you called God
your "Ally",
Then hellishly doomed vast thousands
to die,

You murder the Belgians to hew you a road

Your country's signed contracts are

MOTHER! IS CHILD'S STOMACH SOUR, SICK?

If tongue is coated or if cross, feverish, constipated give "California Syrup of Figs."

Don't scold your fretful, peevish child. See if tongue is coated; this is a sure sign its little stomach, liver and bowels are clogged with sour waste.

When listless, pale, feverish, full of cold, breath bad, throat sore, doesn't eat, sleep or act naturally, has stomach-ache, indigestion, diarrhoea, give a teaspoonful of "California Syrup of Figs," and in a few hours all the foul waste, the sour bile and fermenting food passes out of the bowels and you have a well and playful child again. Children love this harmless "fruit laxative," and mothers can rest easy after giving it, because it never fails to make their little "insides" clean and sweet.

Keep it handy, Mother! A little given today saves a sick child tomorrow, but get the genuine. Ask your druggist for a 50-cent bottle of "California Syrup of Figs," which has directions for babies, children of all ages and for grown-ups plainly on the bottle. Remember there are counterfeits sold here, so surely look and see that yours is made by the "California Fig Syrup Company." Hand back with contempt any other fig syrup.

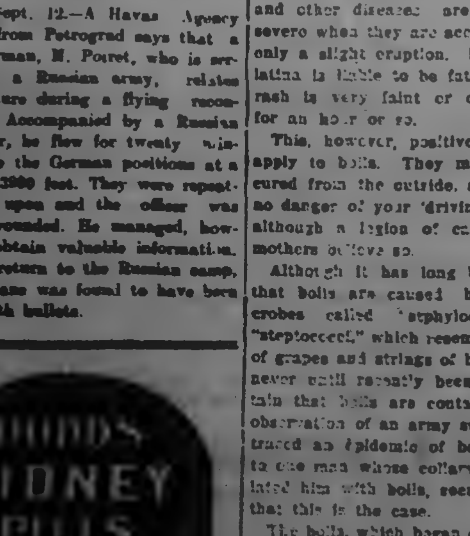
FLEW OVER GERMAN CAMP, WAS WOUNDED

Paris, Sept. 12.—A Havas Agency despatch from Petrograd says that a French airman, M. Poiret, who is serving with a Russian army, relates an adventure during a flying reconnaissance. Accompanied by a Russian staff officer, he flew for twenty minutes above the German positions at a height of 3900 feet. They were repeatedly fired upon and the officer was severely wounded. He managed, however, to obtain valuable information. Upon its return to the Russian camp, the aeroplane was found to have been riddled with bullets.



BOILS CONTAGIOUS

It is Possible Now to Avoid Them by Inoculation

Boils receive their name because it used to be believed that they were due to the blood becoming too hot and boiling over in different parts of the body.

"You must never cure a boil by outside applications," [illegible] lots of good people believe because, they say, it will "drive the poison in" and lead to some more serious trouble.

This mistaken idea has been widely fostered by the entirely correct observation that scarlet fever, measles and other diseases are often more severe when they are accompanied by only a slight eruption. Indeed, scarlatina is liable to be fatal when the rash is very faint or only present for an hour or so.

This, however, positively does not apply to boils. They may often be cured from the outside, and there is no danger of your "driving them in," although a legion of careful grandmothers believe so.

Although it has long been known that boils are caused by little microbes called "staphylococci" and "steptococci," which resemble bunches of grapes and strings of beads, it had never until recently been really certain that boils are contagious. The observation of an army surgeon, who traced an epidemic of boils directly to one man whose collars had inoculated him with boils, seems to prove that this is the case.

The boils, which began on his neck, infected the shirt bands and collars which he wore. When these were thrown into the wash with the linen of other men 82 per cent. of the men in that particular command fell ill with boils.

No one who has to mingle with his fellow men can escape the danger of boils [illegible] never you go you will [illegible]

When you become infected don't buy a barrel of "blood purifier." Instead go to a physician and take the anti-boil inoculation, such as is now given to prevent boils.

And to avoid spreading the trouble to your friends take extra care to disinfect yourself with borax or some other disinfectant in addition to the frequent and free use of soap and water.

Granite in British Columbia

An important matter to Vancouver is the discovery on Texada Island, [illegible] miles from the city, of an inexhaustible ledge of mottled granite. Some of the stone was quarried experimentally, and the polished slabs used in the new Victoria Theatre. A $150,000 company leased the ledge from the Government to develop the quarry. During the past five years over $3,000,000 worth of marble was imported into Vancouver for interior work on new buildings. In the future most of the stone for such work will be quarried in British Columbia.

Automobile Stretcher

A bed which can be folded compactly when not in use has been invented for the transportation of invalids in automobiles.

RAILWAYS AND THE PEOPLE

Of the 89,313 shareholders of the Pennsylvania road 49 per cent. are women. The increase in the number of shareholders of the railways in the United States since 1904 has been 115 per cent. This shows the widespread degree of interest that is taken by the people themselves in the railways of the country. The Canadian Pacific has something like 65,000 shareholders scattered over the world. The management has never cared to give the number in each country; but it is known that in Germany, Belgium and France the majority of the shareholders reside. Hundreds of thrifty French peasants have invested their savings in the Canadian Pacific. Enquiries are sometimes made by humble people from the other side as to the general conditions of the company, wistful questioning with respect to the dividend and so forth. These are made for the most part by humble people, who have little acquaintance with business, but who, having a little money invested, are anxious when any sort of doubtful rumor reaches them.

BULLETS PHOTOGRAPHED

Astonishing Results Shown by Series of Wonderful Pictures

Moving pictures have unlimited possibilities, apparently, for the study of rapidly-moving objects. An apparatus capable of making pictures at the rate of 100,000 a second has been made. With it seventy-two pictures of a revolver bullet were taken while moving ten inches.

Pictures of a bullet passing through a stick of wood showed a curious condition. The bullet passed completely through the thin stick and was well on its way beyond before the wood showed any signs of distress.

Then some tiny splinters started out, following the bullet; the stick began to split, and after the bullet had proceeded some distance the stick suddenly fell to pieces.

No camera shutters are fast enough to take pictures at anything like this speed, so no shutter was used. Instead a series of electric sparks was flashed, the sparks following one another at the rate of 100,000 a second, each spark making a picture. The film was mounted on a wheel about three feet in circumference, and the wheel was revolved at the great speed of 9,000 revolutions a minute.

THE DIAMOND CENTRE

Amsterdam Employs Thousands of Cutters and Polishers of Gems

The diamond trade of Amsterdam is in the hands of seventy firms, employing more than 10,000 workmen. About 1,700 are cleavers and cutters, and 4,700 polishers, etc., the rest being engaged about the offices in other work.

These workmen are composed of five classes, in the following order, as to the amount of wages received. Cleavers, polishers, turners, cutters, and sawyers. Polishers and turners receive about the same wages. Certain cleavers get as much as $120 a week. From this maximum wages grade downwards through the other classes to $5 and $8 a week for sawyers.

It is the task of the cleaver to split diamonds. Cutters take off the rough sharp edges and corners and determine the general shape of the stone. Polishers polish the stone and make their facets. Turners turn the diamonds around in the apparatus that holds them, so that the facets may be made, each fine diamond having from fifty-eight to sixty-four facets. Sawyers saw stones which cannot be cloven, or which it is more profitable to saw. Sometimes a stone is cleft and the parts then sawed, but very small stones cannot be sawed.

The Amsterdam diamond workers maintain a compact organization for their protection. No one can learn the trade without the consent of this organization, and only children of workers or of jewelers are eligible to become pupils. The waiting list always contains thousands of names. As [illegible] thing pupils pay for [illegible] times as much as [illegible] payable in instal- [illegible] polishers and [illegible] school, th [illegible] $120 t

Does a logical presentation of a good investment interest you? Do you believe there is an oil in commercial quantities in Alberta? If you are alive to the situation you do. Then it will pay you to investigate our proposition and our holdings.

Please Read Carefully and Note!

THAT Oil authorities are agreed the Alberta Oil Field is of an anticlinal formation. It has been fairly accurately ascer-tained in what general direction these anticlines run. Geologist B. W. Dunn chose wisely in the selection of the now famous Monarch well. WINDSOR OILFIELDS, LIMITED, has holdings located close to the Monarch.

THAT Cunningham Craig, one of the world's most eminent geologists, selected the site of the Mowbray-Berkeley well. Stock in that company is not offered at any price. We possess acreage adjoining the Mowbray-Berkeley (Section 12, Township 23, Range 5, West of 5th). cf a strike is made at the Mowbray-Berkeley what will shares in our company be worth?

Our holdings consist of 1380 acres, carefully selected and judiciously spread over the entire oil field.

Douglas Fir

Douglas fir is the chief timber species in British Columbia, and is third in importance in Canada, deriving its name from David Douglas, who discovered it in 1827 and introduced it into the gardens of Europe. Its adaptability and rapid rate of growth led to its being largely planted as a forest tree in Germany, France, Denmark and England, and the Indians in British Columbia sell immense quantities of seeds to European dealers every year. A Danish plantation at the age of 29 years produced 87 cords of wood, equal to an annual production of three cords per acre, which is about three times the growth-rate of white pine on average soil in Canada. The wood of Douglas fir is also considerably stronger than white pine, and is valued highly for construction purposes because of its size, strength and comparative lightness.

District of Patricia

In the 157,400 square miles added to northern Ontario there is very little timber of any present value. Mr. J. B. Tyrrell, reporting on his trip through this new district of Patricia, says: "Most of the timber was small and much of it has been burned. . . . Larch or 'tamarack' is associated with white and black spruce to the northern limit of the district, but unfortunately most of the trees are dead."

Strength of Hickory

Hickory is the strongest Canadian wood. When properly seasoned a hickory column will support a weight of twelve tons per square inch cross-section, which is considerably more than what could be borne by a pillar of cast iron or steel of the same length and weight.

Pulp Mills in Canada

In the little country of Denmark there are 230 pulp or paper mills. In Canada, according to the latest available statistics of the Dominion Forestry Branch, there are only 48 pulp mills in actual operation. The Canadian mills are, however, many times larger than those in Denmark.

SYNOPSIS OF CANADIAN NORTH-WEST LAND REGULATIONS.

THE sole head of a family, or any male over 18 years old, may homestead a quarter-section of available Dominion land in Manitoba, Saskatchewan, or Alberta. Applicant must appear in person at the Dominion Lands Agency or Sub-Agency for the District. Entry by proxy may be made at any Dominion Lands Agency (but not Sub-Agency), on certain conditions.

Duties—Six months residence upon and cultivation of the land in each of three years. A homesteader may live within nine miles of his homestead on a farm of at least 80 acres, on certain conditions. A habitable house is required except where residence is performed in the vicinity.

In certain districts a homesteader in good standing may pre-empt a quarter section alongside his homestead. Price $3.00 per acre.

Duties—Six months residence in each of three years after earning homestead patent; also 50 acres extra cultivation. Pre-emption patent may be obtained as soon as homestead patent, on certain conditions.

A settler who has exhausted his homestead right may take a purchased homestead in certain districts. Price $3.00 per acre. Duties— Must reside six months in each of three years, cultivate 50 acres and erect a house worth $300.

The area of cultivation is subject to reduction in case of rough, scrubby or stony land. Live stock may be substituted for cultivation under certain conditions.

MODERN METHODS OF SAVING TIME

Machinery Replaces Human Brains and Hands—Office Work Reduced to Minimum

Novelties in the line of devices to save time and trouble in offices have come out in great numbers recently.

A new adding machine has an adding capacity of 10,000,000 and a weight of 13½ pounds. It adds, subtracts, and multiplies. It has seven keys, and an error-correcting device.

Another adding machine has a "Mezzanine" attachment, a keyboard on runways above the regular keyboard, which is said to make easy the solution of involved arithmetical operations.

An electric calculating machine, automatic after the necessary key has been depressed, multiplies, divides, and subtracts with astonishing speed.

Another calculating machine computes pay rolls, total time, and total pay, based on wages per week, per day, or per year.

An addressing machine about the size and weight of a typewriter prepares an address on a metal plate almost as quickly as it could be written on paper with a typewriter.

A special paper for the stencil addressing machines can be placed in any typewriter and written on in the usual way. The striking of the type makes the necessary perforations in the paper, which can then be placed in an ordinary stencil addressing machine and invoices, wrappers, cards, and other matter can be addressed by the thousand in exact facsimile of typewriting.

Presses for baling waste paper effect great savings in offices and large buildings, as every scrap of waste paper is utilized and sold.

A new carbon paper has an uncarbonized strip five-eighths of an inch wide, running lengthwise on the surface edge. This obviates soiling the hands and the paper.

A check machine writes a word at a stroke, impressing the same in indelible characters in the body of the check. It is impossible to remove the letters to raise the amount.

A coin counter will count hundreds of coins in a few minutes and deposit them in tubular containers.

A coin-banding machine will deliver a given amount of change in any variety desired, from one cent to $200.

There are several new envelope-sealing machines with capacities for sealing from 1,000 to 10,000 per hour sealing from 1,000 to 10,000 per hour.

A compact machine has been devised which will sign five checks simultaneously in exact facsimile of the original.

A new stencil machine will cut the name and address of a customer, name of shipper, routing, and special marks in a material much like cardboard. It cuts from five-eighths to one inch high.

A new typewriter model has two sets of keys. The turn of a knob immediately gives a complete change of type. Many different fonts can be used.

CAUSE OF TIDES

Many people regard the rise and fall of the ocean as a profound and baffling mystery. The mystery is not very hard to understand. As all know, the surface of the ocean rises and falls twice in every lunar day, this rise appearing along a coast to be a horizontal motion—always ebbing or flowing.

Now the lunar day consists of about twenty-five hours. Thus, of course, the "time" of the tides varies each day. The tides, moreover, do not always rise to the same height. Every fortnight, with the new and full moon, they rise very much higher than at other times.

These high tides are called "spring" tides, the alternating low tides being termed "neap." When the moon is nearest the earth, the rise and fall of the ocean is markedly increased. Thus the spring tides are greatest at the equinoxes—that is, at the end of March and the end of September.

Yes, you say, but what has the moon to do with it at all? Surely it is the sun which attracts the earth.

That is so. But, although the sun's attraction on the earth is far greater than the moon's, the moon is so very much nearer to the earth that the difference between its attraction at the centre and on the surface is three times as great as the sun's. And it is this difference which causes tides.

Big Customer of Banks

City auditor Sterling of Toronto compiled figures to show that the municipality's transactions with the banks for one year totalled over forty millions of dollars.

The Call of the Far West

Less than a decade ago no white man dwelt where the flourishing city of Prince Rupert with its 6,000 inhabitants now stands and with the rapid increase in population resulting from the constant extension of the Grand Trunk Pacific lines the little hamlets which nestle near the steel are calling for men with small capital to take their share in the prosperity of the future.

Copper Jumps

"In The Land of Poco Tiempo"

THE SIGNIFICANCE of this is that people are coming to realize that "The Land of Afterwhile" is full of opportunity and that now—having been asleep for 300 years—it is awakening to the fact that somebody is going to make enormous sums of money down there, right away!

How About YOU?

So long as copper was simply a by-product of a few mines—a plaything for the Indians—nobody took New Mexico Copper Mining very seriously—but

AS LIGHT AS LAGER
BUT BETTER FOR YOU

You wash dishes about two hours every day.
That's one hour wasted!

Dishes get dirty, greasy and sticky and soap will not clean them. Soapy dish water merely cleans the surface; it doesn't dig into the corners and drive out the decayed food particles.

Gold Dust is the sanitary dish washer. It not only cleans the surface, but digs deep after hidden particles of dirt and kills the germs of decayed food which ordinary dish-water overlooks. Gold Dust sterilizes as well as cleanses.

Besides doing the work better than soap or any other cleanser can, Gold Dust will save just half the time you spend in washing dishes.

Gold Dust is sold in 5c size and large packages. The large package means greater economy.

How People Feel
When They Have
Tape Worm

Tape worm is bred from a parasite. This parasite is a creature male and female in one. It is a pear shape, having two, four and six suckers. It lays the eggs, which are only connected together with slime. They develop and form a body, which is the worm. Each joint is an individual, having a sucker or mouth. The worm grows to be much longer than the bowels where it is located, and sometimes a whole colony of them are found, enough to fill a quart of solid worm, and when put in a bucket of water would apparently fill it. It is the hardest task in the world to destroy this parasite without doing injury to the individual who may be so unfortunate as to have it, as the parasite clings to the bowels, freeing itself from the body of the worm, and remains there to breed another. It is an internal demon and causes its victims to suffer all the symptoms of disease imaginable. The cleverest physicians are led to believe the patient is suffering from some other disease, as nearly every person has different symptoms. Some have been treated for cancer of the bowels, consumption of the bowels, consumption of the lungs, chronic dyspepsia, nervous prostration, melancholia, hypochondria, hysteria, inflammation of the bowels, appendicitis and other complaints, when one or more of these internal demons were eating their lives away.

Prof. Mulveney has made the discovery to free the victim of this monster without injury to the system, destroying the parasite as well as expelling the worm with one dose of medicine without any previous starvation. Visit his office, where he has in his possession the most wonderful collection of these death-dealing monsters in the world, which have been expelled from hundreds of people by his famous remedy, some bottles containing colonies of worms and anyone seeing them cannot imagine how a person could possibly live with them in his bowels. It is surprising the number of people that have them. Thousands have them and are not aware of the fact. The letters and testimonials the Professor has in his possession are enough to convince one of this alarming fact. Some of the most prominent symptoms are: ravenous appetite, dizzy spells, headaches, cramps in the bowels, a feeling of something moving in the bowels, also a feeling as though something was crawling up the throat. The only certainty of having one in the system is when segments or joints are seen, which come away almost any time. They are flat and from ¼ of an inch to 1 inch long, which have often been mistaken for pin worms by those who do not know the difference. There are many other feelings of distress which would take long to enumerate. Strange to say, some people of strong constitution, have very little distress.

Prof. Mulveney's world-famous Tape Worm Exterminator is safe, sure and harmless. No starvation, no danger, is not disagreeable to take. One dose nearly always affects a cure. Further information free. Send stamped envelope, telephone Parkdale 4830 or call at 167 Dundas street, Toronto. Open from 8 a.m. to 10 p.m. daily.

TWO PROVINCES

Prince Edward Island and British Columbia in Interesting Contrast

A contrast between conditions in Prince Edward Island and British Columbia formed the substance of an address delivered by Mr. C. C. James, who prefaced his speech by saying that ministers, teachers in schools, lawyers and doctors should know more about rural subjects as their daily work brought them in close contact with people whose lives were spent in agricultural pursuits. Business men should study the subject because so many business problems led straight back to the question of rural production. Political leaders needed the knowledge, because most of the important national questions dealt with rural affairs. And the people generally should know why we were buying beef from Australia, eggs from the United States and butter from New Zealand. These were the subjects that concerned every consumer. He limited his remarks to a study of the differences of soil, climate, people and production in Prince Edward Island and British Columbia. The area of the Island Province was 1,400,000 acres; that of British Columbia was 266,000,000 acres. The population of the former was 93,000, of which 84 per cent. were dependent on rural pursuits. The population of British Columbia was 392,000, of which 48 per cent. depended on agriculture for a livelihood.

Prince Edward Island

Up to the present the people of Prince Edward Island had been depending solely on their farms for production. All the land was occupied. There were no Crown Lands and no forests. Hitherto agricultural production had consisted mainly of hay, oats and potatoes. A movement had been started to enlarge the dairy interests, fruit growing and poultry raising. A re-organizing of agricultural methods was taking place. The agricultural activity in Prince Edward Island was probably the greatest of any Province in Canada. In addition to farms, furs and fish were receiving attention. The black fox industry was one of great import in Canadian development. Over 200 companies had been organized for the breeding of wild animals for furs; black foxes, mink, racoon, and now Persian lamb was being added to the list. While there was some speculation, there was really sound investment in the industry. The black foxes alone were worth more than all the other live stock on the farms of the island. This industry was meeting an increased demand in the world's markets. The development of the fishing industry would add greatly to the wealth of the island. This referred principally to the cultivation of oyster beds. The Malpeque was the finest flavored oyster in the world, and the development of this industry was under direct Government supervision.

British Columbia

The problem in British Columbia was quite different. Hitherto forests, mines and fisheries had been the chief sources of wealth in the Province, said Mr. James. It had provided only a small fraction of the food required for consumption in the Province. Farm produce had been limited to fruits and dairy products. A change was now taking place. The railroads under construction were opening up in central and northern British Columbia, immense areas of farm lands quite different from the lands of southern British Columbia. The valleys were wide and open, and presented conditions that were ideal for raising live stock, while the prairie country of the Peace River section, penetrated far into the Province. He expected that in future grain growing, dairying and live stock production would add to the wealth of the Province and of the Dominion. A notable feature of the people of the Province was their activity and daring enterprise. It was a big Province with big resources, whatever the people undertook was carried out on a big scale. The Provincial scheme of highways was the most extensive and expensive of any in Canada.

Minimum Wage For Women

A ruling by the Oregon welfare commission prescribes a minimum wage of $8.25 a week for all women employed in industrial occupations in the State of Oregon, and fixes fifty-four hours as the maximum they may be employed in any one week.

Increase in Average Pay

The average pay of every man, woman and child in the United States who works for wages or a salary was $610 in 1913. In 1900 the average pay was only $479, and thirty years before that but $370.

There are employed in the gold mines of the Transvaal 24,334 whites and 295,438 natives, according to recent figures and aggregate wages paid annually is $68,231,784.

TRAINING ARMY HORSES

Severe Schooling Required Before They Are Ready For War

For Army purposes, in addition to learning certain things, a horse must also be accustomed gradually to carry heavy weights and to sustain considerable fatigue. When young horses are suddenly plunged into the work of actual warfare, without previous careful training, they are sure to die in great numbers. This was the case in South Africa.

The young Army horse will probably begin his training in the riding school, two of his first lessons being obedience to the reins and proper balance. He is put on to long reins and sent round in a circle from right to left, with his trainer in the middle. Afterwards he is made to go in the opposite direction, from left to right. With regard to balance, it is necessary to teach him to hold his head up, and to keep his limbs well under control, instead of sprawling carelessly about in the way natural to young animals.

Another lesson the young horse has to learn is that of pulling himself up briskly in answer to a light signal from the rein. The instructor walks behind his pupil with a rein in each hand, and at a light pressure on his mouth the horse learns to come to a halt. Jumping is the next step in his education, and he is taught this still on the long reins, sometimes with the help of an old charger, who will give him a lead over the obstacles. By this time the youngster should be obedient to the long reins, and so the time comes for him to be mounted for the first time by his instructor. A man is placed at either side of his head, and the instructor, standing at the horse's left side, jumps up so that he is lying, face downwards, across the saddle. This is probably done several times before the man actually mounts, so as to accustom the animal to the unwonted weight on his back. Then at last the trainer actually mounts, being particularly careful not to touch the young animal with his toe, as this would scare him and make him nervous. Amongst the many lessons yet remaining to be learned by the young horse is that of lying down with a man on his back. The rider throws his left stirrup across the withers. He gathers the reins and a handful of mane into his left hand drawing his horse's head to the right. Meanwhile, the man puts his weight on the horse's left side, grasping the back of the saddle with his right hand. As the horse sinks down the rider opens his legs and steps from his mount as the animal reaches the ground.

In actual battle it may be of the utmost importance that a horse shall remain where he is left, with the reins thrown over his head. To the end of the reins a sack is tied, and the horse is then left. If he moves forward, he treads on the sack, with the result that he gets a good hard jab in the mouth, which he does not forget, and in future, when left with the reins in that position, he is content to stand still until his rider's return.

Black-throated Loon

A black-throated loon was shot on Bridgeport dam, near Berlin, by Herman Wagner. The black-throated loon is a very rare visitor in inland waters of this latitude, its habitat being far north. It has a full purplish black forethroat, in distinction from the more common loon, which has a white streaked band around the coat. McIlwraith, in his "Birds of Ontario," speaks of only one loon of this variety which he saw amid ice floes in Hamilton Bay one spring, and of another as having been shot on Sandusky Bay in the fall of 1880. Mr. Wagner had his rare specimen mounted.

Long and Short of It

At the Wonder Zoo and Big Circus at Olympia, London, England, there are now to be seen the tallest and the shortest women in Europe. Marieiana, a Frieslander, sixteen years old, stands 7 feet high and weighs 294 pounds, and Asra, from Central Mexico, is eighteen years old, stands 26 inches high, and weighs 13 pounds.

Before the late Lord Falmouth took to running horses in his own name he raced under the assumed name of "Mr. T. Valentine," and his colors in 1860 were the same as those subsequently carried for his Lordship by so many classic winners, "black, white sleeves, red cap." The late Mr. Edmund Tattersall in the "seventies" raced under the assumed name of Mr. Somerville; "Mr. Acton," was the assumed name of Baron Lionel de Rothschild, and many other instances could be cited.

The practice of using assumed names was doubtless open to abuse, but as the names had to be registered at Messrs. Weatherby's, the Jockey Club were fully aware of the identity of every person using one.

"CATARRHOZONE" PREVENTS BAD COLDS STRENGTHENS WEAK IRRITABLE THROATS

Employs Nature's own Methods and is Invariably Successful.

Few will escape a cold this winter, but alas! many colds run into Catarrh.

Neglected Catarrh is the straight gateway to consumption.

Catarrhozone is a germ-killer—destroys microbes that cause Catarrh.

It heals and soothes, relieves the cough, gives throat and lungs a chance, cleanses the nostrils, clears out the phlegm.

You feel better in an hour.

In a day you're greatly relieved, and on goes the curing of Catarrhozone till you're well.

No treatment so direct. Catarrhozone goes right to the spot—acts quickly, cures thoroughly catarrh, bronchitis and all throat affections.

"Nothing could kill a cold so fast as Catarrhozone," writes Amey E. Snelling, from St. Johns. "Last month I had a frightful cold in my head, suffered from itching nose, running eyes and torturing headache. Ten minutes with "Catarrhozone" inhaler gave relief and in one hour I was well of my cold. Catarrhozone I consider a marvel."

Carry "Catarrhozone" inhaler in your pocket or purse—take it to church—to the theatre—to work—use it in bed. It prevents and cures all manner of nose and throat troubles. Complete outfit, guaranteed $1.00; small size 50c.; sample size 25c.; at dealers everywhere.

CITY AND DISTRICT

DASHES HERE AND THERE BY TIMES REPORTERS.

Bankers Win Mercantile League.

The Bankers are Mercantile League champions. They settled the argument Saturday, when they beat the Drafting Room team 6 to 2, in an interesting game.

Lindsay's Traffic By-Law

Lindsay has a traffic by-law which is being very well enforced although one clause is not rigidly adhered to, namely the clause which specifies that a vehicle of any kind must not remain any longer than one hour in one spot while on the main street.—Warder.

Lindsay Station Destroyed by Fire.

The Grand Trunk Railway Station was destroyed by fire yesterday afternoon. Just how the fire originated is not yet known. The passenger station is a complete wreck, but the freight sheds are uninjured.

North West Crops.

Mr. J. C. Shook has returned from Regina, Sask., where he attended the wedding of his son, described in a former issue of the Times. Mr. Shook visited Calgary. He says that the Western wheat crop in Northern and Central Alberta, and Manitoba was good. In other localities of the North West the drought interfered materially with crop development.

Lacrosse Tomorrow.

There will be doings at Riverside Park tomorrow afternoon, when Marmora and Weston will meet in a sudden death semi-final Ontario Lacrosse Association game. Both towns are running excursions to Peterboro and there promises to be all kinds of excitement.

Yesterday's Police Court.

At yesterday's Police Court, Chas. Ambrey was charged with having been found drunk. Magistrate Rush remarked, as the prisoner pleaded guilty, "I guess we'll give you a $2 fine or 20 days in jail. That's the best we can do this morning."

Yesterday was evidently bargain day. Robert Ayers, not present, made a plea of guilty to a similar offense; $2.

Young Woman Let Go.

At yesterday's police court a young woman, the adopted daughter of a man living in the country was charged with vagrancy. The Magistrate remarked, "I'm very sorry to see you here. I knew you when you were a decent little girl. Mr. Gordon asked that the girl be allowed to leave town. This was granted. Matron McIlheney took the girl to her own home and saw her off for Toronto.

A Long Needed Change.

Yesterday morning Mr. Thos. Irwin was busily engaged in taking measurements of the prisoners' dock in the local police station, in company with Chief of Police Thompson. It had been decided to put a wooden screen behind the dock to prevent the rail birds from "rubbering" at the prisoners. This front of the dock will be livened so that witnesses and the presiding magistrate can see the prisoners without the latter rising.

Old Times Racing News.

The Peterboro Times of thirty years ago says Mr. Ed. Brown's Fannie B. has been matched to trot against Mr. Hetherington's Brown Barber for $100 a side, the race to be mile heats, best three in five, and to take place on the Driving Park on Friday of the present week. On the 30th October another trotting race will take place at the same place between George Lipsett's Paddy and an unknown four-year-old.

A Merchants' Meeting.

A meeting of merchants will be held at the Y.M.C.A. tonight to discuss very important subjects of which the most important will be to inquire the reason for the extra high assessment in the places of business which will amount to about a third more taxes to be paid in 1915. Another important matter which is at present being considered by the City Council is the reduction of the present Transient Traders' License fee from $100.

Represents Y.M.C.A. at War.

Mr. John Pearson, of Haliburton, and formerly of Lindsay, was in town today. He left for Peterboro at noon to spend Sunday with his son, Mr. H. A. Pearson, who will accompany the overseas force to the seat of war. "Allie," as he is familiarly known, is a former member of the Post staff, and has been selected by the National Council of the Y. M. C. A. to represent that organization at the front. He is Associate Secretary of the West End Y.M.C.A., Toronto, and is a lieutenant in the 19th Regiment, St. Catharines.—Lindsay Post.

Attempt to Destroy Bridge.

At midnight on Saturday the guards at the overhead bridge in Cobourg were again attacked by unknown parties. Mr. Alex. Murray, who was on guard at the time, heard a rustle, challenged, and was answered by a revolver shot. He fired but missed the party who ran down the G.T.R. tracks, the guard firing at them again as they fled. There were fifteen shots exchanged. This is the third attempt made at this bridge where the C.P.R. crosses the G.T.R. tracks.

Painful Swelling Reduced Muscular Strains Ended

Such Troubles Now Quickly Rubbed Away by Powerful Remedy.

If you have any muscles that are strained and weak, that are frequently subject to rheumatic pains; if you have any painful swellings that refuse to go away—get busy with Nerviline. This is the very sort of trouble that Nerviline is noted for curing quickly. "I have proved Nerviline simply a wonder in reducing a hard, painful swelling. It followed an injury I received in my left leg and caused me great pain and discomfort. The muscles were strained and sore, and no other remedy gave the ease and comfort I got from rubbing on Nerviline. There is a soothing, pain-relieving power about Nerviline that touched the root of my trouble. Nerviline reduced the swelling, it destroyed the pain, it brought my limb back to perfect condition." The experience of Mr. Bowen, whose home is in Middlesex, is not unusual. Thousands are proving every day that muscular pains of every kind, chronic rheumatism, lumbago, neuralgia and sciatica will yield to Nerviline when nothing else can possibly cure. Nerviline is an old-time family pain remedy, used nearly forty years with great success. The large family size bottle costs 50c., trial size 25c., at all dealers.

Absent Minded Beggar.

One of the best samples of absentmindedness, for a story founded on absolute fact, was shown here yesterday morning. A gentleman living on Murray Street arose yesterday morning just as the breakfast bell rang. He climbed into his nether garments, rushed to the bath-room and washed. After putting away a goodly supply of tomato omelette and three cups of coffee, he started up to the bathroom. His wife enquired "Where are you going?" "Oh," he replied, "upstairs to shave." He turned on the hot water and carefully, for the second time in half an hour, washed his face and hands. After arriving at his office, he went out and spent 15 cents for a shave.

New Local Methodist Church

A meeting of the Board of Charlotte Street Methodist Church was held to decide upon the name of the new church and the date of the laying of the corner stone. The laying of the corner stone shall take place at 3.30 on Monday, the 21st, and the new building will be called Trinity Church. There will be present at the ceremony the Rev. Dr. Chown, the General Superintendent of the church, the Rev. Dr. Shorey and the Rev. Wm. Johnston. The ladies of the Parish are arranging a New England dinner on the evening of the day of the celebration.

A NEW PICTURE OF POPE BENEDICT XV.

Two features, both in full color, stand pre-eminent among the features in the Magazine Section of the NEW YORK HERALD for SUNDAY, SEPTEMBER 20. The first is a full page drawing by the noted Nadherny of Pope Benedict XV., the new ruler of 300,000,000 souls. In exquisite workmanship Nadherny has surpassed his splendid drawings of "The Fight for the Gun" and "Facing the Enemy," which have attracted nationwide attention. The new Pontiff is shown seated in the Papal chair and gowned in the Papal robes.

The second feature of unusual interest is a striking war map of France, printed in full color. The map shows the country as viewed from an altitude of considerable height, and five hundred towns, each of strategic importance in the present mighty combat, are shown. Accompanying the map are two rows of flags, printed also in color, which, when used with pins, provide means of following from day to day, the movements of the troops.

The second of the exclusive war sketches from the pen of Xavier Sager, the young French aide-de-camp, now with the allies, will also be presented. With a touch of humor, even in the midst of the most grim of situations, Sager has sketched the scenes and personalities which surround him in his daily life. In addition a full page of the very latest war photographs will be presented. Armies, battle scenes and photographs of prominent war leaders will be shown.

In a masterly article Richard G. Conover tells of the fighting qualities of the French soldier, reviewing his career from the earliest era down to the battle of Waterloo. The huge navy of Great Britain is also the subject of a full page article written by the naval expert of the New York Herald, and a fine comparison is made between the fighting force of the Island Empire and that of its adversary, Germany. The artistic side of grim visaged war is touched upon in a page entitled "War in Art." Two magnificent paintings are reproduced, one "Turcos Taking Mantbelliard" and "The Salute to the Dead."

CITY IN PARAGRAPH

There are 17 children in the local Shelter at present.

The work on the outfall sewer will not be commenced for a couple of weeks yet.

Butter sold in Lindsay market last Saturday at 29 cents a pound and eggs at 25 cents.

Enlisting here for over-seas contingents has ceased. Enlistment for the 57th Regiment is still open.

The Fair directors were busy yesterday allotting space for various concessions, booths and dining tents.

A Japanese Admiral has been sentenced to a term of imprisonment for receiving "graft" money. How about the recent Trent Canal bunch?

With the prevailing Peterboro patriotism now rampant, the local Armouries will be, until the war is over, the scene of chief gathering of the youth of this city.

"Judas Maccabaeus" with its martial music, is to be given early this fall in the Opera House, the proceeds for which will go to the Patriotic Fund.

THE PETERBORO' PATRIOTIC FUND

The committees in each Polling Sub-division have begun the canvass for subscriptions for the Patriotic Fund. This fund, as decided by a resolution of the General Committee, is to care for the families of those who have gone on active service in the war and those needing relief in consequence of the war.

Considerable relief has already been given to families of the soldiers. Large sums will be required for this relief before they receive anything from the Government, and for families of reservists who have joined the British regiments, and also for those who will need relief in consequence of the war. The Committee will carefully administer all contributions.

It is the intention that everyone will have an opportunity to contribute. Liberal and prompt contributions are urged. With the work of relief that will be necessary to prevent suffering this winter large sums will be required. The people are urged to meet the canvassers in a liberal spirit, or to send their contributions direct to the Treasurer of the Fund, Mr. F. Adams, City Treasurer.

LABRADOR SUFFERS FROM POOR CATCH

St. John's, Nfld., Sept. 12.—Conditions along the Labrador coast this season are the worst in many years, is the report received there from Dr. Wilfred T. Grenfell, the missionary. All of the people on the coast are dependent on the fisheries, and in many places the catch this year has been the smallest for a generation.

Dr. Grenfell has informed the colonial government that there is certain to be much distress among the Labrador fisher folk, and he urges that measures be taken for their relief.

VERY REMARKABLE PROPHECY, WAR OF 1914 PREDICTED IN 1854

e Tale of Germany and Austria Foretold--Eighteen Verses of Prediction, of Which First Nine Have Been Fulfilled--Woe to the Great Nation Which Has Abandoned the Rights Divine and Human

There is in Germany a famous pro- ecy. It is called "The Prophecy Mayence," and dates from 1854. comprises eighteen verses of pre- ction, of which the first nine have n fulfilled in the most remarkable anner. Here are the verses:

1. When the little people of the rder shall feel themselves strong en- gh to shake off the yoke of their otector and when the barley is routing from the ears their King illiam shall march against Austria.

2. They will have victory upon ctory up to the gates of Vienna. t a word from the Great Emperor the West shall make the heroes mble on the field of victory, and barley shall not be gathered in til he has signed the peace, shaken the yoke and returned triumphant- to his country.

3. But at the gathering in of the rth barley and that of the oats dreadful sound of war shall call harvesters to arms. A formidable my, followed by an extraordinary mber of engines of war that hell one could have invented, shall start wards the West.

4. Woe to thee, great nation, woe you who have abandoned the rights vine and human.

The God of battles has forsaken e; who will succour you?

5. Napoleon III, mocking his ad- rsary at first, shall soon turn back wards the "Chene-Populeux" where shall disappear never to re-appear.

6. In spite of the heroic resistance France, a multitude of soldiers, n, yellow, yellow and black, shall atter themselves over a great part France.

7. Alsace and Lorraine shall be rried away from France for a per- d and half a period.

8. The French shall only take urage again as against each other.

9. Woe to thee, great city, woe to thee, city of vice! Fire and sword shall succeed fire and famine.

10. Courage, faithful souls, the reign of the dark shadow shall not have time to execute all its schemes.

11. But the time of mercy approaches. A prince of the nation is in your midst.

12. It is the man of salvation, the wise, the invincible, he shall count his enterprises by his victories.

13. He shall drive out the arm- of France, he shall march to victory on victory until the day of divine justice.

14. That day, he shall command seven kinds of soldiers, against three to the quarter of Bouleaux between Ham, Woerl and Paderborn.

15. Woe to thee, people of the North, they seventh generation shall answer for all thy crimes. Woe to thee, people of the East thou shalt spread afar the cries of affliction and innocent blood. Never shall such an army be seen.

16. Three days the sun shall rise upwards on the heads of the combatants without being seen through the clouds of smoke.

17. Then the commander shall get the victory: two of his enemies shall be annihilated, the remainder of the three shall fly towards the extreme East.

18. William, the second of the name, shall be the last King of Prussia. He shall have no other successor save a King of Poland, a King of Hanover, and a King of Saxony.

All the first part of this prophecy up to the ninth verse, inclusive, is verified by the war of 1866, then by that of 1870, and then by the Commune of 1871. Here are the last nine verses:

10. Courage, French patriots, Ger-

True Toasted Corn

Is as different from commonplace corn flakes, as succulent green sweet corn is different from the hard, flinty, yellow grain of the farmer's corn crib.

In spite of the numerous "corn flakes" marketed, few persons really know the rich sweetness of choice corn when skilfully cooked, flavoured and toasted.

This true toasted corn—distinctive in its rich, rare flavour—is called

Post Toasties

A call for "corn flakes" often brings some one of the many brands of ordinary flakes. To avoid disappointment, ask for, and insist upon POST TOASTIES.

This food can be distinguished by the original yellow package; by the rich, true corn flavour imprisoned in the making; and by the size and tender crispness of the golden brown flakes.

TOASTIES are ready to serve hot or cold, with cream or good milk — also with fresh fruit in season. A further delicate flavour may be released by heating a few minutes in oven before serving. And it's a flavour worth knowing!

Recapture of Rheims Confirmed British Capture Men and Guns

Germans Still Occupy Strong Position North of Aisne--Heavy Roads Make German Retreat Perilous. French Are Now in a Position to Battle on Their Own Terms. General Joffre is Now a National Hero

London, Sept. 15.—(4.05 p.m.)—A statement given out by the Official Press Bureau this afternoon, says :—

The enemy are still occupying a strong position to the north of the Aisne and fighting is going on along the whole line. The Crown Prince's army has been driven back further and is now on the line of Narennes, Consenvove and Ornes.

ALLIES OCCUPY RHEIMS.

London, Sept. 15.—(4.06 p.m.)—The occupation of Rheims by the allied troops was announced by the Official Press Bureau this afternoon.

Six hundred prisoners and twelve guns were captured yesterday by the corps on the right of the British.

Rain has made the roads heavy and is increasing the difficulty of the German army in its retreat.

DEPENDS ON CROWN PRINCE.

London, Sept. 15.—As has been the case since the commencement of the Battle of the Marne over a week ago, the final outcome of this mighty struggle seems to depend upon the army of Crown Prince Frederic William, in the German centre, the headquarters of which has been retired to Mont Faucon.

As this town is 15 miles to the northwest of Verdum, the Crown Prince's move seems to imply the approaching relief of that French fortress which his army has been besieging for a week past.

HAS VON KLUCK LOST 14,000 ?

A despatch from the German general staff on the battle of the Marne, received in London to-day, suffered at the hands of the censor. In its truncated form, the only claim made for German arms is that of having successfully defeated the French endeavors to break through the German lines. This apparently is quite true unless the report from Dieppe this afternoon, alleging tret General Von Kluck's army on the German right had been forced to surrender, turns out to be correct. Up to the present there has been no confirmation of the story. In any case, from the estimate given of the numbers of the troops surrendered, which, accord- to one report was 14,000, and accordin to another 25,000 it would be a misomer to call it a surrender of General Von Kluck's army, which is at least 100,000 strong.

WHEN VERDUM FALLS.

London, Sept. 15.—For once during the progress of the war the military critics on both sides agree on the theory that the outcome of the campaign waging in the western area depends on the result of the operations of the Crown Prince's army before Verdum, but on the question of accomplished factsthe divergence is as wide as ever.

Berlin maintains that the investment of Verdum is now complete and therefore expects that within two or three days there will be a resumption of the offensive along the whole German front.

On the other hand the latest official communication issued in behalf of the allies states thet the Crows Prince ras been driven back, and has removed his headquarters from Sainte Menehould south of Rheims, to Mont Faucon, about fifteen miles northeast. Berlin admits that the weakening German right wing has been turned back but discounts the reverse by maintaining that it will have no effect on the general forward movement to be initiated when Verdum falls.

The very candid statement of General Joffre regarding the sort of warfare his troops are capable of waging, indicates that the French are now in a position to take up the gauge of battle on their own terms, and in a country of their own choosing. General Joffre is now a national hero after conducting the great retreat that caused him to be called many hard names.

Von Kluck and 14,000 Men Have Surrendered to Allies

London, Sept. 15.—The correspondent of The Central News at Dieppe, under date of Monday, September 14, transmits a report that the German army under General Von Kluck has been forced to surrender.

The correspondent says:

A report has reached Dieppe that the extreme left of the allies, after making an encircling movement by way of Roye and Ham and joining a force from the Boulogne district, has compelled General Von Kluck to surrender with, according to one statement, 14,000 men, and according to another, with, 25,000 men, and a quantity of guns and war material.

General Von Kluck has been operating on the German right wing, and has consequently been opposed to the left wing of the allies, composed principally of British troops. His army has been retiring before the allies for several days.

Roye and Ham are located to the southeast of Amiens, and were occupied by the Germans two days ago. Recent reports show that these towns are now in the possession of the allies.

The South African Rifles Have Captured German Force

London, Sept. 15.—A despatch from Capetown to Reuter's Telegram Co. says that the Fourth South African Mounted Rifles, commanded by Col. Dawson, after two night marches, surprised the German force which had occupied a drift sixty miles from Steinkopf, in the Namaqua Land After a sharp skirmish the Germans were compelled to surrender.

Another Capetown despatch reports that the action took place at Raman's Drift, an important strategic position.

The Steinkopf country is about 60 miles from the Atlantic coast, and perhaps a little farther away from the Orange River, on the north side of this is German West Africa. It is mostly unsettled country.

The War Office have authorized an increase of the soldier's daily meal ration at home from ¾ lb. to 1 lb.

Valuable Discovery in Complexion Beautifier

Because of its peculiar power of absorption, also because it serves every emollient purpose, ordinary mercolized wax is perhaps the most valuable complexion beautifier discovered within recent years. If one uses this she needs no toilet cream. Some use powder afterward, but this is not necessary. This rule for applying mercolized wax has been found ver satisfactory: Wash the face with warm water, drying lightly. Before thoroughly dry, anoint the face and neck with the wax, but don't rub it in. The favorite way is to use before retiring, allowing it to remain on all night and washing it off in the morning with warm water. All druggists have this wax in original one-ounce packages.

For the removal of a wrinkled or flabby condition there's nothing better than to bathe the face in a solution made by dissolving 1 ounce powdered saxolite in ½ pint witch hazel. Beneficial results are quickly noticeable.

MANY DEAD IN RAILWAY WRECK IMPRISONED IN CARS, SOME DROWN

Survivors Break Through Windows and Swim Swollen River to Safety--Passengers in Sleeping Cars Escaped --Whole Family Caught in Flood, Which Delayed Train --Victims Quickly Aided

Springfield, Mo., Sept. 15.—Between thirty-five and forty-five persons were killed or drowned and a score of others injured early today when the locomotive, baggage and forward chair car of St. Louis and San Francisco train No. 5 plunged through a trestle over Brush Creek near Lebanon, Mo., and were submerged by the swollen stream.

Most of the dead were drowned in the chair car and a great proportion of these were women and children. Those who were able to escape from their wattery prison fought their way out by breaking windows and swimming to shore. It is estimated there were sixty-five passengers in the chair car.

Lost Wife and Five Children.

Owing to poor communication with the place it is impossible to give a definite estimate of how many escaped.

None of the sleeping cars left the track and the passengers in them quickly formed rescue parties.

One man in the chair car lost his wife and five children. When the accident occurred he was thrown clear of the car and swam to shore. His wife and children died while he stood helplessly near by.

Rains last week caused all streams in the vicinity to rise and the train was late because of the floods. As it passed Lebanon, according to reports reaching here, its speed was increased.

Railroad officials announced that the injured would be brought to Springfield this afternoon. The dead were placed in morgues at Lebanon. Communication between Springfield and the wreck is practically cut off, making it impossible to get an early list of fatalities.

Partial List of Dead.

St. Louis, Sept. 15.—The names of the identified dead given out at the Frisco's office here today follow:

Henry Wagoner, Harrison, Ark.; Mrs. Elizabeth Rosteter, Alliance, O.; W. H. Childress, Billings, Mo.; John Meyers, wife and daughter, Thayer, Mo.

GERMANY'S PLAN WAS TO CRUSH FRANCE AND DESTROY BRITISH

According to a Book Written Three Years Ago by a Distinguished Prussian Officer--Germany's War Propaganda One of the Most Perilous and Wicked Experiments it is Possible to Conceive Of.

Two or three years ago a distinguished Prussian officer, General von Bernhardi, published a book entitled "Germany and the Next War," to which people are turning with interest now that "the next war" has come. General von Bernhardi's book is an argument that Germany must crush France and destroy the British Empire, and many of his observations are astonishingly cynical. For instance, he lays down the peinciple that Italy must not be allowed to entertain friendly feelings for France, and that it is Germany's business to stir up ill-feeling between the two great Latin countries. In the course of his book he discusses the features of such a war as the present, Germany fighting Russia, France and Great Britain. His remarks on the naval strategy of the war are illuminating at the present time, when the German fleet is lying ensconced in harbour and the British fleet is challenging it to come out.

What Bernhardi Foresaw

In his analysis General von Bernhardi had assumed a state of affairs in which the surprise attack upon English harbours has failed, the German fleet has retreated under the guns of the coast fortifications, and German oversea commerce has been paralysed by the British fleet. As these things have actually occurred, just as the General said they would occur, it is worth while to note what in these circumstances he proposes should be done next. For the chances are that, whatever it is, the Germans, having learned the Bernhardi doctrines by heart, are doing it.

As seaborne supplies are cut off from German ports General von Bernhardi proposes that they should be imported through neutral harbours and neutral territory.

"Let us assume," he proceeds, "that France and Russia seal our land frontiers, then the only trade route left open to us is through Switzerland and Austria—a condition of affairs which would aggravate difficulties at home and should stimulate us to carry on the war with increased vigour." The stimulus has now been applied; it remains to be seen what will be the reaction of it.

The Blockade of the North Sea

JAPANESE CAVALRY FIGHT THE FOE

First Encounter Between Japs and Germans in China, Skirmishes Have Taken Place Near Kiao-Chow

Chi-Mo, Shan-Tung Province, China, Sunday, Sept. 13 (1.30 p.m., via Peking, Sept. 15.)—The first encounter between German and Japanese forces on land occurred this morning when there were a number of sharp skirmishes between patrols of the contesting forces at a point close to Chi-Mo.

Previous to these engagements a German aeroplane flew over the district. The Japanese fired on the machine, but without success.

A considerable Japanese force is reporteh 15 miles to the north of here.

A despatch received here from Wei-Heien (60 miles northwest of Kiao-Chow) says 50 Japanese troops arrived there Sunday.

Peking, Sept. 15.—A report received here from Tsing-Tau of German origin declares that a vanguard of Japanese cavalry is at Kiao-Chow City, about five miles outside of the Kiao-Chow boundary to the northwest.

Cavalry Near Enemy.

Tokio, Sept. 15.—Under date of September 12 the War Office has given out an official statement relating to the situation at Tsing-Tau in which it is declared that Japanese cavalry captured Chi-Mo, 10 miles outside of the Kiao-Chow zone. No signs of the enemy were discovered north of the River Pisha. Aeroplanes of the enemy occasionally are sighted.

THE WEALTH OF BRITAIN

A British Bluebook on the occupations of the people of England and Wales, recently issued by the Census Bureau, gives figures which indicate how large a proportion of the population is engaged in personal service, ministering to the wants and whims of the rich. Female domestic servants number 1,260,673. In one borough, that of Hampstead, a suburb of London, 757 families out of every 1,000 keep one or more domestics. The other extreme is found in the industrial north. In many small Lancashire and Yorkshire towns there are less than 30 domestics per 1,000 families. The charming gardens of the well-to-do cost an enormous sum to maintain. There are no less than 113,739 gardeners employed under the classification of domestics. The result of the labors of this army is the most delightful countryside to be found in the world. A summary of the total number of persons, male and female, engaged in domestic service gives the following figures:

Male indoor service	41,765
Female indoor service	1,260,673
Coachmen and grooms	67,222
Motor car drivers	23,151
Gardeners	113,739
Gamekeepers	17,148

Movies For Heathen

REV. DR. JUDSON

Dr. Edward Judson who has spent most of his life on Oriental mission fields, has found a new way to interest the heathen in religion. He is going to tell the story of the gospel on the screen. Some pictures will be used to instruct the pagan and others will inform civilized nations how the pagan lives at home.

Sheep as Warming-pans

The high temperature of birds enables them to resist cold more effectually than they could otherwise do. Whereas blood-heat in man is 98 degrees Fahr., it is 107 degrees in the domestic fowl, and more in some other birds. Nevertheless, they feel the cold very much, and display a remarkable amount of ingenuity in finding means to warm themselves. A farmer in the uplands of Lanarkshire one winter observed a number of chaffinches entering an outhouse where bullocks were stalled. He went in and found them nestling in the straw against the flanks of the reposing beasts. Birds are fond of using sheep as warming-pans, regardless of the risk attendant. Snuggling down into the long wool, they are apt to get their feet entangled, when the result may be starvation.

LONESOME LONDON

Colonial Official Says It Chills the Visitor From Overseas

Colonials, according to Sir George Reid, High Commissioner for Australia, have their admiration for the Motherland chilled by their loneliness when they get to London.

"You can't make 7,000,000 people think over the arrival of one Australian," said Sir George. "I make that allowance. But there is a film over the British character. When it is scratched as fine a man is struck as can be found anywhere—but it has to be scratched.

"When an Englishman visits Australia he finds himself in the midst of friends anxious to take him by the hand. I want a little more of that in London, not only for High Commissioners but for the ordinary colonial."

Among men from the Overseas Dominions who do not entirely agree with Sir George is Mr. W. L. Griffith, Charge d'Affaires of the Canadian Office in London. Mr. Griffith admits that London is lonely, for the English provincial as well as the Colonial. "But," he said, "I cannot follow—perhaps I do not understand—Sir George Reid when he speaks of a 'film' over the English character.

"It is perfectly true that an Englishman visiting one of the Dominions is taken by the hand, but I apprehend that when the Australian and Canadian centres approach London in size the same inherent obstacles in the way of good fellowship will present themselves. I don't believe it is from any lack of warm-heartedness that visitors are neglected in London. The difficulty is how to get into touch with visitors. As a matter of fact, the appreciation of the people of the Motherland for the people of Dominions has grown astonishingly during the past twenty years."

ABOUT THE DAIRY BARN

A Little Remodeling Would Improve Some Immensely

There are many big red barns that look well from a distance and that give the farm an appearance of prosperity, but are a disgrace to dairying. They have but a few small windows, no gutters, no stalls, no feeding alleys, no ventilation. Their big lofts are about the only redeeming feature they have.

Cement is not expensive and any man who is at all handy in building can put in cement gutters and walks with a little study on the subject. Any of the cement companies will send a book of instructions upon request.

Make the gutter 4 feet 10 inches from the manger for medium-sized cows, 15 inches wide and 10 inches deep. It is not necessary to make the whole floor of cement. The forward half of the stall may be left without cement, although it is desirable to make the whole floor and manger of cement when it can be afforded.

Make a feeding alley in front of the mangers where the feeding can be done with the least work and time. Make the barn convenient. Take a day off, or a week if necessary, and visit places that have modern barns. Convenience in a barn is the cheapest part of the building—and the most important. Ideas don't cost anything if you look for them. To put them into effect may take years, but it lightens the work to know they are to be. To wait until you can afford a new barn before making any improvements is folly.

A happy man or woman is a better thing to find than a five pound note. He or she is a radiating focus of good will, and their entrance into a room is as though another candle had been lighted. We need not care whether they could prove the forty-seventh proposition; they do a better thing than that—they practically demonstrate the great theorem of the Liveableness of Life.—Robert Louis Stevenson.

BOILS CONTAGIOUS

It is Possible Now to Avoid Them by Inoculation

Boils receive their name because it used to be believed that they were due to the blood becoming too hot and boiling over in different parts of the body.

"You must never cure a boil by outside applications," is a fallacy that lots of good people believe, because, they say, it will "drive the poison in" and lead to some more serious trouble.

This mistaken idea has been widely fostered by the entirely correct observation that scarlet fever, measles and other diseases are often more severe when they are accompanied by only a slight eruption. Indeed, scarlatina is liable to be fatal when the rash is very faint or only present for an hour or so.

This, however, positively does not apply to boils. They may often be cured from the outside, and there is no danger of your 'driving them in," although a legion of careful grandmothers believe so.

Although it has long been known that boils are caused by little microbes called "staphylococci" and "steptococci," which resemble bunches of grapes and strings of beads, it had never until recently been really certain that boils are contagious. The observation of an army surgeon, who traced an epidemic of boils directly to one man whose collars had inoculated him with boils, seems to prove that this is the case.

The boils, which began on his neck, infected the shirt bands and collars which he wore. When these were thrown into the wash with the linen of other men 52 per cent. of the men in that particular command fell ill with boils.

No one who has to mingle with his fellow men can escape the danger of boils. Whenever you go you will encounter their contagious microbes. When you do become infected don't buy a barrel of "blood purifier." Instead go to a physician and take the anti-boil inoculation, such as is now given to prevent boils.

And to avoid spreading the trouble to your friends take extra care to disinfect yourself with borax or some other disinfectant in addition to the frequent and free use of soap and water.

THE MAIDEN SPEECH OF PRINCE OF WALES

Performed the Ceremony of Laying Corner Stone of Church and Was Heartily Received

The occasion of the laying of the foundation stone of St. Anselm's Church, on the Prince of Wales' estate in South London was a red letter day in his career for it marked his first independent public appearance and his first set speech. The young Prince, looking very boyish, yet with a certain dignity of manner, went through the ordeal very well. He laid the mortar as one quite familiar with the process, tapped the stone at its four corners and then applied the spirit level.

The Prince was wearing a black frock-coat with light grey trousers, and throughout the whole of the ceremony, which was rather lengthy, he carried his hat in his hand. Having performed the customary rites, he spoke his first public words: "In the faith of Jesus Christ we place this stone, in the name of God the Father, God the Son, and God the Holy Ghost." He has a clear but not very strong voice.

Returning to the platform, his Royal Highness received an address of welcome from the Bishop of Southwark, to which he made the following reply, reading from a typewritten copy:

"I have to thank you very heartily for the kind welcome you have given me in the name of your diocese. It has long been my wish to visit South London, and it is a real pleasure to me that my first public duty should be on behalf of the Church. It was here that the first Duke of Cornwall, Edward, the Black Prince, had his palace, and, according to one of the old writers, it was almost on this very spot that he died. This site, therefore, is of no ordinary interest, and it is of happy significance that a great church should rise where five centuries and a half ago dwelt a prince who was noted for his piety.

It was to God that he first gave the praise for his victories, and even his coins were inscribed with words taken from his favorite psalm. "Auxilium meum a Domino" ("My help cometh from the Lord").

I have listened with pleasure to your graceful reference to the visits to this neighborhood of my father and grandfather, who always took a deep interest in the Duchy estate. To my dear father, who, in the midst of innumerable other duties, has given much time and anxious thought to the problems and perplexities which must always attend the work of rebuilding an estate, I can never be sufficiently grateful, but I shall hope to show my gratitude by endeavoring to walk worthily in his footsteps.

At present I cannot pretend to much knowledge of the difficulties which beset the housing reformer, but by studying the comfort and happiness of my tenants, I hope to gain experience.

I pray that it may please God to pour His blessings on all who shall worship in this place and to prosper the work of those who, now or hereafter, may be called upon to minister in the parish."

Only those in the immediate neighborhood of the platform could hear what the Prince was saying, but the speech was cheered for all that, and when immediately afterwards his Royal Highness entered his carriage and drove away a great demonstration took place.

Land Without Owners

Nearly fifty acres of land have been discovered without owners at Trefin, Llangammarch Wells, Breconshire. In the course of investigations for valuation, it has been found that no owner exists. The value is between $1,000 and $1,500. The land is more or less common, and there are grazing rights on it belonging to adjoining farms.

Mrs. Lloyd George at Baby Show

Mrs. Lloyd George delivered a practical little lecture to mothers at a baby show held at Rhostrfan. Mrs. Lloyd George said that when rearing her first-born she was, according to a frequent practice among the country nurses of those days, offered some bread and beer. This she resolutely refused. Crestfallen and disappointed, the nurse left the room and confided to others in the house her fears that she (Mrs. Lloyd George) would never recover to rear the child. She, however, reared that boy and four other children without the aid of either gin or bread and beer.

Hungry Tramp Helps Himself

At Roxburghshire Court Frank Newton, a tramp painter, was sent to prison for seven days for stealing from an earthenware pie dish rhubarb tart, belonging to Robert Fairbairn, a rabbit catcher, of Crailing, near Jedburgh.

"I have argued in season and out of season in favor of all-English plays for Canada, because Canada's experience of such plays has been that, on the average, they are much superior to what the United States has sent us.

"Art has no nationality; but so far we have been getting an unpleasantly strong impression that the American type of play and player, judging from the samples that visit us, is not as good as we want. It is up to the United States to eliminate that impression 'right away.'"

BRITISH-CANADIAN

Do you desire to make large profits on your investment in Alberta Oil Shares?

If you do you must use good judgment in the selection of the companies in which you invest,

In order that you may use this good judgment it is absolutely necessary that you investigate and analyze a company thoroughly before placing your money in its shares.

In order that you may do this in the case of the British Canadian Oils, Ltd., we hereby give you the information we have secured through our rigid investigation and analysis of said company, and in giving this information we would say that we believe it is correct in every detail.

(1) The British Canadian Oils, Ltd., is incorporated for $1,000,000; 10,000,000 shares at the par value of 10c.

(2) About 500,000 shares of the stock have already been sold, and are now in the hands of the investing public.

(3) The Directors' and Officers' stock is all pooled.

(4) The Company is the holder of petroleum and natural gas leases on over 7,000 acres of land in the Province of Alberta.

(5) The Directors, Officers and Solicitors of the Company are all reliable and conscientious business men who have the welfare of the company at heart, and who desire in every manner in their power to give the public a square run for their money.

(6) The Company is now erecting on Section 31, Township 24, Range 4, an up-to-date combination rotary and standard rig.

(7) The Company expects to commence drilling inside of 3 days, and continue with all possible despatch.

(8) The Company has secured as Field Superintendent a man who knows his business thoroughly.

(9) The said Superintendent has engaged competent drillers to carry out his instructions.
(10) The treasury of the Company is now well financed.

(11) A reputable local geologist in reporting on adjoining property makes the following statement in said report:

"There is a plunging tendency in the crest of the anticline which causes its crest to sink toward the Elbow river. The crest of this dome-shaped structure seems to be in the neighborhood of Section 31, of Township 24, and Section 6 of Township 25."

(12) A reputable petroleum engineer in reply to an enquiry from us, stated that the lease held by the British Canadian Oils, Ltd., in Section 31, is situated on the most perfect anticline he has seen in Western Alberta.

(13) British Canadian shares are listed on the three Calgary exchanges, and are very active traders.

(14) The price of British Canadian shares is very low at the present time; we expect to see it go much higher.

In view of the above information secured by us, we have no hesitation whatever in advising you to at once buy the shares of the British Canadian Oils, Limited, at 15c per share, believing that you will get a square run for your money, and big profits on your investment.

We are prepared to fill your orders for British Canadian shares at 15c each, but this price is subject to raise without notice. Any new strike in the oil field, or any other exciting report might send this stock to a very high price. We would suggest that you wire us at our expense and let your remittance follow, or if you prefer, write us and enclose your remittance.

Our market letter giving information on the Alberta Oil Fields is free for the asking. Write for it.

NO LIGHTHOUSE KEEPER

Beacon Rises to a Height of Eighty Feet and Cost $42,000

What is declared to be the only unattended lighthouse built on a wave-washed rock, possessing a powerful fog-signal, is the recently completed Platte Fougère Lighthouse, marking the entrance to the Russell Channel leading to the Guernsey capital of St. Peter's Port, a spot which figures in Victor Hugo's great romance, "The Toilers of the Sea." This unattended tower, built of ferro-concrete, which rises on a wave-washed rock is 80 feet in height. The head of the rock on which it stands is only visible at low tide, while it is difficult to approach even in the smoothest weather, owing to tides and currents. Much of the foundation work had to be carried out under water.

The tower is solid for a height of 44 feet above the rock, and the base is formed of Portland cement placed in iron moulds with iron bars driven into the solid rock to anchor the concrete firmly. On the side to which the building is exposed to the heaviest seas, massive beams of rolled steel are driven into the rock so as to impart additional strength to the part of the tower where the greatest strains are likely to be set up.

On the entrance level is a compartment containing an electric motor and air compressor, while on the floor immediately above is a duplicate installation. The siren projects through the top of the tower, the trumpet being so turned as to throw the sounds in a horizontal direction over the water. On the top of the tower is a small automatic acetylene gas plant and light. The foghorn has been heard thirty miles away on the French coast, while the light is brought into being at sunset and extinguished at dawn automatically.

These devices, many of which are the invention of the engineer-in-chief Mr. E. O. Catford, are controlled from the shore station one and a quarter miles distant, by means of a submarine cable made specially for the work. This cable is 11 inches in diameter, and weighs forty-five tons to the nautical mile.

Our Point of View

The proof that there is good in evil lies in the fact often a bad boy turns out to be a fine man.

If we are to believe the war reports the heavy Russian Bear gets over the ground with the speed of a jack-rabbit.

—o—

Don't be too hard on the war poets. Remember that they write poetry because they really need the little money it yields them.

In his moments of reflection Kaiser Bill doubtless realizes that when he invaded Belgium he not only rocked the boat, but spilled the war beans.

The war reports sent out by the censors leave no room to doubt that more battles have been fought at "Deleted" than any other place on the map.

We believe it may be safely said that a great many people share the opinion of the Washington Herald that the British Lion is going to get somebody's goat before it is all over.

The reason why no German ships are sailing for their home ports is probably explained by the fact that this week the prize court is to sit in London to pass on the cases of 112 German merchant vessels which the British fleet has captured.

Germany's Place

The present war situation, showing the German army retreating in France, while the Russians continue a slow but sure advance on Berlin, cannot long obtain. Germany must fight her way out of the trap, or a final stage of this war is reached now.

Any time when Germany is losing ground against her enemies, she may sue for peace. Public opinion in Great Britain, particularly, does not wish to see Germany devastated, and the Kaiser knows he can count on this support for peace. It is a very influential support. His armies have done much harm in Belgium and France, however and it is very doubtful if the proud party which he controls and which controls Germany would be willing to accept the only terms which the allies would consent to offer him. Even in Germany, however, public opinion may develop strange potentiality and, smarting under the terrible loss of life which Germany has suffered to date, may yet take such form as to bring the Kaiser to his senses. The German people have shown too much intelligence in time of peace not to act with due regard to the consequences in time of war. The suffering in Germany at present, because of the disrupted economic life, must be terrible, and it can only be intensified as time goes on. Short of the crushing of the British fleet, Germany can hope for nothing but starvation while her army is checked in the field as it is checked at present.

Lumbago's Misery Ceases, Every Aching Muscle Cured

JUST RUB ON OLD-TIME "NERVILINE."

Not necessary to drug inside!

That awful stiffness that makes you yelp worse than a kicked dog will be cured—cured for a certainty, and quickly, too, if you just rub on Nerviline.

Rub Nerviline right into the sore spot, rub lots of it over those tortured muscles, do this and the pain will go. You see Nerviline is thin, not oily. Therefore it sinks in, it penetrates through the tissues, it gets right to those stiff, sore muscles and irritated nerves that make you dance with pain.

You'll get almost instant relief from muscle soreness, stiffness, aching joints, lameness or rheumatism by rubbing with Nerviline. It's a soothing liniment, and doesn't blister, doesn't burn or even stain the skin.

It's the most harmless cure in the world for Lumbago, Back Strain or Sciatica. It takes away the ache at once and ends your misery quickly.

Now quit complaining—don't suffer another day. Nerviline, that good, soothing old-time liniment will limber you up mighty quick. Get busy to-day, the large 50c. family size bottle is the most economical, of course, the trial size costs but 25c. Any dealer anywhere can supply Nerviline.

BELLEVILLE DROWNING ACCIDENT.

Belleville Sunday evening was horrorstricken at a message from Trenton that three popular young local men had been drowned at 5.05 p.m., off Baker's Island in the Bay of Quinte, three miles east of Trenton. They were in a motorboat going 16 an hour. The wheelsman tried to light a cigarette when the boat suddenly swerved throwing five of its occupants into the water. The names of those drowned were James Waite, Clair Jenkins and Fred Clayton Gerow.

OIL THE GREAT WEALTHMAKER

We hold over 3,000 acres, more or less, of oil leases North and South of Monarch and several of our leases are in the same range as the Monarch well.

Many companies claim to be close to Monarch but we are one of the very few who are in Range Six upon which the Monarch Well is situated. Therefore, we must be on the same anti-cline and as it is a foregone conclusion Monarch will get oil, so will we.

Fifty-Seven Feet of Oil Bearing Sands Passed Through in Monarch Well

OFFICIAL STATEMENT IS GIVEN OUT BY PRESIDENT GEORGESON—WELL IS NOW DOWN OVER 1,800 FEET AND FLOW OF WET GAS HAS BEEN STRUCK IN LOWER LEVELS—GEOLOGIST DUNN IS AWAY AT PRESENT

Heavy oil showings are being found in the Monarch well, west of Olds, although the oil has not yet come in in commercial quantities.

To put the exact facts before the public, President William Georgeson and Treasurer G. W. Morfitt, of the company, this morning issued an official statement from the drillers setting forth the results.

The heaviest oil seepage has been encountered through a stratum 57 feet thick, and the well is now 1850 feet deep.

A sample of this oil baled out at 1,775 feet was brought to the city this morning and is in the office of Mr. Morfitt, Grain Exchange Building. The oil is a heavy black petroleum with the characteristic petroleum odor.

The statement issued by the officers is as follows:

In the absence of Mr. Dunn, Mr. Van Alst, the head driller, reports that from the depth of 1,775 feet to 1,832 feet he went through oil bearing sands for 57 feet. Throughout there was a heavy showing of black oil in the baler. Two further showing of black wet gas were met at 1,805 feet and 1,915 feet.

The well is now down 1,860 feet. Wet gas has shown at 633 feet, 1,430 feet, 1,805 feet and 1,815 feet.

Oil sands have shown at 808 feet, (48 feet), 1,430 feet (40 feet), 1,740 feet (14 feet), and 1,775 feet (57 feet).

The well is now down 1,830 feet, and while there are good oil showings there is not as yet oil in commercial quantities.

Our stock is on the market at 50 cents a share, a Dollar par, and will be advanced without notice any day pending Monarch Well developments. It is practically a certainty that Monarch will be in oil in commercial quantities within two weeks, Our stock will jump away above par and you had better hurry if you wish to share our prosperity.

11. The time of retaliation approaches. The Tsar shall come in the midst of [illegible] to seal the alliance.

12. That is the man of salvation.

13. He shall chase the enemy of France, he shall conquer Germany until it is completely destroyed.

14. The last battle on the field of Bouleaux, near to Paderborn, in Westphalia shall reunite seven allied people (French, Belgians, English, Dutch, Russians, Japanese, and Servians) against three (Germans, Austrians and Hungarians).

15. Woe to thee, Prussia, the seventh generation shall answer for the wars thou hast made upon all the people. (Seven generations make 30 years plus 7—210 years. The realm of Prussia dates from 1713. The seventh generation is, then, living between 1893 and 1923). Woe to thee Austria! Never such a battle have taken place.

16. It shall last three days in the smoke of the conflagration.

17. Finally Prussia and Austria shall be annihilated. Hungary shall fly towards the extreme east (of Europe).

18. William II. shall be the last King of Prussia. Germany and Austria shall form three realms: (Poland, Hanover and Saxony.

The British army is at present engaged in assisting the Prophecy of Mayence to a triumphant fulfilment.

You men and women who can't get feeling right—who have headache, coated tongue, foul taste and foul breath, dizziness, can't sleep, are bilious nervous and upset, bothered with a sick, gassy, disordered stomach, or have backache and feel worn out.

Are you keeping your bowels clean with Cascarets, or merely forcing a passageway every few days with salts, cathartic pills or castor oil?

Cascarets work while you sleep; cleanse the stomach, remove the sour, undigested, fermenting food and foul gases; take the excess bile from the liver and carry out of the system all the constipated waste matter and poison in the bowels.

A Cascaret to-night will straighten you out by morning—a 10-cent box from any drug store will keep your stomach sweet; liver and bowels regular, and head clear for months. Don't forget the children. They love Cascarets because they taste good—never gripe or sicken.

GERMANY'S PLAN WAS TO CRUSH
FRANCE AND DESTROY BRITISH

consider the blockade which he thinks the English would certainly apply. There are two kinds of blockade; the close blockade and the distant blockade. The close blockade would be exercised upon the German North Sea littoral and the Danish straits; the distant blockade would extend across "the open sea between the north of Scotland and Norway", and across the mouth of the Channel.

With regard to the close blockade, "the English, if they planned such a blockade would doubtless count a acquiring bases on our own coast, perhaps also on the Dutch coast. Our task, therefore, is to prevent such attempts by every means. . . This task can only be fulfilled by the fleet in daytime by submarines; by night torpedo boats may co-operate . . We must endeavour by renewed and unexpected attacks, especially by night [illegible] partly with [illegible] torpedo boats, partly with battleships, to give the blockading fleet no breathing time, and to cause it as much loss as possible." These tactics are, of course, purely defensive, and defensive tactics never yet won a campaign.

The Use of Forts

But, continues the tactician, in a significant passage, "we must not engage in a battle with superior hostile forces, for it is hardly possible at sea to discontinue a fight, because there is no place whither the loser can withdraw from the effect of the enemy's guns." The General has discovered a great truth, which, in the British fleet, is expressed in the classic formula, "There is no back door in the navy." The lack of that emergency exit troubles General von Bernhardi. Apparently his theory is that the weaker fleet ought invariably to fight under the guns of a fort or not fight at all. His whole conception of naval warfare is coloured by the pathetic conviction that land fortifications are an essential part of sea warfare. The defending fleet, he affirms ought "to lie in safe anchorages," waiting until a squadron of the attacking fleet was isolated, when the defending fleet would "sally out and fight." The General considers that the success of these tactics would be such that the English would not attempt the close blockade, but would apply the distant blockade.

In the case of the distant blockade, von Bernhardi can see no hope of a successful attack by the German fleet, except by operating with the main fleet through the Skager Rak, because —notable reason—the way of retreat would then be open behind the fleet. "This accentuates once more the supreme importance to us of keeping open, at all costs, the passage through the Sound and the Great Belt." But the General is not hopeful of the success of these tactics either. He observes that although the attacking party would be weakened and wearied, so would the defending party.

The Landing of Troops

He next considers what would happen if the English attempted to land troops. "They could not obtain a decisive result unless they attempted to capture our naval bases—Wilhelmshaven, Heligoland, the mouth of the Elbe and Kiel—and to annihilate our fleet in its attempt to protect these places." Here the General has been proved mistaken. It did not occur to him that a containing force could enable troops to be safely transported across the sea, as happened when the British army was transported to France without the German navy being able to cause a single casualty.

To obtain information of the position of the attacking force, von Bernhardi relies upon the air fleet which would also attack the English fleet. The most reckless audacity must go hand in hand with the employment of every means which mechanical skill and the science of naval construction and fortification can supply. This is the only way by which we may hope so to weaken our proud opponent, that we may in the end challenge him to a decisive engagement in the open sea."

A Counsel of Despair

General von Bernhardi then considers the effect of a campaign in which the French fleet combined with the British fleet. It would be that "the prospect of any ultimately successful issue" for Germany would "shrink into the back-ground." But, he adds, "we need not even then despair." The remedy will be the absolute conquest" of France.

Such is the naval policy, such are the strategy and tactics, of the German war party. A study of them leads to the conclusion that, under the conditions they reveal, the engaging in war by Germany, on her own showing, is one of the most perilous and wicked experiments it is possible to conceive.

SERVIANS MARCHING RAPIDLY ON BUDAPEST--AUSTRIANS UNEASY

Aged Emperor of Austria Reported in Excellent Health, But Worried--A Large Servian Army in the Field Will Soon Join Russians--Little Unfavorable News is Allowed to be Circulated in Austria--But it Leaks Out

London, Sept. 15.—According to a statement issued here today by the Servian Legation, there are now in Hungary at least 150,000 Servian troops, successfully pushing an offensive movement against the forces of the dual monarchy.

The Austrians are entrenching at all strategic points on all the roads leading to Budapest. A large Servian army is marching toward Frushkagora, a position of great importance, the purpose being to render secure the Servian left flank.

Continuing the legation declares that in Bosnia the Servians are besieging Xishnegrad, and that their advance line is nearing Sarayevo, which is strongly fortified and where desperate fighting is expected.

The prediction is made that a junction soon will be effected with a Russian army sweeping to the westward.

Depreciate Movement.

Vienna, Sept. 15.—A report received here from Budapest relates that the fighting which began several days ago has not yet come to an end. Servian troops which crossed the frontier at several places are arousing much uneasiness among the local population but no detailed reports can be expected at this time. This entire Servian movement is without importance, the Budapest report says. But it does afford ground for anxiety. Such communications worded in a studiously ambiguous manner appearing in the newspapers are making a public increasingly uneasy.

Amid all these terrible anxieties the aged Emperor of the dual monarchy, Francis Joseph, is reported as in excellent health. He is working even harder and longer hours every day than formerly was his practice. He scrutinises keenly all the reports from the various seats of war, and it is related that no news is permitted to be made public without his sanction.

HAD NOMINATION AS GOVERNOR IN-POCKET.

Paris, Sept. 15.—It is reported today that when the German general who was captured by the French and brought into the capital yesterday was searched, there was found in his pockets his nomination to the Governorship of Paris, signed by Emperor William.

The name of this general may not be divulged.

Second Lieutenant Boquet and Sergeant-Major Mercier, of the 45th Light Infantry, have been mentioned in orders for their great daring in effecting the capture of a German officer attached to the general staff, who was found making a reconnaissance in an automobile. A private named Baba-Couli-Baly, of the same regiment, has been mentioned for his coolness and accurate rifle fire. While guarding a train of automobiles he put fifteen German cavalrymen to flight.

Does a logical presentation of a good investment interest you? Do you believe there is an oil in commercial quantities in Alberta? If you are alive to the situation you do. Then it will pay you to investigate our proposition and our holdings.

Please Read Carefully and Note!

THAT Oil authorities are agreed the Alberta Oil Field is of an anticlinal formation. It has been fairly accurately ascertained in what general direction these anticlines run. Geologist B. W. Dunn chose wisely in the selection of the now famous Monarch well. WINDSOR OILFIELDS, LIMITED, has holdings located close to the Monarch.

THAT Cunningham Craig, one of the world's most eminent geologists, selected the site of the Mowbray-Berkeley well. Stock in that company is not offered at any price. We possess acreage adjoining the Mowbray-Berkeley (Section 12, Township 23, Range 5, West of 5th). cf a strike is made at the Mowbray-Berkeley what will shares in our company be worth?

Our holdings consist of 1380 acres, carefully selected and judiciously spread over the entire oil field.

MISTERY OF NATURE

Botanists do Not Agree as to What Causes Plants' Reawakening

What awakens plant life in the spring? How do plants know when winter is at an end? It is not that they feel the warmth of the sun, for many of them are so far beneath the ground that the sun's rays have had no chance to penetrate them when they start to struggle towards the surface of the ground. And when the winter lingers long in the lap of spring, it seems to make little difference to the plants, which come up just the same.

Some plants even bloom with the snow still on the ground. The aconite forces its way up through the snow. In the mountains of Southern Europe the soldanellias send up their flower stalks right through the snow, boring their way to the sunlight and blooming at the surface. When the snow is unusually deep they even bloom underneath it. Their activity is not confined to mere blooming, for often the actual pollenation takes place under the snow.

Botanists are agreed that heat has very little to do with the awakening of plants at the end of winter. The seeds have been lying buried through the cold months, and long before any warmth can have reached them their tiny shoots have begun to work their way upward through the soil. The water plants, which died down in the fall and whose roots have been lying dormant in the mud at the bottom of the lakes and ponds, feel the call of spring and send forth leaf and flower stalks that soon show up on the surface. The water in which they awake is far colder than was that in which they died down.

As it cannot be the heat that calls things back to life, what else can it be? Leonard Bastin suggests that perhaps the light of the sun, apart from it's warmth, has a reviving effect when the days begin to grow longer.

SYNOPSIS OF CANADIAN NORTH-WEST LAND REGULATIONS.

THE sole head of a family, or any male over 18 years old, may homestead a quarter-section of available Dominion land in Manitoba, Saskatchewan, or Alberta. Applicant must appear in person at the Dominion Lands Agency or Sub-Agency for the District. Entry by proxy may be made at any Dominion Lands Agency (but not Sub-Agency), on certain conditions.

Duties—Six months residence upon and cultivation of the land in each of three years. A homesteader may live within nine miles of his homestead on a farm of at least 80 acres, on certain conditions. A habitable house is required except where residence is performed in the vicinity.

In certain districts a homesteader in good standing may pre-empt a quarter section alongside his homestead. Price $3.00 per acre.

Duties—Six months residence in each of three years after earning homestead patent; also 50 acres extra cultivation. Pre-emption patent may be obtained as soon as homestead patent, on certain conditions.

A settler who has exhausted his homestead right may take a purchased homestead in certain districts. Price $3.00 per acre. Duties—Must reside six months in each of three years, cultivate 50 acres and erect a house worth $300.

The area of cultivation is subject to reduction in case of rough, scrubby or stony land. Live stock may be substituted for cultivation under certain conditions.

NEWS OF BRITAIN IN BRIEF FORM

While a number of children were gathering flowers in the grounds of Lord Hamilton of Daisell, near Motherwell, one of them, a girl of thirteen, named Janet Morris, met a shocking death. Steep cliffs overhang the roadway, and the child had clambered up to reach some ivy, when she overbalanced and fell to the roadway.

Lonely Old Man's Plight

William Rafferty, an old age pensioner, living alone at Richhill, Ireland, was missed by his neighbors. On forcibly entering his house they found him unconscious on the hearthstone. He had suffered a paralytic stroke, and had been evidently lying there a whole day and night before being discovered.

Fatal Sleeping Draught

A tragic discovery was made in a boarding house in the north side of Edinburgh. A gentleman, named Mr. Francis Kirk, forty years of age, who resided there, was found lying dead in his bed. He had been in the habit of taking a drug as a sleeping draught, and two empty phials were found in his room.

Brother Dies After Boxing

A friendly boxing match between two brothers in the yard of their home at Bradford was followed by the death of the elder, Norman Everett Major, aged nineteen years. They boxed for about a quarter of an hour, with intervals to recover breath, when Norman collapsed. He died before the arrival of a doctor.

Boxing a Half Blue

After careful consideration of the request made by Lord Lonsdale and other famous sportsmen that a full "blue" should be awarded at Cambridge to the members who represent the university at boxing, the "Blues" Committee decided to make no alteration. Boxing will, therefore, remain a "half-blue."

Corpse to "Swim in Whiskey"

Sensational evidence was given at Ballingarry, county Limerick, at the investigation into a charge of murder against Mary M'Cann and her son Jeremiah. Michael Hayes, Heathfield, deposed that the female prisoner said she would get the Moelin boys to kill her husband, and that when he was killed she would "swim his corpse in whiskey."

A Dog's Long Journey

Mr. J. Tierney, of Derry, received from Derrygonnelly, county Fermanagh, a water spaniel, which had gone all the way—about sixty miles—by rail. Later the dog was missed, and a thorough search throughout the district failed to locate it. Then Mr Tierney had a letter from the former owner stating that the dog had arrived at Derrygonnelly footsore and weary.

RAILWAYS AND THE PEOPLE

Of the 89,313 shareholders of the Pennsylvania road 49 per cent. are women. The increase in the number of shareholders of the railways in the United States since 1904 has been 115 per cent. This shows the widespread degree of interest that is taken by the people themselves in the railways of the country. The Canadian Pacific has something like 65,000 shareholders scattered over the world. The management has never cared to give the number in each country; but it is known that in Germany, Belgium and France the majority of the shareholders reside. Hundreds of thrifty French peasants have invested their savings in the Canadian Pacific. Enquiries are sometimes made by humble people from the other side as to the general conditions of the company, wistful questioning with respect to the dividend, and so forth. These are made for the most part by humble people, who have little acquaintance with business, but who, having a little money invested, are anxious when any sort of doubtful rumor reaches them.

BULLETS PHOTOGRAPHED

Astonishing Results Shown by Series of Wonderful Pictures

Moving pictures have unlimited possibilities, apparently, for the study of rapidly-moving objects. An apparatus capable of making pictures at the rate of 100,000 a second has been made. With it seventy-two pictures of a revolver bullet were taken while moving ten inches.

Pictures of a bullet passing through a stick of wood showed a curious condition. The bullet passed completely through the thin stick and was well on its way beyond before the wood showed any signs of distress.

Then some tiny splinters started out, following the bullet; the stick began to split, and after the bullet had proceeded some distance the stick suddenly fell to pieces.

No camera shutters are fast enough to take pictures at anything like this speed, so no shutter was used. Instead a series of electric sparks was flashed, the sparks following one another at the rate of 100,000 a second, each spark making a picture. The film was mounted on a wheel about three feet in circumference, and the wheel was revolved at the great speed of 9,000 revolutions a minute.

How People Feel
When They Have
Tape Worm

Tape worm is bred from a parasite. This parasite is a creature male and female in one. It is a pear shape, having two, four and six suckers. It lays the eggs, which are only connected together with slime. They develop and form a body, which is the worm. Each joint is an individual, having a sucker or mouth. The worm grows to be much longer than the bowels where it is located, and sometimes a whole colony of them are found, enough to fill a quart of solid worm, and when put in a bucket of water would apparently fill it. It is the hardest task in the world to destroy this parasite without doing injury to the individual who may be so unfortunate as to have it, as the parasite clings to the bowels, freeing itself from the body of the worm, and remains there to breed another. It is an internal demon and causes its victims to suffer all the symptoms of disease imaginable. The cleverest physicians are led to believe the patient is suffering from some other disease, as nearly every person has different symptoms. Some have been treated for cancer of the bowels, consumption of the bowels, consumption of the lungs, chronic dyspepsia, nervous prostration, melancholia, hypochondria, hysteria, inflammation of the bowels, appendicitis and other complaints, when one or more of these internal demons were eating their lives away.

Prof. Mulveney has made the discovery to free the victim of this monster without injury to the system, destroying the parasite as well as expelling the worm with one dose of medicine without any previous starvation. Visit his office, where he has in his possession the most wonderful collection of these death-dealing monsters in the world, which have been expelled from hundreds of people by his famous remedy, some bottles containing colonies of worms and anyone seeing them cannot imagine how a person could possibly live with them in his bowels. It is surprising the number of people that have them. Thousands have them and are not aware of the fact. The letters and testimonials the Professor has in his possession are enough to convince one of this alarming fact. Some of the most prominent symptoms are: ravenous appetite, dizzy spells, headaches, cramps in the bowels, a feeling of something moving in the bowels, also a feeling as though something was crawling up the throat. The only certainty of having one in the system is when segments or joints are seen, which come away almost any time. They are flat and from ⅜ of an inch to 1 inch long, which have often been mistaken for pin worms by those who do not know the difference. There are many other feelings of distress which would take long to enumerate. Strange to say, some people of strong constitution, have very little distress.

Prof. Mulveney's world-famous Tape Worm Exterminator is safe, sure and harmless. No starvation, no danger, is not disagreeable to take. One dose nearly always affects a cure. Further information free. Send stamped envelope, telephone Parkdale 4830 or call at 167 Dundas street, Toronto. Open from 8 a.m. to 10 p.m. daily.

Individual Records Should be Kept For Best Results

If it may be assumed that the farm of the average factory patron is fairly well adapted to dairying, that the patron himself is inclined towards dairying, rather than other lines, and that his cows are fairly good, then it will be of interest to note how the farm is made to respond to this dairy inclination.

There are frequently noticed yields as low as 250 pounds of milk per acre cultivated including pasture, but some good patrons obtain 750 and 800 pounds per acre. Even this is little enough, for there are plenty of authentic records of 1,100 and 2,100 pounds of milk per acre. It should not be extremely difficult to obtain more than this, even 2,500 or 3,000 pounds.

This latter figure is a long, long way ahead of the yields already mentioned of only 250 pounds which may be found on many so-called dairy farms in Canada, and is indicative of the possibilities in reach of the factory patron who is really anxious to attain first rank.

It is questionable if the average yield per acre in Ontario is much more than 600 pounds of milk. If loyal, whole-hearted support is given to the local factory and to our national industry of dairying, the farm and the dairy herd will be made far more productive. Great help will be derived by keeping individual records of each cow, because the old established, complacent "average" cow has no intention whatever of assisting the average patron to get 3,000 pounds of milk from the average acre. The first necessary step is to know for certain that each cow is a good producer, then one may aim with more hope at $30 or $40 per acre.

The Tabooed Tango

There is nothing new either in the tango or the opposition to it. As long ago as the December of 1637, the Archbishop of Buenos Ayres excommunicated one Senor de la Cueya y Benavides, governor of the city, for dancing the tango in public. Even then the dance was anything but new. An authority in the Argentine states that the tango is named after a province in Indo-China, and that it originated there more than two thousand years ago. It was the gipsies who took the dance to Spain, from whence it reached the Argentine. One definition of the tango—given in a glossary of South American Spanish—is "Gathering of dance of gipsies." The dance has not been improved by being civilised or modernized. As danced by the up-country Argentines and the Spanish gipsies it is exceedingly graceful, which is more than can be said for it as performed in many places in Canada.

MRS. GRACE WILBUR TROUT

This woman is devoting all her spare time to instructing other women how to vote and why to vote, but not what to vote.

She says the business of suffragists, just now, is to make women familiar with all phases of registration and election day; in other words, the curriculum of voting. "If we make them understand why they need to vote and then familiarize them with the system so that they will not have any hesitancy when the time comes, we can safely leave the matter of what they vote to their own intelligence and good sense," says Mrs. Trout.

She is the president of the Illinois Equal Suffrage Association.

HUMAN NESTS STIRRED UP

Text: As an eagle stirreth up her nest, fluttereth over her young, spreadeth abroad her wings, taketh them, beareth them on her wings, so the Lord alone did lead him.—Deut. 32:11-12.

Mythology says that the swan lives to a great age. Just before death it sings a wonderful song, and dies. So Moses, living to the ripeness of a hundred and twenty years, sees his end approaching, and before he climbs to the mountain's summit he sings this, his swan song, which we may read now, three thousand years afterwards, in the thirty-second chapter of Deuteronomy. The man who, on Horeb, had complained of his slow and clumsy tongue, becomes most eloquent on Nebo; so magnificently eloquent that this, his farewell address, deserves a place among the masterpieces of oratory.

His song is all about God. The old statesman has passed beyond the petty things of time and place, and sees only the eternal glories of the Infinite. Somebody writes interestingly about a night spent at Hawarden during the last years of Mr. Gladstone's life. When family prayers were announced, the aged host himself sat down to the piano to lead the singing of a hymn. The visitor was curious to see what kind of hymn the great statesman would select. Soon the whole household was following the leader in singing.

"From all that dwell below the skies,
Let the Creator's praise arise;
Let the Redeemer's name be sung
Through every land, by every tongue."

So the theme of the aged statesman of Israel was God:

"Give ear, O ye Heavens, and I will speak; and hear, O earth, the words of my mouth. My doctrine shall drop as the rain, my speech shall distil as the dew, as the small rain upon the tender herb, and as the showers upon the grass. Because I will publish the name of the Lord: ascribe ye greatness unto our God. He is the rock, His work is perfect, for all His ways are judgment: a God of Truth and without iniquity, just and right is He."

Then he speaks so gratefully of God's dealings with Israel, tells of God's providence all the way from the Nile to the Jordan, how God found Israel in a desert land and in the waste, howling wilderness, how He led him about, instructed him, kept him as the apple of His eye. And having mentioned the miracles, the chastenings, the blessings, yes, even the reproofs, he cries:

"As an eagle stirreth up her nest, fluttereth over her young, spreadeth abroad her wings, taketh them, beareth them on her wings, so the Lord alone did lead him."

This is the picture; God is a mighty eagle, guarding the nest, and His children are the brood. We can afford to stand before this picture with uncovered heads and grateful hearts.

The eagle is the king of birds, the emblem of royalty. He is the sovereign of the air. He soars higher than any of his feathered brothers, and scans the earth with piercing eye. He lives among the crags, and flies among the clouds.

Stranded at Nassau.

Yesterday evening the G.T.R. train got in from Lakefield. It does daily. Still, a funny stunt was pulled off on last night's Lakefield train on its arrival here. It seems a Jersey cow was loaded at Lakefield consigned to, this city. On the train's arrival the conductor looked for the cow. It was missing and the car door was open. The train backed up as far as Nassau. On arrival at that station a loud "Moo" was heard and the train crew saw the cow behind a snake fence. It had jumped from the car and been corralled by a Nassau man.

Local Major Wept.

Twenty members of the 57th regiment returned from Valcartier yesterday morning. These men who enlisted to serve the Empire were "turned down" by the medical examiner for slight physical defects. A Times reporter interviewed private [illegible] Conway and others who were returned. Those with whom our reporter talked spoke in highest terms of the camp at Valcartier. They were well fed, well treated but, as one remarked, "et was — hard work!" No liquor is allowed at the camp. Every package coming to the camp is searched for liquor by the officers. Reivielle sounds at 5.30 a.m., breakfast at 6, and from 7.45. 8.30 is setting up drill. Then comes regular drill the rest of the day except for those who are busy at the 1500 targets. The local dragoons have been sent as infantry to the Island of Bermuda for defense work. Before the twenty left for home Major George Bennett of the 57th addressed them. He regretted that they could not accompany the Over-seas contingent. The fact that they were willing to go to the war demonstrated that they were as anxious to maintain the Empire's pristige as those fortunate enough to pass the physical examination, Major Bennett's eyes filled with tears as he bade the 20 returning members of his regiment good bye, or as our returned men put it, "the Major had to beat it or he would have cried because we couldn't go'"

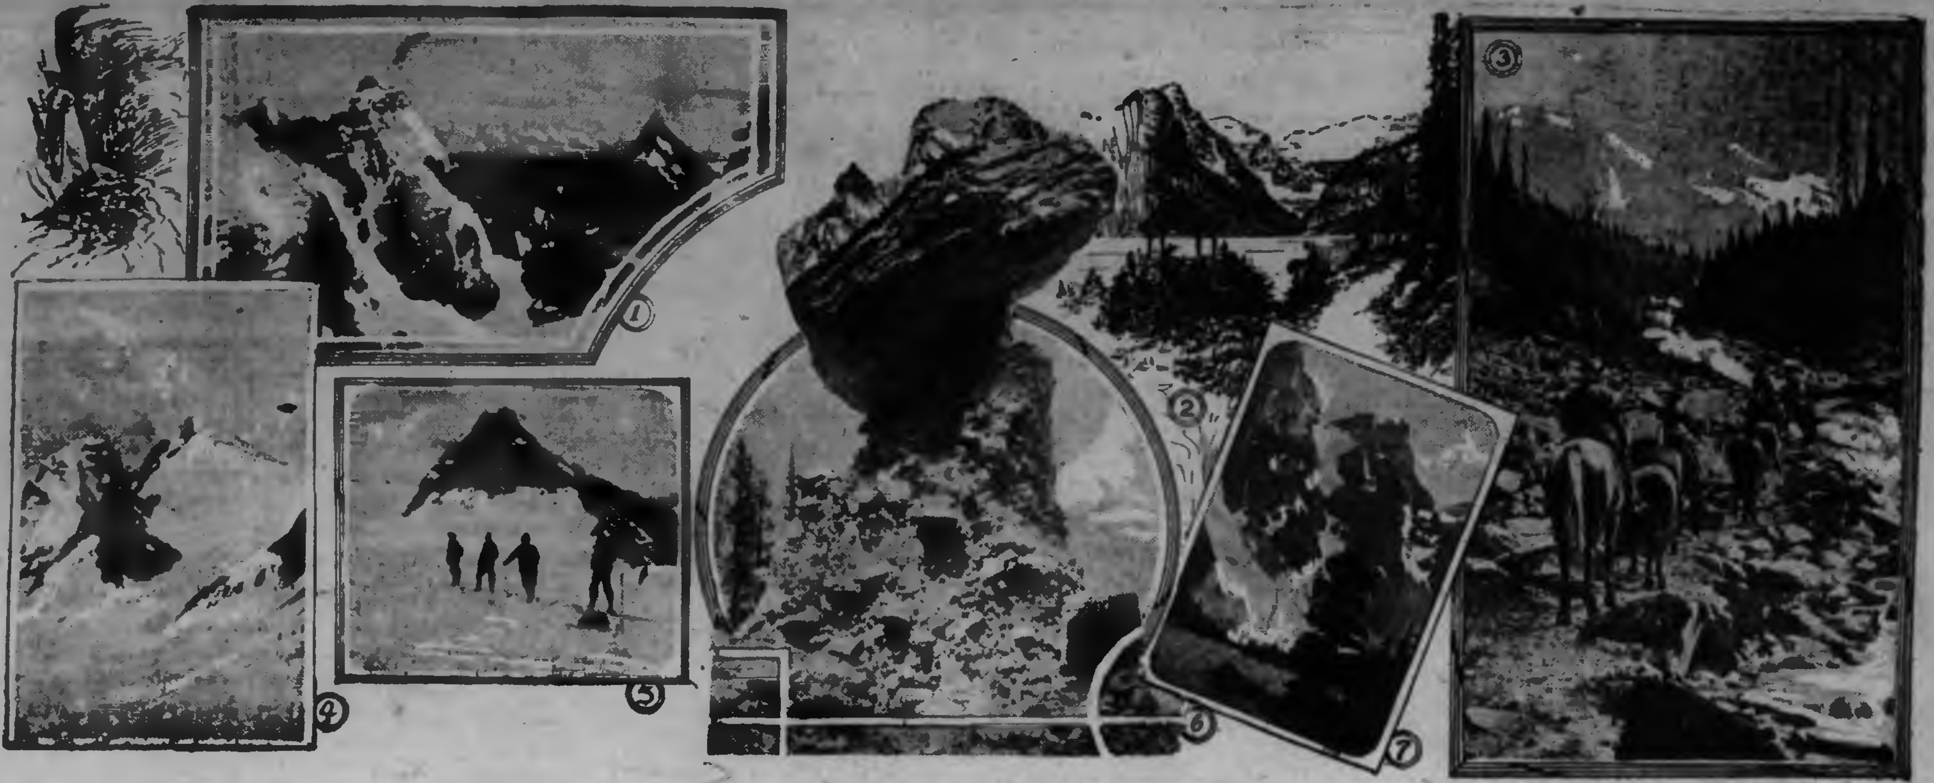
SCENES IN THE CANADIAN ROCKIES



KEY TO ABOVE:—No. 1—Scene in Canadian Rockies; No. 2—Lake Louise; No. 3—On the Trail in Yoho Valley; No. 4—Mt. Carnaroon; No. 5—Alpine Climbers; No. 6—The Hoodoo; No. 7—Moraine Lake.

It is the boast of Canadians that the Rocky Mountains north of the International boundary line contain the most beautiful scenery on the North American continent, if not in the entire world.

Many travellers who have made the trip from Calgary, Alberta, through Banff, Laggan, Field, and other points along the Canadian Pacific to the Pacific coast, declare that even the glory of the Alps is dimmed by the grandeur of the Canadian Rockies. Switzerland's mountain scenery, say these travellers, in comparison with the lofty peaks of the Canadian Rockies, is toy-like. Several Switzerlands could be placed in the Rocky Mountains of Canada and still not deprive that country of many of its chief points of interest.

From Calgary, which is the last point on the Canadian prairies to the Gap, is a rise of about 1,000 feet. At the latter point the mountains rise abruptly in great masses. For thousands of miles north and south the Gap is the only entrance where railway engineers could find an opening sufficient to make possible the construction of a railway line to the Pacific coast of Canada. A bend in the railway line brings the train between two almost perpendicular walls of dizzy heights. Through this gateway the Bow River issues from the hills. A short distance beyond the traveller finds a long valley through the Fairholme Range and the Kananaskis Range opposite. Prominent among the peaks in this vicinity are Pigeon, Wind, and Three Sisters Mountains. A remarkable contrast between the ranges is very noticeable here.

Probably the most impressive thing about the Canadian Rockies is their massive ruggedness. These mountains are tremendous uplifts of stratified rock of the Devonian and Carboniferous ages, which have broken out of the crust of the earth and slowly heaved aloft. On the right and left the traveller through this district will see massive, snow laden promontories rising thousands of feet, penetrated by enormous alcoves in which haze and shadow of gorgeous coloring lie engulfed. Some sections, miles and miles in breath, and thousands of feet thick, have pushed straight up, so that their strata remains almost as level as before; others are tilted more or less on edge and lie in a steeply slanting position; still other sections are bent and crumpled under prodigious side pressure, while all have been broken down and worn away until now they are only colossal fragments of the original uplifts.

To him who is unfamiliar with mountain scenery, the sight is impressive indeed, for snow-capped peaks single and comparatively isolated, rising to heights of 9,000 feet and more, appear on all sides. Among those in the vicinity of Canmore, a region of large coal mines, are found the Three Sisters. Nearby and along the embankment of one of the deep valleys traversed by the railway, are group after group of isolated and curiously weathered conglomerate mountains called "Hoodoos," giant earthern pillars, 10 times the height of a man—some of them—composed of hard enough material to withstand the erosions that have played havoc with the surrounding bank.

Five miles beyond Canmore the Rocky Mountain National Park of Canada is entered at Bankhead, with an altitude of 4,569 feet, the paths narrow suddenly and as the mountains are penetrated the scenery becomes grander and more awe-inspiring. The walled precipice shooting up in Seven Peaks on the left is Rundle, called after an early missionary to the Indians.

At Laggan, as at Banff, there are chalets for the accommodation of travellers. Swiss guides are ready to lead tourists through any part of the mountainous districts surrounding. Laggan is a station for the Lake in the Clouds, which are perched on the mountain sides amidst the most romantic environment. They are rare gems, whose loveliness and charm surpass all description.

Lake Louise, Alberta, is 5,670 feet above the sea level. From the chateau built on Lake Louise there is a bridle path to Mirror Lake, 6,655 feet up the mountain, and a still farther ascent to Lake Agnes, to which a magnificent view of the Bow Valley and surrounding mountains is obtained. Both the lakes lie literally above the clouds, nestled in the rocky cirques among the peaks of the Beehive, St. Piran, Niblock and Whyte.

Innumerable bridle paths and excellent roads lead to beauty spots of surpassing charm in this district. This is the mecca in the summer time for mountain climbers, hunters and people who enjoy out-of-door sports. Many of the mountains in this district are much more than 11,000 feet in height. Among these are Mts. Victoria and Lefroy.

Mt. Stephen is named in honor of the first President of the Canadian Pacific, Lord Mount Stephen. Here is the "Great Divide," and a sparkling stream separates into two, the waters of one flowing to the Pacific, and those of the other to Hudson Bay. From here the traveller descends rapidly, passing the beautiful Wapta at Hector, and crossing the deep Gorge of Kicking Horse River just beyond. The line clings to the mountain side at the left and the valley on the right rapidly deepens, until the river is seen as a gleaming thread 500 or 600 feet below. Above is the surrated skyline, whose craggy margin hides the glaciers and real summit of the range. Looking to the right is Yoho, one of the grandest mountain valleys in the world, stretching away to the north with great white glacier-bound peaks on either side. Looking to the right the Heights of Mt. Field are seen. This place is the objective point for a great many various kinds of sportsmen, for there is excellent fly fishing for trout in the lakelets and streams near the village. Mountain goat, sheep and game of the large varieties abound.

Continuing from Field, the traveller passes Ottertail, Leonchall, Palliser, Glenoble, Golden and Moberly. The Selkirks now come into sight, rising from their forest-clad bases and lifting their ice-crowned heads far into the sky. They extend in an apparently unbroken line from southeast to the northwest, gradually melting into the remote distance. Parallel with them and rising eastward to the right and north from Columbia, range upon range, are the Rockies, only the loftiest of peaks are to be seen over the massive benches on which they rest.

CUT THIS OUT

If you know someone who is troubled with head noises, or catarrhal deafness, cut out this formula and hand to them, and you will have been the means of saving some poor sufferers perhaps from total deafness. Recent experiments have proved conclusively that catarrhal deafness, head noises, etc., were the direct cause of constitutional disease, and that salves, sprays, inhalers, etc., merely temporise with the complaint and seldom, if ever, effect permanent cure. This being so, much time and money has been spent of late by a noted specialist in perfecting a pure, gentle, yet effective tonic that would quickly dispel all traces of the catarrhal poison from the system. The effective prescription which was eventually formulated and which has aroused the belief that deafness will soon be extinct, is given below in understandable form, so that anyone can treat themselves in their own home at little expense.

Secure from your druggist 1 oz. Parmint (Double Strength), about 75c worth. Take this home, and add to it ¼ pint of hot water and 4 oz. moist or granulated sugar; stir until dissolved. Take one tablespoonful four times a day.

The first dose promptly ends the most distressing head noises, headache, dullness, cloudy thinking, etc., while the hearing rapidly returns as the system is invigorated by the tonic action of the treatment. Loss of smell and mucus dropping in the back of the throat are other symptoms that show the presence of catarrhal poison, and which are quickly overcome by this efficacious treatment. Nearly ninety per cent. of all ear troubles are directly caused by catarrh, therefore there are but few people whose hearing cannot be restored by this simple home treatment. Every person who is troubled with head noises, catarrhal deafness, or catarrh in any form, should give this prescription a trial. There is nothing better.

Important—In ordering Parmint always specify that you want Double Strength; your druggist has it or he can get it for you; if not, send 75c to the International Laboratories, 74 St. Antoine St., Montreal, P.Q., who make a specialty of it.

WEDDING BELLS

BROWN—BEGGS.

The marriage of Miss Janette Beggs of Peterboro, to Mr. F. H. Brown, of Smith township, was solemnized at St. Paul's manse at 2 o'clock yesterday afternoon. They were attended by the groom's brother, Mr. Fred Brown and Miss Cora Bradburn. The happy couple left on the 3.31 train for points near Toronto.

JOHNSTONE—MORROW.

The marriage of Miss Lillian May Morrow, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. G. Morrow, of Peterboro, Ont., and Mr. Geo. A. Johnstone, architect son of Judge T. C. Johnstone, of Regina, was solemnized by the Rev. E. C. Earp, at Grace Church at 8 o'clock last evening (Sept. 10.) Mr. and Mrs. Johnstone will leave this morning for Los Angeles, Cal., where they will reside in future. Regina Leader, Sept. 11, 1914.

INCREASE CAVALRY IN OVERSEAS FORCE

Ottawa, Sept. 15.—It is learned that the Government has decided to increase the Canadian Overseas Expeditionary Force by the addition of two cavalry regiments, who will go to the front at war strength. The regiments chosen for service are the Strathcona Horse, with headquarters at Winnipeg, and the Royal Canadian Dragoons of St. John, Quebec and Toronto, both belonging to the Canadian Permanent Force. The combined peace strength of the two regiments is less than 300 men, but each will go to the front 602 strong, the make-up being 575 men and 27 officers. The regiments will be in addition to the cavalry squadron already organized to accompany the First Canadian Army Division. This means that all the permanent force in Canada, including the artillery, cavalry and infantry, will be either with the force abroad or doing garrison duty in Canada.

LARGE SHIPMENT OF GOLD TO OTTAWA

Ottawa, Sept. 15.—Eight tons of gold valued at five million dollars arrived at noon today over the New York Central lines and under heavy guards was at once moved to the vaults of the Dominion Government. The shipment was from J. P. Morgan and Company and was consigned to the Finance Minister, who will hold it as trustee for the Bank of England. New York will make payments to London by drawing against these deposits. It is expected that fifteen million dollars in all will arrive in Ottawa this week. The placing of this money to the credit of the Bank of England at Ottawa, it is believed, will help to facilitate the carrying on of business between this side and the Old Country.

CLEANSES YOUR HAIR
MAKES IT BEAUTIFUL

Surely try a "Danderine Hair Cleanse" if you wish to immediately double the beauty of your hair. Just moisten a cloth with Danderine and draw it carefully through your hair, taking one small strand at a time; this will cleanse the hair of dust, dirt or any excessive oil—in a few minutes you will be amazed. Your hair will be wavy, fluffy and abundant and possess an incomparable softness, lustre and luxuriance!

Besides beautifying the hair, one application of Danderine dissolves every particle of dandruff; invigorates the scalp, stopping itching and falling hair.

Danderine is to the hair what fresh showers of rain and sunshine are to vegetation. It goes right to the roots, invigorates and strengthens them. Its exhilarating, stimulating and life-producing properties cause the hair to grow long, strong and beautiful.

You can surely have pretty, soft, lustrous hair, and lots of it, if you will just get a 25 cent bottle of Knowlton's Danderine from any drug store or toilet counter and try it as directed.

The Lord Mayor inspected the recently enrolled city special constables at the tower of London.

How You Can Quickly
Remove Hairy Growths

(Aid to beauty.

A well known beauty specialist advises this treatment for the removal of hair from the face. Mix into a paste some powdered delatone and water, apply to hairy surface and after about 2 minutes rub off, wash the skin and every trace of hair has vanished. This method is quick and entirely safe. To avoid disappointment, however, it is well to make certain you get genuine delatone.

HO CAUSED THIS TERRIBLE WAR? GERMANY ALONE INSISTED ON IT

ven Austria Preferred Peaceful Settlement But Was Forced by Germany to Take Aggressive Action--Britain Russia and France Strained Every Nerve to Prevent War--Germany Determined on the Conquest of France and England

"Who Caused the War?" is the tle of an article in Harper's Weekly. is written by Mr. Norman Hapood, editor of that publication, and presents the impression made by the ritish White Paper upon an Ameri- n writer who is known to hold adanced radical opinions. The article as follows:—

The most essential facts in the tuation are these:

1. Austria is not a nation. She is dynasty. The House of Hapsburg les over peoples who constantly en- avour to separate. The foreign poli- y of that house is based on the de- re to hold its Dominions together. ungary has been troublesome lately. he new Slav province of Bosni-Her- govina has required much repression. ervia has grown strong and dreamed f leading the non-Russian Slavs. The apsburg dynasty needed for its own omfort to reduce Servia. There are ways plots and counterplots on both des. The Austrian government well new ahead of the plot to assassinate ing Alexander and Queen Draga in 03. It took a cynical attitude to- ard the murder until the world's tory led it to express belated hor- or. When Servia completed a tariff nion with Bulgaria in 1905 Austria gan a tariff war on Servia. In 1908 an effort to prove a Servian plot gainst her, Austria relied on docu- ents that were forged. The murder the heir presumptive a few weeks go gave Austria her next chance, nd she took it.

2. Russia has made it clear before, nd she made it clear this time, that he would not let a Slav state be ampled on. She had to submit the st time Austria moved, because the apanese war was so recent. She nd she would have been indefinitely ished to avoid war this time. In- tronger in three years than she is ow. The correspondence fully shows at she accepted all the suggestions Sir Edward Grey for a settlement nd offered in Vienna any arrange- ent that did not mean destruction the political independence of Ser- ia by Austria.

The state of mind of the German annot yet so confidently be described. ir Edward Grey on July 20th urged pon the German Ambassador in ondon, the desirability of having the pected Austrian demands as reason- ble as possible. On the 23rd Grey as informed by the Austrian Ambas- ador to Great Britain that he sup- osed the Austrian ultimatum to Great Britain would contain some- hing in the nature of a time limit. Grey urged that this point be left out f the first demands in order to let ussia cool down, and if necessary, e introduced later. Grey expressed the opinion that if as many as four great Powers, Austria, France, Russia and Germany were engaged in war, a complete collapse of European credit and industry would accompany or follow the struggle. Count Mensdorff merely endeavoured to throw all the responsibility on Russian mobilization. Grey remarked that at such a time of difficulty it required two to keep the peace. On the same day the British Ambassador in Rome wrote that the Italian government explained the situation by Austria's need of a "definite success." On July 24th, the British Ambassador to Russia telegraphed Gray: "President of the French Republic and President of the Council cannot reach France on their return from Russia for four or five days and it looks as though Austria purposely chose this moment to present their ultimatum." On the same day Sir Edward Grey urged on Germany that Germany, Italy, France and England should work together in St. Petersburg and Vienna in favor of moderation. The next day the Austrian Ambassador stated to Grey that the Austrian demands were not an ultimatum, but a demarche, and if not complied with the result would not be military operations but military preparations. Grey at once telegraphed this to St. Petersburg and Paris, hoping to make the situation less acute. The answer in St. Petersburg by the Minister of Foreign Affairs was that a different view came from German quarters. Also that Russia was quite ready to accept the four-power plan. Also that the obligations undertaken by Servia in 1908, which Austria says were not carried out, were given not to Austria, but to the Powers. He believed Austria aimed at overthrowing the status quo in the Balkans and establishing her own hegemony there. He did not believe Germany wanted war, and he thought she could be stopped by England. The next day the German Secretary of State said to the British Ambassador that if the relations between Austria quite ready to fall in with grow and Russia became threatening he was (Grey's) suggestion as to the Four Powers working in favor of moderation at Vienna and St. Petersburg."

If!

It was the very urge of war, as everybody knew! On the same day the British Ambassador telegraphed Sir Edward Grey: "Language of press this morning leaves the impression that the surrender of Servia is neither expected nor really desired." It is to be remembered that the most prominent newspapers are official and semi-official organs of the Government. On the same day the British representative in Servia telegraped to

ermans Lost Twenty-Six Range Guns To Russians

Petrograd, Sept. 16.—The following ummary of the recent fighting in alicia, from the Russian point of iew, has been made public in Pet- grad through semi-official channels:

On the River Vistula Russian troops ave taken possession of an accumu- tion of material for bridge building nd they destroyed several steamers, ne of which was armored.

The desperate efforts of the German roops to save the Austrian army rom utter rout should be recorded. The active participation of German rmy corps in the fighting has been vealed at several different places a- ong the Austrian front as, for in- tance, at Tourchine. The Russians aptured 26 pieces of long range Ger- man artillery, in addition to some 000 German prisoners at this point. other places dozens of large Ger- man guns, many of which had been revented by lack of time for taking part in the fighting fell into their ands.

In conclusion this announcement of Russian successes declares that the [illegible] sent by Germany did not save the Austrians and that the heavy de- feat inflicted upon the Germans has contributed to the brilliancy of the Russian victories.

LAUNCH PONTOON FOR BIG DRY DOCK AT PRINCE RUPERT, B.C.

Good progress is being made with the construction of the big Grand Trunk Pacific Dry Dock at Prince Rupert. This dock, costing $3,000,000, will have an important national value, as it will be able to handle the largest vessels, either naval or mercantile, afloat on the Pacific Ocean.

The dock will have in all twelve pontoons and the first of these was launched this week. It is 130 feet long and exclusive of other fittings has 300,000 feet of timber in its construction. A second pontoon is to be launched on the 22nd inst., and six pontoons will be completed by January 1st. The capacity displacement of the series will be 20,000 tons and each pontoon will have two powerful centrifugal pumps, so that, when the ship is in place, the water can be rapidly pumped out and repair work begun. The dock is so arranged that it can be used in three separate units or in any combination that is desired. A large number of men are employed on the construction work which is only one of many projects Prince Rupert has in hand at present.

British Beat Back the Foe With Heavy Losses--More Prisoners

Another Big Battle Being Fought--Germans in Some Strong Positions and Making a Stand--Foe Has Been Driven North of Verdun--French Relieve Troyon--Only Interruption of Sabath-Like Stillness is Crush of French Artillery in Concealed Positions

London, Sept. 16.—(5.28 p.m.)—The Official Press Bureau today gave out a statement which says;—

The general position along the Aisne River continues very favorable. The enemy has delivered several counter-attacks against the First Army Corps. Those have been repulsed, and the Germans have given way slightly before our troops and the French armies on our right and left. The enemy's loss is very heavy, and we have taken 200 prisoners.

PARIS OFFICIAL REPORTS

Paris, Sept. 16.—The following official communication was made public here to-day:

During the days of the 14th and the 15th of September the rear guards of the enemy, with which our pursuing forces were in contact, were reinforced from the main body of the German army.

The enemy is engaging in a defensive battle along their entire front on which certain of their positions show strong organization. This front is bounded by the region of Noyon, the plains to the north of Vic-Sur-Aisne and Soissons, Laon, the heights to the north and to the west of Rheims, and a line which runs thence to the north of Ville-Sur-Tourle, to the west of the Argonne region, and which is continued beyond the Argonne by another line which passes north of Varennes, that was evacuated by the enemy, and reaches the River Meuse in the neighborhood of the forest of Forges is north of Verdun.

During the pursuit of the enemy executed by our troops after the Battle of Marne, the Germans abandoned numerous prisoners to our hands. To these men there has been added a large multitude of stragglers, who were hidden in tee forests.

No exact accounting of these prisoners or of the war material captured by us so far has been possible. It is for this reason that the Minister of War who does not want to give out figures which might be considered fantastic, refrains from announcing the details of these captures.

Noyon is 80 miles northeast of Paris, and 14 miles from Compiegne. The battle line as given in the foregoing despatch, is in a straight line running almost due east and west. From Noyon to a point north of Verdun is about 110 miles.

FRENCH ARMIES RELIEVE TROYON

London, Sept. 16.—The centre of interest in the western theatre of the war has shifted from the right wing of the German army, under Gen. Von Kluck, to the left wing, where the relief of Troyon by the French is regarded in London as leaving the army of the German Crown Prince Frederick William in what would appear to be a dangerous position.

Soissons, France, Sept 15.—Tuesday, by way of Paris, Sept. 16.—The German right wing in its retreat, abandoned Soissons yesterday (Monday), at the same time leaving the southern bank of the River Aisne. The German retirement northward continued during Monday night. The French in their pursuit crossed the river. The French artillery is today heavily in action on the other bank of the Aisne. The only interruption of the almost Sabbath-like stillness of Soissons today is the crash of French artillery, concealed at a point scarcely 300 yards from Soissons, mingled with the lessened roar of other guns further distant.

Gravel For Street Paving Must Be Drawn By City Men

The City's Board of Works met in regular weekly session last night, Chairman Ald. Duncan presiding. The following members were present: Mayor Butler, Aldermen McIntyre, Anderson, Johnston, G. Walter Green, A. H. Stratton, and Saunders.

Teamsters Protest.

A deputation of teamsters waited upon the Board and complained that a man named Brown, who is supplying Foley and Gleeson with gravel for street paving purposes, is drawing the gravel with country teamsters. The men at practically the eleventh hour with the main object of giving employment to the city's unemployed. He urged that the Board's chairman and the City Engineer Parsons should interview Messrs. Foley and Gleeson, and explain the situation to them. Should there be any hitch in the gravel supplied by Mr. Brown being drawn by city teamsters, then he would advise gravel being drawn from the city's gravel pit, in the absence of any other source, in order to furnish work for city teamsters.

This view was unanimously acquiesced in, and a motion by Ald. Stratton and Johnston to that effect carried

How Does England Do It?

An American contemporary is very much puzzled over the status of England. It says Canada does not want England; Australia has not any use for her; South Africa hates her; India is constantly threatening revolt. Yet when trouble arises all these colonies tumble over each other to be first to show their love for her. Then the journal in question asks the pertinent question, "How does England do it?"

The answer is, as a nation for weal or woe there is no England now. It is Empire, the great and glorious British Empire, every race and creed and color in which is equally protected by that grand old British flag which Belgian women saluted with a kiss on learning that the British were coming to their protection. England, or rather Great Britain, is the pivot of freedom, liberty and justice around which the Empire revolves. She is the nucleus of all that represents universal freedom prepared to die with the Mother Country—by either for hundreds of millions of loyal subjects, who are adoption or birth—in defence of the oppressed. And there are Americans, too, thousands of them, who are tumbling over each other to show, in various practical ways, in the present European crisis, their love for that little group of islands in the North Atlantic, and all that they stand for in world-wide affairs. Of course our contemporary evidently construes minor family differences as aggressive estrangement, as evidenced in first paragraph of the above. The world at large, however—especially the Kaiser—knows differently by this time.

"HOBOES" ARE BLAMED FOR THE INCREASING PRICE OF FOOD

New York, Sept. 16.—The constant increases in the prices of food commodities may be traced directly to that class which occupies park benches and is maintained by charitable organizations according to Moses Sanders, president of the New York beef and mutton company. He advanced this opinion today as a witness before Justice Benedict in the enquiry into the said increases.

Mr. Sanders explained his contention by saying farmers of New York state had practically quit raising sheep and other food animals because of the lack of labor.

"Prior to 1910" he declared, "farmers of this state produced something like 250,000 sheep a year. Last year this was cut to 5,000. Despite offers of $30 a month and food, the farmers cannot get labor."

He added that practically the entire meat business of this section was controlled by five or six wholesale and packers.

NOTED BOER CHIEF SHOT IN MISTAKE

South African Police Were on the Lookout for Gang of Auto Bandits

Capetown, Sept. 16.—General Jacobus Hendrik de la Rey, the well known Boer general, has been accidentally shot dead near Johannesburg.

General de la Rey, accompanied by General Beyers, who has just resigned his position as Commander-in-Chief of the defence forces of the Union of South Africa, was returning yesterday evening by automobile to his farm, when the police, who were watching for a gang of desperadoes known to be using a car similar to that of General de la Rey, challenged the general. It is evident that neither General de la Rey nor those in the car with him heard the challenge, for they proceeded without stopping. The police fired at the car and a bullet entered General de la Rey's heart.

The shooting of the general has caused a great sensation throughout South Africa.

Command Boer Force.

General de la Rey was born in 1846. He was a member of the first Volksraad of the Transvaal, and during the Boer war, during which commanded the Lichtenburg burghers he won a high reputation as a military leader. After the war he went to England with General De Wet and Botha and took an important part in the peace negotiations.

LONDON PATIENTLY AWAITS NEWS OF SECOND GREAT BATTLE IN FRANCE

German Commanders Demonstrate Great Skill in Their Retreat--No Decisive Result Yet, Although Battle of Marne Was a Big Victory--Emperor William Has Gone to East Prussia to Take a Hand in Opposing the Russians

London, Sept. 16.—The second great battle in Northern France since the southbound sweep of the German invaders met its check is now apparently in progress to the northward of the River Aisne. The opposing lines are arrayed from the Argonne hills through Rethel to Chateau-Porcein, and near the practice camp of Sissone, where the programme of the French summer manoeuvres contemplated cavalry training on a large scale for this very date.

Whether the Germans propose a fight to a finish at this position, or plan merely to cover their retreat to the River Meuse, is not yet clear but the German commanders are showing the same skill in retreat and the same skill in keeping their forces intact as the allies showed a fortnight ago.

Find No Decisive Result.

The German rush into and out of France thus far has brought no decisive result, and still a pitched battle on a huge scale is fought and won neither side is in a position to claim that it has secured more than the opening move in the war game.

The allies for the moment have retrieved their perilous position and have turned thi tables on the invaders, but the next move is with the Germans, whose armies are still in being and in a great force on a ground more or less selected by themselves.

Austria is Dead Loss.

The debacle—for it seems nothing less—in the Austrian armies means that Germany will have more and more to rely mainly upon herself; hence there will be a greater inter dependance of events in the eastern and western field of operations.

What new forces Germany can put into the campaign in the western area must henceforth depend in a great measure upon how far she can neglect the Russian movement on Breslau, the capital of the Prussian province of Silesia, 190 miles southeast of Berlin.

Not Likely to Command.

According to reports today, Emperor William himself has gone to East Prussia to take chief command of the German armies opposing the Russian invaders. He may have gone there but little credence is attached to the assertion that he proposes to take the active command out of the hands of fighting generals of the calibre of Von Hindenberg.

There is the unusual diversity of stories today regarding the Austro-Servian operations. The Austrian general staff claims to have driven the Serbs out of the province of Banat and from the eastern district of Slavonia.

BERLIN POPULATION IS FED WITH THE USUAL SOOTHING NEWS

German Line Reported Holding Out Successfully, But the Staggering Forced Retirements Endangering Line of Retreat Not Referred to--Russian Operations in Harmony With Western Campaign

According to advices received here from Berlin, the demand for news in Germany, where the people would appear to be growing impatient, has been soothed to a certain extent by the reassuring statement from the general staff that the German line is holding out successfully against the offensive movements of the allies. So far as the last 24 hours are concerned, this information agrees with the news received in London with the exception, however, of the German left wing. This part of the line, judging from despatches made public in London, would appear not only to have withdrawn from the investment of Verdun, but by permitting the relief of Troyon, which is 12 miles to the south-east of Verdun, to have left itself only one line of retreat. This is through the Stenay Gap, to reach Luxemberg, or by way of Longuyon and Longwy, to reach Thionville (Diedenhofen.)

What About Metz?

If the allies are able to prevent the army of the German Crown Prince from using Metz as a base of operations, it is felt in London that the German left wing would be in as serious a situation as was its right last week.

Expert military observers in Petrograd have declared that the Russian investment of Koenigsberg, and General Rennenkampf's foray into East Prussia, were planned with the deliberate intent of compelling Germany to detach some of her forces from France to the relief of her East Prussian frontier. In Petrograd, military circles unite in characterizing this manoeuvre as brilliantly successful; so much so, in fact, that the salvation of the allied forces in the west is undoubtedly due to Germany's having sent several of her best army corp to East Prussia.

Russians to Advance.

With this work apparently accomplished, it is being predicted in England today that the Russian forces investing Koenigsberg, together with General Rennenkampf's army, will be withdrawn within the Russian border.

If it is a fact that Germany's ally in Galicia has retired within the fortified angle dominated by Erosoyal, as despatches received here indicate, the inference is drawn by British observers, that the Russian right is now free to advance from the southeast, and that an aggressive movement from this quarter may be looked for.

A RECORD BAG

Great Sport For Haileybury and Cobalt Hunters

Probably one of the largest bag of game secured in the North country was made by a party of Cobalt and Haileybury hunters. The gentlemen in question, eight in number, were out in the bush five miles from Gillies for a week, and in that short space of time secured one moose, one bear and eight deer, a remarkable record for a trip of that duration.

That the chase was most successful the "bag" captured attests, and the hunters report that deer were most plentiful in that neighborhood and could easily be shot. Those deer which they themselves obtained were shot in a thicket, and there was very little necessity to go hunting them. The moose, also, which was a good specimen of the monarch of the bush, was obtained without much trouble, being shot from a distance of two hundred yards, and three shots despatched the animal.

The presence of the bear in the "bag" was due largely to Bruin's fondness for fresh venison. Attracted by the smell of deer flesh the bear approached the hunters' camp and proceeded to make short work of the head and entrails of one of the slain deer. He had spoiled the former for mounting purposes before the immediate vicinity was noticed, but, once he had been observed, no time was lost in adding his carcase to the list of trophies secured.

The bodies of the various animals captured were towed across the river behind a canoe, and were afterwards loaded in sleighs and in that way brought back home. The hunters reported that before the snow fell, the deer, especially, were captured without any great difficulty, but, after the storm, more trouble was experienced in shooting them. The party returned home well pleased with the result of the trip.

TOWN CHANGED NAME

Benefactor of Old Quebec Municipality Honored After Years

To travellers between Montreal and Levis, Stanfold has been for half a century a well known point on the Grand Trunk railway, being almost midway between Quebec and Richmond. Clustering around the station there grew up a thriving community of nearly 3,000 people. But while the station has been called Stanfold since the line was built, and the Post Office has also been known as Stanfold, the township took the name of Princeville, being incorporated in the list of municipalities under that title and transacting all its business under that guise. One of the first settlers in the district bore the name of Prince and by his donations of land for public purposes and other acts, did much towards the upbuilding of the township. When incorporation was sought it was decided to honor this benefactor and the municipality took the name of Princeville, although the postal and railway address was Stanfold, but in accordance with the wishes of the people in the community, the railway authorities decided to change the name of the station to Princeville.

Bearded or Shaven Face

We need not go so far back as the 18th century to find Englishmen who held that shaving was "agen God and Nature." In the 19th, James Ward, Royal Academy, in a "Defense of the beard," set forth 18 reasons for retaining it, mainly Scriptural reinforced by artistic considerations. "What would a Jupiter be without a beard? Who would countenance the idea of a shaved Christ?" As late as 1860 Theologos published a treatise entitled "Shaving: a breach of the Sabbath and a hindrence to the spread of the Gospel." One of his points was that Providence had manifestly designed the beard as a protection for the throat and chest. But what about the woman's throat?

Nowhere was there more prejudice centuries ago against beards than at Inns of the Court. The "black books" of the Inns tell us how offenders were fined for wearing beards, and sometimes were even compulsorily shaved by order of court. And the prejudice against the bearded barrister still lingers. Vice-Chancellor Bacon carried his dislike to bearded or moustached barristers so far that he always refused to hear them. Even now there are very few leading counsel with beards, and I can remember only one unshaved barrister of the greatest eminence, the late Judah Philip Benjamin, Queen's counsel—Silver-tongued Benjamin, who wore a moustache and a goatee.—London Chronicle.

Alligator Veal

The average man, asked if he ever ate reptiles, would reply, with a shudder: "Certainly not!"

Suggest to him that it was possible that he might have tasted green turtle soup, and he would admit that, after all, there were reptiles fit to grace a table.

Dr. Livingstone wrote enthusiastically of the great African frog known as the "mattarneto." It is six inches long, tastes like chicken, and is caught during the dry season, when it can be dug out of the mud at the bottom of dried-up pools.

African natives eat many specimens of reptiles. The common green lizard, either baked or fried, is considered a dainty by most of the inland tribes. In the market of Sennaar and many other towns crocodile meat is always on sale.

A large number of travellers have compared the flesh of the crocodile and of the alligator to veal, but its peculiar, musky odor makes it unpleasant to the average white person. If the musk glands are not cut out before cooking the meat is quite uneatable. Physicians of the Middle Ages prescribed boiled crocodile meat for coughs and sciatica, crocodile blood for ophthalmia, and crocodile fat in fever.

Food For Fowls

Those who experience any difficulty in providing the necessary greenstuff for their fowls—as many do in winter—can provide an excellent substitute by sprouting barley or oats. The method is as follows. Place a layer of the grain in a shallow box and over the top, instead of the lid, place a piece of canvas, keeping it constantly moistened. Place in a warm place for a week, when the grain will swell and throw out long, succulent shoots. It is a food that is eagerly devoured, and greatly assists egg production.

PORTRAIT POSING

Amateur photographers do not, in many cases, pay sufficient attention to the composition of the picture they are taking, particularly when the photograph is a portrait taken indoors. A quite plain person will often make a charming picture if suitably and gracefully posed against a good background.

Most amateur indoor photographs show too much furniture. As a matter of fact, a better picture is invariably obtained when a greater part of the furniture is moved out of range of the camera. It does away with that crowded appearance seen in so many otherwise good photographs, and gives, instead, a sense of space and proportion.

Amateurs may obtain excellent effects by posing their subjects before a mirror. The portrait, which should always have a dark, hanging background, may be taken in profile with the full face reflected in the mirror. Or the position may be reversed, the profile outlined in the mirror, and the full, or three-quarter, face looking at the camera.

Soil Fertility Waning

Did you ever hear a man say, "We don't grow the crops we used to. This land is getting run out." Very often this statement applies only too truly, especially where the land has not been properly worked, and is in need of fertilizer. But people worried about the decline of soil fertility over three hundred years ago. In the 17th century an observer wrote: "There has been for a long while, and in every part of the world, complaints that the crops are gradually becoming poorer, both in quantity and quality. Farms no longer yield the returns they used to, and still no one seems to investigate carefully the reasons for this decrease, which is growing more serious every year. Some countries, once the center of flourishing agricultural industries, such as Egypt and Sicily, granaries of which supplied food in abundance to the Roman Empire, have become almost barren, unable even to feed their own scanty population."

ADVERTISE IN THE TIMES

STRENUOUS DUTIES OF INFANTRY C.O.

The "Old Man's" Responsibilities Heavy, His Pay For Services Light

The officer commanding a British infantry battalion, who is known as the O.C., C.O., or, behind his back, the "old man," receives $5.85 a day pay, exclusive of certain allowances.

His gross income is well under $2500 a year, and he is certainly not overpaid, for he must be exceptionally lucky to get command before he is forty, and his responsibilities are heavy.

The C.O.'s daily day varies greatly according to climate and other circumstances, but, as a rule, he starts work with "orderly room" at 9 or 9.30 a.m.

The "orderly-room" is the regimental police court, and, like those of a police magistrate, the C.O.'s penal powers are limited. He must investigate every charge brought before him, but in the case of serious offences, such as desertion, he must either dismiss the charge altogether, reduce it to one of absence without leave, with which he has power to deal, or remand the prisoner for trial by court-martial.

The severest punishment the C.O. can award is fourteen days "cells," save in the case of absence without leave, when he can order imprisonment up to twenty-one days.

A "non-com." can be summarily punished by reprimand or severe reprimand only, otherwise he must be sent for trial by court-martial. The C.O., however, can reduce a non-com. who holds acting rank. Officers are subject to "wiggings" only, and the "Officer's call" is usually the precurser of the "rough side of the old man's tongue."

"Orderly-room" is usually humdrum enough, but sometimes there is excitement.

I remember one occasion when a man was marched in charged with a fairly serious offence, says a writer in Answers. Asked whether he had anything to say, he replied by kicking over the C.O.'s table. It was quite some seconds before the horror-stricken escort and sergeant-major recovered their presence of mind, fell upon the rebel, and carried him out, fighting like a tiger. I don't know what they did to him outside, but when he was marched in again all the "kick" had gone out of him. Six months' "hard" was the subsequent court-martial sentence.

Round the Married Patch

After "orderly-room" comes "C.O.'s parade," that is if it is one of the appointed days, for the C.O.'s office duties will rarely permit of his personally commanding parade more than two or three times a week, except, of course, on manoeuvres.

"Papers" are the bugbear of the C.O.'s life. As there are only twenty-four hours in a day it is usually impossible for him to read half of what is put before him. Generally he has to trust to his subordinates, the orderly-room sergeant in particular, that everything is in order. Even so, merely signing his name will absorb three or four hours a day.

Of course, he has many special duties to perform.

Once a week, usually Saturday, he will visit the barrack-rooms for kit inspection, and on Sunday he usually goes round the "married patch."

There are recruits to be inspected before they are dismissed drill, and, if musketry is on, he will pay frequent visits to the range.

There are recruit officers to be examined, and once a week the C.O. lectures to and examines the officers as a whole.

He presides at officers' mess meetings, and, one way and another, his time is fully occupied. But his real work is unofficial.

He should be the "father" of his regiment, and, without prying, he should know everything that is going on in it. He should know when to administer that unofficial word in season which will pull an erring youngster straight.

As a rule, the C.O. is married, but if he is a bachelor his position calls for great tact, for then he lives among his subordinates. So far as possible he lays aside his rank in the mess, but at the same time he is generally responsible for the maintenance of good order and discipline.

The man who commands a battalion shoulders responsibilities and performs work which in civil life would bring him a handsome reward, but the C.O.'s expenses are such that he can rarely live on his pay, while at the end of his term he usually has nothing to look forward to but retirement on $2,100 a year.

Chile raises its best tobacco with seed obtained from Cuba.

Sweet oil, followed by rubbing with a dry cloth, will cleanse brass beds.

A man may be a child of circumstances, ruled by them or a parent of circumstances; ruling them.

There is a great future ahead for the man who goes ahead now and keeps well up with the present.

RISING FINANCIER

Ontario Man Who Made Rapid Strides Toward Success

Remarkably rapid has been the rise of Mr. George A. Morrow, who succeeded Mr. H. C. Cox as president of the Imperial Life Assurance Company of Canada.

Mr. Morrow was born in 1877, at Millbrook, Ont., a son of J. M. and Mary (Laidley) Morrow. His father and mother were both natives of Canada.

He was educated in the public schools of his native place and later at collegiate institutes at Toronto and Peterboro. After his schooling, he put in three years in the wholesale manufacturing business, and since then has been connected with the financial world, in the lines of loan and savings companies, life and fire insurance companies, bond and securities corporations, and similar business. At present Mr. Morrow holds the following important offices: Vice-President Dominion Securities Corporation, Limited; assistant manager the Central Canada Loan and Savings Company, president of the Imperial Life Assurance Company, and director in the following: The Central Canada Loan and Savings Company, the Imperial Guarantee and Accident Company, the Toronto Electric Light Company, the Western Assurance Company, the British America Assurance Company, the Mississippi River Power Company, and the Canada Steel Company.

Fashions Last Forever

Our modern clothing illustrates the innate conservatism of humanity by a large number of interesting survivals. Among these is the hatband, the original purpose of which was to hold a piece of cloth or linen around the head. The Egyptians of 350-0 B.C. wore a piece of linen around the head, with a band terminating in two tails at the back and a survival of this is to be found in the tails of the present-day Scottish bonnet and the sailor's cap.

Again, clocks on stockings originally were a species of ornamentation to hide the seams where the stuff was joined together, and the "points" on the backs of gloves survive from the braid used to cover the seams in the gloves of early times.

BRITISH-CANADIAN

Do you desire to make large profits on your investment in Alberta Oil Shares?

If you do you must use good judgment in the selection of the companies in which you invest.

In order that you may use this good judgment it is absolutely necessary that you investigate and analyze a company thoroughly before placing your money in its shares.

In order that you may do this in the case of the British Canadian Oils, Ltd., we hereby give you the information we have secured through our rigid investigation and analysis of said company, and in giving this information we would say that we believe it is correct in every detail.

(1) The British Canadian Oils, Ltd., is incorporated for $1,000,000; 10,000,000 shares at the par value of 10c.

(2) About 500,000 shares of the stock have already been sold, and are now in the hands of the investing public.

(3) The Directors' and Officers' stock is all pooled.

(4) The Company is the holder of petroleum and natural gas leases on over 7,000 acres of land in the Province of Alberta.

(5) The Directors, Officers and Solicitors of the Company are all reliable and conscientious business men who have the welfare of the company at heart, and who desire in every manner in their power to give the public a square run for their money.

(6) The Company is now erecting on Section 31, Township 24, Range 4, an up-to-date combination rotary and standard rig.

(7) The Company expects to commence drilling inside of 3 days, and continue with all possible despatch.

(8) The Company has secured as Field Superintendent a man who knows his business thoroughly.

(9) The said Superintendent has engaged competent drillers to carry out his instructions.
(10) The treasury of the Company is now well financed.

(11) A reputable local geologist in reporting on adjoining property makes the following statement in said report:

"There is a plunging tendency in the crest of the anticline which causes its crest to sink toward the Elbow river. The crest of this dome-shaped structure seems to be in the neighborhood of Section 31, of Township 24, and Section 6 of Township 25."

(12) A reputable petroleum engineer in reply to an enquiry from us, stated that the lease held by the British Canadian Oils, Ltd., in Section 31, is situated on the most perfect anticline he has seen in Western Alberta.

(13) British Canadian shares are listed on the three Calgary exchanges, and are very active traders.

(14) The price of British Canadian shares is very low at the present time; we expect to see it go much higher.

In view of the above information secured by us, we have no hesitation whatever in advising you to at once buy the shares of the British Canadian Oils, Limited, at 15c per share, believing that you will get a square run for your money, and big profits on your investment.

We are prepared to fill your orders for British Canadian shares at 15c each, but this price is subject to raise without notice. Any new strike in the oil field, or any other exciting report might send this stock to a very high price. We would suggest that you wire us at our expense and let your remittance follow, or if you prefer, write us and enclose your remittance.

THE NEWEST PROFESSION

"Cambridge man is prepared to give lessons in idiomatic English to those who through lack of early opportunity are at a disadvantage in society."

The above advertisement in the "Agony column" of a London newspaper attracted a reporter's attention and he set out to investigate.

He found the advertiser ensconced in a tastefully-furnished little bachelor flat in the fashionable Kensington district of London. He is a young man, clean-shaven and well-groomed, and with the quiet air of easy self-assurance that is everywhere the accepted hall-mark of the world.

"Mind you," he said, in the course of a conversation, "I don't profess to be an authority on the English language. I only profess to teach my clients the particular brand of idiomatic English which is spoken at the present time in good society, the little nicities of which vary from year to year and which can only be acquired by experience. And I not only teach them what to say; I teach them—and this is far more important—what not to say.

"Let me explain. I have as a client an agriculturist, who is an authority naturally, on that subject, but who knows absolutely nothing, we will say, about art. Very well. I tell him to talk pigs, not pictures, in general society. In the bosom of his family, of course, it is different. There he can air his views about Royal Academy art if he cares to do so. He is only making himself ridiculous to his wife and children, and possibly not even to them, since it is quite conceivable, in fact, probable, that they know as little about the Royal Academy as he does.

"Mostly my clients are men who have knocked about the world, and 'made their bit' in the process, and who realise that there is a certain advantage accruing to them in being able to translate what is usually a varied and interesting experience of life into good idiomatic English, such as one hears across the dining-table any of an educated household.

"A little while back a man came to me who had begun life as a navvy on the Canadian Pacific Railway, and had afterwards blossomed into a prize-fighter, and finally into a full-fledged millionaire.

"At the beginning he had an accent that you could cut with a knife, his grammar was atrocious, his vocabulary strictly limited; he spluttered when he drank whisky, and sighed when he ate soup. In six weeks I had taught him sufficient to enable him to hold his own fairly well in any society. I had, indeed, if I may say so, revolutionized the man."

Our Point of View

Lwow is the Russian name for Lemberg, and we suppose that Ouch is the name for Vienna.

—o—

Every time a man has a peck of trouble he thinks it measures considerably more than a bushel.

—o—

During the U. S. Civil War it was said that South robbed the cradle and the grave to keep the Confederate armies in the field, but Germany today is robbing the cradle to feed the grave.

—o—

A New Orleans despatch says:—It is only fair to Tommy Atkins to say that on the battlefields of France he has won glory for himself and his country in the present war. Go to it, Tommy, and may your tribe never grow less.

—o—

The attitude of the Church of England toward Local Option is demonstrated by a petition which has recently been circulated among the clergy of the diocese. Following a Nonconformist poll recently taken, it was decided to approach the church of England asking their co-operation in securing Local Option. Out of 76 Anglican clergymen in this diocese, only 11 could be got to sign the petition.

—o—

It seems that Lieutenant H. H. Weisner's report of the sinking of the British cruiser Glasgow by the German cruiser Karlsruhe off the coast of Hayti is on a par with the interesting little war stories that come from Sayville, Long Island. Weisner claims to be a lieutenant in the German army, but he is probably the agent of some brewery. The Glasgow has not been sunk, nor has the British cruiser Bristol been disabled by the Karlsruhe.

—o—

Harper's Weekly commenting on the pious message sent by the Kaiser to his daughter-in-law after one of the early German successes recalls the caustic comment of Punch in 1870 following on the message sent by the Kaiser's grandfather to his wife:

Providence, my dear Augusta,
Has given us another buster;
Ten thousand Frenchmen sent below;
Praise God from whom all blessings flow."

—o—

The "Times" in its special food number which was recently published estimates that the brewing industry in Great Britain represents an investment of £250,000,000, and that in conjunction with the wine and spirit trade, employment is given to 2,000,000 people. And strange to say, despite the fact that there is not a square yard of England under prohibitory liquor laws, the number of breweries has decreased from 6,886 in 1890, to 4,105 in 1912.

It is said semi-officially in London, England, that Captain Grenfell will be recommended for the Victoria Cross. At Compeigne, when the battle was at its height, he called for volunteers, and though already suffering from two dangerous wounds, rode out and brought back to the British lines two large field pieces which had been abandoned and which were in danger of falling into the hands of the Germans. He fell from his saddle with exhaustion before reaching the British lines and was brought back by the Duke of Westminster.

Some of the causes and the fruits of feeble mindedness are set forth in a very illuminative report on the subject just submitted to the government by Dr. Helen McMurchy, Inspector of Feeble Minded for the provincial government. The inspector attributes much crime to the mentally deficient, who she says, instead of abhorring crime are in the position of the baby who is attracted by the flame. Speaking of intemperance, the inspector says:—"Want of control in the feeble minded leads often to intemperance. It is well known that a majority of chronic alcoholics are more or less mentally defective."

The current number of "The Grocer" publishes some figures which are to say the least, disconcerting to prohibitionists. While the area under local prohibition has widened greatly, the consumption of spirits in the United States was $1.32 per capita, in 1913, it was $1.50. In the same five year period the consumption of wines decreased from 67 cents to 56 cents per capita while the consumption of malt liquors remained stationary. The fact that there is such a large increase in the consumption of whiskey is an indication that people are drinking spirits in preference to beer with its less convenient package.

PRO PATRIA

The editor of "Punch" admirably describes the duty of those who are unable to go to the war, and what he says is equally applicable to Canadians who are, for valid reasons, compelled to stay at home while their hearts are in the fighting line:

England, in this great fight to which you go
Because, where Honour calls you, go you must,
Be glad, whatever comes, at least to know
You have your quarrel just.

Peace was your care; before the nations' bar
Her cause you pleaded and her ends you sought;
But not for her sake, being what you are,
Could you be bribed and bought.

Others may spurn the pledge of land to land,
May with the brute sword stain a gallant past;
But by the seal to which you set your hand,
Thank God, you still stand fast!

Forth, then, to front that peril of the deep
With smiling lips and in your eyes the light,
Steadfast and confident, of those who keep
Their storied scutcheon bright.

And we, whose burden is to watch and wait—
Light-hearted ever, strong in faith and prayer,
We ask what offering we may consecrate,
What humble service share?

To steel our souls against the lust of ease;
To find our welfare in the general good;
To hold together merging all degrees
In one wide brotherhood;—

To teach that he who saves himself is lost;
To bear in silence though our hearts may bleed;
To spend ourselves, and never count the cost,
For others' greater need;—

To go our quiet ways, subdued and sane;
To hush all vulgar clamour of the street;
With level calm to face alike the strain
Of triumph or defeat;—

This be our part, for so we serve you best,
So best confirm their prowess and their pride,
Your warrior sons, to whom in this high test
Our fortunes we confide.

LOOKING BACKWARD.

Peterborough Times, Sept. 17th, 1902.—At the annual meeting of the Peterborough Rifle Association the following officers were elected for the year:

Hon. President—Hon. J. R. Stratton.
Hon. Vice-President — Lieut.-Col. E. B. Edwards.
President—E. B. Clegg.
Vice-President—D. Cameron.
Secretary-Treasurer—R. B. Watt.

It was decided that the annual rifle matches be held on October 7th, and the details were left in the hands of a committee composed as follows, G Fitzgerald, F. Bartlett, R. E. Layfield and W. H. Moore.

Among visitors to the races here on Sept. 16th, 1902, who have all joined the great silent majority were Messrs. T. Blezard, M.P.P., and Harvey Thompson of Bobcaygeon.

Twelve years ago yesterday races were held in the Driving Park in this city. Simpson's (Lindsay) horse won the 2.30; W. Fanning's horse, Little Brick, the free-for-all and Kitty D. of Campbellford, the gentleman's road race.

Sciatica Vanishes Instantly If Nerviline Is Used

CAN YOU BEAT THIS CASE?

No ordinary liniment will even relieve Sciatica. Nothing but the most powerful kind of a remedy can penetrate through the tissues and finally reach the Sciatic Nerve. You can always depend on the old-time "Nerviline." Nothing made to-day is as good for Sciatica as Nerviline was when first produced, about forty years ago. All this time the same old "Nerviline" has been curing Sciatica, Lumbago, Rheumatism and is considered to be without an equal in relieving pain or soreness anywhere. "'Nerviline' couldn't be made stronger or better," writes James E. Edwards. "The way it cures Sciatica is to me simply a miracle. For years I suffered frightfully. I ruined my stomach with internal dosing. I rubbed in gallons of oils and liniments — none were strong enough. One good rubbing with Nerviline relieved. I kept on rubbing and shortly was cured. My fathers cured rheumatism in his right arm and shoulder with Nerviline, and my mother cured herself of chronic lumbago with Nerviline Our family simply swears by Nerviline and we are never without a 50c family size bottle in our home. We find that for external pain, for coughs, colds, earache, such minor ills it is a veritable family physician."

PETERBORO PATRIOTIC RELIEF FUND

The undersigned beg to announce to the residents of Peterboro residing in that part of the City situated North of Smith Street and West of the River, that they will make a general canvass for contributions to this Fund during the next ten days.

The object of the fund is to relieve not only the families of those who have enlisted for active service during the present war, but all who may be in need of assistance owing to lack of employment.

The undersigned wish to emphatically point out that all the money collected for this Fund is absolutely for distribution in Peterboro only.

A generous and hearty response to the appeal is requested.

STEADILY DRIVING BACK THE GERMANS

French Embassy at Washington Gets News of Allies Success

Washington, Sept. 15.—A Bordeaux foreign office despatch to the French Embassy here says:

On the thirteenth our offensive movement has continued on the whole front.

Mont Didier and Roye on our left wing has been occupied with French cavalry. The German forces are retiring towards St. Quentin and Perrone.

The headquarters of one of our armies were established today in the City of Rheims.

The German troops in the Argonne were yesterday north of the line Triaucourt-Issoncourt, having abandoned the attack on Fort Troyon (River Meuse.)

Yesterday evening French Lorraine had been completely evacuated by the Germans who were withdrawing toward Saarburg, Dieuze and Chateau Salins.

In Galicia the fight that had been going on for ten days ended in a great success for the Russians. One hundred guns, 30,000 prisoners, including 200 officers, were taken by them from the 8th to the 10th. On the whole front Austrians are retiring.

MOTHER! IS CHILD'S STOMACH SOUR, SICK?

If tongue is coated or if cross, feverish, constipated give "California Syrup of Figs."

Don't scold your fretful, peevish child. See if the tongue is coated; this is a sure sign its little stomach, liver and bowels are clogged with sour waste.

When listless, pale, feverish, full of cold, breath bad, throat sore, doesn't eat, sleep or act naturally, has stomach-ache, indigestion, diarrhoea, give a teaspoonful of "California Syrup of Figs," and in a few hours all the foul waste, the sour bile and fermenting food passes out of the bowels and you have a well and playful child again. Children love this harmless "fruit laxative," and mothers can rest easy after giving it, because it never fails to make their little insides" clean and sweet.

Keep it handy, Mother! A little given today saves a sick child tomorrow, but get the genuine. Ask your druggist for 50-cent bottle of "California Syrup of Figs," which has directions for babies, children of all ages and for grown-ups plainly on the bottle. Remember there are counterfeiters sold here, so surely look and see that yours is made by the "California Fig Syrup Company." Hand back with contempt any other fig syrup.

Spots on the sun, 25,000 miles in diameter, were the cause of the recent cold wave, say Washington astronomers.

Owing to the extraordinary demand for eggs from Europe, the price of that commodity in the United States may go up.

REFUSES BAIL TO DR. C.K. ROBINSON

Trial Set For Tuesday Next; Will Likely Go Over Till Spring.

Toronto, Sept. 16.—Mr. Justice Latchford this afternoon refused the application of Mr. T. C. Robinette, for bail for Dr. C. K. Robinson, the 25-year-old Tamworth physician, who was committed at Napanee last week for trial at the next assizes, for the murder of Miss Blanche Yorke. Mr. Justice Latchford asked Mr. Robinson to hold over his application until the trial opens at Napanee next Tuesday. It is likely that the trial will go over to the Spring Assizes. Dr. Robinson is at present in the county jail at Napanee.

Italian Populace Want to Fight With Allied Troops

Rome, Sept. 16, The central portion of the city of Rome was occupied by military forces until after midnight last night, in order to prevent demonstrations on the part of the Roman populace against Italy's neutrality in the present war. It was necessary for the troops to charge the demonstrators several times and a number of arrests were made. These demonstrations have been in favor of Great Britain and Belgium. One is promised for tonight in favor of France

Servians Show Up Austrians.

The Servians however heretofore have shown a marked capacity for reappearing in the same or better positions after these defeats. They now claim they are bombarding the Hungarian town of Orsova.

The war indemnities claimed by the German troops in towns traversed in Belgium and France reaches a total of $144,300,000. Only a very small percentage of this sum however has been paid

Austrian Guns Captured Bear Initals Of Kaiser

Petrograd, Sept. 16.—Among the 400 guns taken from the Austrians by the Russians in Galicia, are more than 26 heavy German cannon, bearing the initials of Emperor William. These came from the regions occupied by the Sixth German Corps.

More than 4,500 German prisoners arrived to-day at Lubin, in Russian Poland.

Japanese Scouts Reach Kiao-Chow.

Tokio, Sept. 16.—The railway station at Kiao-Chow, five miles from the bay of that name and opposite Tsing-Tau, the German fortified port, was occupied on Sept. 13 by Japanese scouts, according to an official announcement made today.

Tokio, Sept. 16.—It is officially announced that a Japanese aeroplane dropped bombs on the barracks at Tsing-Tau and that the machine returned safely to its headquarters.

The destroyer flotilla operating from Laoshan Bay near Tsing-Tau, drove in the enemy's patrols.

BANDIT FORCES CLERKS TO HIDE RIFLES MAIL

As Men Hold Heads in Sack, Lone Robber Escapes at Shreveport

Shreveport, La., Sept. 16.—As passenger train No. 3, Kansas City Southern, south bound, slowed down at what is known as "Bobo switch" about two miles northeast of Shreveport, tonight shortly before 11 o'clock, a lone highwayman, wearing blue automobile goggles, jumped into the mail car, forced two negro mail clerks to stick their heads into mail sacks, took possession of the registered mail pouch in the car, jumped off and disappeared.

It is not known how much loot the robber obtained. He used a large barrelled blue-steel pistol to force the negro mail clerks into submission. When the train slowed at Kansas City southern shops, about a mile south of the switch, the negroes, no longer hearing the highwayman moving about, removed the mail sacks and found he was gone.

They gave the alarm to Conductor Al. Copick, who was in charge of the train, and the authorities of Shreveport were at once notified. The neighborhood is being scoured for the highwayman, but so far without success.

The negro mail clerks say the whole thing was over, with before they could realize it. The robber, who was a white man, evidently a workingman, weighing about 160 pounds, and about five feet, nine inches tall, sprang into the car just as soon as it slowed down for the switch. He seemed extremely nervous, but told the negro clerks that if they didn't draw a mail sack over their heads and keep it there, they would be killed.

The negroes quickly complied, they afterwards said, and they didn't know what the robber did after that until they removed the sacks near the shop. They were distributing mail at the time the highwayman entered. The negroes were T.L. Anderson, clerk in charge of the car, who went thro' with the train later to Lake Charles and Beaumont, and J.S. Vaughan, of Shreveport.

Wonders of the Soundograph

A veritable box of tricks is a new instrument called a soundograph, which furnishes all the sound effects used in conjunction with the operation of moving picture machines. Producing the sounds which take place in real life, it adds to the realism of the scenes depicted on the screen.

By operating twenty-seven different devices, fifty-four effects can be produced with it among them the moving or running of horses, a thunder storm, the wash of the surf, rain wind, locomotive exhaust, train whistle, automobile, fire apparatus in action, running water, crash of glass or dishes, fall of heavy articles, the firing of arms from a single shot to a fusillade, and many others. The instrument is 3 feet 6 inches in height.

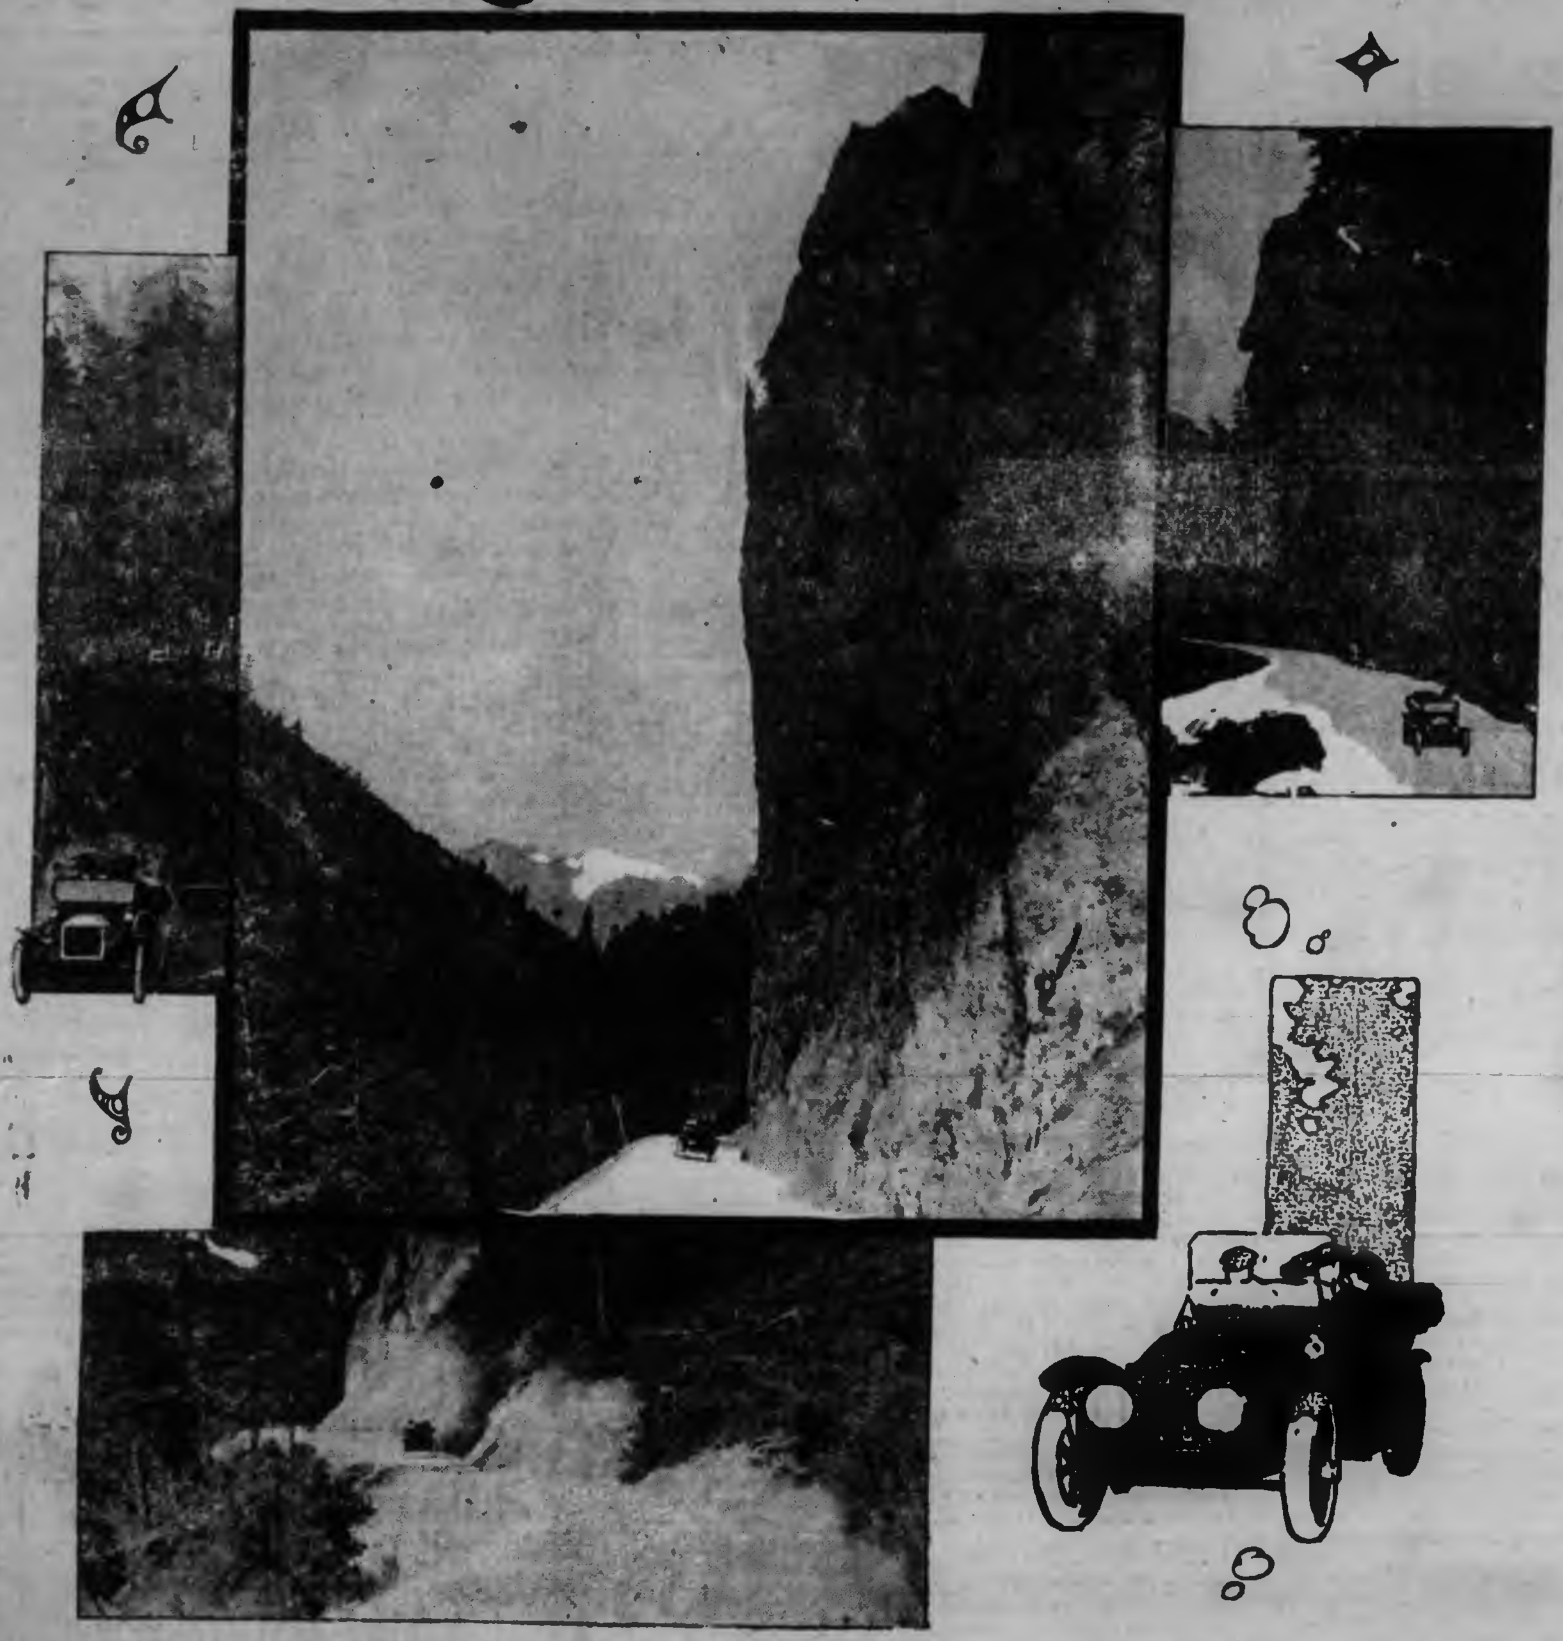
MOTORING through the Canadian Rockies



Road builders of the world are looking forward to the final link up of the "Great Horseshoe Highway," which when completed will be the longest road in the world.

It will measure over 7000 miles in length and will connect the three principal countries of the North American Continent. Scenery, including that of the Sunny South, the Middle Eastern and New England state, Montreal and quaint Quebec; the Great Lakes and streams of Canada; the branch and agricultural lands of the last Great West—the Canadian West; the matchless Canadian Rockies with their wonderful valley, and venerable snow capped peaks, the Pacific Coast cities of Vancouver, Victoria, Seattle and Portland; then further south, Sacramento, San Francisco and the charming resorts in the southern part of the State of California and finally with a highly colored touch, the City of Mexico, will furnish the automobile travellers with no end of variety. No such trip can be found elsewhere in the world.

The Highway will begin at Miami, go directly north through all of the principal American cities of the Atlantic seabord to Montreal, west through Canada, to Vancouver, and thence south through the cities of the Pacific slope, finishing in Mexico City.

Canada is rapidly becoming widely known for its automobile roads and for the many places of interest to the motor tourist. The people north of the international boundary line, from the Atlantic to the Pacific, are making efforts to construct as many miles of first class highways per annum as possible. This has been their road-making policy for years and therefore the road conditions of to-day make Canada one of the most delightful places on the continent for the automobilist.

Every Province, municipality, city district and township is uniting with the Federal Government in urging the construction of good roads and thereby luring with the most tempting of inducements motor enthusiasts from all parts of the world. It will not be many months before a motorist will be able to start his journey by auto at Miami, travel north through the United States to Montreal and thence westward to the Pacific Coast, where he will find the other international highway from Vancouver to Mexico City.

A portion of the route extends thru the level ranch lands of Alberta, but for the greater distance it pierces the very heart of the Canadian Rock Mountains, that wonderful country of snow capped peaks, glittering glaciers, mirror-like lakes, boisterous torrents and silver streams, that country which is the mecca of the tourist, and the lover of solitudes. Throughout the greater length, the road will follow the trans-mountain lines of the Canadian Pacific Railway and eventually connect the five well-known points, Banff, Golden, Cranbrouk, Macleod and Calgary.

It is maintained by the Canadian Government, and while some of the grades are rather heavy, there are none of them which cannot be negotiated with ease by a moderate-powered car. At Fort Steele, there is an important branch road, which leads to the international boundacy, where connection is made with the roads of Montreal. This makes it possible to drive a car from Spokane as far north as Golden, British Columbia.

Nearly five hundred miles of this "Highway of the Great Divide" is already completed, and the remaining distance is to be finished as rapidly as possible, probably within a few months.

From Golden, B.C., the road takes the tourist along the Kootenay River, and through the Columbia valley by way of Windermere and Fort Steele, the latter a famous mining town during the "rush" in the early nineties.

From Cranbrook to Macleod and thence on to Calgary 106 miles away the highway is in excellent shape. The autos have been using the Calgary-Banff section of the road during the present summer and those who have been over the road declare it to be splendid. From Calgary to Banff is about five hour's ride, if no time is lost. With a reasonable margin for delays, the trip can be made in six hours.

One of the most potent effects of the "Great Horseshoe Highway" is having on the country, is to encourage the building of good roads. The example set by making a first class road of it, is influencing the citizens of each district through which it runs to build branch roads and thereby hold out still further inducements to the motor tourist to linger in the district.

Public Meeting re the Employment of Labor

The Mayor has received a letter from Mr. K. McKnaught, M. P.P., Chairman of the Industrial Association of Ontario, outlining the plans of the Association to endeavour to prevent unemployment, and asking that a local branch be established in every city and town in the Province.

By this means the Central Association can be kept informed of conditions throughout the Province and will have the information necessary for co-operation.

In accordance with this request the Mayor has called a meeting to be held in the City Council Chamber on Friday night next, Sept. 18th, at 8 o'clock. Manufactuers, business men, representatives of the labour organizations and all others interested are urged to be present.

WHO CAUSED THIS TERRIBLE WAR? GERMANY ALONE INSISTED ON IT

Sir Edward Grey. "I think it highly probable that the Russian Government has already urged the utmost moderation on the Servian Government."

On the same day Sir Edward Grey telegraphed to his Minister in St. Petersburg that the sudden, brusque and peremptory character of the Austrian demarche made it almost inevitable that in a very short time both Russia and Austria would have mobilised against each other. Presumably Vienna and Berlin knew the inevitability of this as well as Grey. The German Ambassador on the 25th read Grey a telegram from his Foreign Office saying that Germany had not known of the stiff Austrian terms before hand, "but that once she had launched that note Austria could not draw back." On the same day Russia urged that Austria's time limit on Servia be prolonged to give the Powers time to examine the promised data. England backed this request. The Italian Ambassador to England on this day went to see Grey, and expressed strong approval of his position. The next day the German Ambassador to Vienna expressed to the British Ambassador to Vienna the belief that Russia would not go in, as the days of Pan Slav agitation were over and a general war would re-open many matters in which Russia was interested, such as Swedish, Polish, Ruthene, Roumanian and Persian questions. "As for Germany, she knew very well what she was about in backing Austria in this matter." On July 26th, Grey again urged his four Power conference and France and Italy accepted at once. Germany, through headquarters at Berlin, said it was "not practicable," although, according to the German Ambassador in London, she approved it in principle, and Russia said the arrangement was satisfactory. Grey called the attention of Austria to the fact that the British fleet was to have been dispersed that day, but as the situation had developed it could not be dispersed. At the same time he was beginning covertly to threaten Austria and Germany he encouraged Russia. To Austria and Germany he emphasized the fact that England might be drawn in. To Russia and France he emphasized the equally true fact that it would all depend on developments.

The Russian Ambassador at Vienna urged that the Austrian Ambassador at St. Petersburg be given full power to continue discussion with the Russian Minister. Baron Macchio, the Austrian Under Secretary for Foreign Affairs, said he would submit this suggestion to the Secretary. The next day the Secretary himself gave Austria's position to the British Ambassador. "His Excellency declared that Austria-Hungary cannot delay warlike proceedings against Servia, and would have to decline any suggestion of negotiations on basis of Servia's reply. Prestige of Dual Monarchy was engaged, and nothing could now prevent conflict."

On the same day the German Imperial Chancellor sent word to Grey that he agreed with Austria that Austria's quarrel with Servia was a purely Austrian concern with which Russia has nothing to do. The next day the Chancellor stated that he had just told Austria he agreed with her position about Servia's note.

The next day the British Ambassador in Berlin telegraphed Grey that Germany was complaining of France recalling officers on leave, while Germany was doing the same thing herself but denying it. Partial Russian mobilization was announced this day as Austria had definitely declined direct conversations with Russia. Russia's Foreign Minister urged revival of Grey's four power plan. He was asked if she would accept the idea that had been suggested by Italy, that Servia might be willing to back down still further to the Powers than she had to Austria, and he consented to this. He also said he did not care what form the four-power plan took. The British Ambassador in St. Petersburg telegraphed to Grey: "I fear that the German Ambassador will not help to smooth matters over, if he uses to his own Government the same language as he did to me to-day. He accused the Russian Government of endangering the peace of Europe by their mobilization, and said, when I referred to all that had recently been done by Austria, that he could not discuss such matters."

On this day came the Austrian Emperor's impassioned appeal to his people.

Meantime Italy was telegraphing Berlin, urging it to take part in the effort for peace.

On the 29th Grey, talking to the German Ambassador, revived his four-power plan. "I urged that the German Government should suggest any method by which the influence of the four Powers would be used to prevent war between Austria and Russia. France agreed. Italy agreed. The whole idea of mediation or mediating influence was ready to be put into operation by any method that Germany could suggest if mine was not acceptable. In fact, mediation was ready to come into operation by any method that German thought possible, if only Germany would press the button in the interests of peace."

Then on the same day came Germany's attempt, fully familiar to the world, to buy British neutrality, promptly refused by Grey. On the 29th the Austrian Ambassador informed Grey the war with Servia "must proceed." Austria could not continue to be exposed to the necessity of being mobilized again and again, as she had been obliged to do in recent years." On the same day the British, French, and Russian Ambassadors in Vienna spoke to the German Ambassador there, who expressed surprise that Servian affairs should be of such interest to Russia. The British Ambassador on the 30th telegraphed to Grey: "Unfortunately the German Ambassador is himself so identified with extreme anti-Russian and anti-Servian policy prevalent in Vienna, that he is unlikely to plead the cause of peace with entire sincerity. Although I am not able to verify it, I have private information that the German Ambassador knew the text of the Austrian ultimatum to Servia before it was despatched and telegraphed it to the German Emperor. I know from the German Ambassador himself that he endorses every line of it."

Russia, on the 30th, offered to stop all military operations, if Austria, recognizing that her conflict with Servia had assumed international character, would declare herself ready to eliminate from her ultimatum points which violated the principle of Sovereignty of Servia.

The German Secretary of State stated on the 30th he had put Grey's proposal before Austria and had received no reply.

The telegrams from Rome in these critical days indicate that Italy had been led to expect a more conciliatory attitude in Germany. On the 31st Grey again urged his four-power plan, with elaboration, in Germany, even offering to retire from the entente with Russia and France if they did not do their full share, and indicating that if the failure was on Germany's part, England would be drawn in.

On the same day the German Chancellor admitted he had heard from Vienna, about Grey's proposal, to the effect that the Austrian Minister of Foreign Affairs would take the wishes of the Emperor in the matter.

On the 31st Grey asked France and Germany if they would respect Belgium neutrality and he urged Belgium to uphold it herself.

On August 1st, Grey sent to Berlin a most significant telegram, indicating a sudden change in the views of Austria: "The Russian Government has communicated to me the readiness of Austria to discuss with Russia, and the readiness of Austria to accept a basis of mediation which is not open to the objections raised in regard to the formula which Russia originally suggested. Things ought not to be hopeless as long as Austria and Russia are ready to converse, and I hope the German Government may be able to make use of the Russian communications referred to above, in order to avoid tension."

No document is more important than this one in the task of deciding whether Austria or Germany most desired the war. It is accompanied by the Russian telegram, which declared the readiness of Austria to discuss with the Great Powers the substance of the ultimatum to Servia.

Another document shows that the Austrian Secretary of State had called in the Russian Ambassador and urged him to explain in St. Petersburg that the door had not been closed on further negotiations.

The German Secretary of State, when confronted with all these proofs that even Austria was ready to make peace, said that Russia had explained that her mobilization did not necessarily mean war, as she could remain mobilized for months. "This was not the case with Germany. She had the speed and Russia had the numbers, and the safety of the German Empire forbade that Germany should allow Russia time to bring up masses of troops from all her wide domains."

So Germany declared war on Russia and on France, invaded Luxemburg against her protest, and began the bloody assault on Belgium.

These facts, I think, give the critical points as they are known to-day. Probably nobody outside the German and Austrian Governments knows more, or for a long time will know more. Everybody has here the data for his own guess. Mine is this: The Kiel Canal has just been finished. It about doubles the strength of the German navy. Social troubles in Germany are increasing. [illegible] a growing strength is a nightmare. Therefore it seems to the German war party to be the psychological moment. It used Austria as a cat's paw, as it has often done before. It encouraged the insulting form of the ultimatum, which fitted in with the Vienna mood. Austrian statesmen, at the last moment, began to realize what had been done to them, as they have realized too late before. So they relented at the end. The German mind had long been made up. Its oligarchy would force the way. It would break any treaties and invade any neutrals. It would crush France, annex Belgium, beat back Russia, and then settle with Great Britain. It possessed a mighty empire of destruction, which might grow less effective, and it would use it now.

Unless to this apparently conclusive proof Germany can pin some very much more effective answer, than any she has yet set forth, the moral effect will count in the long run for a great deal. It will not do to talk about "absolute knowledge" that France would have invaded Belgium if Germany had not; or that there was a secret plot between France, England, and Belgium; or that Russia was planning to crush Germany; or any other piece of absolute knowledge for which no single bit of evidence is brought forward. These first battles are being decided largely by military efficiency and preparedness, although even in the first round the tremendous importance of moral feeling and international ethics was shown by the superb fight put up by Belgium and the delay it caused Germany, by the sudden fusion of British opinion in favor of war when Belgium was invaded, and by the neutrality of Italy. If the war goes to a second round, if it is fought out to exhaustion, these moral considerations will count far more. Every man in France knows that he is fighting for a government that desired peace. Every man in England knows that Sir Edward Grey struggled desperately to avoid war. Every man in Belgium knows that an unspeakable outrage was inflicted on his country by a mighty government, ruthless of the consequences to a smaller power. Men in that mood fight long! On the other hand, when the terrible pinch of poverty is fully felt in Germany and Austria, will the ordinary German and the ordinary Austrian, as the knowledge of the causes of the war slowly filter into his mind, be prepared for as long a death grapple as those countries which can have no possible doubt that the war was forced upon them, and that they are fighting for the principles of mediation and neutrality, against a standard of international conduct that the world condemns? Moreover, the citizens of England, France and Belgium know that if they are successful, peace will be established as far as possible on a basis of good will to all nations; whereas if Germany wins, the Prussian war party will insist upon terms intended to crush the national life of all the countries now in arms against her.

An Appeal to the Intelligent Investor !

Does a logical presentation of a good investment interest you? Do you believe there is an oil in commercial quantities in Alberta? If you are alive to the situation you do. Then it will pay you to investigate our proposition and our holdings.

Please Read Carefully and Note!

THAT Oil authorities are agreed the Alberta Oil Field is of an anticlinal formation. It has been fairly accurately ascer-tained in what general direction these anticlines run. Geologist B. W. Dunn chose wisely in the selection of the now famous Monarch well. WINDSOR OILFIELDS, LIMITED, has holdings located close to the Monarch.

THAT Cunningham Craig, one of the world's most eminent geologists, selected the site of the Mowbray-Berkeley well. Stock in that company is not offered at any price. We possess acreage adjoining the Mowbray-Berkeley (Section 12, Township 23, Range 5, West of 5th). If a strike is made at the Mowbray-Berkeley what will shares in our company be worth?

Our holdings consist of 1380 acres, carefully selected and judiciously spread over the entire oil field.

Hygiene in the Desert

Nothing under the sun is new. Facts have proved that even the pitch which hygiene has reached at the present day was equalled, and in many instances excelled, under the laws of Moses.

The particular and careful manner in which animals were slaughtered according to the laws of the Talmud, is acknowledged to-day to be the most sanitary method possible.

Professor Koch gave to the world the valuable results of his investigations in bacteriology, but several thousand years before that the Mosaic law pointed out the danger to humanity from tuberculosis in cattle, but did not forbid poultry as food. It was not many years ago that specialists discovered that fowl tuberculosis was harmless to man.

The yearly exodus to the country and seaside is no new innovation. Moses, the great law-giver, prescribed not only feasting at certain seasons of the year, but the removal of whole families to great camping-grounds in the open spaces, where they could live near to Nature.

SYNOPSIS OF CANADIAN NORTH-WEST LAND REGULATIONS.

THE sole head of a family, or any male over 18 years old, may homestead a quarter-section of available Dominion land in Manitoba, Saskatchewan, or Alberta. Applicant must appear in person at the Dominion Lands Agency or Sub-Agency for the District. Entry by proxy may be made at any Dominion Lands Agency (but not Sub-Agency), on certain conditions.

Duties—Six months residence upon and cultivation of the land in each of three years. A homesteader may live within nine miles of his homestead on a farm of at least 80 acres, on certain conditions. A habitable house is required except where residence is performed in the vicinity.

In certain districts a homesteader in good standing may pre-empt a quarter section alongside his homestead. Price $3.00 per acre.

Duties—Six months residence in each of three years after earning homestead patent; also 50 acres extra cultivation. Pre-emption patent may be obtained as soon as homestead patent, on certain conditions.

A settler who has exhausted his homestead right may take a purchased homestead in certain districts. Price $3.00 per acre. Duties— Must reside six months in each of three years, cultivate 50 acres and erect a house worth $300.

The area of cultivation is subject to reduction in case of rough, scrubby or stony land. Live stock may be substituted for cultivation under certain conditions.

RAINBOW POTATOES

New Variety of Tubers Boast a Vivid Color Scheme

All interested in the culinary art, will hail with delight a new potato that has been placed upon the market. Branched like a spruce tree, fluted like a shell, some specimens being as small as marbles, the new potatoes also reflect every color of the rainbow. Blue-purple potatoes with red centres, scarlet potatoes, and yellow potatoes recently flaunted their hues for the first time in public, when their propagators were awarded a gold medal at London, England. They make a welcome addition to salads, which they improve in both color and flavor.

Many people avoid the use of potatoes in the belief that they contain an excessive quantity of starch. This is a fallacy. In reality they contain less than a quarter of the quantity of starch included in bread. Potatoes can be used as the only item of diet if taken in sufficient quantities. Nevertheless, they should never be eaten alone, but consumed with other flesh-forming foods, when their value is inestimable. It is the alkaline mineral salt contained in the potato that is so valuable to man, and which cannot be obtained to the same degree in any other food.

The Humble Onion

Many unsuspected virtues reside in the humble onion. To ease neuralgic or rheumatic pains there is nothing better than an onion poultice. Very few people know that. As a remedy for sleeplessness, try the effect of eating a Spanish onion before retiring. A few leaves of parsley steeped in vinegar and eaten afterwards will prevent any disagreeable taste or smell.

Scorched linen can be restored by squeezing the juice of an onion on thue marks. The smell of paint can be removed if a saucerful of sliced onion is placed in the room overnight.

For a wasp sting there is no better remedy than the juice of an onion. The onion is an excellent blood purifier, and its continued use makes the complexion peculiarly smooth.

A sliced onion placed in a sick room on a sheet of paper will absorb infectious odors. Burn, and renew daily. Flies will not disfigure gilt picture frames or mantels if the latter are washed in onion water.

Testing Cigars

A well known cigar expert dispels some popular misconceptions anent the fragrant weed. He alludes to the belief that the whiter the ash and the longer it holds on, the better the cigar. This is quite wrong, he points out. The length of the ash depends on the size of the pieces used in the filler, and a clear steel grey ash denotes the best Havana. Then, again, nearly every man will reject a spotted cigar, but the spots mean absolutely nothing as regards quality. Most men think they can tell a cigar by squeezing it or smelling. Neither test is the slightest good. And every smoker believes that color denotes strength—that a dark wrapper denotes a strong cigar, a light one a mild cigar. The color has nothing whatever to do with the strength. As a matter of fact, for the average smoker there are practically no outward indications of the quality of a cigar. The only test for the non-expert is in smoking it.

Prescription by Wireless

How a ship's doctor prescribed by wireless for the sick captain of another ship was told on the arrival of the liner "Orduna" at Liverpool. Just before the vessel entered the Straits of Magellan a wireless message was received from the British steamer "Brodstone" saying that the master was ill, and asking the doctor of the "Orduna" to prescribe for him. Dr. Aylward first asked five questions, which were put and answered in twenty minutes. The doctor then prescribed for the patient, who was at least 100 miles away.

AS LIGHT AS LAGER
BUT BETTER FOR YOU

You wash dishes about two hours every day.
That's one hour wasted!

Dishes get dirty, greasy and sticky and soap will not clean them. Soapy dish water merely cleans the surface; it doesn't dig into the corners and drive out the decayed food particles.

Gold Dust is the sanitary dish washer. It not only cleans the surface, but digs deep after hidden particles of dirt and kills the germs of decayed food which ordinary dish-water overlooks. Gold Dust sterilizes as well as cleanses.

Besides doing the work better than soap or any other cleanser can, Gold Dust will save just half the time you spend in washing dishes.

Gold Dust is sold in 5c size and large packages. The large package means greater economy.

How People Feel
When They Have
Tape Worm

Tape worm is bred from a parasite. This parasite is a creature male and female in one. It is a pear shape, having two, four and six suckers. It lays the eggs, which are only connected together with slime. They develop and form a body, which is the worm. Each joint is an individual, having a sucker or mouth. The worm grows to be much longer than the bowels where it is located, and sometimes a whole colony of them are found, enough to fill a quart of solid worm, and when put in a bucket of water would apparently fill it. It is the hardest task in the world to destroy this parasite without doing injury to the individual who may be so unfortunate as to have it, as the parasite clings to the bowels, freeing itself from the body of the worm, and remains there to breed another. It is an internal demon and causes its victims to suffer all the symptoms of disease imaginable. The cleverest physicians are led to believe the patient is suffering from some other disease, as nearly every person has different symptoms. Some have been treated for cancer of the bowels, consumption of the bowels, consumption of the lungs, chronic dyspepsia, nervous prostration, melancholia, hypochondria, hysteria, inflammation of the bowels, appendicitis and other complaints, when one or more of these internal demons were eating their lives away.

Prof. Mulveney has made the discovery to free the victim of this monster without injury to the system, destroying the parasite as well as expelling the worm with one dose of medicine without any previous starvation. Visit his office, where he has in his possession the most wonderful collection of these death-dealing monsters in the world, which have been expelled from hundreds of people by his famous remedy, some bottles containing colonies of worms and anyone seeing them cannot imagine how a person could possibly live with them in his bowels. It is surprising the number of people that have them. Thousands have them and are not aware of the fact. The letters and testimonials the Professor has in his possession are enough to convince one of this alarming fact. Some of the most prominent symptoms are: ravenous appetite, dizzy spells, headaches, cramps in the bowels, a feeling of something moving in the bowels, also a feeling as though something was crawling up the throat. The only certainty of having one in the system is when segments or joints are seen, which come away almost any time. They are flat and from ¾ of an inch to 1 inch long, which have often been mistaken for pin worms by those who do not know the difference. There are many other feelings of distress which would take long to enumerate. Strange to say, some people of strong constitution, have very little distress.

Prof. Mulveney's world-famous Tape Worm Exterminator is safe, sure and harmless. No starvation, no danger, is not disagreeable to take. One dose nearly always affects a cure. Further information free. Send stamped envelope, telephone Parkdale 4830 or call at 167 Dundas street, Toronto. Open from 8 a.m. to 10 p.m. daily.

Physician Killed by Gun

Dr. John Augustus Hogg, who held several public appointments in Derbyshire, after rabbit shooting began to clean his gun, forgetting that there was a cartridge still in the breech. While he was apparently leaning over the muzzle he accidentally fired it and the charge entered his side. He died in an hour.

"Snail" Egg

Mrs. Gamlin, of Dudley street, Cardiff, who has kept poultry for forty years, found a remarkable egg in her hen coop. One of her sons threw a fine healthy-looking snail to the fowl and it was gobbled up. Shortly afterwards there was laid a peculiarly curved egg—just the shape and size of the snail.

Time Limit For Cock Crowing

At Stonehaven, Scotland, Town Council a reference was made to a cock-crowing nuisance. The town clerk reported that he had written to the owner of the fowl, who had replied that he had "taken means to prevent the cock crowing until after six a.m."

Tickling Her Neck

When Annie M'Kenzie, a middle-aged woman of respectable appearance, was charged at Glasgow with attempting to steal a chain from the neck of a young farm girl in High street, she protested that she was only tickling the girl's neck. Sheriff Lyell however sent her to prison for three months.

Wrong Kind of Ale

At Dublin a fine of $2.50 was imposed on John O'Connell, a licensed beer dealer, for supplying a boy under age with ale which was not contained in a properly sealed vessel. The boy, who had the liquor in a can, said his father sent him for "Indian ale," which is a temperance drink, but he got ordinary ale instead. The boy's father said he was a teetotaler.

A Bird the Thief

The residents of Port Eynon, Gower, were mystified by the disappearance of handkerchiefs from clothes lines, and they communicated with the police with a view to the discovery of the thief. Now the thief has been discovered. A Swansea boy was bird-nesting round Port Eynon, and found in a large oak tree a bird's nest constructed of the missing handkerchiefs, twisted into knots, among the twigs.

Hugh Daily Business

The London General Omnibus Company issue something like 2,000,000 tickets in the course of a single day, and for those people who like to have such matters elaborated into statistical details it may be remarked that a day's supply of tickets weighs about one ton. If placed end to end they would stretch from London to Dover, would cover a space of nearly an acre, or if placed flat on top of one another would reach to a height of 1,666 feet.

A Costly Out-patient

At Sacron Walden over $5,000 has been spent on radium for a patient who is in receipt of out-relief.

KING ALFONSO'S JOKE

King Alfonso is fond of taking motor trips incognito. He motored recently through a wild region of Castile, and put up at a modest inn.

"I am sure," he said, "that they won't know me here!"

Well, they did not know him there. They treated him like an ordinary traveller. So much so that when he went to shave the next morning he found there was no mirror in his room. So he went into the inn yard in his shirt sleeves and there a chambermaid brought him a broken piece of mirror which he set up beside the well.

The girl stood chatting with him. Finally she said:

"You are not just an ordinary traveller, are you?"

"Why do you ask me that?"

"I don't know," said the maid, "but there's something about you—perhaps you belong to the Royal Court at Madrid?"

"Yes, I do," he answered.

"Perhaps you work for his Majesty himself?"

"Yes, I do."

"And what do you do for him?" asked the chambermaid.

LORD CROMER

His Lordship has been called the one man who brought Egypt out of its bankruptcy and changed a mummified land into a land that really lives. The population of Egypt grew under Lord Cromer from under seven millions to over ten. The great pro-consul's health has been giving anxiety to his friend for some time. A very large part of his life has been spent in public service.

MILLION-MILE RECORD

English Lad Who Became a Pride of the Pacific Coast

A hale and hearty Englishman of whose record Californians are proud is visiting his home in Guernsey, after fifty-seven years' absence. He sailed for the West when a boy of fourteen, and when twenty-one was made a captain of the ferry service at San Francisco. He returned as Captain John Leale, with his wife and two daughters.

Coffin on a Tramcar

A Swansea tram conductor had a strange experience. A man and a woman, carrying what appeared to be a box, approached the back of the car and asked if they might board it with their "parcel." The conductor's suspicions were aroused, and the "parcel" turned out to be a coffin, containing the body of a two-year-old child. The couple were asked to leave the car.

Family Cost Ratepayers $2,500

A remarkable statement was made at Glasgow in connection with the prosecution of Joseph Smith, a carter, for failing to maintain two children, whereby they became chargeable to the parish. It was stated that the prisoner's family had cost the ratepayers $2,500. He was sentenced to three months' imprisonment.

Nonagenarian Lady Shorthand Writer

The sudden death is announced of a Perthshire nonagenarian of remarkable qualities. This was Mrs. Lamb, widow of the late James Lamb, builder, of Bankfoot. Mrs. Lamb, who had reached the age of ninety-four, was an accomplished shorthand writer, and was, after she had passed her ninetieth birthday, to be found in the parish church every Sunday taking shorthand notes of the sermons.

Insurance Bill in Australia

The commonwealth ministry of New South Wales is preparing a national insurance bill on the lines of Lloyd-George's measure. Provision will be made for benefits for funerals, maternity sickness, accidents and unemployment.

WILL EASE YOUR THROBBING HEAD—AND STOP DROPPINGS IN THE THROAT

To Cure Sniffles and Clear Stuffed Nostrils Nothing Equals "Catarrhozone."

You can end a cold mighty quick—cure it completely—by Catarrhozone. Any sort of Catarrh, whether in nose, throat or bronchial tubes, can be driven forever out of the system by simply breathing in the healing vapor of Catarrhozone.

It's in the nostrils and air passages that Catarrh germs breed. The germ-killing vapor of Catarrhozone means instant death to these germs—means that a healing process is started throughout all the sore membranes, thereby effectually ridding the system of the real cause of the trouble.

Catarrhozone promptly opens up clogged nostrils, takes that irritating pain out of the nose, prevents the formation of hard painful crusts. If there is a nasty discharge it disappears with a few hours' use of Catarrhozone Inhaler. If a bad cold keeps you sneezing, if you have dull frontal pains over the eyes, you'll get the speediest cure possible with Catarrhozone.

Years of wonderful success in Europe and America have proved Catarrhozone a specific for all catarrhal, throat, bronchial and breathing-organ troubles. Simple, pleasant, safe and sure. Use the tried and proven remedy. Any dealer anywhere can supply Catarrhozone, large complete outfit $1.00; small size 50c; trial size 25c.

Young Burglar Let Go.

This morning the North Ward youth who has been committing the local burglaries, and who was remanded last week, came up before Police Magistrate Jackson for sentence. Owing to his age (thirteen years) he was allowed to go on suspended sentence, but restitution must be made for the loss sustained as a result of the thefts.

New Station For Lindsay.

Lindsay town council (and that means the citizens as a whole) wants a new G.T.R. station to replace the present structure, which was practically gutted by fire on Monday. The question was introduced in the council meeting Monday night and it was felt that a town of such importance as Lindsay, and also in view of its importance as a railway centre, that a modern and up-to-date station should be erected.

Commutator Caught Finger.

Lindsay Post: Mr. R.H. Hopkins had a nasty accident Saturday afternoon while on the way to Sturgeon Point in the Viking (II) In making a slight adjustment to the gasoline engine he slipped in some manner and his right hand went into the commutator. The index finger was badly crushed and the nail taken completely off.

His Memory Was Short.

Yesterday a local insurance man of somewhat generous build thought he was "putting one over" the Times. He had clipped an article from yesterday's issue describing how a cow escaped from the Lakefield train and was found corralled behind a snake fence at Nassau. He read the extract with great glee to a number of friends and remarked, "The Times must be dreaming. Who ever heard of a snake fence?" Still the same insurance man was raised on a farm and must have seen miles of snake fences.

A Bully Story.

Referring to an inspection made by the Mayor and Council of Belleville of pavement laid there by Messrs. Foley and Gleason, the "Ontario" says: Some people have been seriously looking at the holes caused by the caulks of horse shoes. No alarm need be felt for these as this condition is a sign of elastic property possessed by the road and without this the pavement would not have durability.

—o—

Auto Turned Turtle.

Port Hope Guide: Four young men from Peterboro, while autoing to this town yesterday met with a rather serious accident. When near Baillieboro, the driver lost control of the car and went into the ditch and completely overturned. The driver was scratched about the face and arms, and the car was badly broken up. The other three occupants escaped injury. It is said the driver was inexperienced.

—o—

Squatter Sovereignity

With an eye to making Long Beach (formerly Rawld Point) one of the best summer resorts on the Kawartha waters, Messrs. Weldon & Graham have completed the purchase of the entire point, by securing the property occupied by Mr. Jas. O'Brien. Mr. O'Brien has resided at Long Beach for upwards of half a century, and consequently held squatter's rights to the one acre on which he was domiciled. This land now becomes the property of the new owners of the Beach.

Given $1,000 Damages.

After being out 30 minutes the petit jury in the civil action of John A. Sharpe, against the C.P.R. and T.H. & B.R. for $5,000 damages for the death of his son, Thos. L. Sharpe, on March 19, 1913, returned with a finding which awarded the plaintiff $1,000. The plaintiff was represented by F.D. Kerr and J.V. McElderry, while J.D. Spence and G.W. Walroad, of Toronto, acted on behalf of the C.P.R. and J.A. Sproule for the T.H. & B. The judge's decision as to costs will be made known at a later date.

For the Unemployed.

The mayor has received a letter from Mr. K. McKnaught, M.P., chairman of the Industrial Association of Ontario, outlining the plans of the association to endeavor to prevent unemployment, and asking that a local branch be established in every city and town in the province. In accordance with this request the mayor has called a meeting to be held in the city council chamber on Friday night next, Sept. 18, at 8 o'clock. Manufacturers, business men, representatives of the labor organisations and all others interested are urged to be present.

It's Master's Mark.

At yesterday's lacrosse game a Times scribe sat beside a veteran of the local chicken disputers. The Marmora team recalled a Marmora incident to Tom's recollection. He noted that many years ago he was doing painting work on the C.P.R. bridges. In Marmora he went into a cobbler's shop. Whilst talking with the cobbler he heard a cock crow in the back yard That cock's voice sounded familiar. He and the cobbler went out to the yard. Here a number of game birds were feeding. The local man picked out a cock and remarked: "That's the cock I sold to John Drennan that was stolen. He identified the bird by a private mark he had placed on its head and secured the lost property.

Weston Won Intermediates.

Yesterday a large crowd gathered at Riverside to see the final game in the Intermediate O. L. A. series, between Marmora and Weston. It was not, strictly speaking, a game but rather a procession. The Weston bunch, clad in red and white sweaters and a few other garments played all round the Marmora bunch. The Weston boys who were rooted for by accompanying friends did better team work than the Marmora aggregation. Looking backwards to when Peterboro had a lacrosse team, both Weston and Marmora showed about as much life in yesterday's game as might be displayed by an automobile denied its supply of gasoline. The Weston team, as above indicated, did good team work. The score stood Weston 18 to Marmora 4. The game tho' somewhat slow, was neat, clean and sportsman like.

Narrow Escape From Death.

A somewhat extraordinary escape from what looked like certain impending death occurred yesterday afternoon at the corner of George and Charlotte Streets. Three ladies in an auto car turned Westward at this corner. A farmer was driving his rig across Charlotte Street at the corner mentioned and seemed to have lost his head. The lady in charge of the auto, to avoid a collision with this seemingly stupid farmer was impelled, through existing circumstances, to take the wrong side of the road. In the meantime, a boy mounted on a bicycle tried to pass. The auto struck and partly demolished the bike. The hind wheel and the guard were bent out of shape. The bicycle rider fell to the ground. The gasoline impelled juggernaut passed entirely over the boy, who fortunately lay midway between the wheels of the auto and escaped without a scratch. This accident occurred about 4.30 p. m.

A cablegram from Miss Killmaster states that she has sailed for Canada and she will reach Peterboro in the near future and resume her duties on the teaching staff of the local conservatory of music.

CITY IN PARAGRAPH

Lindsay is contemplating the formation of a "Country Club." Some class to that progressive little burg!

Every one should boom the local Fair. The Fair brings in farmers, farmers bring cash and the cash circulates here.

Lindsay's telegraph poles in that vicinity are to be placed on the property of St. Paul's Church there by consent of the vestry and in locations to be named by the vestry.

Of the thirty odd men working on the paving being laid by Messrs. Foley and Gleason on Water Street over eighty per cent. are native or naturalized sons.

That must have been some race at Oshawa on Tuesday when Ora Medium, Frank Montgomery's mare was one of the fine horses to take first place in as many heats. The race was continued yesterday.

TWENTY NEW TOWNS IN BRITISH COLUMBIA

New station buildings are being completed on the Grand Trunk Pacific Railway at the rate of one each week. Twenty stations have been erected recently on the main line of the Transcontinental in the Province of British Columbia. Development has been very rapid in this territory, settlers coming in as soon as the steel was laid. These new station buildings which are modern in every respect, include, Longworth, Dewey, Lindup, Alsea Lake, Hansard, Ugling, Hutton, Nowlands, Guildford, Foreman, Crescent Island, Legrand, Giscome Bend, Rooney, Rainbow, Willow River, Knole and Shelley.

Hotel accommodation is also being provided by private enterprise at the more important points along the line. There has just been opened in Prince Rupert a six story hotel with eighty bedrooms and good cafe. At Skeena Crossing, B.C., Mile 164, on the Grand Trunk Pacific, the "Copper Tavern" was opened this month, with twenty-three bedrooms. These are indications of the increase in travel in the newly opened up territory.

Germans Slowly Give Way In a Terrific Battle Along The River Aisne--Preparing For Invasion

O PEACE UNTIL FOE IS BEATEN

resident Wilson Sets at Rest Rumours That Peace Is In Sight

Washington, Sept. 16.--There is no resent prospect of peace in Europe rough the efforts of diplomacy. resident Wilson himself set rest to- y rumors that peace measures were the making by revealing that no timation had been conveyed to him ficially from any quarter of a read- ess on the part of one or more of e belligerents to talk peace. The y's developments emphasized that reat Britain, France and Russia re grimly determined to make no ace until they had decisively beaten rmany and Austria. Great Brit- n's position was explained in detail London by Sir Edward Grey to bassador Page, who made a long port to President Wilson. The Brit- Foreign Secretary declared Britain d not sought war, but since it was reed on her she was irrevocably bent crushing forever the dangers of rman militarism to the world.

Sir Edward referred also to the spo- ation by Germany of the neutral ter- tory of Belgium, and pointed out at the allies would expect redress r that action.

The conference between the American bassador and the British Foreign cretary is said to have occurred on initiative of the latter. Sir Ed- d Grey, it is understood, explain- that in view of newspaper rumors the effect that Germany was ready make Peace, Great Britain did not nt to appear in the light of block- the move while Emperor William umed the role of peace advocate.

To make peace while German troops p Belgium might cause Germany to ot unreasonable terms, on the bas- of occupied territory.

On the side of Germany and Austria ewise, the President had found no couraging sign of peace.

ORD KITCHENER VISIT TO WOUNDED

ls Men There Are More Germans Waiting for Their Return

London, Sept. 18.--Lord Kitchener id a surprise visit to St. Thomas spital to-day, and some of the prou st men in London to-day are the e hundred and more sick and woun d soldiers there, just back from the ing line, whom the war secretary w and spoke to.

t was just after four o'clock in the ernoon when nurses came hurrying e Alexandra, Florence and Victoria ds with the somewhat cyptic announcement that a visitor from the War Office might be expected about 4.00. In a trice furrowed counterpanes and tumbled sheets were smoothed and tucked in, while thick slices of bread and butter and jam (which the patients seem able to consume all day long) were hastily stowed away.

Scarcely had the corner man in each ward received the nurses' parting injunction, "Please keep your legs down and let your bed look tidy," when a tall, deep chested man, who carried himself as straight as a lance, appeared at the threshold of Alexandra Ward, preceded by the senior sister. A sudden thrill of mingled delight and astonishment seemed to penetrate the entire ward. 'Why, it is Kitchener! Lord Kitchener?' was the surprised whisper than ran from lip to lip. Each patient instinctively straightened his shoulders on the pillow.

Some tried painfully to sit bolt upright in bed.

It was not a stern faced soldier the eyes of every patient followed, but a man with a kindly, solicitous smile, in morning dress and carrying a silk hat. Lord Kitchener made a point of stopping at practically every bed of all three wards, inquiring as to each patient's condition, the nature of the wounds, and his regiment.

His chat with Trooper Craig of the Royal Irish Dragoons, was typical.

"How are you getting along?" asked Lord Kitchener, in his cheery, ringing voice.

"All right, sir," answered Trooper Craig.

"What's your regiment?"

"Irish Dragoons.",

"How did you get that hand?"

"My horse threw me and stamped on it, sir, just before it was killed by a shell in a charge in Belgium."

"Ah! But you got into them, didn't you?" Lord Kitchener continued.

"Oh, yes sir, we did," answered the trooper with a snappy laugh, in which Lord Kitchener joined.

"There are some more waiting for you, you know," was Kitchener's parting shot, and again the trooper laughed happily.

RUSSIANS CAPTURE MORE PRISONERS

New York, Sept. 17.--Colonel Golejewski, Military Attache of the Russian Embassy, today gave out at the Russian Consulate here, the copy of a message which he said he had received from Petrograd. The message reads as follows'

"The fighting against the Austrian rear guard continues all along the line. Reports about prisoners, guns, and war stores being taken are coming in from all our armies.

"On the left bank of the River San, we attacked successfully the retiring Austrians. In Eastern Prussia, in spite of all the efforts of the Germans to surround a part of our retiring forces, their ulan did not succeed."

Paris, Sept. 17.--The rear guard action supposed at first to be intended as a check to pursuit and to facilitate the retreat of the mass of the armies of Generals Von Kluck and Von Buelow, has developed into what will probably be called in history the Battle of Aisne. Whether the Germans found it necessary or advisable to turn and engage in a general action or not, this great battle wages fiercely and rivals in importance the Battle of the Marne.

Germans Again Driven Back Severe Fighting On The Aisne

PARIS, SEPT. 17.--THE GERMANS ARE SLOWLY GIVING AWAY IN THE GREAT BATTLE THAT CONTINUES ALL ALONG THE LINE OF THE RIVER AISNE, ACCORDING TO AN OFFICIAL ANNOUNCEMENT MADE IN PARIS THIS AFTERNOON.

PARIS, SEPT. 17.--THE TEXT OF THE OFFICIAL COMMUNICATION TO-DAY IS AS FOLLOWS:--

FIRST--ON OUR LEFT WING THE RESISTANCE OF THE ARMY ON THE HEIGHTS TO NORTH OF THE RIVER AISNE HAS CONTINUED IN SPITE OF THE FACT THAT THE ENEMY GAVE BACK SLIGHTLY AT CERTAIN POINTS.

SECOND--ON THE CENTRE, BETWEEN BERRY-AU-BAC, ON THE RIVER AISNE, AND THE ARGONNE, THE SITUATION SHOWS NO CHANGE. THE ENEMY CONTINUES TO FORTIFY HIMSELF ALONG THE LINE PREVIOUSLY INDICATED. BETWEEN THE ARGONNE AND THE MEUSE, THE GERMANS ARE ENTRENCHING THEMSELVES IN THE VICINITY OF MONT FAUCON. IN THE WOEVRE DISTRICT WE HAVE COME IN CONTACT WITH SEVERAL DETACHMENTS OF THE ENEMY BETWEEN ETANT AND THIAUCOURT.

THIRD--ON OUR RIGHT WING, IN LORRAINE AND THE VOSGES THERE HAS BEEN NO CHANGE.

Summing up, the battle is being continued along the entire front between the River Oise and the River Meuse. The Germans occupy positions organized for defence and armed with heavy artillery.

Counter Attack Fails

Our progress is, of necessity, very slow, but our troops are animated by a spirit of offensive action and they are giving evidence of vigor and enthusiasm. They have repulsed -- with success the counter attacks undertaken at night. The morale of the en by the enemy, both during the day French soldiers is excellent.

The Austrian armies evacuating Galicia are in full route. Their losses in killed and wounded and prisoners are estimated at several hundred thousand men. The German army corps which went to their succor are retreating.

EMPEROR WILLIAM COMMANDS FORCES

Copenhagen, Sept. 17.--Via London. General Von Hindenburg, who has been directing the German forces in East Prussia, has been urgently summoned from East Prussia to take the command of a division in the western area, according to a message received here from Stockholm. Yesterday it was said Emperor Wilhelm was going to East Prussia to take over personal command of the forces. This removal of Von Hindenburg, therefore may be part of the plan to bring that situation about. Von Hindenbirg has a fine record as a soldier.

Berlin, Sept. 17.--Via wireless telegraphy by way of Sayville, L.I.--An official report given out at the army headquarters at midnight, says that the French front remains unchanged.

Owing to illness, General Von Hausen, former commander of the Second Saxon Army, has been replaced by General Von Einmen, former Minister of War. General Von Hausen is 68 years old.

GENERAL LEMAN'S PATHETIC LETTER

Would Willingly Have Given His Life for King and Country

London, Sept. 18.--General Leman, the Belgian commander who gained fame for himself by his defence of the Liege forts when he was made a prisoner, sent the following letter to King Albert of Belgium:

"After the honorable engagement of August 4, 5 and 6 I considered that the Liege forts could only play the role of forts of arrete (probably arrest or stoppage). I nevertheless maintained the military government in order to co-ordinate the defence as much as possible, and to exercise a moral influence on the garrison.

"Your Majesty is not ignorant of the fact that I was at Fort Loncin on August 6 at noon. You will learn with grief that the fort was blown up yesterday at 5.20 in the afternoon, the greater part of the garrison being buried under the ruins. That I did not lose my life in the catastrophe is due to my escort, who drew me from a stronghold whilst I was being suffocated by gas and exploded powder.

"I was conveyed to a trench, where I fell. A German Captain gave me a drink, and I was made a prisoner and taken to Liege.

"I am certain that I have shown carelessness in this letter, but I am physically shattered by the explosion of Fort Loncin.

"In honor of our arms I have surrendered neither the fortress nor the forts.

"I deign to ask your pardon, Sire. In Germany, where I am proceeding, my thoughts will be as they always have been, of Belgium and the King. I would willingly have given my life the better to serve them, but death was not granted to me.

"(Signed) Lieutenant-General Leman."

PETERBORO PATRIOTIC RELIEF FUND

The undersigned beg to announce to the residents of Peterboro residing in that part of the City situated North of Smith Street and West of the River, that they will make a general canvass for contributions to this Fund during the next ten days.

The object of the fund is to relieve not only the families of those who have enlisted for active service during the present war, but all who may be in need of assistance owing to lack of employment.

The undersigned wish to emphatically point out that all the money collected for this Fund is absolutely for distribution in Peterboro only.

A generous and hearty response to the appeal is requested.

GERMANS PREPARING TO DEFEND THE FATHERLAND AGAINST ALLIES

Fortifications of Towns Along the Rhine Being Strengthened for Defence Against French and English Invaders--Germans Are Apparently Still at Liege

London, Sept. 17.--Telegraphing from Maestricht, Holland, the correspondent of the Reuter Telegram Company says that despatches received in Maestricht, from Cologne, Dusseldorf, Weisel and Duisburg, indicate that these points are strengthening their fortifications to meet a possible advance of the allies.

ALL ON THE RIVER RHINE

The four towns mentioned in the above despatch are on the Rhine. Cologne is 45 miles northeast of Coblenz an important military stronghold; Dusseldorf is 21 miles northwest of Cologne; Duisburg is 15 miles north of Dusseldorf, and Weisel is 32 miles northwest of Dusseldorf.

To the west of this group of cities is the frontier of Holland, from which they are distant from 20 to 35 miles.

A despatch from Maestricht, Holland by way of Amsterdam, the correspondent of the Reuter Telegram Company also says the Germans have not evacuated Liege, and that the situation there is calm. The inhabitants of the city are now allowed to stay in the streets until 9 o'clock in the evening. Numerous German regiments of infantry and artillery with forty guns, passed through Liege Tuesday, going in the direction of Northern France.

Peterboro Industrial Exhibition

TO-DAY'S PROGRAMME

8 a.m.--Grounds and buildings open to public.
10 a.m.--Judging of poultry in Poultry Tent.
1 p.m.--Judging of Halter Horses.
2 p.m.--First Heat of the 2.30 trot or pace.
(Judging of Harness Horses between heats.)
2.30 p.m.--Grand Free performance in front of grand stand.
4 p.m.--Dog Race.
8 p.m. -- Grand Free performance in front of grand stand.
9.30 p.m.--Fireworks.

Bigger, brighter, busier than ever, the Twelfth Annual Industrial Exhibition was opened yesterday, and all day the scene at the grounds gladdened the hearts of the Directors, whose untiring efforts to make the year 1914 a banner one in the history of the Fair, showed ever brightening prospects of reaping a well-merited reward.

During the day the grounds rang with the shouts of drovers, the clang of the hammer, and the merry cry of the spieler, as preparations were got under way, and arrangements made to entertain what promises to be a record crowd that will throng the Exhibition grounds to-day.

By night all was in readiness, and the attendance was most encouraging. On all sides were heard expressions of surprise at the growth of the Exhibition. The exhibits are all of a class seldom before seen in our city, and the Midway is also away ahead of former years.

The performance on the stand in front of the grand stand was received with hearty applause from the spectators, and is alone well worth the price of admission. The 57th Band gave a delightful musical programme during the evening. The day was closed with a gorgeous display of fireworks that thrilled the dense concourse of people that thronged the enclosure.

GERMAN HEADQUARTERS STAFF HAS A NEW PLAN OF CAMPAIGN

Maintain the Defensive Against French and English in the West and Take Offensive Movement Against Russia in the East--Official French Announcement From Bordeau

Rome, Sept. 17.--The Tribuna states that the German headquarters staff has adopted a new plan of campaign, which consists of maintaining the defensive against the allies in the west while under-taking an offensive movement against the Russians, in which twelve German army corps will be employed.

THE FRENCH STATEMENT

Washington, Sept. 17.--The French Embassy to-day announced receipt of the following despatch from Bordeaux

"On the 14th and 15th of September, the rear of the enemy has been in touch with the pursuing forces of our army. The rear of the enemy has been re-inforced by German troops. The enemy was forced to accept battle along the whole front, part of which was strongly organized.

"The Allies are on the north of Vich-Sur-Naisne, Soissons and Laon, and also the high hills on the north of France. The line reaches on the north to Ville-Sur-Tourve, a town on the west of Argonne Mountains, and continues over the Argonne by a line passing to the north of Varennes. This last place has been evacuated by the enemy who has reached the River Meuse, close to the Forests of Forges on the north of Verdun."

MAY QUIT BELGIUM

There is no confirmation of the reported German abandonment of Liege but it would be surprising, in the opinion of observers in London, to see the Germans quit Belgium altogether, if there is any truth in the report that the eastern arena of war has become the decisive position in German eyes, and that Germany will be content, for the present, to maintain a defensive attitude in the west.

HEAVY BLOW TO GERMANY

Italian and Roumanian activities seem today to point to decisive action in the near future. Should these countries take the field against Austria-Hungary, it is argued here that Russia will have her hands freed and that Germany would be thrown entirely on her own resources to repel the Muscovite hosts thus strongly reinforced.

Italy seems to have called her reservists to the colors and to be apparently on the point of occupying Avlona in order to safeguard her interests in the Adriatic.

GERMAN AIRCRAFT IS OUT OF BUSINESS

British Sharpshooters Have Accounted for Most of Them

Near Braine, on French left, Wednesday, Sept. 16, via Paris, Sept. 17, 3.46 p.m.--There is an incessant roar of artillery along the entire line of battle in the vicinity of Braine where for the last four days, the great forces of the allies and the Germans have been in very close grips.

The field itself over which the armies are fighting is of a broken nature; consequently there is comparatively little evidence of terrific struggle in progress, although hundreds of thousands of men are engaged in this vicinity. Detachments of artillery from the allied front fire shells with great rapidity at the German positions.

Overhead French and British aeroplanes are flying hither and thither, endeavoring to locate the positions of the big German guns. These, however are so well masked that their emplacement has not yet been discovered, and they continue incessantly to launch their great projectiles in the direction of the allied forces.

German aeroplanes appear to have vanished from the scene of action. For about a week past none has been observed and British sharpshooters declare they have accounted for so many that the others now hesitate to take the air. Many dashing incidents are being recorded of the extraordinary reckless bravery of the French troops.

London, Sept. 17.--The Central News has given out a despatch from its correspondent at Petrograd, who says that the retiring Austrian army in Galicia, has lost all discipline and that the retirement has been a rout.

A New, Harmless Way To Banish Hairy Growths

(Beauty Topics)

By following this suggestion any woman can, in the privacy of her own home, remove every trace of hair or fuzz from her face: With powdered delatone and water mix enough paste to cover the not wanted hairs; apply and in 2 or 3 minutes rub off and wash the skin. This method is unfailing harmless and quick in results but care should be employed to get genuine delatone.

ABOUT THE DAIRY BARN

A Little Remodeling Would Improve Some Immensely

There are many big red barns that look well from a distance and that give the farm an appearance of prosperity, but are a disgrace to dairying. They have but a few small windows, no gutters, no stalls, no feeding alleys, no ventilation. Their big lofts are about the only redeeming feature they have.

Cement is not expensive and any man who is at all handy in building can put in cement gutters and walks with a little study on the subject. Any of the cement companies will send a book of instructions upon request.

Make the gutter 4 feet 10 inches from the manger for medium-sized cows, 18 inches wide and 10 inches deep. It is not necessary to make the whole floor of cement. The forward half of the stall may be left without cement, although it is desirable to make the whole floor and manger of cement when it can be afforded.

Make a feeding alley in front of the mangers where the feeding can be done with the least work and time. Make the barn convenient. Take a day off, or a week if necessary, and visit places that have modern barns. Convenience in a barn is the cheapest part of the building—and the most important. Ideas don't cost anything if you look for them. To put them into effect may take years, but it lightens the work to know they are to be. To wait until you can afford a new barn before making any improvements is folly.

AN ECCENTRIC PLAYER

Recruit Catcher Had Queer Ideas and Had Trouble With Trunk

Most ball players have peculiarities of one kind or another. But it remained for a player named Evans, a former Cub catcher recruit, to have a number of them. On a spring training trip several years ago he had the boys wondering what he would do next. Evans was a confirmed pipe smoker. It was seldom out of his mouth. When the other men would be rehearsing on the ball field Evans would be sitting on the bench pulling at his pipe. One day Frank Chance, becoming irritated, ordered him to get behind the plate during batting practice.

The recruit lazily donned his shinguards and chest-protector. Then, keeping his short black pipe between his teeth, he caught for nearly fifteen minutes, puffing away in a most contented manner.

At Vicksburg, Miss., one day some of the Cubs noticed Evans dig up a little dirt near the plate, place something carefully in the hole and cover it up with exceeding care. He repeated this trick at every stop. Finally they discovered it was a signet ring. He chose this method of protecting it against loss or injury.

He also carried an old trunk along on the trip, bearing a large sign. The motto was, "Handle with care." In this he had nearly five quarts of beef, iron and wine for the purpose of building up his system. He had nearly as much dope as Trainer Semmons had for the entire team. This extract he took religiously three times a day.

One trip his trunk was badly smashed by the baggagemen and several of the bottles broken. It was exceedingly annoying but Evans insisted on lugging the affair along until Secretary Charley Williams objected.

"The railroads absolutely refuse to accept that trunk," said Williams.

So Evans had to purchase another. On this he placed a new sign. It read, "Handle with care, you smashed my last one."

GOLF HAS MANY THRILLS

Making a Hole in One Stroke Enough to Make Any Player Excited

It has been said that golf is not lively or exciting; that it presents few opportunities for either individuals or outsiders to enthuse; that it is too quiet, etc. While there are those ardent devotees of driver and cleek willing to admit that their favorite diversion is not wildly exciting; that opportunities rarely occur for partisan crowds to display their feelings, it is also claimed that golf unquestionably has its thrills.

For those having once experienced the sensation of making a hole in 1 it is needless to attempt to describe the feeling of exhilaration experienced by the lucky player as he sees his ball disappear in the cup. Many holes have been made in a single stroke that have always been more or less doubtful. Players have played over rising ground to blind greens and after searching for a considerable length of time have at last found "a ball" in the hole. On such occasions there is always an element of uncertainty.

Furthermore, jokes have been played on unsuspecting golfers, probably the most cruel one being that at the expense of a fat man and woman at a match several years ago. As a passerby stood near one of the greens of the course in question he noticed two balls, one after the other, land on the green in front of him. They had evidently come from the tee, which could not be seen from the green. Scarcely had the balls come to rest ere a couple of boys dashed from behind a clump of bushes, picked up the balls, dropped them in the hole, and scampered away as quickly as they had come. In a few moments the pair unsuspectingly came to the green and began looking for the balls. Finally the man casually beckoned his companion to see what he saw.

"Great Scott!" he shouted. "We have both holed out in one. Did you ever see anything like that?" Then they proceeded to rush to the club house to tell the wonderful tale, which undoubtedly they are still relating.

A Nautical Innovation

A novel feature of the Royal Holland Lloyd liner "Gelria" is the manner in which the name of the liner is displayed, either when passing stations or other ships or when lying in crowded harbors [illegible] "Electricity."

The boat is fitted between the two funnels with an electric sign lantern 23 feet long by 5 feet deep, made of galvanized iron and bracing angles. The letters are fixed on both sides, and are colored red on the port side and green on the starboard, with white enamelled lettering for use in the daytime. The lettering is illuminated by lamps aggregating 3,000 candlepower.

Sea birds, sensitive to pending changes in the weather, fly inland at the approach of stormy weather in quest of food.

Eggs of different species of birds greatly differ in shape, but the yolks are invariably spherical.

COSTLY ENTERTAINMENT

Enormous Sums Spent to Impress Khedive of Egypt on a Jaunt

The Khedive's tour through the Delta recently showed in a remarkable manner the wealth of the landowner in the provinces of the Nile. In many places private individuals decorated the roads over which the Khedive motored for distances of several miles. Coffee was served in cups worth $3,000; the chair in which the Khedive sat during brief visits to country houses had in many cases cost from $500 to $1,000.

One pasha, who entertained the Khedive for half an hour is alleged to have spent $50,000 on the preparations, while another borrowed cannon from the Egyptian army and fired a salute as his Highness arrived. In many places the crowds were so great that the Khedivial motor car was unable to proceed. Frequently the peasants kissed the car to demonstrate their loyalty.

Altogether the Delta had not witnessed such celebrations for a generation, since the time of Ismail.

Mighty Beer-drinkers

Judging from the consumption of beer at the annual "Maibock," when Munich's famous bock beer is brought out, the reports that the Bavarians are drinking less beer would seem to be premature, to say the least.

In the great "Hofbrauhaus" among whose beer-gardens are among the largest in Europe, the daily attendance of visitors averaged 12,000 and between them they managed to dispose of 6,600 gallons, an allowance of more than half a gallon for each person. About half of this was bock beer, and the remainder the ordinary Munich dark beer.

PRESERVING TOOLS

Hints That Every Farmer and Mechanic Should Know

Some general directions for the care and preservation of tools will not be out of place, as even the best tools become useless if they are not cared for. The following hints will no doubt be appreciated by every mechanic who desires to make his tools last as long as possible, and who always wishes to have them in good condition.

The wooden parts of tools, such as stocks of planes and handles of chisels, are often made to have a nice appearance by polishing, but this adds nothing to their durability. A much better plan is to let them soak in linseed oil for a week and then rub them with a cloth for a few minutes each day for a week or two. This produces a beautiful surface and [illegible] drying and preservation action on the wood.

Coutchouc oil has proved very efficient in preventing rust on iron; this has been used by the German army. It only requires to be spread with a piece of flannel in a very thin layer over the metallic surface and allowed to dry. To remove it, the article has simply to be treated with caoutchouc oil again and washed after 12 or 24 hours. A solution of benzine has been used for years as a coating for steel, iron and lead, and has been found a simple means of keeping them from oxidizing.

All steel articles can be perfectly preserved from rust by putting a lump of freshly-burned lime in the drawer or case in which they are kept. If the things are to be moved, as a gun in its case, put the lime in a muslin bag.

To keep tools from rusting, take one-half ounce of camphor, dissolve in one pound melted lard; take off the scum and mix in as much fine black lead (graphite) as will give it an iron color. Clean tools and smear with this mixture. After 24 hours rub clean with a soft linen cloth.

To remove dust cover the metal with sweet oil, well rubbed in, and allow to stand for 48 hours; smear with oil applied with a piece of cotton wool after rubbing the steel. Then rub with unslaked lime reduced to a fine powder.

Immerse the article to be cleaned for a few minutes, until all the dirt and rust are taken off, in a strong solution of potassium cyanide, say about one-half ounce in a wineglass of water; take it out and clean with a tooth brush with a paste compound of potassium cyanide, castile soap, whiting and water.

DUCKS AND GEESE

How to Feed Them—Ducks Require Plenty of Drinking Water

A good ration for ducks is composed of four parts cornmeal, twelve parts wheat bran, one part low-grade flour, one-quarter part fine grit. During the winter they can be well taken care of by feeding six parts cornmeal and five parts wheat bran, and one part low-grade flour. To this should be added a small portion of beef scraps.

There should always be on hand a liberal quantity of grit and oyster shell. A good supply of green food is necessary at all times. In feeding the mash the ducks should be given all they will eat up twice a day.

A simple ration for goslings is composed of equal parts of cornmeal, wheat bran, ground oats and table scraps. For geese one ration is equal parts of cornmeal, wheat bran and ground oats. Green food should be supplied in abundance. During winter time four parts of steamed clover should be added to the ration.

One of the necessities in the feeding of ducks is to give them plenty of drinking water. This is particularly true at feeding time, as you will notice if you will watch a duck eat a small quantity of food and then go to the water trough, return to the food and go back to the water again, keeping this up till it has had its fill.

Young guinea fowl should be fed a mash on the following order: Very fine oatmeal, two parts; finely-cracked corn, two parts; rape seed, one part; very small particles of cooked meat or finely-chopped hard-boiled eggs, one part.

Guineas for the market should be fattened with milk curds, steamed hulled oats and warm mash, or equal parts of ground oats, barley meal and table scraps.

Many raisers of poultry will be surprised to know that there is an ever-increasing demand for guineas. High-class hotels, restaurants and clubs, as well as private families, are using more. They are a substitute for game birds. The meat of the old guineas is tough, but that of the guinea a few months old is tender and delicious.

Guinea fowls are hard to confine, but they do little damage when allowed to run free. They do not dig up the garden as do the chickens, but walk quietly through the rows, picking up bugs here and there. If yarded, plenty of brush should be placed in the yard, because the guineas have a habit of building nests in secret places. She will usually lay more eggs than she can cover, and therefore some of them must be taken away. Some raisers of guineas declare that the eggs should be removed with a wooden spoon, because the hen can tell, they say, if human fingers have touched the eggs, and she will abandon the nest.

Pure Bred Chickens

Do not expect all pure bred chickens to be perfect in shape or color. Many of the best bred ones sometimes have disqualifications, like white earlobes where they should have red, black feathers where they should have white, etc.

GUN-RUNNING FEATS IN MANY CLIMES

Dangerous Business Appeals to Some Adventurous Spirits—Crew Blew up One Vessel

The amazing gun-running feat in Ulster which resulted in the landing of vast quantities of munitions of war, recalls some daring exploits of a similar character.

English sailors have always been prominent in gun-running expeditions. During the Russo-Japanese War there was an English ship's captain in the Far East who was amazingly successful in taking great cargoes into Vladivostok. The Japanese exhausted their efforts to capture him, but in vain. The secret of his success was this. It was his custom to have two vessels, one steaming a mile or so ahead of the other. The Japanese fleets lying in wait around Vladivostok Harbor would during the night hours observe the first steamer as their searchlights fell on her. Instantly they would rush to capture her, only to find that she was a harmless cargo steamer bound for a neutral port and with her papers all in order. Meanwhile the steamer lying behind, her hold full of contraband, would slip around the Japanese fleet and reach her port.

A Daring Irishman

Quite a romantic instance of gun-running—or, rather, ship-running—about the same time was carried out by a daring Irishman, who ran a torpedo-boat destroyer out of the Thames for the Russians. Acting for the Russian Government, he approached a great firm of torpedo-destroyer builders, representing himself as the agent of a millionaire who wanted a new form of yacht of very high speed. He was willing to pay a big price. He picked a finely-engined torpedo-destroyer as what he wanted, and all he required was a test of speed. The makers took him and his friends on an experimental run down the Thames into the North Sea. As the ship [illegible] open water and was

BRITISH-CANADIAN

Do you desire to make large profits on your investment in Alberta Oil Shares?

If you do you must use good judgment in the selection of the companies in which you invest.

In order that you may use this good judgment it is absolutely necessary that you investigate and analyze a company thoroughly before placing your money in its shares.

In order that you may do this in the case of the British Canadian Oils, Ltd., we hereby give you the information we have secured through our rigid investigation and analysis of said company, and in giving this information we would say that we believe it is correct in every detail.

(1) The British Canadian Oils, Ltd., is incorporated for $1,000,000; 10,000,000 shares at the par value of 10c.

(2) About 500,000 shares of the stock have already been sold, and are now in the hands of the investing public.

(3) The Directors' and Officers' stock is all pooled.

(4) The Company is the holder of petroleum and natural gas leases on over 7,000 acres of land in the Province of Alberta.

(5) The Directors, Officers and Solicitors of the Company are all reliable and conscientious business men who have the welfare of the company at heart, and who desire in every manner in their power to give the public a square run for their money.

(6) The Company is now erecting on Section 31, Township 24, Range 4, an up-to-date combination rotary and standard rig.

(7) The Company expects to commence drilling inside of 3 days, and continue with all possible despatch.

(8) The Company has secured as Field Superintendent a man who knows his business thoroughly.

(9) The said Superintendent has engaged competent drillers to carry out his instructions.
(10) The treasury of the Company is now well financed.

(11) A reputable local geologist in reporting on adjoining property makes the following statement in said report:

"There is a plunging tendency in the crest of the anticline which causes its crest to sink toward the Elbow river. The crest of this dome-shaped structure seems to be in the neighborhood of Section 31, of Township 24, and Section 6 of Township 25."

(12) A reputable petroleum engineer in reply to an enquiry from us, stated that the lease held by the British Canadian Oils, Ltd., in Section 31, is situated on the most perfect anticline he has seen in Western Alberta.

(13) British Canadian shares are listed on the three Calgary exchanges, and are very active traders.

(14) The price of British Canadian shares is very low at the present time; we expect to see it go much higher.

In view of the above information secured by us, we have no hesitation whatever in advising you to at once buy the shares of the British Canadian Oils, Limited, at 15c per share, believing that you will get a square run for your money, and big profits on your investment.

We are prepared to fill your orders for British Canadian shares at 15c each, but this price is subject to raise without notice. Any new strike in the oil field, or any other exciting report might send this stock to a very high price. We would suggest that you wire us at our expense and let your remittance follow, or if you prefer, write us and enclose your remittance.

Our market letter giving information on the Alberta Oil Fields is free for the asking. Write for it.

NO LIGHTHOUSE KEEPER

Beacon Rises to a Height of Eighty Feet and Cost $40,000

What is declared to be the only unattended lighthouse built on a wave-washed rock, possessing a powerful fog-signal, is the recently completed Platte Fougère Lighthouse, marking the entrance to the Russell Channel leading to the Guernsey capital of St. Peter's Port, a spot which figures in Victor Hugo's great romance, "The Toilers of the Sea." This unattended tower, built of ferro-concrete, which rises on a wave-washed rock is 80 feet in height. The head of the rock on which it stands is only visible at low tide, while it is difficult to approach even in the smoothest weather, owing to tides and currents. Much of the foundation work had to be carried out under water.

The tower is solid for a height of 46 feet above the rock, and the base is formed of Portland cement placed in iron moulds with iron bars driven into the solid rock to anchor the concrete firmly. On the side to which the building is exposed to the heaviest seas, massive beams of rolled steel are driven into the rock so as to impart additional strength to the part of the tower where the greatest strains are likely to be set up.

On the entrance level is a compartment containing an electric motor and air compressor, while on the floor immediately above is a duplicate installation. The siren projects through the top of the tower, the trumpet being so turned as to throw the sounds in a horizontal direction over the water. On the top of the tower is a small automatic acetylene gas plant and light. The foghorn has been heard thirty miles away on the French coast, while the light is brought into being at sunset and extinguished at dawn automatically.

These devices, many of which are the invention of the engineer-in-chief Mr. E. O. Catford, are controlled from the shore station one and a quarter miles distant, by means of a submarine cable made specially for the work. This cable is 11 inches in diameter, and weighs forty-five tons to the nautical mile.

Our Point of View

Some men are born to be disliked and others sing tenor.

—o—

There is a place for everything, but a glue factory is no place for a man with a sensitive nose and a white linen suit.

—o—

As long as they live the Kaiser's soldiers will never forget the great schutzenfest they helped to pull off in France.

We are told that Emperor Francis Joseph is on his death-bed again. It appears that our old friend dies hard but is incapable of making a complete job of it.

—o—

The press dispatches say that a desperate battle is being fought in Russian Poland near the town of Czestocuowatjl. To pull the right pronunciation out of such a name you must have a tongue shaped like a corkscrew.

—o—

The battle of the Marne promises well to go into history as the Waterloo of Kaiser Bill. A number of cogs have been knocked out of his war machine and the whole thing is in danger of going to pieces.

—o—

It is appalling to think of the hundreds of thousands of men who have been killed and maimed in the last five weeks, but it is a part of the war game. As Napoleon said you cannot make an omelet without breaking some eggs.

What the Term "Dum-Dum" Really Means

With reference to the unverified story from Berlin that on the seventh or eighth of September Emperor William forwarded a communication to the United States stating that the British army on the continent was using Dum-Dum or expensive bullets, and protesting there uses as a violation of the Hague Convention, it is interesting to find in despatches from Paris to the English papers on August 23, the following:—

"A further note has been sent to the Hague by the French Government protesting against the use of dum-dum bullets by the Germans. The text of the note is as follows:

"The Government of the French Republic has the honour of informing the Powers signing the Hague Conventions of the following facts, constituting on the part of the German military authorities a violation of the conventions signed by the German Government on Oct. 18, 19[illegible]"

"On August 10, 1914, after an engagement between French and German regiments, a major in the Medical Service sent to the General commanding the infantry brigade a clip of cartridges found on the Munster road near the German Customs office which contained five cartridges loaded with cylindro-conical bullets out at the point, the nickel covering of which was incomplete and left exposed the fore end of the leaden core. Other similar bullets have been found in the bodies of the French dead and have been sent to the War Office. The Declaration of the Hague dated July 29th, 1899, and signed by Germany, condemns the use of such bullets in the following terms: 'The contracting Powers forbid the use of bullets which expand or flatten easily in the human body, such as bullets with a hard envelope either does not completely cover the core or has an incision in it.' The Government of the Republic protests against such proceedings."

The British Government has emphatically denied that expansive bullets have been used in the British army during the present war; but so far as is known, the German authorities have not denied the circumstantial charge made by the French Government.

It might be explained that Dum Dum is the arsenal in India where the ammunition for the Indian army is made, and that no expansive bullets have been used in the rifle cartridges manufactured there for many years. The name Dum Dum became identified with expansive bullets on account of an issue of cartridges with bullets of that description turned out at the Indian arsenal for use in one of the many border wars, the object being to increase the stopping power of the small calibre cartridges when used against hordes of fanatical tribesmen. There was a violent protest aroused against the use of this ammunition in England none of it has been issued or made since at Dum Dum.

Nerviline Ends Neuralgia, Brings Relief Instantly

No Remedy Like Old "Nerviline" to Cure Pain or Soreness.

That terrible ache—how you fairly reel with it—that stabbing, burning neuralgia—what misery it causes. Never mind, you don't have to suffer—use Nerviline, it's a sure cure. Not an experiment, because nearly forty years of wonderful success has made a name for Nerviline among the people of many different nations. "There is nothing speedier to end Neuralgic headache than old-time 'Nerviline,'" writes Mr. G. C. Dalgleish, from Evanston. "It is so powerful and penetrating that it seems to eat up any pain in a minute. My family couldn't get along without Nerviline. We always keep the 50c. family size bottle handy on the shelf, and use it to end chest colds, sore throat, coughs, earache, toothache, and pain in the back. My wife swears by Nerviline. For cramps its effect is astonishing and we believe it is better and speedier than any other household family remedy."

Newspapers and the War

One of the curious misconceptions of the public is that while everybody else suffers, newspapers make money in wartimes. The real fact is that the newspaper is among the first to feel the depressing effects of hostilities, whether they are at home or abroad.

Its circulation increases of course, for war arouses popular interest and people who borrow papers in normal times generally buy when the war-lords are on the march. But gain in circulation revenue counts little against the large outgo in other directions.

The extraordinary struggle across the seas has caught popular attention in almost as great a degree as if we ourselves were in the melee, but every newspaper will make less profit or suffer greater losses while it lasts than was the case before or is likely to be the case after the war.

The immediate effect has been to raise the price of nearly everything that goes into the make up of a newspaper. The labor costs is greater because the newspaper must be on guard out of hours of its ordinary publication, to give promptly any striking development in the struggle on land and sea, and the expenses of gathering the news and bringing it through air or sea to the American centers of distribution has been enormously augmented.

On the last named subject the New York Times says:

> Some idea of the labor involved in reporting the European war and the great expense it has entailed on the American newspapers may be gained from the fact that in the month of August The New York Times received by cable from European points the immense number of 309,018 words. In the same month The Associated Press received 298,942 words by cable, making a total of 607,800 words, mostly relating to the military operations and the actions of the various governments.

When it is recalled how nigh the cost is per word of cable, it is not difficult to appreciate the vast sum which the newspapers are expending in presenting to the public the details of the European cataclysm. It is unnecessary to suggest that the revenues they receive from increased circulation are insignificant when compared with the expenditures they are compelled to make.

Not long ago in a proceeding in court the manager of a great Eastern newspaper testified that the Spanish-American war had cost his publication approximately $750,000 net. During the Boer war the London Post had twenty correspondents in the field and cable rates were $1.20 a word. London newspapers had great difficulty in paying dividends while the war lasted. A Philadelphia newspaper writer recalls that during the insurrection in the Phillippines he saw dispatches handled by an American newspaper which cost $3000 a column.

OIL THE GREAT WEALTHMAKER

We hold over 3,000 acres, more or less, of oil leases North and South of Monarch and several of our leases are in the same range as the Monarch well.

Many companies claim to be close to Monarch but we are one of the very few who are in Range Six upon which the Monarch Well is situated. Therefore, we must be on the same anti-cline and as it is a foregone conclusion Monarch will get oil, so will we.

Fifty-Seven Feet of Oil Bearing Sands Passed Through in Monarch Well

OFFICIAL STATEMENT IS GIVEN OUT BY PRESIDENT GEORGESON—WELL IS NOW DOWN OVER 1,800 FEET AND FLOW OF WET GAS HAS BEEN STRUCK IN LOWER LEVELS—GEOLOGIST DUNN IS AWAY AT PRESENT

Heavy oil showings are being found in the Monarch well, west of Olds, although the oil has not yet come in in commercial quantities.

To put the exact facts before the public, President William Georgeson and Treasurer G. W. Morfitt, of the company, this morning issued an official statement from the drillers setting forth the results.

The heaviest oil seepage has been encountered through a stratum 57 feet thick, and the well is now 1850 feet deep.

A sample of this oil baled out at 1,775 feet was brought to the city this morning and is in the office of Mr. Morfitt, Grain Exchange Building. The oil is a heavy black petroleum with the characteristic petroleum odor.

The statement issued by the officers is as follows: In the absence of Mr. Dunn, Mr. Van Alst, the head driller, reports that from the depth of 1,775 feet to 1,832 feet he went through oil bearing sands for 57 feet. Throughout there was a heavy showing of black oil in the baler. Two further showing of black wet gas were met at 1,895 feet and 1,915 feet.

The well is now down 1,860 feet. Wet gas has shown at 633 feet, 1,430 feet, 1,895 feet and 1,815 feet.

Oil sands have shown at '808 feet, (48 feet), 1,430 feet (40 feet), 1,740 feet (14 feet), and 1,775 feet (57 feet).

The well is now down 1,800 feet, and while there are good oil showings there is not as yet oil in commercial quantities.

Our stock is on the market at 50 cents a share, a Dollar par, and will be advanced without notice any day pending Monarch Well developments. It is practically a certainty that Monarch will be in oil in commercial quantities within two weeks, Our stock will jump away above par and you had better hurry if you wish to share our prosperity.

North Bend as a symbol

There are really two North Bends. The one is North Bend, a Divisional Point on the C.P.R. into which men come from railway camps, with time-cheques, to draw their wages, and spend some, and move on again to look for fresh work. Years ago I knew that North Bend. I recall [illegible] on the old platform of those days. [illegible] trepidation, [illegible] the coming of a train on which he proposed getting out of the place with ten dollars given him by some Indians to buy whisky for them. They were in the bushes across the [illegible] hotel.

The other North Bend is the North Bend some yards farther West—the North Bend of a C.P.R. hotel, of green [illegible] portable fountain at the end of yards of tubing spraying rainbows into the sunny day, and sweetpeas giving off their scent round the [illegible] veranda, and a pair of humming-birds [illegible] the blue; [illegible] bowers. The man with his bundle of blankets on his back, "hitting [illegible] with a time-cheque in his pocket, sees a very different Canada from the man in the rocking-chair on the front veranda of that pretty châlet. The Canada of the [illegible] circumscribed. So is the Canada of the laborer. Both miss a lot. The real Canada—like the real anywhere—is a place of wolf-teeth and [illegible]

On my last visit to North Bend I stepped off a Pullman car, [illegible] a little pair of steps for me to alight by. A Japanese carried my "grip" up to the hotel. It was a blazing, sunny day. Everything sparkled. The sky was like a turquoise. As I went down the little steps and handed the coon his expected gratuity, I remembered the prior arrival—the freight train coming in at early morning, and I peeping through a crack in the side to make sure that it was North Bend, then peeping out of the little end wicket of the car to see that no one observed me, feeling in my pocket to be sure I had not dropped my time-cheque while dozing on the way hither, then slipping out on to the bumpers, dropping my blankets on to the track, and alighting softly on them, hearing a step—and standing on guard, expectant of the precipitate assault of some brakesman who had espied me, and seeing a benign and grey-headed old man who closed one eye at me and passed on. North Bend will always signify life to me—a business in which one never knows what is going to happen—a place of humming-birds among the sweetpeas at one end, and hard work and a roll of blankets at the other; a place of spring-mattresses, and clean sheets, and cool refreshing rooms with the windows open, and mosquito netting on them, and a can of hot water at the door in the morning; a place of pick and shovel on the mountain side all day; and a hard hunk and close atmosphere, with a brief lullaby of many snores in diverse keys; sound sleep thereafter—and a rinse in cold water in the communal tin basin in the morning.—By Ferderick Niven, author of "Hands Up."

MUSIC AND DRAMA

"MAY ROBSON"

In [illegible], May Robson, who is billed for the Grand Opera House in [illegible] comedy, "Martha By-the-Day" [illegible] Brown, her husband being Dr. [illegible] H. Brown, a physician of [illegible] in New York City, where the [illegible] have a magnificent and decidedly artistic home. Miss Robson, was born in Australia, in the Murrumbidgee district, where her father, formerly an officer in an East Indian Company had settled upon his retirement. When a young girl Miss Robson was sent to Europe and she received her education in Brussels and Paris. When her studies were completed she first made china painting her vocation, and excelled in that art to a marvellous degree. She came to America with the ambition to establish herself as an artist, but shortly after her arrival an opportunity presented itself and she made her first appearance before the footlights, as Tilly, in "The Hoop of Gold," produced by the Mallorys, at the Madison Square Garden Theatre. From there she went to the Lyceum Theatre under the management of Daniel Frohman, and finally with Chas. Frohman, whose direction she was under for many years. During that time she appeared in a long line of parts in the Frohman success, that ranged from ingenues to grand dames. Miss Robson was the comedienne of the Empire Stock Company, and was cast for all the feminine eccentric parts.

Possibly no other actress has been as willing to conceal a pleasing personality with grotesque wigs, ugly facial make-ups and gowns that do not fit the actress, if they do the part, that she assumed. But these sacrifices have had their advantages, as to-day Miss Robson stands as the premier character actress of America. Some of her most successful roles, taken from a list of over 150 that she has played have been: 'Miss Ashford' in "The Private Secretary"; 'Emma' in "Nerves"; 'Veneranda' in "Forgone Conclusions" in which play she appeared with Salvini; 'Helia' in "Lady Bountiful"; 'Kitty' in "Glorianna"; 'Mrs. Fretwell' in "Sowing The Wind"; 'Barbara Fidgetty' in the burlesque of "Barbara Freitchie" put on by Weber and Field.

THE PROPER CARE OF A HORSE'S FEET

Defects Can be Remedied by Proper Shoeing—Some Ailments and How to Cure Them

In buying a horse for any purpose it is important to know that the animal's feet are sound. The horse is a native of the grassy plains of the world, and the things we have been doing with him, under conditions of civilization have resulted in some strange diseases and weakness of the feet. Hard roads, continuous shoeings, etc., have combined to produce cracked hoof walls, side bones, ring bones, coffin joints, contracted heels, lameness and other common and uncommon troubles in the hoof of the modern horse.

Shoeing is almost as necessary for the modern work horse as his daily ration, but a great many of the foot defects so discouragingly common may be traced back through the generations of shoeing. Careless and ignorant shoers continue to ruin the feet of horses.

The foot of a horse is not all a block of horn. On the upper side is a different kind of horn from that of the bottom side, with a spongy triangle called a frog. Inside this box of horn is a bone of a shape much like that of the foot in which the bones of the lower part of the leg terminate. The back side or rear end of this triangular bone terminates in the point or ring.

Now when a shoe is too wide at the heel it presses the shell of the foot in against these wings, and when the shoe is allowed to remain on too long and the shell of the foot grows over the shoe, or the shoe bears on the sole of the foot, it brings direct pressure in the parts over the ends or wings of the coffin bone. So in either case it is the shoe which, being improperly adjusted, pressing unduly upon the wing of this bone that produces an injury. Sometimes it will be manifest in a little red spot in the sole of the foot when it is pared to level the shoe in shoeing, at other times there is no red spot. One is called a red corn and the other, when the horse is lame from this cause, a blind corn. When an ill-fitted shoe has remained on for a long period an ulceration sometimes takes place in the sensitive parts of the foot when we have what is known as a suppurating corn. Sometimes, too there will be sprouting of the bone or a fungous bone will grow on the very tip of the coffin bone. This is more properly speaking a blind corn. As previously stated, the cause is bad fitting shoes.

The remedy should be to correct it by taking the pressure off the affected parts. This may be done in two ways. First, set the shoe so that it will not cause the shell of the foot to be pressed inward against the wings of the coffin bone. Make the shoe narrow at the heel and bevel it outwardly a little so as to spread the heel of the foot, instead of contracting it by pressing it inward against the coffin bone. Second, pare the sole of the foot over the wings of the coffin bone so that no weight will be brought to bear on the shoe at that point. Keep the red spot pared out all that can safely be done and not expose the sensitive sole of the foot. A rubber pad shoe will sometimes afford relief to the horse with corns, as it will bring a frog pressure to help bear the weight of the animal.

RANCH MANAGER—ARTHUR McKINNON
Farmer, Glenaladale, P. E. I.

WILLIAM HENRY TOWNSEND
General Contractor, Rollo Bay, P. E.I.

INTRODUCTION

The Glenaladale Silver Black Fox Company, Limited, was incorporated in 1913 with six pairs of foxes, at $90,000. This Company re-capitalised in 1914, with 20 pairs of beautiful Silver Black Foxes, at $15,000 per pair, making a total capitalization of $300,000.

THE FOXES

Six pairs (one year old) proven breeders, and fourteen pairs (1914 pups), making a total of 20 pairs — all young foxes— good for at least 10 years. This Company has bought some of this year's options on foxes with a guarantee that they are pedigreed and of the highest strain and very best quality P. E. Island famous foxes.

THE RANCH

The ranch is situated on the well known Glenaladale Farm, owned by Major C. McKinnon, formerly the homestead of Sir William McDonald, and is only 12 miles from Charlottetown, in a quiet locality sufficiently removed from any disturbance.

THE RANCHER

Mr. Arthur W. McKinnon, our Ranch Manager, has had much experience in breeding foxes, and has the practical knowledge necessary to efficiently manage and care for the animals.

The foxes will be ranched free of charge to the Company for the first year. This means a large saving to the shareholders, as some companies have to pay as high as 25 per cent. of the increase for ranching purposes.

The promoters of this Company are retaining $80,000 worth of stock for themselves. $20,000 worth has already been disposed of, leaving $200,000 to be offered to investors at $25.00 per share, with a guarantee that a dividend of 50 per cent. will be paid in cash in 1915, or whatever more it may be.

The Glenaladale Silver Black Fox Co., Limited, in 1913 guaranteed a dividend of 50 per cent. but are going to pay 50 per cent. in cash and 50 per cent., in stock in 1914. The Company is in good standing and to each and every investor the first of September, 1914, we can say:— "We have given you 50 per cent. more than we promised." And we feel sure that in 1915 all the shareholders in this re-capitalised company will be able to say they received more than they were promised.

This Company can truthfully say that they have not one cent of watered stock in the Company. Now Mr. Investor, if you were a Company and we the shareholders, we would look to you for justice to give us all that was honestly due us. We would not like for you to buy 3 pairs of foxes at $15,000 per pair ($45,000) and form a fox company and capitalise your concern at $90,000 and make us pay, as shareholders, for it. The Glenaladale Silver Black Fox Company, Limited, will ask you to do nothing like that. We want to let you in on the ground floor.

NOTICE

When a fox company guarantees any specified dividend to its shareholders, and when said company is an incorporated body, you need not be afraid of any unfair play, for such company is compelled to pay what they promise, and, besides, every interest is taken for the welfare of both the investor and the company.

The promoters of this Company are all above board and will not permit any crook to come in and do anything that is not right. Anyone holding stock in this Company who is dissatisfied can, by notifying the Secretary-Treasurer, have his or her money promptly refunded.

FORTUNES IN FOXES

There, is money in fox ranching more than anything else ever known. It is good for the rich man and good for the poor man. A poor man cannot buy a pair of Silver Black Foxes but he can easily raise $25.00, $50.00 or $100.00. By investing in this Company he gets back his money in at least two years and then he will have an income for life and for his children to come—and after there will be money in fox farming. One of the reasons for this is that P. E. Island has now 95 per cent. of the world's foxes in captivity. For every one pelt that can be raised there are more than 25 wealthy people waiting for it in London, Russia, France and America.

PELT VALUES

The Fox Pelts have advanced greatly in price since 1910 and you can see for yourself what money was in them then.

Below are the particulars of sale of a consignment of Silver Fox Furs, shipped from Prince Edward Island ranches to London, England, and sold there in March, 1910:

SHARES

Shares are selling at $25.00 each; 25 per cent. with application and the balance on or before September 1st, 1914.

Simply fill out the application form and mail to Major C. McKinnon, Secretary-Treasurer, Glenaladale, P. E. I.

All cheques must be made payable to "The Glenaladale Silver Black Fox Co., Ltd."

A POINTER

Just to give you a little idea of what the free ranching of foxes mean to the investor, we will figure it out for you.

We have twenty pairs of foxes in the ranch and suppose each pair produces a litter of only four foxes this is equal to 40 pairs and at $15,000 per year it would figure out at $600,000. Now, if we had to pay even 15 per cent. of the increase for ranching purposes (which is considerably lower than some companies pay) it would mean that we would have to pay $90,000 for ranching expenses.

We ranch the foxes free for the first year, so that in addition to a guaranteed dividend of 50 per cent., we save you this large outlay of money. While we guarantee 50 per cent., still should each pair in our ranch produce four pups it would mean that your dividend would be about 200 per cent. instead of 50 per cent.

FINAL WORD

A great deal has been written about Ranches, Grades of Foxes, etc., but after all the one object that every investor should keep before him is the dividend he is going to get. We have tried to show you in plain English what we can do for you and now that you have our proposition, compare it with the offer made by any other company now in business— and then judge for yourself to have been paid by some of the Charlottetown daily newspapers.

The Onion

What is the reason that so few people eat onions nowadays. The onion used to be a stand-by in this country, but it is getting to be about as popular as a divorced husband at the wedding feast. There is nothing that will bring tears of repentance to a hardened sinner's eyes quicker than a stout, wide-hipped Bermuda onion with teeth like a rip-saw and a grip like an entered apprentice. One of these onions, sprinkled with tasco sauce and inhaled slowly before each meal, will cause a man to perspire at high speed when the thermometer is 10 degrees below zero. Physicians tell us that if people would eat more onions they would have fewer microbes roosting about in their systems, as onions are death to germs of all kinds. The onion is also death to the course of true love—after marriage, but not before.

OBITUARY

The death occurred yesterday morning of Thomas L. Riley, at Oak Orchard, Harvey. He was born in Fort Wayne, Indianna, fifty-one years ago. The burial will take place in Cleveland, Ohio.

JOHN R. BUCHANAN

A well known resident of this city in the person of Mr. John Robt. Buchanan, 324 Paterson street, son of the late Mr. and Mrs. John R. Buchanan, passed away yesterday afternoon. He was 34 years of age, and had been a resident of this city practically all his life. He was employed by the C. G. E. Co., as a machinist. His death will be regreted by a large circle of friends.

Left to mourn his death are his sorrowing wife and one little daughter, Mary; also one brother, George H., and three sisters, Mrs. A. C. Harran, Mrs. O. C. Callender, and Mrs. T. F. Diardon, of Peterborough. The funeral will take place to-morrow afternoon at 2.30 from his late residence to Little Lake Cemetery.

An Appeal to the Intelligent Investor !

Does a logical presentation of a good investment interest you? Do you believe there is an oil in commercial quantities in Alberta? If you are alive to the situation you do. Then it will pay you to investigate our proposition and our holdings.

Please Read Carefully and Note!

THAT Oil authorities are agreed the Alberta Oil Field is of an anticlinal formation. It has been fairly accurately ascer-tained in what general direction these anticlines run. Geologist B. W. Dunn chose wisely in the selection of the now famous Monarch well. WINDSOR OILFIELDS, LIMITED, has holdings located close to the Monarch.

THAT Cunningham Craig, one of the world's most eminent geologists, selected the site of the Mowbray-Berkeley well. Stock in that company is not offered at any price. We possess acreage adjoining the Mowbray-Berkeley (Section 12, Township 23, Range 5, West of 5th). cf a strike is made at the Mowbray-Berkeley what will shares in our company be worth?

Our holdings consist of 1380 acres, carefully selected and judiciously spread over the entire oil field.

MYSTERY OF NATURE

Botanists do Not Agree as to What Causes Plants' Reawakening

What awakens plant life in the spring? How do plants know when winter is at an end? It is not that they feel the warmth of the sun, for many of them are so far beneath the ground that the sun's rays have had no chance to penetrate them when they start to struggle towards the surface of the ground. And when the winter lingers long in the lap of spring it seems to make little difference to the plants, which come up just the same.

Some plants even bloom with the snow still on the ground. The aconite forces its way up through the snow. In the mountains of Southern Europe the soldanellas send up their flower stalks right through the snow, boring their way to the sunlight and blooming at the surface. When the snow is unusually deep they even bloom underneath it. Their activity is not confined to mere blooming, for often the actual pollenation takes place under the snow.

Botanists are agreed that heat has very little to do with the awakening of plants at the end of winter. seeds have been lying buried all through the cold months, and long before any warmth can have reached them their tiny shoots have begun to work their way upward through the soil. The water plants, which died down in the fall and whose roots have been lying dormant in the mud at the bottom of the lakes and ponds, feel the call of spring and send forth leaf and flower stalks that soon show upon the surface. The water in which they awake is far colder than was that in which they died down.

As it cannot be the heat that calls things back to life, what else can it be? Leonard Bastin suggests that perhaps the light of the sun, apart from its warmth, has a reviving effect when the days begin to grow longer.

SYNOPSIS OF CANADIAN NORTH-WEST LAND REGULATIONS.

THE sole head of a family, or any male over 18 years old, may homestead a quarter-section of available Dominion land in Manitoba, Saskatchewan, or Alberta. Applicant must appear in person at the Dominion Lands Agency or Sub-Agency for the District. Entry by proxy may be made at any Dominion Lands Agency (but not Sub-Agency), on certain conditions.

Duties—Six months residence upon and cultivation of the land in each of three years. A homesteader may live within nine miles of his homestead on a farm of at least 80 acres, on certain conditions. A habitable house is required except where residence is performed in the vicinity.

In certain districts a homesteader in good standing may pre-empt a quarter section alongside his homestead. Price $3.00 per acre.

Duties—Six months residence in each of three years after earning homestead patent; also 50 acres extra cultivation. Pre-emption patent may be obtained as soon as homestead patent, on certain conditions.

A settler who has exhausted his homestead right may take a purchased homestead in certain districts. Price $3.00 per acre. Duties— Must reside six months in each of three years, cultivate 50 acres and erect a house worth $300.

The area of cultivation is subject to reduction in case of rough, scrubby or stony land. Live stock may be substituted for cultivation under certain conditions.

THE PINCH HITTER MUST WATCH BALL

Ham Hyatt, One of the Most Famous Exponents, Never Hits at First Ball

"It's just a case of hit or miss. To-day you do To-morrow you don't."

Ham Hyatt thus sizes up the art of pinch hitting. Nearly always he makes good, sometimes he fails. Occasionally he strikes out—but not often. By some baseball followers Ham is hailed as the greatest pinch hitter in the world. The Pittsburg club carried the great norther-westerner for his pinch hitting alone. With muscles like steel and nerve as cool as an iceberg, together with the eye and the knack of hitting, Ham was a big asset to the club.

Time and again the big fellow delivered the punch that won for the Pirates. A few times he failed, but not even Hyatt can always hit the ball out of the lot.

Meet Ball Squarely

"It is all in meeting a ball squarely," said Ham when asked to discuss the art of batting. "You may hit a ball ever so hard, but if you have taken your eye off it and not hit it fairly it matters not how hard you swing. It will not travel."

Ham was asked why he invariably lets the first ball go by in a pinch without offering at it.

"Well, now, do you think that is a fair question?" laughed Ham. "If I answer that don't you think I will be tipping my hand to the pitchers?" After a little urging he undertook to explain the point. "I pass up the first one," he said, "and so do most hitters, to see what the pitcher has. By that I mean that I try to judge his speed if it is a fast ball and to see his curve if it is a curve. As I only get to bat in pinches I can't tell just what the pitcher has. I can't judge a pitcher's speed from the bench, nor can folks in the grand stand. You must be at the plate to look 'em over to get a line on them.

Learning His Lesson

"When I was with Kansas City I was hitting well above the .300, and they told me that if I would quit hitting at the first ball I would be even better. The manager remarked once that I was better with a strike or two against me than by cracking at the first one, which often resulted in my popping out or grounding out. I followed his advice and learned from him that it was a lot better to look one or two over so that I could judge the speed and the break of the pitcher's curve and time my swing better. It improved my hitting." Asked about his first appearance as a pinch hitter, Ham replied:

"Oh, it was over in Cincinnati one day in 1909, if I remember correctly. I had never been in a big league game, nor had I acted as a pinch hitter in the minors, where they played me regularly. I forget who I batted for that day, but I think it was one of the pitchers. I got a three-base hit and we won the game. From that time on "Cap" Clarke gave me lots of chances."

THE MODESTY OF YOUTH

Baseball Ability of Youngsters Never Underestimated by Themselves

A glance through the mail of any baseball magnate most any morning would serve to dispel any idea that might exist as to the modesty of aspiring big leaguers.

Lest this statement be taken with a grain of salt we herewith append a few excerpts from some epistles received by a manager of a big league team. The prize goes to one young man who wrote in part as follows:

"Being a young pitcher left handed, with good offers to try out with the Brooklyn ball club, I am writing you to see if you can't give me a try. I stand 5 feet 11 inches high, weight 160 big and broad, aged 21, good habits, and I got the stuff on the pill. I have a spitter I will put alongside of any left hander in the biz. I had 10 different offers last summer to try out with good clubs. I had Artie Hoffman after me. He wants me to come to the Pacific Coast to Frisco, but it takes too much coin to get out there. You give me the chance and I'll show you the makings I got. Charles Ebbets was after me but I decided to rest up. Well, anyway, let me here from you. I will sign for $175 a month."

Here's another one: "I think I ought to get $125 or $150 a month, but if you think that is too much send me a contract anyway and we will talk over terms."

And bear in mind that these are only a few of the many.

A modern cruiser can carry coal enough to enable her to cruise within a radius of 1,500 miles but the same ship can carry oil enough for a radius of 3,000 miles.

Nieces of Poet Laureate

There are two relatives of the poet laureate living in Canada. These are the Misses Bridges, nieces of the doctor, who have a five-acre ranch in a delightful part of British Columbia, near Mission City. These two ladies came from England some years ago and bought land in British Columbia, and have led a retired life since that time, raising chickens and gardening. Naturally they are greatly pleased with the honor recently conferred upon their uncle, Dr. Robert Bridges by Premier Asquith, in appointing him poet laureate.

How People Feel
When They Have
Tape Worm

Tape worm is bred from a parasite. This parasite is a creature male and female in one. It is a pear shape, having two, four and six suckers. It lays the eggs, which are only connected together with slime. They develop and form a body, which is the worm. Each joint is an individual, having a sucker or mouth. The worm grows to be much longer than the bowels where it is located, and sometimes a whole colony of them are found, enough to fill a quart of solid worm, and when put in a bucket of water would apparently fill it. It is the hardest task in the world to destroy this parasite without doing injury to the individual who may be so unfortunate as to have it, as the parasite clings to the bowels, freeing itself from the body of the worm, and remains there to breed another. It is an internal demon and causes its victims to suffer all the symptoms of disease imaginable. The cleverest physicians are led to believe the patient is suffering from some other disease, as nearly every person has different symptoms. Some have been treated for cancer of the bowels, consumption of the bowels, consumption of the lungs, chronic dyspepsia, nervous prostration, melancholia, hypochondria, hysteria, inflammation of the bowels, appendicitis and other complaints, when one or more of these internal demons were eating their lives away.

Prof. Mulveney has made the discovery to free the victim of this monster without injury to the system, destroying the parasite as well as expelling the worm with one dose of medicine without any previous starvation. Visit his office, where he has in his possession the most wonderful collection of these death-dealing monsters in the world, which have been expelled from hundreds of people by his famous remedy, some bottles containing colonies of worms and anyone seeing them cannot imagine how a person could possibly live with them in his bowels. It is surprising the number of people that have them. Thousands have them and are not aware of the fact. The letters and testimonials the Professor has in his possession are enough to convince one of this alarming fact. Some of the most prominent symptoms are: ravenous appetite, dizzy spells, headaches, cramps in the bowels, a feeling of something moving in the bowels, also a feeling as though something was crawling up the throat. The only certainty of having one in the system is when segments or joints are seen, which come away almost any time. They are flat and from ½ of an inch to 1 inch long, which have often been mistaken for pin worms by those who do not know the difference. There are many other feelings of distress which would take long to enumerate. Strange to say, some people of strong constitution, have very little distress.

Prof. Mulveney's world-famous Tape Worm Exterminator is safe, sure and harmless. No starvation, no danger, is not disagreeable to take. One dose nearly always affects a cure. Further information free. Send stamped envelope, telephone Parkdale 4830 or call at 167 Dundas street, Toronto. Open from 8 a.m. to 10 p.m. daily.

WHO SAID IT

Dean Swift is credited with "Bread is the staff of life."

It was Keats who said, "A thing of beauty is a joy for ever."

"Man proposes, but God disposes" was first written by Thomas a Kempis.

Franklin is authority for "God helps those who help themselves."

It was an observation of Thomas Southern that "Pity's akin to love."

"All cry and no wool," is an expression found in Butler's "Hudibras."

We are indebted to Colley Cibber, not to Shakespeare, for "Richard is himself again."

Edward Coke, the English jurist, was of the opinion that "A man's house is his castle."

"When Greek joins Greek, then is the tug of war," was written by Nathaniel Lee in 1692.

Edward Young tells us "Death loves a shining mark," and "A fool at forty is a fool indeed."

"Of two evils I have chosen the less," and "The end must justify the means," are from Matthew Prior.

To Milton we owe "The paradise of fools," "A wilderness of sweets," and "Moping melancholy and moon-struck madness."

The poet Campbell found that "Coming events cast their shadows before," and "'Tis distance lends enchantment to the view."

Christopher Marlowe wrote "Love me little, love me long."

To Dr. Johnson belongs "A good hater," and to Macintosh, in 1791, the phrase, often attributed to John Randolph, "Wise and masterly inactivity."

Thomas Tusser, a writer of the sixteenth century, said: "It's an ill wind turns no good," "Better late than never," "Look ere thou leap," and "The stone that is rolling can gather no moss."

Crow Devours Starling

A gentleman living in Desswood place, Aberdeen, heard an unusual scream as if some bird were in pain. He then saw a crow holding fast a starling. The crow flew over the house on the opposite side of the street, carrying its poor victim with it. In a minute it came back into view again, and, alighting on a chimney, with a triumphant "caw," proceeded to make a meal of the luckless starling.

Suicide Soon After Marriage

A tubeworker named James M'Nicol recently married, committed suicide in his house at Chapelside, Airdrie. He had been unwell for some time, and sent his wife to tell his foreman he would not be at work. In her absence he detached the gaspipe from the stove, and, putting a pillow over his head and the pipe in his mouth, asphyxiated himself.

Strangely Mated Pairs

Some curiosities of marriage are shown in the annual report of the Registrar General for Great Britain. During the last fiscal year 283,834 marriages took place. The youngest husband, aged fifteen, married a wife of seventeen; the youngest wives, both aged fourteen, married husbands of nineteen and twenty-one. One husband of eighty-five married a wife of twenty-five, while another husband of thirty married a wife of seventy.

A Sequel to a Skye Courting

In Dunblane Sheriff Court Kate M'Kinnon, domestic servant, of Broadfoot, Skye, was awarded $1,250 damages for breach of promise of marriage against David M'Dougall, farm servant, Tyndrum. The parties met in Skye and courted for five years. Marriage was promised, but the defendant repeatedly failed to "name the day." The suit was undefended.

An old Scottish gravedigger was remonstrated with one day for making a serious overcharge for digging a grave.

How to Cut Glass

There is a method of cutting glass without the aid of a diamond which is very little known. Take a piece of common string and dip it in alcohol and squeeze it reasonably dry. Then tie the string tightly around the glass on the line of cutting. Touch a match to the string and let it burn off. The heat of the burning string will weaken the glass in this particular place.

While it is hot plunge the glass under water, letting the arm go under well to the elbow so that there will be no vibration when the glass is struck. With the free hand strike the glass outside the line of cutting, giving a quick, sharp stroke with any long flat instrument, such as a stick of wood or a long-bladed knife, and the cut will be as clean and straight as if made by a regular glass cutter.

Jaw Broken by Horse Kick

Tuesday afternoon between 12 and 1 o'clock, Wray Thornhill, the son of Mr. Jos. Thornhill, Elgin Street, was kicked in the jaw and mouth by a horse. The blow broke his jaw bone and knocked in his teeth. Dr. Clark attended his injuries. The little fellow is suffering greatly, and his injuries prevent him from eating or even drinking.—Lindsay Post.

Lindsay Golf Club

At a splendid attendance of citizens held in the Council Chamber last night, and presided over by His Honor Judge Harding, it was decided to take out a charter under the name of the Lindsay Golf and Country Club and complete the purchase of the forty-five acres of the Corley farm, just west of the town (or more property if necessary).

Duck Shooting Good

Hastings Star: The black duck shooting since the season opened has been very good both above and below the dam, and some fine bags of black and wood ducks have been made besides various other kinds. One sport we are told, even landed a young tame goose.

Booze Cost Him 60 Days

It pays to heed a warning from our Police Magistrate. William Harrison appeared in the Police Court 2 years ago for being drunk and was warned not to come back. But like a 'bad penny William turned up this morning and the Magistrate remembered. He will be the guest of Sam Ferguson for the next sixty days and do duty on the stone pile.—Port Hope Guide.

Police Court Brevities

At yesterday's police court Louis Perry and James Wallace were charged with vagrancy. They were remanded for a week. Edward Hayes was charged with having tried to steal a ride on a C.P.R. train. Edward declared, "I certainly am guilty. I tried to get here from Havelock." He was allowed to go to the lumber camps. William Whitworth was charged with letting a bitch run at large and the dog ordered destroyed.

Work or Starve

At yesterday's police court William Watragen pleaded guilty to being a vagrant. William is a single man, healthy and $25 short in his board bill. William is a Hollander, aged 27. William's landlady said William lies in bed until 11 a.m. and then goes to the Public Library. The landlady is a Hollander. William's case was enlarged for a week. The prisoner was told to get out and work or starve. The landlady who didn't want him back, had secured him a job on Mark Street.

Freak Chickens

One of the most remarkable chickens yet heard of was purchased in a meat store some days past by a Lindsay lady. The bird in question on being placed upon the dissecting-table in the culinary department of the purchaser's home, was found to contain no less than two hearts, three livers, and two large gizzards. It is needless to say the domestic dictator of this department almost swooned as she extracted the different organs from the fowl. Giblet soup was at a premium that day and if the owner of this rare avis would call and give particulars as to breed and other information of the fowl, a reward might be given them.—Post.

A neighborly Scrap

A neighbourly (?) scrap occurred on Smith Street. One woman stated that another lady struck her on the face with her fist. It seems that the ubiquitious youngsters of both parties had a row, and then the mothers without issuing an ultimatum, declared war. Fists and stones were used on the firing line. Mr. Gordon for the defence in the Police Court yesterday, asked that both defendant and complainant be warned and the case dismissed. This was consented to. Owing to the admitted filthy language used by the complainant, Mr. Goodwill was present in court to warn the woman guilty thereof if she did not cease using such language her children would be taken away.

The Moose Band

On Wednesday night the new Moose band held its first organization meeting, when the following officers, all members of the lodge, were elected:

Hon. Pres.—Mayor Buller.
President—G. N. Gordon.
Vice-Pres.—W. H. Denman.
Executive Officers—President and Dictator—E. N. McWilliams.
Bandmaster—W. B. Webb.
Deputy Bandmaster—W. Hughes.
Secretary—J. M. Greene.
Treasurer—Jas. Edgar.
Librarian—A. Patterson.

The Order of the Moose has now 200 members in Peterborough.

Salvation Army Notes

Brigadier Rawling and Staff Captain Walton, of Montreal, are assisting Adjutant McElhiney in the harvest festival services now being held. Both officers will be here over the week end, and special meetings will be held on Saturday night and Sunday. Possibly the best drawing card for the Army is the splendid and acknowledged good work done here for downfallen humanity by the local Adjutant and his wife, the local police matron. Such people who devote their intellect and time towards saving human bodies and souls must in the natural order of human events receive if silent, still general acknowledgment from the whole community.

CITY IN PARAGRAPH

Peterboro Fall Fair opened yesterday.

Trenton has raised $934 for the Patriotic Fund.

It is thought one of the short change artists under arrest here is wanted in Lindsay for pocket picking.

A Lindsay carpenter named Hepburn smashed his thumb by the ill-directed blow of a hammer. The unfortunate was a man.

A blacklister yesterday was fined $20 for partaking of the forbidden fruit.

On Friday the 57th Regimental and the Temple Band will give a concert in the Armouries under the auspices of the Women's War Fund Committee.

Keene, Sept. 16.—The Indians will hold their annual Rice Gathers picnic at Sugar Island on Wednesday, September 23rd

Ora Medium, Frank Montgomery's mare, got a piece of the change in the 2.50 class race at Oshawa, in a field of 14 starters.

Peterboro will not get the dry dock secured by Mr. J. H. Burnham, M.P., that was to have been built near the Canal exit on Little Lake. Property owners in the vicinity attempted, it is understood to hold the government up in the price of their land.

One reason that local people pay more for tea than they did a year ago is that many acres heretofore used for raising tea are now planted with rubber trees to supply the demand for auto tires.

Another pocket of gas has been found in Douro, near St. Joseph's church. A well known geologist has said that the gas found in Douro is against all geological formation for its production in paying quantities.

The school teachers of the City have made arrangements to give a collective donation of one days' pay to the Peterboro' Patriotic Fund. The day set apart for the donation is the 1st of October

At yesterday's police court W. J. Lintick was charged with non-support and pleaded not guilty. His wife is in the hospital. Mr. Goodwill asked for an enlargement of the case.

An enthusiastic meeting was held by Lindsay ladies in the Council Chamber there, the ladies present dealing with matters in reference to the Patriotic Fund, which is being organized

In the city there are uniforms, belts rifles, side arms and other equipment belonging to the 57th Regiment. These in some cases have been left by soldiers now out of the City. The equipment is urgently needly and will be called for if a card is sent to Capt. A. G. Carruthers, 138 Hunter street.

Some of the property owners near the scene of the proposed local dry dock, through putting exhorbitant prices on their land, have lost this utility for Peterboro. This reminds us of certain localities where $1 per bottle is charged for beer.

Mr. W. Quinn yesterday sold his butcher shop at 43 Hunter street east to Mr. W. Miller, ("Budd"). Mr. Quinn has always done a good business, and his successor has every prospects of continuing and augmenting the trade.

GIRLS THICKEN AND BEAUTIFY YOUR HAIR

Bring back its gloss, lustre, charm and get rid of dandruff—Try the moist cloth

To be possessed of a head of heavy, beautiful hair; soft, lustrous, fluffy, wavy and free from dandruff is merely matter of using a little Danderine.

It is easy and inexpensive to have nice, soft hair and lots of it. Just get a 25 cent bottle of Knowlton's Danderine now—all drug stores recommend it—apply a little as directed and within ten minutes there will be an appearance of abundance; freshness, fluffiness and an incomparable gloss and lustre, and try as you will you cannot find a trace of dandruff or falling hair; but your real surprise will be after about two weeks' use, when you will see new hair—fine and downy at first—yes—but really new hair—sprouting out all over your scalp—Danderine is, we believe, the only sure hair grower; destroyer of dandruff and cure for itchy scalp and it never fails to stop falling hair at once.

If you want to prove how pretty and soft your hair really is, moisten a cloth with a little Danderine and carefully draw it through your hair—taking one small strand at a time. Your hair will be soft, glossy and beautiful in just a few moments—a delightful surprise awaits everyone who tries this.

Hastings Star: Miss F. Carter spent a few days with friends in Peterboro' last week.

Mr. Jas. Fallis, of Brampton, was a guest at the Snowden House yesterday.

Mrs. Bartlett, of Rochester, N. Y., is visiting in the city, the guest of her brother, Mr. Ed. Huff, 460 Gilmour street.

Mr. John C. F. Taylor, sales manager The E. B. Eddy Company, Limited, Hull, favored The Times with a call yesterday.

Messrs. Harry Cressman, Peter Spratt and friends of Peterboro, motored up last night for a few hours in town.—Lindsay Post.

Mr. and Mrs. Jas. Grey, Wolsley street, returned to their home after spending the past two weeks the guest of their daughter, Mrs. Ira Bothwell, Toronto.

Mr. R. J. Winch and daughter, Mrs. Pentland, and Miss Irene Pentland, have returned to the City after spending the summer at their cottage, 'Yerrow Brae,' Stoney Lake.

Mr. and Mrs. John D. O'Brien, Cobalt, are in the City, the guests of Mr. M. O'Brien, Provincial Inspector of Separate Schools, 309 Reid street, for a few days.

Mr. R. Carter, who was formerly with Mr. Jack Mervin's butcher shop on Hunter Street, yesterday purchased twenty-one of the finest lambs in the classic townships of Ennismore. These will soon be made into the goods that go at dinner time with mint sauce. Watch for Saturday's advertisement in The Times.

INTENSE ENTHUSIASM IN THE BRITISH HOUSE OF COMMONS

National Anthem Sung and Cries of "God Save the England" and "God Save Ireland" Heard in the Distance-Three British Cheers for King George, Who Signs Irish Bill--A General Emergency Properly Met

London, Sept. 18.—King George's signature was today attached to the Home Rule Bill, which thus gains the statute book.

Parliament was proroguerd until October 27.

Speech From The Throne.

In his speech from the throne proroguing Parliament, King George spoke as follows:

My lords and gentlemen :—I address you in circumstances that call for action rather than for speech. After every endeavor had been made to preserve the peace of the world, I was compelled in the assertion of treaty obligations deliberately set at naught and for the protection of the public law of Europe and the vital interests of my Empire, to go to war.

My navy and my army have with unceasing vigilance, courage and skill sustained, in association with out gallant and faithful allies, a just and righteous cause. From every part of my Empire there has been a spontaneous and enthusiastic rally to our common flag.

Met a Great Emergency.

Gentlemen of the House of Commons, I thank you for the liberality with which you have met a great emergency. My lords and gentlemen we are fighting for a worthy purpose and we shall not lay down our arms until that purpose has been fully achieved.

"I rely with confidence upon the loyal and united efforts of all my subjects and I pray that Almighty God may give us His blessing."

Scenes of Enthusiasm.

Scenes of enthusiasm unusual in the staid legislative chambers of Westminster Palace were enacted to-day when the two Houses of Parliament were prorogued.

While King George was absent inspecting the troops, his speech was read in the House of Lords by Viscount Haldane, the Lord High Chancellor, and in the House of Commons by John H. Whitley, the Deputy Speaker.

When the announcement was made in the House of Lords that the Royal assent had been given to the Irish Home Rule and the Welsh Church Disestablishment Suspensory Bill and to a number of emergency measures, cheers were given for the passing of the Irish and the Welsh bills

On [illegible] announcement of the passing of the Irish Home Rule Bill in the House of Commons, the Nationalist and Liberals broke into loud cheers which were repeated again and again.

Singing Heard in Distance.

Will Crooks, the labor leader, asked if it was in order to sing God Save the King, without waiting 'for permission he started the first verse himself, and then broke down with emotion. The anthem was taken up by the spectators in the gallery as well as the members and the singing was heard in the Palace yard.

As the members filed out of the Chamber Mr. Crooks cried out·

"God save Ireland.j'

John Redmond, the (rish Nationalist leader, replied:

"God save England."

Parliament will sit again October 27

Provisions of the Bill.

Provisions of the Home Rule Act follow :

1. (rish Parliament, with executive responsible to it, to be set up. Senate to consist of 40 members, nominated for the first term, and elected afterwards by proportional representation. House of Commons to consist of 164 members.

2. Irish representation in the imperial Parliament to be reduced to 42.

3. Besides the sum to be determinated for the first term, and electen to represent the net cost of Irish services, a sum of £500,000, diminishing in each year after the third year by £50,000 until it is reduced to £200,060, to be paid to the Irish Exchequer.

4. The Irish Parliament, to have power to vary any customs and excise duties levied as Imperial taxes only by way of addition, but not to levy new duties.

5. Judges of the Supreme Court, County Courts, etc., to be appointed by the Lord Lieutenant. The appeal from Courts in Ireland to the House of Lords to cease, and to lie instead to the Judicial Committee of the Privy Council.

6. The Irish Parliament to have power to make laws as to postal communication between places in Ireland.

7. Management and control of the Royal Irish Constabulary to be transferred to the Irish Government six years from the appointed day.

8. Old age pensions, national insurance, labor exchanges, and other reserved services to be transferred to the Irish Government if a resolution providing for such transfer is passed by both houses of the Irish Parliament.

9. Civil Service Committee to be established to deal with existing officers.

10. The bill not to go into operation for one year or until the end of the war, and the (rish Parliament to be summoned to meet not later than four months after said Act comes into force.

Mr. Redmond Seeks Recruits.

Mr. Redmond, who was the recipient of many warm congratulations in the lobbies after adjournment today, left this afternoon for Ireland where he will take part in the recruiting campaign.

HAD ALL HIS POCKETS CRAMMED WITH LOOT

Paris, Sept. 18.- One of the wounded. The Germans have endeavored to American Hospital yesterday has his pockets crammed with articles, making a package, when it was all tied up, measuring about eighteen inches square. Among them were fifty pocket books, a string of pearls and many small articles of jewelry.

The Germans are kept in a separate ward and a guard is maintained at each door in the fear that some of the Turcos in the hospital might attack them.

DR. J. M. LAMB WORKS WITH BROKEN NECK

New Orleans, Sept. 18.—There is a man in New Orleans with a broken neck—he walks the streets, does his work and feels as chipper as ever, he says. His neck has been broken for nine weeks. He found it out three weeks ago.

The man is Dr. J.M. Lamb of the United States Marine Hospital Service in the Customhouse.

When Dr. Lamb realised that his neck was not working exactly right, he had an X-ray picture taken and discovered that his neck was broken. Then Dr. Lamb invented a steel collar. He strapped this around his neck and strengthened it with a cement wall.

Paris Reports An Advance Of The Allies Right Wing

Rright Wing of Enemy Occupies Positions on a Defensive Basis on the Frontier--No Decided Advantage Either Way Yet--General Battle Raging With Great Fierceness Along the Whole Front--Only Meagre News From Front

Paris, Sept. 18.—The allies have progressed somewhat on their western wing and are repulsing a vigorous German offensive movement, according to an official announcement made tgis afternoon by the French War Department.

The communication says :

"The battle continued during the day of September 17 along the front from the River Oise to the Woevre without any important changes in the situation at any point.

First—On our left wing, on the heights to the north of the Riper Aisne we made slight progress against certain points Three olensive counter attacks undertaken by the Germans against the British army, failed. From Graonne to Rheims we ourselves repulsed some very violent counter attacks effecuted during the night. The enemy tried in vain to take the offensive against Rheims.

Second—On the centre, from Rheims to the Aegonne the enemy has reinforced himself by constructing important fortifications and has adopted a purely defensive attitude. To the east of the Argonne in the Woevre district, the situation is unchanged.

On our right wing, in Lorraine and the Xosges the enemy occupies positions organized on a defensive basis in the vicinity of the frontier"

London, Sept. 18.—As has been the case heretofore when the struggle along the vast battle line in France has been most acute, the public in England, as well as in France and Germany, has been forced to conte news of the progress of theent itself with the most meagr operations. Experience has shown that extended statements are issued only after the retirement or the temporary defeat of one army or the other.

The information this morning sets forth laconically that the battle is raging with great fierceness along the whole front, which extends, roughly speaking, from the River Oise, near Noyon, to the German fortress tirement of the German rightof Metz, but barring a slight re wing at certain points, no decided advantage is credited to either side.

THREE SUPREME STRUGGLES.

Presumably the efforts of the Allies have been divided into three supreme struggles· First, to dislodge the Germans from the heights of the Aisne ; second, to bread through the Fourth and Fifth German armies at the centre, and third, to outflank the German right under General Von Kluck. The position of the Fourth and Fifth German armies is considered not so strong as the rmainder of the line, while, if the flanking movement is successful, the railroad lines on which the Germans depend so greatly would be cut.

While the next move of either army is a matter of the merest speculation, the press of London dwells to-day upon the possibility that the Germans are striving only to hold the strong positions they now have assumed, with the view of keeping the Allies at bay and thus affording Emperor William opportunity to rush more troops to his eastern frontier.

MADE GERMANS GIVE GROUND.

Paris, Sept. 18.—The great Battle of Aisne continues. All that is known officially of its progress is that the Germans are yielding slightly at some points on the left. Though the communication with this fact was given out officially by the French yesterday, it evidently refers to the situation on Tuesday, since it accords with the British press statement of Wednesday. The many wounded prisoners coming in from the front indicate that the Allies gave made the Germans give ground, the latter leaving their wounded behind.

The army of the Crown Prince Frederick William has finallly turned on its pursuers at Mont Faucon, to the northwest of Verdun, encouraged, no doubt, by advices of reinforcements coming from the Rhine garrisons, and the line of defence is now clearly established from Noyon, 67 miles northeast of Paris, to Mont Faucon.

The Local Fall Fair Tho' Handicapped A Big Success

Yesterday's attendance at the Peterborough Industrial Exhibition was larger than ever before in the history of our local Fair. Unfortunately Lindsay, after the date was set for the local Fair set the same date for their show. This had a somewhat marked result on the local exhibits. Naturally the chicken show, to which Lindsay is a distinguished exhibitor in the past was yesterday an extinguished factor by retaining troops for home defense (our reporter has been reading war news). Still the vaudeville acts and the Midway was kept up to the mark and up to the minute. One change our reporter noted was that the art exhibit for years shown on the South East room on the ground floor had been transferred upstairs. Here some most admirable specimens of the artist's pencil and brush were shown. There was a good display of canned goods in the disreputable hovel (yclept the exhibition building) that should shame a city of 22,000 people. Much interest was taken during the afternoon in the races, a full report of which appears in another column. Taken as a whole the local fair this year is a great success and should receive fullest patronage.

Belgians Source of Worry who Expect Attack in Rear

In addition to the difficulty in reorganizing their forces to withstand the attack on the new line, the Germans are no doubt troubles about their rear. The resumption of activiey by the Belgians means more than that its troops have had time to rest and no doubt there is good foundation for the many rumors that King Albert's forces have been reinforced, though from where is only a matter of conjecture.

Some experts still think that the battle is only intended to ensure the saf ty of the Crown Prince's army, which had great difficulty in disengaging itself from the defiles of the Forest o Argonne, and is not yet, according to opinion here, by any means safe.

The prolonged rains make it necessary to have more time in which to get the artillery out of the chalky mud of Northern and Eastern Champagne.

Montenegrins Fight in Cold.

Rome, Sept. 18.—Despatches received here from Montenegro declare that the cold is so intense in the mountains of Bosnia and Herzegovina the Montenegrin troops march during the night at low altitudes and rest during the day.

They are reported to be gradually approaching Sarajevo, Bosnia, and Mostar, capital of Herzegovina, 47 miles southwest of Sarajevo.

Austria Ready For Italy.

Rome, Sept. 18.—Despatches received from Triest, Austria, are to the effect that everything is in readiness for a siege. Even the Alpine refuges, it is declared, have been transformed into forts, in which cannon have been mounted. All males from 17 to 60 years of age, are practicing at the rifle ranges, but insufficient alms are available, despite the arrival of rifles from Germany.

MAIL CLERKS JAILED IN CADDO "HOLD-UP

Shreveport, La., Sept. 18.—The two negro mail clerks, who reported that their mail car on a Kansas City Southern train was robbed late Saturday night, were arrested here today, charged with rifling the mail pouches.

Their names are T.L. Anderson and J.S. Vaughn. According to the negroes a white man entered their car at "Hobo Crossing," just outside the city, and after compelling them to stick their heads into sacks until ordered to remove them, left the car with all the registered mail.

The amount taken was estimated to have been small.

Tightens Her Skin—
Loses Her Wrinkles

"I want to tell you how easily I got rid of my wrinkles," writes Luella Marsh. "While in London a friend, much envied because of her youthful looks, gave me a formula for a home-made preparation which has the effect of instantly tightening the skin, thus smoothing out wrinkles and furrows.

"The principal ingredient is powdered saxolite, which can be had at drug stores here. An ounce of saxolite is dissolved in a half pint witch hasel. After bathing my face in this but once the transformation was so marvelous I looked years younger. Even the deep crow's feet were affected, and the annoying creases about my neck. It seems difficult to believe anything could produce such results. Several to whom I recommended the recipe have been similarly helped, one an elderly lady whose cheeks had become quite baggy."—Social Mirror.

According To Rome Despatch 'Austria is Seeking Peace

London, Sept. 18.—Austria is desirious of peace, according to a Rome despatch to The Daily Telegraph which represents internal conditions, particularly in Bosnia, Croatia and Dalmatia, as disastrous.

Berlin Acknowledges Defeat.

Berlin acknowledges that while Gen. Von Hindenberg's brilliant movement across the border lake was successful in driving back General Rennenkampf's forces, the Russians were not completely outflanked, and the previous East Prussian victory against the Russians was not duplicated, as the Russian general retired in good order, Galicia, where the victorious Russian saving his artillery.

There is a lull in the operations in armies evidently are moving in an effort to cut off the retreat of the Austrians toward Cracow.

BERLIN PRESS DESPATCHES ARE ABSOLUTELY UNRELIABLE

News Published is Mostly Gross Fabrication or Wilful Misrepresentation of Conditions and Happenings. Any Information From German Sources Should be Taken With a Grain of Salt. Strong Attempt to Influence Public Opinion in Favor of Germany.

Proofs are constantly accumulating as to the absolute unreliability of the war news communicated to the press by the German Government either directly and officially or through the Wolff and Havas press agencies, which are subsidized and directed by the German authorities. It is necessary to compare the reports emanating from these sources with facts as subsequently revealed to prove this.

The paragraphs of alleged British news circulated by the official German news bureau and the Wolff and Havas news agencies are simply grotesque in their absolute untruthfulness. On August 23rd, for instance, the "Pester Lloyd" announced an official authority:—"The efforts of the British Government to raise an emergency army of half a million men have failed completely, only two thousand reporting themselves for military service. In spite of this, however, the War Office declare that 100,000 men have been enrolled in two weeks."

On the same date the people of Berlin were told by their papers on the same authority:—"Abnormal conditions continue to reign in the English money market, notwithstanding the intervention of the Government and of the Bank of England. Even the leading houses are refusing to meet bills of exchange in London as well as bills of lading and confirmed credit."

The following veracious item of war news, issued officially at Berlin, August 22nd, was circulated through the German wireless stations and received by the Marconi Company: "It is reported from Constantinople that Turkish students arriving there from England describe the situation in that country as bad. Opposition to the war is growing, and rebellion is feared among the working classes."

The Hamburger Fremdenblatt of August 20, published the following telegram from the Wolff Bureau in Berlin: "The two small cruisers Stralsund and Strassburg in the last few days have made a forward movement in the southern part of the North Sea. During this operation the Strassburg sighted on the British coast two hostile submarines, one of which she sank with several shots at lon range. The Stralsund was engaged with several torpedo boat destroyers at long range. Two destroyers were damaged. The two German cruisers were quite undamaged."

The fighting referred to was described in the following brief report issued by the British Press Bureau early on the morning of August 19: "Some desultory fighting has taken place during the day between the British patrolling squadrons and flotillas and German reconnoitering cruisers. No losses are reported or claimed. A certain liveliness is apparent in the southern area of the North Sea."

As a matter of fact no British submarine was sank and no destroyers were damaged.

The Kolnische Zeitung of August 21 published an official list of the officers and men who lost their lives through the sinking of the German submarine U 15 by the British light cruiser Birmingham on August 9, but the circumstances under which the submarine was sunk were carefully suppressed, the report merely stating: "Submarine U 15 did not return on August 12 from a submarine reconnaissance. The dead are twenty-three in number, and include Kapitan-leutnant Zerrath, and Marine-oberingenieur Grundler."

An outstanding illustration of the utter unreliability of the "officially" communicated news published in Germany and sent to neutral countries was the famous story that forty pounds sterling a month was being offered to sailors on board German fishing smacks to join the British navy.

Prior to the acknowledgement of the Russian advance into East Prussia, on various dates, German semi-official Communiques had told the public that the German troops in Russia had defeated the Russians at Stalluponen, and had then driven them from Gumbinnen, taking 8,000 prisoners and eight guns. Similar communiques reported other German successes, which in each case were said to have forced the Russians to retreat towards the frontier. It being possible no longer to conceal the truth, on August 23rd, a communique issued admitting that Russian troops were in possession of Gumbinnen. This incident alone is enough to demonstrate the worth of these German semi-official military communiques.

A well known correspondent of a leading London daily in Switzerland lately drew the attention to the fact that the press of Switzerland and of all the neutral countries, including that of Sweden and Norway, was being worked from the official German press bureaus to engender a pro-German propaganda. The Wolff Press agency, according to this correspondent is a mere creature, of the official German press bureau. He writes under date August 27th:—"I do not see in the English papers which I have as yet received any news from the "Agence Wolff" of Germany, and for obvious reasons. Wolff, however, is exceedingly busy in the Swiss Press, and, indeed, I believe in that of all neutral countries. One day we were told by this assiduous educator of public opinion that all the German Socialist members of the Reichstag waited on the Emperor recently, together with the other members of that body (to tender an assurance of their loyalty and devotion). Unfortunately, however, presently comes a copy of the Berliner Tageblatt which states that no Socialist members were present. Quite recently I read Wolff's solemn assurance that no British troops had landed in Bel-

BRITISH PEOPLE RESENT EVEN PRELIMINARY TALK OF PEACE

Berlin Has Been Without News for Two Weeks--No Indication of Any Change in the East--A Great Artillery Duel On the River Aisne Still Continues

All Servian advices insist that the Serbs are continuing their vigorous forward movement.

Even preliminary talk of peace seems to be resented by the British public. While the pact recently signed by the Allies insures concerted action in the direction of peace on their part, the despatches from Washington relative to the attitude on peace of Dr. Von Bethmann-Hollweg, the German Chancellor, as conveyed through the American Ambassador at Berlin, together with despatches from Rome, saying that Austria-Hungary desires peace, have aroused considerable discussion here and editorial articles already have appeared saying that peace on any terms is out of the question until "the menace of German militarism" is crushed.

Berlin Without News.

The earlier impatience of the British public for news from the front seems now to be more or less reconciled to the enforced necessity of awaiting the official bulletins as given out by the Press Bureau. Despatches received here from Berlin say that the German public has been without actual news of the situation in the western area of the war for two weeks

There is nothing today to indicate a change in the situation in the eastern zone. Presumably the armies of Austria are still trying to unite at Cracow, while the Russian under General Rennenkamp, is holding the Germans at bay along the frontier of Poland.

While public opinion and the press in Italy and Roumania are apparently still in the dark as to the course these nations will pursue as the struggle continues a semi-official assurance came from Denmark today, from the newspaper Politiken, that that country will remain firm in its neutrality.

A Great Artillery Duel.

London, Sept. 28.- As far as the public knows, the great artillery duel along the line of the River Aisne continues to be a draw. In the pause of the thunder of the huge guns, the infantry and cavalry units scattered along the line of battle are being flung into the fray without appreciable effect on its outcome.

An official statement, written by a staff officer who has been on the scene of the operations, and which is authorized by the British War Office, gives details of the actions, closing with the crossing of the Aisne, but only the most meagre communications have been issued concerning the fighting of the last two days.

FIRST CANARIES WERE NOT YELLOW

Little Singers Are Quite Domesticated and Captivity is no Hardship to Them

Canaries sell in Canada for from $1 to $10 apiece, according to their singing ability, but it is not an uncommon thing at all in Germany to have $125 paid for one of the birds. Many immigrants coming to Canada have brought their canaries with them even if the cages were cumbersome to carry and other things, seemingly of more worth, had to be left behind.

The Englishman and the German is not happy unless he has a canary warbling to him when he comes home from work. Many instances have been known of people buying canaries even when they had not enough money to buy food, because they had lost their pets in moving to their new homes.

The original canary, of course came from the Canary Isles, where the species is still found in abundance. The native bird sings sweetly if not scientifically as its educated relations. The wild birds are not yellow in color, but are mostly of gray plumage. In confinement, due to climate, food, and the intermixture of breeds, white, grey, green, and brown, as well as yellow shades are produced.

The island of Elba, it is said, was the first European point where the canary found a resting place. According to a tradition, a ship bound for Leghorn, having on board a number of birds, went down near the island, on which the birds, when given their freedom, found a refuge. They finally found their way into Germany, where canary breeding and training is now conducted on a large scale.

Regarding the breeding of canaries in Germany a fancier tells an interesting story.

"I went to school in Germany with a man named Schofert," he says, "and in after years this man raised canaries to sell to the royalty. Several European rulers bought birds from him, for which he was paid a fancy price. His canaries were found to be such fine specimens that eventually he was told by the government that his selling of a bird outside of Germany, except with government permission, would constitute a penitentiary offense. In 1900 Schofert died a poor man, because of the curtailing of his sales. A year later a party taking much the same name came to America and located in an eastern city, claiming to be the original Schofert who sold canaries to the royalty of Europe. In three months' time he had sold half a million birds. It goes to show there have been just as many fakes worked with bird pedigrees as there have with dogs and other animals."

Those who sympathize with the little singer because it is caged should find comfort in the fact that it would really be "murder in the first degree" to give the canary its liberty. So accustomed has the canary become to captivity that the cage is its natural home. For generations back it has known nothing of the open skies, the changes in weather and season, the struggles for existence. Thrown out into the garden or meadow, it would be unable to find for itself the food which has been brought daily to its cage. In the struggle with other birds for a living it would make a sorry spectacle. Artificially trained, it is no longer afraid of man, and has become accustomed to having its health closely watched.

Wonders of the Soundograph

A veritable box of tricks is a new instrument called a soundograph, which furnishes all the sound effects used in conjunction with the operation of moving picture machines. Producing the sounds which take place in real life, it adds to the realism of the scenes depicted on the screen.

By operating twenty-seven different devices, fifty four effects can be produced with it, among them the tramping or running of horses, a thunderstorm, the wash of the surf, rain, wind, locomotive exhaust, train whistle, automobile, fire apparatus in action, running water, crash of glass or dishes, fall of heavy articles, the firing of arms from a single shot to a fusillade, and many others. The instrument is 3 feet 6 inches in height.

Advice to Girls

Should You Marry a Man Who Drinks?

By ANNIE LAURIE

Dear Annie Laurie:

I am desperately in love with the dearest boy in the world, but my father and mother do not want me to marry him. All they have against him is that he drinks.

He doesn't get intoxicated intentionally. He cannot seem to help it. One little drink will start him off.

He tells me that if I marry him I can reform him. I know I can, we love each other so dearly. But mother says I can't. What shall I do?

HEARTBROKEN.

SO the only reason your father and mother have against the man you love is that he drinks, is it? Dear me—is that all? Why, you wouldn't let a little thing like that keep you from marrying him, would you?

Not if you are a real heroine in a real romance—not if you love him "madly, passionately, blindly," like the girl in the stories. The very idea! What's a drink or two compared to the volcanic emotions of your maidenly heart?

Why, you think it makes him alluring, don't you? You love to look at him, and think that he is wicked and desperately daring—such a darling, romantic sinner—some one to help—some one to "reform."

And he's told you all about it, has he? Ah, yes—how interesting.

He's told you, too, that you are the white lily of his life, the one pale star of purity shining into the dark sky of his existence. You can save him—you, and you alone. He clings to you as a drowning man clings to a straw—and with about as much common sense, too, let me tell you.

An Object Lesson.

You live in a little town, you say. Look around you and see what is happening there. That's real life, you know—it isn't in a book or in a play or in a song—it's real. As real as the cold that bites in winter and the heat that stifles in summer.

What's that little family down there by the tracks? You never go down that way and don't know anything about them. Well, go for this once. You need to know them—just a little.

The woman down there—can you believe that just a few years ago she was the prettiest girl in her own village—yes, and the gayest and the lightest of heart? Look at her now; you can scarcely think that she ever smiled in all her life. What wretched clothes she wears, and the two babies she tries to make look respectable—but how patched and faded their little clothes are.

That's her husband you met slouching out of the gate—good looking chap, wasn't he, fine manners, too?

She was dead in love with him when she married him—just as you are dead in love with your sweetheart now—and he was dead in love with her, too. He told her that if she'd marry him he'd never drink another drop—and if she didn't marry him he'd go straight to the devil.

Reform?—Perhaps.

He did try to "reform," poor chap; he tried hard, and she tried to help him. But it was no use, he might as well have tried to reform from the typhoid fever. It was in his blood—the disease of drink—and now he lets the woman he loved so madly go hungry and, sometimes when he has been drinking, he is unkind to his own little children and the woman is ashamed to go back home and so she stays there with him, a martyr to her own folly and her own stubborn self-will.

Oh, yes, there are men who "reform," thousands of them—yes, thousands upon thousands, thank the great Giver of all Good—but, little girl, wait till your own particular man has "reformed" before you marry him.

If you can't stop your sweetheart from drinking before you're married to him, you'll never in the world be able to stop him afterward.

Listen to your mother and father—put the man on probation—and see.

That's the best way, little girl—that's the only way. Take it if you want a fighting chance for happiness.

THE SUMMER GAME

By Michelson

Copyright, 1914, by Newspaper Feature Service, Inc. Great Britain Rights Reserved.

YES, it is a game that two can play at, and it really is a wonderful game when the two are both feminine. The chess board is the field of summer life. The pawns—well, there is a long list of elements in this game. You would know the pieces by sight very well—and, of course, these are MEN.

The game is to have things placed so that you can JUMP to where you want to go—so that you can get what you want in spite of any possible obstacle from an opponent. This sometimes includes the cruelty of taking her man. But it is all part of the game. You can't play it, of course, unless you are prepared to have her take YOUR man if she can do it. Some players show simply WONDERFUL skill—and sometimes (this is really very sad) the players don't like each other very well afterward.

Peter's Adventures * * In Matrimony

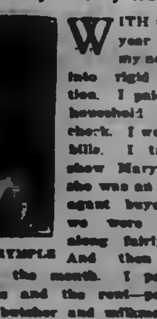
By LEONA DALRYMPLE

Author of the new novel, "Diane of the Green Van," awarded a prize of $10,000 by Ida M. Tarbell and S. S. McClure as judges.

The truth about "the girl in the case" distinguishes this new series by Miss Dalrymple. Her character studies will not appear unfamiliar to the majority of readers, who will follow the fortunes of "Peter" with interest.

No. 126.

Where Mary's Money Went.



LEONA DALRYMPLE

WITH the new year I put my new rules into rigid execution. I paid every household bill by check. I went over bills. I tried to show Mary where she was an extravagant buyer, and we were getting along fairly well. And then came the end of the month. I paid the lighting bills and the rent—paid the grocer and butcher and milkman, and Mary expressed herself as very glad to be rid of all the worry.

"And you said we'd divide what was left, didn't you, Peter?" she finished. "My half will be quite mine to do with as I please, won't it?"

"Yes," I said absently, footing up the total, "quite your own."

Then I smiled grimly. For, after our heavy rent was paid and our heavier bills there was exactly $7.35 left.

Mary turned pale.

"It can't be, Peter," she said. "Go over it again."

I carefully added the list of figures once more—then I made out a check for half of it and laid it on Mary's lap.

"Peter," she said, "I've got to have more money. I need a waist."

"You can get a waist for $2," I said. "can't you?"

"Don't be horrid," said Mary. "Oh, Peter, where did all the money go?

"That's for you to say!" I hinted. "Our bills are still higher than they ought to be. I've told you so often, Mary, that you buy extravagantly, that I don't like to keep harping on it, but our table expenses do certainly run too high."

"What shall we do?"

"Economize," I said, as I had said 50 times before. "We've got to do it."

Mary sat very tearful and quiet for a long time. I smoked.

"At last," I thought, "I've found a way to bring home to her the value of money. If at the end of every month, she finds herself with but $3 or $4 with which to buy clothes and petty essentials, certainly she'll begin to realize that to get more money she'll have to be careful. Go slow, Peter, old man, and let her work out her own salvation."

During the month that followed I watched my wife with considerable interest. She didn't seem to be worrying in the least about economy. She had money all month. I fancied she was tenderly nursing that $2.35 cents. I was disillusioned. When our accounting time rolled around and I drew forth my check book, Mary looked up from some fancy work she was doing and said, with a coolness I shan't forget:

"Oh, Peter, before you make out the checks for the house bills, make out a check for mother for $30, will you? She insisted upon lending it to me, and if anything has to suffer it simply mustn't be her. Charity begins at home."

I was too flabbergasted to speak.

"Of course," Mary was saying brightly, "I realized that last month was a very poor month for us with Christmas in it and all that sort of thing, and, of course, we only had $5 or $8 dollars left, but this month I knew it would be different, and so, when mother learned I had so little money and offered to lend me some I took it—wouldn't you?"

Do you wonder more young fellows don't marry when there's many a girl with Mary's ideas about money? I tenderly laid aside my check book. I tenderly reached for my hat—I walked forth to interview my mother-in-law.

Culinary Masterpieces

Four Dishes by the Famous M. Sauvigne

Chef of Hotel St. Denis, New York.

IF you have a liking for delicate dishes in cold weather, your hot weather menu must be especially delicate. Even at its best, appetite is a vagrant blessing, blown away by the slightest breath.

To tempt, to delight, to nourish—these are the three requirements of the summer menu. The recipes I here offer you are favorite warm weather dishes of mine, which, as delicious viands go, are to be prepared with comparative ease.

Breasts of Chicken Merry Widow

TAKE breasts of tender chickens, season with salt, white pepper and paprika, then fry them slowly in butter for 15 minutes. Add as many good-sized heads of fresh mushrooms as there are breasts, and let cook five minutes longer. Have also as many cooked crawfish, also a slice of Virginia ham and a heart-shaped piece of toast for each breast.

Then put a slice of ham on each toast, pour a spoonful of Bearnaise sauce over it, and place the breast of chicken on top. Put a spoonful of asparagus tips and also one of minced sweet red peppers heated in butter on each side of the breast, and stand one crawfish against it. Finally place a mushroom on the crawfish head. Serve hot.

Filet of Beef Faustan.

CUT slices of well-trimmed beef tenderloin weighing two ounces each. Saute them in butter over a brisk fire. Have some artichoke bottoms of the size of the slices of filet, heat them in butter and place a filet on each, also a slice of marrow on the filet and pour a spoonful of Bordelaise sauce with minced green peppers in it over all.

Garnish around with clusters of small lima beans and corn mixed, and fried Parisienne potatoes.

Serve very hot.

Mussels Mariniere.

SCRAPE and clean two quarts of mussels, wash them in several waters, then put them in a saucepan with half-pint of Rhine wine, two chopped shallots, four medium fresh mushrooms chopped, also a little parsley and a pinch of freshly ground black pepper, two ounces of butter and salt to taste. Set on fire and let boil until they are all open.

Pick them out of the saucepan, remove half of the shell, and dress them in a casserole or chafing dish, reduce the liquor to one-half and thicken with a little white sauce, stir two more ounces of fresh butter in sauce and pour over the mussels on their half-shells. Serve hot.

Crab Flakes a la Dewey.

FOR half a pound of crab flakes, slice four or six mushrooms and a large green pepper, cook them slowly in butter, then add the crab flakes, a gill of white wine and sherry and enough cream to cover the crab flakes. Let simmer for five minutes without stirring, then add the belly part of a dozen steamed soft clams, bind the sauce with three raw egg yolks diluted in cream and two ounces of fresh butter; season to taste and serve with fresh, hot toast on the side.

Exercise for Beauty Useless if Not Enjoyed

By LUCREZIA BORI

Prima Donna of the Metropolitan Opera Company, New York.

Special arrangements have been made with Senorita Lucrezia Bori, the famous prima donna soprano, who has created a wonderful impression in Europe and New York on account of her remarkable beauty and artistic attainment, to write for this paper a series of articles on beauty. There is probably no authority her equal in giving the newest and most approved methods of attaining and preserving "the divine right of women."

LUCREZIA BORI

A CLEVER poet wrote long before you and I were on earth:

"Health is the vital principle of bliss,
And exercise of health."

If you haven't health you needn't expect to have beauty. And I can't figure out any way to have health without taking exercise.

There is a concerted defiance to age abroad in the land today. One of the most successful ways to make the years stand still is to keep the body elastic, the mind active, and the spirit cheerful. And how can the body be elastic unless it has exercise? You know what happens to a horse if he is allowed to stand in the stable with no chance to exercise. He may be the finest race horse in the world when he is put in the stall, but if he stands still long enough he'll be a stiffened old nag when he comes out.

Dancing is doing a lot to keep old age away from women who have begun to see its face over their shoulder, and feel the tweak of its approach in their stiffened knees.

Any woman can get some exercise, no matter what her life, unless she is a hopeless invalid or crippled. She can bend and twist her body and take deep breaths, even if she lives in a hall bedroom. She can walk at least some distance each day, even if she has to sit in a close factory room, in a shop or bent over her sewing.

The housekeeper is the one who usually errs most in lack of the right kind of exercise. She gets plenty of one kind, but her life is a good deal like the horse on the treadmill, and she should try to get out and take a walk each evening, if she has no time before. As a rule, the housekeeper is the wife and mother. It is important that she has her health and keeps old age at bay. She is an important factor in the life and well being of the community. Others are dependent on her.

If you can't walk, run, standing still. Just clench your fists and hold your elbows at your sides and run with all your strength, right in one place. It will put you out of breath and set you in a dripping perspiration, but it will give you splendid exercise—more of it in five minutes than you have probably had in a month.

Skipping rope is another small space exercise that will set your blood in circulation and keep the age germs out of your system. And when you are exercising make your mind help your body. Don't walk with your face clouded, your lips compressed and an "I'll-do-it-or-die" expression. Instead, think how beautiful the world is, and how much good there is about you, and how you are enjoying the chance of being able to walk abroad, well and free and happy.

I heard a woman say to a little chap selling papers: "It is a hard life, isn't it, when the weather is cold and stormy?" And the urchin, turning a saucy, smiling face up to her, said: "Say, you can con yourself into liking anything."

Useful Hints for the Housewife

By Ann Marie Lloyd

COMMON bracken fern laid down in places frequented by cockroaches will drive them away.

A very easy and quick way to skin sausages is to immerse them for a second or two in cold water.

If anything on which paraffin has been spilled—hands included—is rubbed with raw potato, the smell will immediately disappear.

New potatoes should be placed in boiling water to which salt and a little milk have been added. The milk prevents them from turning black.

The popular cabbage is useful for drawing and cleansing a gathered finger or poisoned hand. Take a cabbage leaf, roll it out with a bottle until the juice comes, and tie it on the affected part.

Salt will remove black beetles. Put plenty of salt where the beetles frequent, and keep it there for a week. Do not leave any water where the insects go. When they eat the salt it will dry up their bodies.

To remove the smell of fish or cabbage from a saucepan, burn a piece of brown paper on the fire and turn the saucepan down over the burning paper. This will remove all odor, whatever it is, in a few seconds.

Sprinkle dry flour over any japanned trays that are beginning to look shabby. Leave for an hour or so, then rub off the flour, and polish with a soft duster. It is wonderful how this treatment will improve even a shabby tray.

When buying tea, before using it spread it on a sheet of paper and place it in a warm, but not too hot, oven from 10 to 15 minutes. By doing this the tea will be made to go much farther, and the flavor will be greatly improved.

Odd and Interesting Facts from Everywhere

In the cloisters of Westminster Abbey is a tombstone which has been polished every morning and decorated afresh with a bunch of flowers for nearly five years. It is over the grave of the late Mrs. Wilberforce, wife of the present Archdeacon of Westminster, who died May 15, 1910. Never a morning has passed but a fresh floral tribute has been laid on it, and more than 1500 days have passed since May, 1910.

A pit pony named Baldy has just been drawn to the surface of an old English mine to end his days in comfort after 17 years' work underground. The pony, which is 21 years of age, is blind owing to its long confinement, but its general condition is wonderfully good.

It has been discovered, according to the reading of an old will, that to dispense one of the London charities according to the exact terms of the bequest it would be necessary to throw to the poor from Paddington Church steeple £400 worth of bread and cheese.

A thrush has built its nest, laid three eggs, and in the natural course of events will, if undisturbed, rear its young on a scaffold-pole at the secondary school for girls which is being erected in Northampton, England. The nest has been built at the junction of two poles. There are between 50 and 60 men working on the building, but the bird takes not the slightest notice of them.

The New South Wales government has decided to supplement its enterprises by the creation of a state bakery in Sydney. The government will acquire a bakery and bake bread for its own institutions. It is expected that the government will be able to deliver bread to the public institutions at 1 penny per pound. It is not intended to supply the general public from the government bakery.

Secrets of Health

Why Our Eyes Very Often Deceive Us

By Dr. L. K. HIRSHBERG

A. B., M. A., M. D. (Johns Hopkins).

DR. HIRSHBERG

YOU must wink and blink hard to shut your eyes from germs and dust. The eyes are more than homes of silent prayer. They are too easily the abiding places of dirt and microbes.

It may look foolish to wear goggles and shields to protect the eyes from flying grains and to safeguard vision from the glare and shimmer of the sun, but it is the least of many possible evils.

It was a wiser man than a doctor who first suggested wind-shields for motor cars, dark-lensed spectacles for mountain-climbing, smoked glasses for the seashore beach, and upward-turned chandeliers for the home.

Psychologists such as Prof. John T. Watson and illuminating engineers such as Mr. Herbert Ives were the benefactors who, without medical knowledge, devised the practical, present-day methods of illumination. The essential factor in all progressive schemes of interior lighting is to conceal the source of light from the eyes, yet to obtain maximum luminosity.

Sight and Memory.

A child's eyes are more sensitive to light on the very first day it is born than the Venus fly-trap is to a fly. The eyes of the new born babe must be protected from both sun and artificial light.

This same rule, followed more in the breach than in the observance, should be looked to more deliberately in later years. True enough, some attention is given to this matter as regards the proper position of desks, chairs and school furniture, but it is decidedly more necessary to defend the eyesight and the eyeball when in rapid motion.

Light must never strike the eye fairly and squarely on the pupil, neither quiet light nor movable light should do so. The eyes must be rested, never strained. The flicker and motion of the bright rays received upon the retina, while driving rapidly in an auto, motor boat, aeroplane or upon a race horse jeopardizes the sight.

Goggles and masks are not the Little Old Men of the Sea that many feminine friends would have you believe. In reality they are the health wardens of your most useful sense.

The sensation of sight is, perhaps, the most delicate of all the senses. It is subject to as many vicissitudes as any of the others, yet it needs more protection.

Psychologists are universally convinced that there is no such thing, after the first hours of birth, as a pure sensation. That is to say, the eye and the other senses never see strictly singly, and without memories, anything they light upon. After the first days the eyes have many memories which become associated and fused with vision. Thus what was a sensation becomes a perception.

Honest Witnesses.

You can prove this to your own satisfaction from the well known fact that you really see things before they happen. If you see a globular fish of yellow thrown into the air, you say: "I see an orange."

You are certain it was an orange. Perhaps it was—in most cases it would be. Once in a while it would not be—yet you would swear on the witness stand that it was an orange. This is why most honest eye witnesses do not, under oath, tell the truth.

You perceived an orange. That is to say, your past memories immediately shot an "orange" into your thoughts, almost before you saw the flash of round yellow. You did not see the orange; you perceived it—an entirely different thing.

Children see things more accurately and distinctly, because their eyesight has not been dulled by repetitions and mixed memories. As each year passes you become farther and farther removed from all sensations. Your perceptions become more and more complex. Therefore, to save to your eyes all the delicate sensitiveness that you can retain, safeguard your eyes with strict care.

Answers to Health Questions

L. M.—You suggested for me to take all kinds of exercise and also cold baths to benefit nerves. Now, when is the best time to take them, as nervous system is in bad shape?

Take a cold bath in the morning and a shower bath in the afternoon. Play tennis in the morning, nap in the early afternoon, and row, canoe, swim and play ball or dance in the late afternoon.

KAISER TREMENDOUS

of a soldier humane, brave and true, honor to him was as brute force to you,
you mad, bloody tyrant, or fool all through?

God's Holy Name ever glib on your lips,
value Him less than your bayonet tips;
Professing allegiance to Christ as your Lord,
His Gospel of Peace is mocked by your sword.

With impious tongue you called God your "Ally",
Then hellishly doomed vast thousands to die,
Brave Belgians to die if they dared to defend,
Their country, their homes, children, women and friend.

While bidding your legions to trust in the Lord
You pinned your own faith to your slaughtering horde;
Afraid to fight France by honorable ends,
You murder the Belgians to hew you a road.

Your country's signed contracts are naught in the scale,
Its honor is lost in your murderous hail.
When you came to the throne which Bismarck had built
With help of your grandsire, you forecast your guilt:

Slighting the People, the Army you first hailed,
Called yourself War Lord, flung out your fist mailed.

Proclaiming yourself the appointed of God,
You blazed to the world your vicious rod:
Your foul use of that rod in Europe to-day
Will make your name loathed for ever and aye,
Whether mad, bloody tyrant, or fool all through;
Son of a soldier humane, brave and true.

Butcher stupendous!

A NEW PICTURE OF POPE BENEDICT XV.

Two features, both in full color, stand pre-eminent among the features in the Magazine Section of the NEW YORK HERALD for SUNDAY, SEPTEMBER 20. The first is a full page drawing by the noted Nadherny of Pope Benedict XV., the new ruler of 300,000,000 souls. In exquisite workmanship Nadherny has surpassed his splendid drawings of "The Fight for the Gun" and "Facing the Enemy," which have attracted nation wide attention. The new Pontiff is shown seated in the Papal chair and gowned in the Papal robes.

The second feature of unusual interest is a striking war map of France, printed in full color. The map shows the country as viewed from an altitude of considerable height, and five hundred towns, each of strategic importance in the present mighty combat, are shown. Accompanying the map are two rows of flags, printed also in color, which, when used with pins, provide means of following from day to day, the movements of the troops.

Our Point of View

On the opening day this week the attendance in the New York city schools amounted to 780,000, an increase of 30,000 compared to September last year.

—o—

A New York Chinaman was about to be sentenced for having a collection of deadly weapons in his possession, when to his rescue came testimony that the implements were those for rites in Chinese free masonry. Excuse us from riding that goat!

—o—

It is said that there is an old man in North Adams, Mass. named Burdick, who was drafted in the civil war was never discharged from the service, and is now entitled from the government to fifty years' pay which, including rations, would amount to $5,000.

—o—

Officially it is asserted at London that no Russian troops are in Belgium. Yet a whole lot of credible witnesses have asserted they saw a great movement of Russian soldiers by trains through England and newspaper men have seen them also in Belgium.

—o—

In one column you read that the gasoline motor has proved to be an enormous aid to efficiency in the European war, and in none more so than is replacing horses as means of drawing cannon. But in the next column is a dispatch saying that Germany has 30,000 horses that are used in drawing the great Krupp guns.

—o—

An American Exchange says:—The American people have never placed the dollar above principle, and never will. They have a clear understanding of the issues underlying this European conflict; of their deep significance to the world. And if there is one spectacle above all others upon which they will not look with equanimity it is that of the government of the United States permitting itself to be made "catspaw" for anybody's diplomacy, seeking in fictitious peace, to prevent a peace that will be real and lasting.

—o—

The sentiment of Great Britain was comprehensively presented in a special cable despatch from London to Sunday's Herald. Sir Edward Grey has made it clear to Mr. Page, the American Ambassador, that the allies have determined to make no peace until German militarism, which is Prussian militarism, has been crushed. The Triple Entente wants permanent peace in Europe, not a temporary truce that would leave Prussian militarism a continuing menace to again threaten as soon as Germany would recoup itself.

—o—

From Bordeaux the American consul has cabled to the government to the effect that the great French port offers a large market for flour, cattle and provisions.

The roads of the plains of Argentina have deeper dust in summer and deeper mud in winter than those of any other part of the world; consequently the wagons used on them have wheels from six to sixteen feet

Britain the Peacemaker

A great many who are talking of the chances for a quick ending of the European struggle by intervention or some such means fails to take into account the fact that Great Britain is the logical peacemaker in the war. Her motives in entering the struggle are familiar.

Great Britain can expect to get nothing out of this war, either in money or land. She fights to save Belgium and France from German domination and for civilization which includes herself. She will be prepared to talk peace may be talked with safety. That will be when Germany is checked and her dangerous ambition eradicated. That will not be so long as a German soldier remains on the territories of France, Belgium or Russia. She will not conclude a peace which leaves the German navy afloat and in its present ownership which does not restore Alsace-Lorraine to France and which does not fully compensate Belgium for the injury done her.

The peace movement in this war cannot be hurried. Events alone can shape it. Britain does not seek the humiliation of Germany, not even the destruction of Germany. She does not want Germany reduced to the status of a second-rate power. From the standpoint of self-interest alone, that would be poor politics. France must get Alsace-Lorraine. Russia must get German Poland, concessions in the Baltic provinces or in the Balkans. But all Britain wants is to dispose of the German menace once and for all.

Brilliant British Cavalry

News has filtered through from the front in Europe to explain why the Germans are retreating. If they advanced with conspicuous success through Belgium and France it was by reason of their artillery and general efficiency; now they retire by reason of the enemy's cavalry. It is a British cavalry division led by the greatest cavalry leader in the world General French, which has given the Germans cause to fear for the safety of their right flank, the army under General von Kluck, while the French army is holding the long line of German troops further back.

The present position of the opposing armies supplies a vindication of the strategy of General Joffre. Refusing to give battle to a superior force of Germans he fell back from day to day in the early stages of the campaign. Putting aside all temptation, he had sufficient confidence in his troops to believe that the moral effect of continued retreating would not disconcert them sufficiently to weaken their strength. His confidence has been amply justified by the manner in which the French army has stood the test when called upon to turn at bay. At the same time, the Germans, thrilled with their successes, have advanced too far. The eye of General French has been quick to detect their weakness. Recalling the performances of Murat in Napoleon's campaigns and General "Stonewall" Jackson in the American civil war, he has thrown forward his cavalry division with amazing speed and has placed the German right in jeopardy.

The moral effect of the "faux pas" by which they have endangered their right flank, upon the German troops must be considerable. The check has been unexpected. They are woefully unprepared for it. They are hard-ridden troops, facing an army of fresh men, flushed with victory. They have felt the sting of a brilliant movement by the man they should have taken into account in operations such as they were carrying on—a heavy advance into an enemy's country necessitating the establishment and maintenance of important lines of communication.

If the brilliant dash of British cavalry under General French is the most interesting feature of the present and recent operations, no one will withhold praise from the troops of France which are keeping the enemy engaged so successfully all along the line. General French's movement of cavalry would be highly dangerous if he could not depend upon Joffre's troops.

APSLEY BREVITIES

The only excitement in Apsley is the news from the seat of war, and now that we only get our mail tri-weekly, as the daily route from Mt. Julian has been discontinued, the post office will be besieged every other night with an anxious crowd to learn the latest war news.

Mr. J. J. Hardill, representing Risbors Ltd., made his regular trip Wednesday, and although the war may have a depressing effect in some places John secured good orders in Apsley. Mrs. Hardill accompanied him and enjoyed the trip very much.

Mr. Peter Windsor, after a long illness from Bright's disease, passed away Tuesday morning at his residence in Anstruther. He leaves to mourn his death a wife, and five children. Mr. Windsor came to Anstruther about 38 years ago, was respected by all his neighbours, and the family have the deepest sympathy of the entire community. The funeral will take place on Thursday at 1 p.m. from the family residence.

He Found Trouble

At a session of the police court held on Wednesday afternoon, the ringleader in the fight at the Grand Union Hotel on Saturday night was fined $23.95 by Police Magistrate Jackson. The party fined is an east ward man, and it appears that he fought as if he intended cleaning out the whole house before stopping.—Lindsay Post.

Rheumatism Goes Quickly Its Virus Forever Destroyed

EVERY CASE IS CURABLE.

Good-bye to Rheumatism!

Your aching joints, your stiff, sore muscles, those sleepless nights and suffering days—good-bye forever—your day is gone.

Sufferer, cheer up, and read the good news below.

"A man met me a month ago and said, 'don't stay crippled, quit complaining, limber up.' My answer was, 'I'm rheumatic, I can't do it.' He looked me over in a pitying sort of way and told me to go to the nearest drug store for Nerviline and Ferrozone. The combination had cured him. I was convinced of his sincerity and followed his instructions. I rubbed on Nerviline three times every day—rubbed it right into my aching joints. The pain quickly lessened, and I became more limber and active. To draw the virus of the disease from my blood and I took two Ferrozone Tablets with every meal. I am well to-day, not an ache, not a pain and no sign of stiffness at all."

What Nerviline can do in a case like this it can do for you too. For nearly forty years Nerviline has been recommended for Rheumatism, Lumbago and Sciatica and Lame Back. It is the one remedy that never disappoints.

BRITISH-CANADIAN

Do you desire to make large profits on your investment in Alberta Oil Shares?

If you do you must use good judgment in the selection of the companies in which you invest.

In order that you may use this good judgment it is absolutely necessary that you investigate and analyze a company thoroughly before placing your money in its shares.

In order that you may do this in the case of the British Canadian Oils, Ltd., we hereby give you the information we have secured through our rigid investigation and analysis of said company, and in giving this information we would say that we believe it is correct in every detail.

(1) The British Canadian Oils, Ltd., is incorporated for $1,000,000; 10,000,000 shares at the par value of 10c.

(2) About 500,000 shares of the stock have already been sold, and are now in the hands of the investing public.

(3) The Directors' and Officers' stock is all pooled.

(4) The Company is the holder of petroleum and natural gas leases on over 7,000 acres of land in the Province of Alberta.

(5) The Directors, Officers and Solicitors of the Company are all reliable and conscientious business men who have the welfare of the company at heart, and who desire in every manner in their power to give the public a square run for their money.

(6) The Company is now erecting on Section 31, Township 24, Range 4, an up-to-date combination rotary and standard rig.

(7) The Company expects to commence drilling inside of 3 days, and continue with all possible despatch.

(8) The Company has secured as Field Superintendent a man who knows his business thoroughly.

(9) The said Superintendent has engaged competent drillers to carry out his instructions.

(10) The treasury of the Company is now well financed.

(11) A reputable local geologist in reporting on adjoining property makes the following statement in said report:

"There is a plunging tendency in the crest of the anticline which causes its crest to sink toward the Elbow river. The crest of this dome-shaped structure seems to be in the neighborhood of Section 31, of Township 24, and Section 6 of Township 25."

(12) A reputable petroleum engineer in reply to an enquiry from us, stated that the lease held by the British Canadian Oils, Ltd., in Section 31, is situated on the most perfect anticline he has seen in Western Alberta.

(13) British Canadian shares are listed on the three Calgary exchanges, and are very active traders.

(14) The price of British Canadian shares is very low at the present time; we expect to see it go much higher.

In view of the above information secured by us, we have no hesitation whatever in advising you to at once buy the shares of the British Canadian Oils, Limited, at 15c per share, believing that you will get a square run for your money, and big profits on your investment.

We are prepared to fill your orders for British Canadian shares at 15c each, but this price is subject to raise without notice. Any new strike in the oil field, or any other exciting report might send this stock to a very high price. We would suggest that you wire us at our expense and let your remittance follow, or if you prefer, write us and enclose your remittance.

Our market letter giving information on the Alberta Oil Fields is free for the asking. Write for it.

ADVERTISE IN THE TIMES

CANADIAN SILHOUETTES

The New Accent in the Upper Columbia Valley

CHANGE is busy in Western Canada. All classes back East and in the Old Country are contributing to the settling up of its expenses. But instead of the adventurers and the restless from various walks of life coming out here (with their love of roving for a quality in common), there come now ship-loads of one class, promenade-deck-fulls of another, each bunch, before it starts, with a fixed idea of where it is going to settle. With the wind that bloweth where it listeth the immigrants of to-day have much less in common than had those who flocked hither in the period of—for a good example—Morley Robert's "Western Avernus." They are going out too get a job where Tom went last year ye know—aye, at Canada; or they are going to take a place, doncherknow, near Colonel Higginbottom, doncherknow, awfully jolly, any amount of sport, rippin' place.

Any one who knew the Upper Columbia Valley (that lies between Cranbrook and Golden) ten years ago would stand amazed if he visited it to-day. The stage-coach, driven by a young man wearing fringed gauntlets, is gone. They should do in Canada with the stage-coach, before it is too late, what they have done in London with the hansom—secure one for a museum. The motor car has ousted it; and though the life of the best car upon the rough wagon roads of the mountains is not a long one, there is always money to buy another. They take their cars almost anywhere, at top speed; and when the car "goes bust" they only laugh. Motor cars carry the settler to the Upper Columbia Valley, from Golden south, or from Cranbrook north.

The society of this most beautiful of valleys is now as follows: a few old-timers, most of them full of wild tales of the old days—all of which they do not tell; the old hotel-keepers; lumbermen coming from, or going to, camps in the hills; men who work on the wagon roads; teamsters from the livery stables; Kootenai Indians in a mixture of apparel—store clothes and deer-skin moccasins, cow-boy hats and bead necklaces. On top of this has come the great influx of the new type. A very charming hotel has been built in the heart of the Valley, and is greatly patronized by the newcomers. It has baths with hot and cold water. It is lit by acetylene gas. Listen, and stand amazed, hearing the voices with their "ha-ah" and "they-ah." The old-timers have gone into their shells. They feel as if a descent of Martians has taken place in their midst. But when the newcomers have all their bungalows built, and a few trees stuck in, and the polo ground cleared, and have generally shaken down, doubtless they of the falsetto voices, and they of the quiet gruff ones, will come to understand each other.

Meanwhile the railway follows the motor car—that followed the stage-coach—that followed the pack train. The House of Progress is rising quickly.

FORESTRY FARMS

Saskatchewan requires more Forestry Farms. Then there would be at least two lecturers continuously on the road to hold meetings, giving lectures on forestry, shelter-belts, etc. The gospel of tree-planting should be brought to farmers. These lecturers could take the names and locations of farmers who are anxious and ready to plant trees, send in the lists to the head office in the province, and inspectors should be sent out to examine each farm, so as to advise farmers where to plant and how to prepare the ground for the following year's planting. It is all right to expend money on the general Conservation Commission to enthuse citizens the Dominion over on what our natural resources are and how they should be conserved, but the practical working end of the problem should not be neglected. Give Saskatchewan forestry farms and practical men to meet progressive farmers, and in a few years the treeless, wind-swept prairies would be changed to a park-like country, with trees on every farm.—Saskatchewan Farmer.

CANADIAN COACH ON SPORTSMANSHIP

Sport For Sport's Sake, Says Harry Griffith, Should be the Watchword of All Amateurs

Harry Griffith, the clever Varsity Rugby coach, in an article in the Toronto [illegible] Review, lined up sport under three heads—amateur, professional and semi-professional. The professional division is a business, not a sport, he declared.

Of the semi-pro kind he said: "Better professional sport in the open and declared than the form of professionalism that hides behind trivial technicalities and poses as amateurs when the worm of semi-professionalism is gnawing at the very entrails of an amateur club. There need be nothing really bad in pure professionalism, there can be nothing good, in fact, everything is bad, in semi or veiled professionalism."

Of amateur sport he had this to say: "There are many amateurs who have yet to learn the real meaning of "sport for sport's sake." The writer has seen amateurs guilty of conduct in play that no gentleman or real amateur should countenance. Many of our games are of their nature rough, but none are brutal. What of the amateur who wilfully maims an opponent? What of the amateur who is content to play to the letter of the rule, forgetting the spirit of the game? What of the amateur who considers it necessary to bet on his team before he can really enjoy the game? What of the amateur club which pays more attention to gate-money than to the welfare of the young men entrusted to its charge? These and other such questions we may well ask ourselves. No one will deny that such amateurs exist, no one will deny that their actions are foreign to the best that is in amateur sport.

Once more, why do we [illegible] of affairs? [illegible] because, both [illegible] and in spectators, the love of winning is greater than the love of the game. As long as winning teams are considered as the only successful teams, as long as the amateur feels that in losing a game he has lost everything and won nothing, just so long will amateur sport fall short of the ideal.

If amateur players stick to amateurism in its highest sense, if amateur clubs stand by their players, win or lose, if we all realize that sport should stand second to work, that its main object is to build up the physical and to some extent the moral side of our nature, if we can fully appreciate the lines of Henry Newbolt, the great poet of Clifton College:

"To set the cause above renown,
To love the game beyond the prize?
To honor, when you strike him down,
The foe who comes with fearless eyes."

Then, indeed sport will fill its proper sphere, and Canadians will richly deserve the much-coveted title of "true sportsmen.

HUNTING THE FOX

English Sport Took Shape When Wild Deer Disappeared

The fox was hunted in England in olden times, indiscriminately with the deer, stag and hare, though not merely for amusement but for extermination. He was hunted or shot or trapped because of his raids on the poultry yards and sheep-folds. Not until the end of the seventeenth century did fox-hunting become a sport in itself, and then only because of the lack of wild deer to be chased. And so by degrees the fox, formerly execrated as "a beast of stinking flight," has become the deity of sportsmen, and to kill him by any means but the hounds a crime unspeakable. Sacrosanct to sportsmen, he is preserved only to be properly loosed, chased and killed according to rule. John Warde, of Westerham, is generally believed to have been the father of fox-hunting, says an English gossiper. He was Master of the Hounds for over half a century, and then he sold his pack for the record price of $10,500. This mighty hunter died in 1838 at the ripe age of 86, at his house in Charles street, Berkeley Square.

Mack Not Infallible

When John J. McGraw said under his own signature that Eddie Collins was the greatest second baseman, he did not mention that he let a glowing opportunity to get this remarkable player slip through his fingers. When Collins was playing with the Columbia University team, both McGraw and the late Fred Knowles were fairly begged to give Collins a trial. It may not be called bad judgment, perhaps, but the fact remains that the Giants had the first chance not only to get Collins, but also Eddie Plank.

Freaks of Lightning

The antics played by lightning are sometimes almost beyond belief. A comparatively common trick is that of undressing its victims. In 1898 two girls and an elderly woman were standing by a reaping machine during a storm. A lightning flash struck the woman and killed her on the spot, while the two girls were stripped to the skin, even their boots being torn from their feet. Otherwise they were safe and sound—and astonished.

In 1880 a man was struck by lightning near Valleroi, in France, and stripped naked. All that could be found of his clothes was a shirt sleeve, a few other shreds, and some pieces of his hob-nailed boots. Ten minutes after he was struck he regained consciousness, opened his eyes, complained of the cold, and inquired how he happened to be naked.

Such instances have been recorded again and again. In one case a man and two oxen were struck simultaneously and all three killed. The man was found stripped to the skin, and his boots had been carried thirty yards away. "In other cases," says Camille Flammarion, the astronomer, "lightning has been known to split men in half, almost as with a huge axe. On June 20, 1868, this happened to a miller's assistant at a windmill near Croix. The lightning struck him and split him from his head downwards in two."

INTRODUCTION

The Glenaladale Silver Black Fox Company, Limited, was incorporated in 1913 with six pairs of foxes, at $60,000. This Company re-capitalized in 1914, with 20 pairs of beautiful Silver Black Foxes, at $15,000 per pair, making a total capitalization of $300,000.

THE FOXES

Six pairs (one year old) proven breeders, and fourteen pairs (1914 pups), making a total of 20 pairs —all young foxes— good for at least 10 years. This Company has bought some of this year's options on foxes with a guarantee that they are pedigreed and of the highest strain and very best quality P. E. Island famous foxes.

THE RANCH

The ranch is situated on the well known Glenaladale Farm, owned by Major C. McKinnon, formerly the homestead of Sir William McDonald, and is only 12 miles from Charlottetown, in a quiet locality sufficiently removed from any disturbance.

THE RANCHER

Mr. Arthur W. McKinnon, our Ranch Manager, has had much experience in breeding foxes, and has the practical knowledge necessary to efficiently manage and care for the animals.

The foxes will be ranched free of charge to the Company for the first year. This means a large saving to the shareholders, as some companies have to pay as high as 25 per cent. of the increase for ranching purposes.

The promoters of this Company are retaining $80,000 worth of stock for themselves. $20,000 worth has already been disposed of, leaving $200,000 to be offered to investors at $25.00 per share, with a guarantee that a dividend of 50 per cent. will be paid in cash in 1915, or whatever more it may be.

The Glenaladale Silver Black Fox Co., Limited, in 1913 guaranteed a dividend of 50 per cent. but are going to pay 50 per cent. in cash and 50 per cent., in stock in 1914. The Company is in good standing and to each and every investor the first of September, 1914, we can say:— "We have given you 50 per cent. more than we promised." And we feel sure that in 1915 all the shareholders in this re-capitalized company will be able to say they received more than they were promised.

This Company can truthfully say that they have not one cent of watered stock in the Company. Now Mr. Investor, if you were a Company and we the shareholders, we would look to you for justice to give us all that was honestly due us. We would not like for you to buy 3 pairs of foxes at $15,000 per pair ($45,000) and form a fox company and capitalize your concern at $90,000 and make us pay, as shareholders, for it. The Glenaladale Silver Black Fox Company, Limited, will ask you to do nothing like that. We want to let you in on the ground floor.

NOTICE

When a fox company guarantees any specified dividend to its shareholders, and when said company is an incorporated body, you need not be afraid of any unfair play, for such company is compelled to pay what they promise, and, besides, every interest is taken for the welfare of both the investor and the company.

The promoters of this Company are all above board and will not permit any crook to come in and do anything that is not right. Anyone holding stock in this Company who is dissatisfied can, by notifying the Secretary-Treasurer, have his or her money promptly refunded.

FORTUNES IN FOXES

There is money in fox ranching more than anything else ever known. It is good for the rich man and good for the poor man. A poor man cannot buy a pair of Silver Black Foxes but he can easily raise $25.00, $50.00 or $100.00. By investing in this Company he gets back his money in at least two years and then he will have an income for life and for his children to come—and after there will be money in fox farming. One of the reasons for this is that P. E. Island has now 95 per cent. of the world's foxes in captivity. For every one pelt that can be raised there are more than 25 wealthy people waiting for it in London, Russia, France and America.

PELT VALUES

The Fox Pelts have advanced greatly in price since 1910 and you can see for yourself what money was in them then.

Below are the particulars of sale of a consignment of Silver Fox Furs, shipped from Prince Edward Island stocks to London, England, and sold there in March, 1910:

SHARES

Shares are selling at $25.00 each; 25 per cent. with application and the balance on or before September 1st, 1914.

Simply fill out the application form and mail to Major C. McKinnon, Secretary-Treasurer, Glenaladale, P. E. I.

All cheques must be made payable to "The Glenaladale Silver Black Fox Co., Ltd."

A POINTER

Just to give you a little idea of what the free ranching of foxes means to the investor, we will figure it out for you.

We have twenty pairs of foxes in the ranch and suppose each pair produces a litter of only four foxes this is equal to 40 pairs and at $15,000 per year it would figure out at $600,000. Now, if we had to pay even 15 per cent. of the increase for ranching purposes (which is considerably lower than some companies pay) it would mean that we would have to pay $90,000 for ranching expenses.

We ranch the foxes free for the first year, so that in addition to a guaranteed dividend of 50 per cent., we save you this large outlay of money. While we guarantee 50 per cent., still should each pair in our ranch produce four pups it would mean that your dividend would be about 200 per cent. instead of 50 per cent.

FINAL WORD

A great deal has been written about Ranches, Grades of Foxes, etc., but after all the one object that every investor should keep before him is the dividend he is going to get. We have tried to show you in plain English what we can do for you and now that you have our proposition, compare it with the offer made by any other company now in business— and then judge for yourself to have been paid by some of the Charlottetown daily newspapers.

Fox Dividends Declared to Date

Following are dividends reported companies as stated by one of the 1913.

Women as Inventors

A man with an invention is generally looked upon more or less as a crank until his idea has proved valuable, when, as is the way of the world, all are ready to acclaim his greatness.

Women, however, as in all other branches, have come greatly to the fore in the inventive line. The number of applications for patents made by women during the past 10 years has increased several hundred per cent.

Inventions in connection with aeronautics have come to the fore very prominently, five hundred patents having been filed, whilst more than 3,000 applications have been received for inventions in connection with motor, railway, and other vehicles.

A striking patent, and one with great possibilities, is an automatic collapsible escape ladder for use at sea as a means of transferring passengers from a sinking vessel to other boats or rafts.

Over Cliff to Save Dog

The Penarth, Wales, police effected the rescue of a spaniel dog which had fallen over the cliffs at Penarth, and had secured a foothold 40 feet from the summit. Sergeant Lewis and Police-Constables Davies and Humphries formed the rescue party, the constables in turn being lowered over the edge of the cliff with a stout rope fastened beneath their arms. Humphries secured the dog, and together, policeman and dog, were hauled up the cliff, which at this spot is almost perpendicular.

A Gallant Postman

Robert M'Crae, a postman at Glasgow affected a gallant rescue of James Baird, a boy of eight, who accidentally fell into the Clyde at a point near Millerfield road, Dalmarnock. M'Crae who was passing in the course of one of his deliveries, handed his bag to a boy and jumped into the water.

BERLIN BENUMBED BY NEWS OF DEFEAT

Geneva, Sept, 18.— News of the German defeat, despite every precaution, has passed through Switzerland to the north, and has caused profound depression in Germany, after so many announced victories.

According to advices received here people have gathered in the streets in various German towns, shouting "Tell us the truth! Give us the news!" The newspaper offices at Munich have been closed, as disorders are feared.

It is also reported that the news of the steady retirement of the Germans in France has trickled into Berlin and benumbed the people.

Along the Swiss-German frontier the full extent of the German retreat is known. People are crying: "If the French have beaten us, what will the Russians do?"

An Appeal to the Intelligent Investor !

Does a logical presentation of a good investment interest you? Do you believe there is an oil in commercial quantities in Alberta? If you are alive to the situation you do. Then it will pay you to investigate our proposition and our holdings.

Please Read Carefully and Note!

THAT Oil authorities are agreed the Alberta Oil Field is of an anticlinal formation. It has been fairly accurately ascertained in what general direction these anticlines run. Geologist B. W. Dunn chose wisely in the selection of the now famous Monarch well. WINDSOR OILFIELDS, LIMITED, has holdings located close to the Monarch.

THAT Cunningham Craig, one of the world's most eminent geologists, selected the site of the Mowbray-Berkeley well. Stock in that company is not offered at any price. We possess acreage adjoining the Mowbray-Berkeley (Section 12, Township 23, Range 5, West of 5th). If a strike is made at the Mowbray-Berkeley what will shares in our company be worth?

Our holdings consist of 1380 acres, carefully selected and judiciously spread over the entire oil field.

Former Stockbroker Fenner Given Heavy Sentence in Old Bailey Court

Sentence of four years' penal servitude was imposed by Mr. Justice Rowlatt, at the Old Bailey, upon Charles Edwin Fenner, aged fifty-six, formerly a stockbroker, whose malversations involved among other amounts a large sum belonging to the funds of the Liberal party.

Fenner was indicted for the fraudulent conversion of moneys entrusted to him for investment. Mr. A. H. Bodkin, K.C., said the total amount of money or securities misappropriated amounted to $230,985, the transactions ranging from 1910 up to March, 1913. On May 7 last Fenner, who had been a member of the Stock Exchange, and carried on business in the name of "H. L. Montmorency and Co.," was adjudicated a bankrupt, the claims against his estate amounting to more than $825,000. The estate realized $5,750. He was arrested in Paris, and extradited.

Mr. Bodkin added that the total loss suffered by Lord Murray (who as Chief Whip had control of the Liberal party funds) in connection with the transactions he had with Fenner was $194,775.

Oil Company Fiasco

Fenner's misfortune was that after Mr. Montmorency was drowned in the Stella disaster he had to decide within a very short time whether he would attempt to carry on the business. He decided to continue it, after advice, which, counsel said, might not have been good, and the result was that from 1902 to 1912 bad debts to the extent of over $300,000 were incurred.

But the culminating disaster was his connection with the oil company, which he entered into without thinking that there was any risk. He undertook to finance it on promises made, parted with over [illegible], and had not one penny to show for it.

Fenner had lived a perfectly simple life in a small flat in London, his only extravagance being a small cottage on the river, which he occupied with his brother at a rental of $150 a year. Counsel admitted that in going as he did to Paris Fenner took a regrettable step, but urged that he did not leave the country as criminals generally did. He only took with him a sum of $500, and when in Paris lived in a room rented at $2.50 a week only.

Hardships in Paris Gaol

When arrested, counsel said that Fenner was kept for fifty-one days in Paris. During that time he suffered every hardship and indignity, and was detained under the most filthy surroundings and conditions that it would be a little difficult to believe could exist at the present day, but for the fact that they had heard similar stories from other people.

"Though I recognise the sadness of a scene like this," said Mr. Justice Rowlatt in passing sentence, "one cannot allow one's feelings of compassion in the presence of a tragedy like this to permit any weakening of the criminal law for the repression of malversations of this character. From those who are greatly trusted strict reckoning must be exacted."

Romantic Wedding Recalled

The death of Colonel P. A. Watson Carnegy, of Lour, near Forfar, recalls his romantic marriage of two years ago. At that time the colonel was seventy-six years of age. He had been confined to his bed for some time with a severe illness, and his marriage at Lour to a lady well known in London society created a slight sensation in Scotland and London. The ceremony was performed by an Hon. Sheriff-substitute of Forfarshire, and was attended only by the contracting parties and the necessary witnesses.

THE DIAMOND CENTRE

Amsterdam Employes Thousands of Cutters and Polishers of Gems

The diamond trade of Amsterdam is in the hands of seventy firms, employing more than 10,000 workmen. About 1,700 are cleavers and cutters, and 4,700 polishers, etc., the rest being engaged about the offices in other work.

These workmen are composed of five classes, in the following order, as to the amount of wages received: Cleavers, polishers, turners, cutters, and sawyers. Polishers and turners receive about the same wages. Certain cleavers get as much as $120 a week. From this maximum wages grade downwards through the other classes to $6 and $8 a week for sawyers.

It is the task of the cleaver to split diamonds. Cutters take off the rough sharp edges and corners and determine the general shape of the stone. Polishers polish the stone and make their facets. Turners turn the diamonds around in the apparatus that holds them, so that the facets may be made, each fine diamond having from fifty-eight to sixty-four facets. Sawyers saw stones which cannot be cloven, or which it is more profitable to saw. Sometimes a stone is cleft and the parts then sawed, but very small stones cannot be sawed.

The Amsterdam diamond workers maintain a compact organization for their protection. No one can learn the trade without the consent of this organization, and only children of workers or of jewelers are eligible to become pupils. The waiting list always contains thousands of names.

As a general thing pupils pay for instruction, sometimes as much as $2,000 for cleaving, payable in instalments. In the case of polishers and turners there is a special school, the instruction fee being from $120 to $150.

Coloring Live Trees

We have known for some time that plain horsehair can masquerade as the costly aigrette, but it has remained for the chemist to do a more daring deed. He can transform a cottonwood tree into Circassian walnut or something of that sort. The milliner does not cause horses to grow plumes on their dignified persons, but the chemist injects dye solution into the tree, and lo! the character of its wood changes. The amount of liquid some trees absorb is astonishing. One Scotch fir is reported to have had a capacity for three gallons in two days, at which time its appetite was sated. Now that trees have taken to drinking, it is hard to say what deception the future may show in the way of wood.

SYNOPSIS OF CANADIAN NORTH-WEST LAND REGULATIONS.

THE sole head of a family, or any male over 18 years old, may homestead a quarter-section of available Dominion land in Manitoba, Saskatchewan, or Alberta. Applicant must appear in person at the Dominion Lands Agency or Sub-Agency for the District. Entry by proxy may be made at any Dominion Lands Agency (but not Sub-Agency), on certain conditions.

Duties—Six months residence upon and cultivation of the land in each of three years. A homesteader may live within nine miles of his homestead on a farm of at least 80 acres, on certain conditions. A habitable house is required except where residence is performed in the vicinity.

In certain districts a homesteader in good standing may pre-empt a quarter section alongside his homestead. Price $3.00 per acre.

Duties—Six months residence in each of three years after earning homestead patent; also 50 acres extra cultivation. Pre-emption patent may be obtained as soon as homestead patent, on certain conditions.

A settler who has exhausted his homestead right may take a purchased homestead in certain districts. Price $3.00 per acre. Duties— Must reside six months in each of three years, cultivate 50 acres and erect a house worth $300.

The area of cultivation is subject to reduction in case of rough, scrubby or stony land. Live stock may be substituted for cultivation under certain conditions.

AS LIGHT AS LAGER
BUT BETTER FOR YOU

You wash dishes about two hours every day.
That's one hour wasted!

Dishes get dirty, greasy and sticky and soap will not clean them. Soapy dish water merely cleans the surface; it doesn't dig into the corners and drive out the decayed food particles.

Gold Dust is the sanitary dish washer. It not only cleans the surface, but digs deep after hidden particles of dirt and kills the germs of decayed food which ordinary dish-water overlooks. Gold Dust sterilizes as well as cleanses.

Besides doing the work better than soap or any other cleanser can, Gold Dust will save just half the time you spend in washing dishes.

Gold Dust is sold in 5c size and larger packages. The large package means greater economy.

How People Feel
When They Have
Tape Worm

Tape worm is bred from a parasite. This parasite is a creature male and female in one. It is a pear shape, having two, four and six suckers. It lays the eggs, which are only connected together with slime. They develop and form a body, which is the worm. Each joint is an individual, having a sucker or mouth. The worm grows to be much longer than the bowels where it is located, and sometimes a whole colony of them are found, enough to fill a quart of solid worm, and when put in a bucket of water would apparently fill it. It is the hardest task in the world to destroy this parasite without doing injury to the individual who may be so unfortunate as to have it, as the parasite clings to the bowels, freeing itself from the body of the worm, and remains there to breed another. It is an internal demon and causes its victims to suffer all the symptoms of disease imaginable. The cleverest physicians are led to believe the patient is suffering from some other disease, as nearly every person has different symptoms. Some have been treated for cancer of the bowels, consumption of the bowels, consumption of the lungs, chronic dyspepsia, nervous prostration, melancholia, hypochondria, hysteria, inflammation of the bowels, appendicitis and other complaints, when one or more of these internal demons were eating their lives away.

Prof. Mulveney has made the discovery to free the victim of this monster without injury to the system, destroying the parasite as well as expelling the worm with one dose of medicine without any previous starvation. Visit his office, where he has in his possession the most wonderful collection of these death-dealing monsters in the world, which have been expelled from hundreds of people by his famous remedy, some bottles containing colonies of worms and anyone seeing them cannot imagine how a person could possibly live with them in his bowels. It is surprising the number of people that have them. Thousands have them and are not aware of the fact. The letters and testimonials the Professor has in his possession are enough to convince one of this alarming fact. Some of the most prominent symptoms are: ravenous appetite, dizzy spells, headaches, cramps in the bowels, a feeling of something moving in the bowels, also a feeling as though something was crawling up the throat. The only certainty of having one in the system is when segments or joints are seen, which come away almost any time. They are flat and from ⅛ of an inch to 1 inch long, which have often been mistaken for pin worms by those who do not know the difference. There are many other feelings of distress which would take long to enumerate. Strange to say, some people of strong constitution, have very little distress.

Prof. Mulveney's world-famous Tape Worm Exterminator is safe, sure and harmless. No starvation, no danger, is not disagreeable to take. One dose nearly always effects a cure. Further information free. Send stamped envelope, telephone Parkdale 4830 or call at 167 Dundas street, Toronto. Open from 8 a.m. to 10 p.m. daily.

NEWS OF BRITAIN IN BRIEF FORM

While a number of children were gathering flowers in the grounds of Lord Hamilton of Dalzell, near Motherwell, one of them, a girl of thirteen, named Janet Morris, met a shocking death. Steep cliffs overhang the roadway, and the child had clambered up to reach some ivy, when she overbalanced and fell to the roadway.

Lonely Old Man's Plight

William Rafferty, an old age pensioner, living alone at Richhill, Ireland, was missed by his neighbors. On forcibly entering his house they found him unconscious on the hearthstone. He had suffered a paralytic stroke, and had been evidently lying there a whole day and night before being discovered.

Fatal Sleeping Draught

A tragic discovery was made in a boarding house in the north side of Edinburgh. A gentleman, named Mr. Francis Kirk, forty years of age, who resided there, was found lying dead in his bed. He had been in the habit of taking a drug as a sleeping draught, and two empty phials were found in his room.

Brother Dies After Boxing

A friendly boxing match between two brothers in the yard of their home at Bradford was followed by the death of the elder, Norman Everett Major, aged nineteen years. They boxed for about a quarter of an hour, with intervals to recover breath, when Norman collapsed. He died before the arrival of a doctor.

Boxing a Half Blue

After careful consideration of the request made by Lord Lonsdale and other famous sportsmen that a full "blue" should be awarded at Cambridge to the members who represent the university at boxing, the "Blues" Committee decided to make no alteration. Boxing will, therefore, remain a "half-blue."

Corpse to "Swim in Whiskey"

Sensational evidence was given at Ballingarry, county Limerick, at the investigation into a charge of murder against Mary M'Cann and her son Jeremiah. Michael Hayes, Heathfield, deposed that the female prisoner said she would get the Moclin boys to kill her husband, and that when he was killed she would "swim his corpse in whiskey."

A Dog's Long Journey

Mr. J. Tierney, of Derry, received from Derrygonnelly, county Fermanagh, a water spaniel, which had gone all the way—about sixty miles—by rail. Later the dog was missed, and a thorough search throughout the district failed to locate it. Then Mr. Tierney had a letter from the former owner stating that the dog had arrived at Derrygonnelly footsore and weary.

The death occurred at Miltown Malbay, Ireland, of Mrs. Irons, who was fired at sixteen years ago through the window of her house, and in connection with which a man named Woulfe was sentenced to penal servitude for life. When shot in the shoulder Mrs. Irons, who had been a hospital nurse, rendered first aid to herself, and it was not till next morning that a doctor could be summoned.

A Students' Fight

Friction arose between South African and Egyptian students in the anatomy class room of the Surgeons' Hall in Edinburgh, over an Egyptian having been struck with a paper pellet. An adjournment was made to Blackford Hill where in the presence of a considerable assemblage of students a fight took place between a member of each of the two nationalities. The South African won, and the fight ended amicably. One Egyptian, however, caused a sensation by producing a revolver, but his chums joined in disarming him.

Fortune in Meteoric Stone

The schooner Anne Egede, belonging to the Danish Government, which put into Lerwick Harbor from Greenland, had on board the Arctic explorer, Knud Rasmussen, who has just completed a 1,200 miles sledge journey from 80 degrees North. Rasmussen had covered the distance in one month. The explorer stated that while on this journey he came across a large meteor stone, weighing 10,000 pounds, which he says is worth $1,500,000. The estone is to be taken to Copenhagen, and in the meantime is the property of the Danish Government.

Scots Boy's Adventure

An adventurous fourteen-year-old Scots lad named Dickson having run away from home with money taken from his mother's purse in order to try and get in the Navy was bound over for six months at Sittingbourne, where he appeared for appropriating a bicycle from outside a public house there. He was found exhausted in a field while on his way to London

ENGLAND'S GREAT NAMES

Interesting Debate on Which County Produced Most Illustrious Men

Many readers will probably dispute the decision arrived at by the judges at a debate on the subject of which English county has produced the greatest men before the Society of Warwickshire Folk in London, who, after listening to the champions of celebrities of thirteen counties, gave their verdict in favor of Lancashire. Lancashire was the native county of John Bright, whose oratory fascinated and enthralled men, among other famous statesmen which it claims being Gladstone, who was born at Liverpool, Sir Robert Peel, born near Bury, and Lord Morley, who claims Blackburn as his native place.

In literature the county is very strongly represented: De Quincey, Mrs. Hemans, the famous poetess, Hall Caine, Harrison Ainsworth, and Richard Le Gallienne, being among other famous authors who were born in Lancashire. Neither must one forget Sir Richard Arkwright, the inventor of the cotton-spinning frame; Romney, the famous painter; and such actors as John Kemble, Sothern, and Edmund Kean, three of the greatest who ever appeared on the English stage.

Hampshire and Derbyshire

Hampshire is proudly referred to by its people and admirers as the cradle of the English race—the cradle of the ecclesiastical system, cradle of the English Navy, and the cradle of the national game of cricket. Palmerston, Thomas Arnold, Charles Dickens, George Meredith, Millais, and Tennyson, who, though he was born in Lincolnshire, had his favorite residence in the Isle of Wight, are men who have added lustre to little Hampshire.

Mr. Morice Gerard (the Rev. J. Jessop Teague), author of many popular books, proudly claims for Derbyshire that it is the county which started everything. In other words, that its famous men were the pioneers in all things. It produced James Brindley, founder of canals; Sir Francis Chantrey, one of the finest sculptors who ever lived. Herbert Spencer, the founder of that school in which Huxley and Darwin graduated; Sir Hugh Willoughby, the first of a long line of explorers who set out in the sixteenth century from Deptford to find the Northwest passage; Sir James Outram, the Bayard of India; and last but not least, "Little John," Robin Hood's great small man.

Claims of Warwickshire

On the other hand, Warwickshire claims to have produced Robin Hood himself, and among other greater celebrities Shakespeare, acknowledged to be among the greatest of Englishmen, Walter Savage Landor, George Eliot, Sir Edwin Arnold, David Cox, Sir Francis Galton, Burne-Jones, James Watt, Richard Baxter, and Cardinal Newman.

Mr. Joseph Chamberlain was certainly born in Camberwell, but his finest work was done in Warwickshire, where he spent the greater part of his life.

Gallant little Sussex, however, not only claims to have produced the man who evolved the mangel-wurzel, but such men as Cobden and Shelley; and is also not a little proud of the fact that F. W. Lillywhite, one of the fathers of cricket, was a Sussex man. But the Channel Islands do not feel inclined to give way to any English county in regard to sporting champions, for it was from Jersey that those two wonderful golfers Ray and Vardon came.

Good old "Zummerset" claims Henry Fielding, father of the English novel, who was born a few miles from Glastonbury. It also produced Roger Bacon, father of science; Chatterton, the boy poet; Sebastian Cabot, the great explorer; Sir Henry Irving, too, came from Somerset, as well as John Locke, one of the greatest philosophers of his time, not to mention John Bull, who was erroneously believed to be the author of "God Save the King," and who was a Somersetshire man and a notable scientist.

Nelson a Norfolk Man

Those pioneers of liberty, Coke, Walpole, and Tom Paine, as well as Nelson, Lord Cromer, and George Borrow, hailed from Norfolk; while Yorkshire is represented by the two famous explorers and pioneers, Captain Cook and Frobisher. William Wilberforce, too, was a Yorkshire man, while mention might also be made of Lord Hawke, the famous English admiral.

COUNT TEN! BAD COLD RELIEVED FIGURE THREE HOURS--COLD CURED

NEVER A FAILURE WITH CATARRHOZONE; IT CURES COMPLETELY.

Don't sniffle and sneeze with a nasty cold. Kill it at once by "Catarrhozone." It's the surest thing on colds ever known; simply knocks them out in no time. The medicated vapor of CATARRHOZONE spreads through all parts of the breathing organs, and its beneficial action is felt instantly. Doesn't matter whether the cold is in the head, chest or lungs, Catarrhozone will reach it and cure it quickly.

Easy to use—you bet it is—not a single drug to take because you simply breathe in the most healing and soothing of piney vapors that come from the wonderful Catarrhozone inhaler.

"I can cheerfully testify that Catarrhozone is simply a magical cure for colds," writes P. F. Clement of Augusta. "For days last winter my head was completely filled up with cold. My eyes ran water. I sneezed and coughed constantly. I took many medicines. I was sick of the sight of them. Finally, I tried Catarrhozone. Its effect was magical. It soothed the inflamed membranes, stopped the sneezing, and cured in no time. I never met anything to kill a cold like Catarrhozone."

Get the complete $1.00 outfit; it does the work quick. Small size 50c; trial sample size 25c at dealers everywhere.

Queer Nomenclature

A little girl living on Murray St. went to Central School yesterday morning for the first time. On her return to dinner, her mother asked how she liked school. She replied, "I like it very well but some of the children have the funniest names. I heard the teacher call 'Alice Silence,' and 'Willie Bequiet.'"

Pearl Button Diet

Yesterday afternoon a well known society lady stooped over to examine a turkey in its cage. The front of her waist bore a number of pearl buttons. The turkey's head made a lightning stroke through the bars of its cage and hey presto there was a pearl button less on that waist.

Charles Healy was charged with driving a horse and rig at Nicholl's Oval whilst drunk. Charles promptly pleaded guilty and paid $5.15 in fine and costs.

Yesterday's Horse Race.

Yesterday afternoon very general interest was shown by the huge crowd present at the Peterboro Industrial Exhibition over the horse race. Only one event was pulled off in the "King of Sports" th[illegible] as the 2.30 class. The result was that Joe S., P. Stone Collingwood, won the event. The score stood: Joe S., 2, 1, 1, 1; Oro Tariff, 1, 7, 4, 2; Oro Medium, [illegible] 2, 3, 4; Little J[illegible] 3, 3, 3; Hester D., 6, 4, 5, 5; Tom Hal withdrawn.

Mr. Ernest Heaton, of Toronto, well known here through his summer visits to Pigeon Lake and Peterboro, who was on a sketching and architectural tour in England, when war was declared, enlisted with the King Edward Horse, largely composed of students. It is hoped that he will be back next summer, safe and sound, to tell us about all that happened in the war.

Get Thirty Days.

Port Hope Guide: A Port Hoper appeared in police court this morning on a charge of keeping a raincoat knowing the same to have been stolen. It appears that another Port Hope youth stole this coat from the Queen's hotel and turned it over to the prisoner. The prisoner kept it for some time and when the owner enquired for it he produced it. He admitted knowing that it had been stolen and was sentenced to one month in the Counties jail at hard labor.

Former St. Luke's Rector Honored.

At a recent meeting of the Protestant School Board, Rev. Dr. Symonds was unanimously re-elected chairman of the Sabbath Board for the coming year. He stated that although on the advice of his colleagues he would accept the chairmanship for this term; he notified them that at the end of this year he would not be able to continue in office any longer. "We are a quiet and peaceable body" he said, "and we enjoy the mutual confidence of each other, I hope that condition of things may long continue, and that we shall continue to do the excellent work we are doing. I don't so much refer to our own merits, but to the work of the officers of the Board."—Montreal Herald.

Y.M.C.A. Notes

All boys who wish to practice for the City Championships which will be held on Thanksgiving Day, Oct. 12th, will meet Mr. Carson at the Riverside Park, Saturday morning at 9.30 to 11 o'clock. The boys will be taught how to start in a race, running and jumping.

The boys' rooms have been put in first class order and are all ready for the rush of boys that will come in on Monday for the fall opening. The first gymnasium class will be held on Monday afternoon. Employed boys will commence monday night, intermediate Tuesday night, school boys Wednesday afternoon.

Boys Cabinet will meet Saturday night at 7.15 instead of Monday night. A large number of boys are taking out memberships in the "Y" now. We have room for many more, the tickets are only three dollars so now is the time to join and get in on the start of the fall work. A good programme of illustrated lectures entertainments, and social times will be arranged for the boys and a general good time is promised.

Howden Was Discharged

At yesterday's police court, the case of Bert Howden, charged with illegally detaining Minnie Herron was called. County Attorney Wearing was not present to prosecute. The case was enlarged until this morning. Mr. McElderry, for the prisoner, asked first that the case be dismissed, this being refused; he asked for bail which was also refused. The Magistrate remarked, "Mr. Wearing should have been here. In so important a case I won't take any excuses over the telephone. We are not going to have any hole and corner methods in this court."

Later.—Mr. Wearing appeared later and said the woman, the main witness had left the city and could not be located. He also thought the witness' evidence was not reliable [illegible] asked that the case be dismissed. Howden was discharged.

The crowd at the Fall Fair yesterday was greater than ever. The Exhibition was run on good clean principles and the exhibits are better than ever.

The chicken display was somewhat smaller yesterday than on the grounds at last year's Exhibition. This is due to Lindsay holding its Fall Fair on Peterboro's advertised date.

To Cure Catarrhal Deafness and Head Noises

Persons suffering from catarrhal deafness and head noises will be glad to know that this distressing affliction can be successfully treated at home by an internal medicine that in many instances has effected a complete cure after all else has failed. Sufferers who could scarcely hear a watch tick have had their hearing restored to such an extent that the tick of a watch was plainly audible seven or eight inches away from either ear.

Therefore, if you know someone who is troubled with head noises or catarrh, or catarrhal deafness, cut out this formula and hand to them and you will have been the means of saving some poor sufferer from total deafness. The prescription can be prepared at home and is made as follows:

Secure from your druggist 1 oz. Parmint (Double Strength), about 75c worth. Take this home, and add to it ¼ pint of hot water and 4 oz. moist of granulated sugar; stir until dissolved. Take one tablespoonful four times a day.

The first dose promptly ends the most distressing head noises, headache, dullness, cloudy thinking, etc., while the hearing rapidly returns as the system is invigorated by the tonic action of the treatment. Loss of smell and mucus dropping in the back of the throat are other symptoms that show the presence of catarrhal poison, and which are quickly overcome by this efficacious treatment. Nearly ninety per cent. of all ear troubles are directly caused by catarrh, therefore there are but few people whose hearing cannot be restored by this simple home treatment. Every person who is troubled with head noises, catarrhal deafness, or catarrh in any form, should give this prescription a trial. There is nothing better.

Important—In ordering Parmint always specify that you want Double Strength; your druggist has it or he can get it for you; if not, send 75c to the International Laboratories, 74 St. Antoine St., Montreal, P.Q., who make a specialty of it.

MACHINE GUNS IN BRUSSELS GERMAN GARRISON NOW 6000

London, Sept. 18.—A despatch to the Central News says:

"A trustworthy informant from Brussels says the German garrison at numbers about 6000 men. Machine that place has been increased and now guns have once more been placed in position in certain of the principal thoroughfares.

"The bringing of Belgium newspapers into Brussels is strictly prohibited. The Germans have endeavored to promote the sale of German newspapers at the newspaper stalls, but the soldiers of the occupying force are their only purchasers.

"Burgomaster Max is no longer able to communicate officially the news of victories by the allies to the inhabitants, the German forces having prohibited the posting of placards. The Burgomaster, however, has seen to it that the good news is circulated by word of mouth, and the populace already knows of the German retreat in France."

Do some foods you eat hit back—taste good, but work badly; ferment into stubborn lumps and cause a sick, sour, gassy stomach? Now, Mr. or Mrs. Dyspeptic, jot this down: Pape's Diapepsin digests everything, leaving nothing to sour and upset you. There never was anything so safely quick, so certainly effective. No difference how badly your stomach is disordered you will get happy relief in five minutes, but what pleases you most is that it strengthens and regulates your stomach so you can eat your favorite foods without fear.

Most remedies give you relief sometimes—they are slow, but not sure. "Pape's Diapepsin" is quick, positive and puts your stomach in a healthy condition so the misery won't come back.

You feel different as soon as "Pape's Diapepsin" comes in contact with the stomach—distress just vanishes—your stomach gets sweet, no gases, no belching, no eructations of undigested food, your head clears and you feel fine.

Go now, make the best investment you ever made, by getting a large fifty-cent case of Pape's Diapepsin from any drug store. You realize in five minutes how needless it is to suffer from indigestion, dyspepsia or any stomach disorder.

BERLIN PRESS DESPATCHES ARE UNRELIABLE

gium. A day or two afterwards the same veracious agency reports that "General French has left for Belgium to take command of the English troops there." On the same day I read an article by, I think a Swiss, at any rate by an independent witness who knew nothing of Wolff, describing the landing of British troops in Belgium and France.

And the campaign of German misrepresentation is not confined to the neutral countries of Europe. A despatch to a London paper from Peking dated August 24th stated:—"Attempts are being made to stir up anti-British feeling in Peking by inspired German telegrams and malicious circulars."

An official message sent by a German government long distance wireless station to the German Embassy in the United States and intercepted in England on August 17th indicates an elaborate and systematic attempt to influence public opinion in the United States, South America and Asia reveals the unblushing methods of German officialdom in "Changing and decking out "news to suit the occasion. This precious message, in full, read as follows:—

TRANSLATION.

August 17.—No. 20.—Berlin.—Words 100.

German Embassy, Newport.

"All press news must be telegraphed to the following addresses: Publicato, Shanghai; Plato Zeitung, Buenos Aires; Amerikana, Rio; and in New York itself to the New York Herald, to be passed onto the Argentine newspaper, La prensa, the text for the latter to be edited to differ from that of the Plata Zeitung by changing it about and decking it out: (Text: For letzere abweichend oun dem fur. Plata Zeitung durch Umstellung and Ausschmuckung zu [illegible].)—HAMMANE."

The above message was among a number of German despatches intercepted by Sir Henry Norman, M.P., the well known journalist and author, at his wireless station at Haslemere which he has been authorized by the Admiralty and Post Office to continue working.

It has recently become evident from the large number of pro-German reports emanating from Amsterdam and Rotterdam that the German publicity department, despairing of securing any credence in the world for mendacities sent by wireless from Berlin, is using Holland as a base of its operations. So newspaper readers do well to take press reports from Holland as well as those from Germany with a grain of salt.

eat off Her Pursuers, and Escaped With Considerable Damage--She Has a Tonage of 20,000, and Speed of 22 Knots and Carries a Crew of 1000 Men--This Report is From Venice, But Has Not Been Confirmed

London, Sept. 20.—A despatch from ienna says that one side of the Autrian Dreadnought Viribus Unitis was adly damaged in a fight in the Adiatic, but escaped her pursuers.

The Viribus Unitis is Austria's bigst battleship afloat, sharin- that ner with four other similar ships. e has a tonnage of 10,000, is 495 t long, has engines of 25,000 horseower, a speed of 22 knots, and was ilt in 1913. Her armament consists twelve 12-inch, twelve 5.9-inch, and smaller guns. Austria has four rger battleships (25,008 tons) under nstruction, to be completed in 1915. e Viribus Unitis is about the size British battleships of the Colossus ass.

She carries a crew of 1,000 men.

ERMANS DROP BOMB ON JAPANESE TROOPS

Pekin, Sept. 20.—The Government institutes severe measures designed as martial law in several provinces and many important cities. The discovery that rebels in the capital were preparing to take advantage of the Government's present financial and diplomatic difficulties is causing scores of arrests and ma- executions according to Chinese reports.

Postal communication with Tsing-Tau was terminated by the Japanese yesterday. From information derived from Chinese and other sources io the region of Kiao-Chow, it appears that Japanese infantry and cavalry are proceeding from Lang Kow to invest Tsing-Tau before landing siege artillery at some near harbo.

The Japanese legation states that roads must be constructed before heavy guns can be transported to positions near the German stronghold.

Germans in the Kiao-Chow district report that an aeroplane successfully dropped bombs on the Japanese troops north of Ping-Tu, killing fifty and wounding thirty others.

The foreign correspondents at Tsing-Tau have been silenced. A correspondent at Chee Foo reports that members of the Chinese Red Cross to the number of forty-four have arrived there from Shanghai and established a hospital in a hotel.

O VESSEL CAN GET THROUGH THE BLOCKADE OF BRITISH WARSHIPS

e North Sea is Controlled by Great Britain--The Patrol is Constant and Thorough--A Suburb Method of Watchfulness in Force by Which the Names of Approaching essels Are Quickly Learaed Even at Night

London, Sept. 20.—"A solid Uall warships" is thrown across the rthern part of the North Sea, acrding to the captain of a British awler who has just arrived from land. The skipper said it was "abutely impossible for any foe to nk through undetected," so cont and thorough was the patrol the north. It was his own experie to be hailed and searched, and, er being released, his boat was llowed by two torpedo boats until reached its destination.

The thoroughness of the patrol was rther testified to by another North a skipper. His trawler was lying ngshore when shortly after midht, it suddenly found itself hemmed in by a huge black object which proved to be a British cruiser. Its officers seemed to have cat's eyes. From the dark a voice demanded to know the identity of the trawler. It was promptly shouted back.

Submarine Had Crept Up.

"The name is quite correct, sir, came another voice astern of us," said the skipper. A submarine had crept up behind us and read our name. Although all of our crew had come on deck to see what was happening, not one of them had seen the submarine appear. The whole episode only occupied a few minutes, and the cruiser, after wishing us 'good morning' and plenty of fishing, disappeared in the darkness."

The German Forces Desperate Fail in Many Counter Attacks

The Allies Are Presistently Attacking the Invaders' Strongly Fortified Positions--Enemy Attempts to Take the Offensive Against Rheims But Without Success--Big Battle Continues Along the Whole Front Without Any Decisive Result

Washington, Sept. 20.—An official Bordeau despatch to the French Ambassay to-day, says:

"The battle continues on the whole front from the River Oise to the River Woevre, during the 18th, without any important change in the situation at any point.

"At the left, in the Battle of the Oise, we occupy Menarqueglise, Carlepont and Cuts. On the heights to the north of the River Aisne we have advanced slightly in a few places. Three attacks attempted by the Germans against the British army have been checked at Troyon, between Soissons and Craonne.

FAILED IN COUNTER ATTACK

"At the centre, from Rheims to the Argonne Mountains the enemy is reinforcing his situation by important fortifications and taking an attitude merely defensive On the east of the Argonne and in the Woevre Valley the situation is unchanged.

"At the right in Lorraine and Vosges the enemy occupy positions defensively organised close to the frontier."

AUSTRIA KEEPS EYE ON ITALY!

Rome, Sept. 20.—A report received here from the Austro-Italian frontier says that 300,000 Austrian troops are watching the Italian border. Trieste has been left with only a garrison of 20,000 men.

AUSTRALIA LOSES SUBMARINE.

London, Sept. 20.—The British Admiralty announces the loss of the submarine AE 1, belonging to the Australian fleet. No details were given in the cable from the Australian Government reporting the loss.

The British submarine AE 1 had a displacement of 310 tons and was 176 feet in length and capable of making 16.10 knots an hour. She was equipped with four torpedo tubes and 2½ pound guns. According to the latest record she was commanded by Lieut.-Commander Thomas F. Bessant, with Lieut. Charles L. Moore second in command.

A WAY IN WHICH HYDRO-ELECTRIC MIGHT GIVE RELIEF

Trade depression caused by the war is keenly felt in Canada, and in Peterborough in particular, where hundreds of laborers and mechanics are out of work. Our City Council, in taking up street paving and outfall sewer operations is relieving the situation to some appreciable extent in so far as a certain class of laborers is concerned. But a huge bulk of our unemployed is composed of Canadian General Electric employees, who could not handle a pick and shovel to advantage were they paid $5 a day to do so. To them the city's commendable consideration in undertaking public work at an increased rate of interest on borrowed money is of no benefit. If, however, the C.G.E. was enabled to resume operations on a generous scale much needed relief would be felt in Peterborough. And this leads one to the question, would it not be possible for the Hydro-Electric Commission of Ontario to anticipate their requirements for prospective state and municipal controlled utilities by placing generous orders now with the CANADIAN General Electric Co. Such action, if practicable, would afford relief to a large extent in this city. It is understood that many orders with this big Company have been cancelled owing to the war, and these will unquestionably be replaced when conditions are re-adjusted. And were the Hydro-Electric Commission able to anticipate future requirements now, at a time when work is so badly needed, the C.G.E. would be free to handle the big business which must be called for later on in a progressive country like Canada, and the Hydro-Electric Commission would have on hand the power machinery necessary for installing public utilities plants where now contemplated in the near future. Such a course would give present relief, and foster an equable distribution of electrical manufacture over an extended period.

Our local legislature unquestionably will do all they can in this labor and trade crisis, and were the above suggestion adopted by the Hydro-Electric Commission of Ontario, the legislature could probably find the funds, even if the pleasure of a big surplus at the end of the financial year is forfeited. And after all said and done legislature surpluses are not going to worry Canadians these days, so long as their legislatures leave no stone unturned to afford work for our unemployed. And the "stone" herein referred to might possibly prove turnable to good advantage.

ITALIAN RESERVISTS

Ney York, Sept. 20.—The steamer Ancona of the Italian Line left New York today for Genoa with 1,800 Italian reservists aboard, of whom forty came from Philadelphia. The remainder embarked here. These are the first Italian reservists who have departed in a body from this port.

PATRIOTIC RELIEF FUND

The teams in several divisions have about completed their canvass. They have met with encouraging success.

All the teams are urged to complete their work in the week beginning September 21st and to hand in the complete lists by Sept. 29th.

These funds are to care for the wives and families of volunteers who have gone on active service, and of those who, in consequence of the war, are in need of relief.

Large sums will be required to prevent suffering.

Liberal contributions are urgently requested.

W. BULLER, Mayor,
Chairman Patriotic Relief Fund Committee.

EXPLANATION OF HOW PATRIOTIC RELIEF FUNDS WILL BE APPLIED

To the Editor of the Times.

Dear Sir:—Mr. A. Mowat, in a letter published last evening asks two questions.

1. He asks if the fund now being collected will be used to relieve the needs of all classes.

The Fund, as decided at the organization of the Committee by resolution unanimously passed, is to "care for the families of those who have gone on active service in the war and those needing relief in consequence of the war." That does not include all classes. There are a number of persons who are receiving and will need relief apart from the consequences of the war, as there has always been when there was no war, and these cases will be attended to by the city through the Charity Board, as they have been for years. The Fund will be used, as decided, to aid those dependent upon the soldiers on active service and to give relief needed by persons whose need is caused by the war through lack of employment, in consequence of industries being closed or similar causes. The fund will be needed to care for the extraordinary cases calling for relief on account of the war; the City through the Charity Board, will look after other cases as usual.

2. Mr. Mowat asks what amount will be required.

That is a question difficult to answer. So far the Fund has only been used to relieve families of the soldier, and $396.00 has been spent for that purpose, which is at the rate of $132.00 a week. It is expected that when the wives of the soldiers begin to receive their husband's pay the demands upon the Fund for this purpose will not be so heavy. But we do not know when that pay or the Government separation allowance will be received, and not knowing that we cannot tell how long the full demand will continue. Then a number of British reservists went from Peterborough and their families are here The sum they receive from the Government will be much smaller than the amount the Canadians will receive and will probably be longer in coming. There are also one or two families of French reservists who must be provided for. We do know that the requirements for these purposes are and will be large and that some of them at any rate will continue throughout the war, but owing to the circumstances mentioned it is impossible to estimate with any accuracy how much will be required. But it does certainly appear that all that will be subscribed will be needed and more.

It is equally difficult to estimate quential relief. Everyone knows that how much will be required for consesome of our largest factories are running light, and that very many workmen are out of employment. The City has taken strong measures to provide such employment, as it can, but it can only give employment to a comparatively few and cannot continue it through the winter. So far the demands from this source have scarcely begun, but a long winter is coming on with large numbers out of employment and the need will be great. How great can only be told as the demands develop.

That all the help that can be secured will be needed appears evident.

Yours truly,
S. R. ARMSTRONG,
Secretary.

GERMAN HORDE OF INVADERS SLOWLY YIELDING TO BRITISH

Tactics Used at Battle of the Marne Being Employed in Battle Now Raging--Turning of Enemy's Flank Seems To be Task Assigned to British Forces

Paris, Sept. 20.—The Germans are strongly entrenching on the River Aisne, with reinforcements from Lorraine, according to official announcements.

London, Sept. 20.—The British and French assertions that the right wing of the Germanic horde, which stretches across northeastern France, is slowly yielding, indicates that the battle of the Aisne seems likely to follow the course of the battle of the Marne for there it was the German right which first fell back across the river.

Along the 150 mile front, the rear of which is scarred with graves of thousands of lives already sacrificed, two armies comprising millions of never-wrecked men rapidly approaching a stage of exhaustion and standing in trenches deep with water, wait an opportunity to drive a wedge through the opposing line and thus end the terrible strain which must last so long as Emperor William's troops hold their now strongly entrenched positions and so long as the allied forces can face the murderous hail projectiles from the hidden batteries of their opponents.

Both the British and the French realize and admit that it will take almost a superhuman effort to turn the tide, the strength of the German position being emphasized in almost every despatch from the front.

Those in London closely following the war base the chief hope of the allies in a possible development of the German right wing, under Gen. Von Kluck, who heretofore has shown himself a master of strategy. Renewed activity on the part of the allied cavalry and a significant movement of allied troops to the north and west of the German line of communication, together with a possible advance of fresh allied troops from the northwest through Amiens, gives expression to these hopes.

ARREST OF WINNIPEG EDITOR PUBLISHED PROHIBITED NEWS

Winnipeg, Man., Sept. 20.—Knox Magee editor of the Winnipeg Saturday Post, a weekly publication, was taken into custody on orders of the militia department, and is confined in Fort Osborne Barracks for publishing in the current issue of the Post an article criticizing Hon. Sam Hughes, Minister of Militia and Defence, and the arrangements at Valcartier for the despatch of Canadian expeditionary forces. Guards have been placed at the office of publication to prevent further distribution of the issue and it is understood, though militia circles are very reticent, that action will be taken to stop all street and book store sales.

15,000 WOMEN WANT TO SERVE BRITAIN

Interpreters Motorcyclists, and Farm Help Offer Services to Country

London, Sept. 20.—Remarkable timony to the eagerness of which women want to fill the places of men who have been called away from England to fight for their country is given by the Women's Emergency Corps, which under the leadership of the Duchess of Marlborokgh has compiled a register of upward of 15,000 names of women who desire to be of service.

"How diverse the jobs they seek," says Mrs. Flora Annie Steele, in writing of the work of the Women's Emergency Corps, "may be guessed by the entries of over 100 interpreters — none of whom speak less than four languages, and some of them eleven—of more than 200 expert soldiers' women ready at a few hours' notice to serve at home or abroad, and who re quite capable of managing, or working in remount camps. Many of these, having shot and camped all over the world, are eminently suited for rough work. Then there are 150 expert motorcyclists eager for patrol or despatch work, and endless stalwart young women for such jobs as omnibus conductors, milk delivering, gardening, and the farm work that is generally done by lads of 19 or 20. Of course behind and beyond these volunteers comes the great army of nurses, domestic workers, clerical agents, and the numberless well educated intelligent women who are fully capable of shop and general business work. Naturally enough, qualified doctors, nurses and dispensers are drafted out as soon as they come in. The Cooks and domestic servants follow suit, but every day's register points to the fact that we have a mighty agent for the national good.

Will Find Substitutes.

"And so the Women's Emergency Corps feels itself justified in making an offer to the War Office, the Government, and the country at large —namely, that they are prepared to find a paid substitute for any man who enlists, such substitute to guarantee to leave the job on the man's return and to take over the man's belongings as a personal charge, that is to say, while not binding herself to give pecuniary assistance she will see to it that allowances are duly paid, that relief in special circumstances are given, and generally, as far as in her lies, stand as a friend between the man's dependents and the cold world.

New Skin Peeler
In Great Demand

Since the discovery that mercolized wax possesses remarkable absorbent powers when applied to the skin, the demand for it as a complexion renewer has been tremendous. Druggists in every section reports sales as exceeding those of anything similar they have ever had on their shelves.

Ordinary mercolized wax, according to Prof. Hoffman, gently peels off the devitalized cuticle, in minute particles, so that the user gradually loses her old worn-out complexion, the more youthful under-skin taking its place. Cutaneous eruptions, blotches, moth patches, tan and freckles are of course removed at the same time. As the wax is entirely harmless, and easy to use, women all over the country are purchasing it in originalpackages and using it to quickly rejuvenate their complexions. The was is applied to face, neck or hands, the same as cold cream, allowed to remain over night, then washed off with warm water.—National Drug Review.

How the Ant Salutes

Ants have long been known for their excessive industry, says The Family Herald and Weekly Star of Montreal, but from a curious communication which has just appeared they seem to have surpassed all other insects by organizing an elaborate system of signalling. Professor Bugnion, who has recently investigated the habits of the white ant, reports that the "soldiers" of this species give warnings or encouraging signals by knocking with their jaws upon dry leaves, thereby emitting a crackling sound. Placing some of these ants on a big plate and covering it with paper, he found that the "soldiers" among the ants responded to his taps with a rustling, crackling sound.

Moreover, apart from this audible signalling, there appears to be some inaudible form of signal, for the professor asserts that the "soldier" ants salute the worker ants. To do this, "the insect stands firmly on its legs with the head raised and the body slightly oblique, and shakes itself for an instant with a convulsive shudder. This seems to mean something."

CHAS. F. NILES

Until recently almost unknown among airmen, Chas. F. Niles took rank among the world's most daring flyers in feats he performed at the Garden City aviation field, near New York. Wearing a leather harness to keep him from spilling out of his machine, Niles flew half a mile upside down, his engine stopped, dependent on the air pressure from below to throw up the tail of his descending monoplane till it became vertical, and the gasoline flowing into the mechanism, made the motor hum again.

The Hotel's Curse

A curious story is being told of a big London hotel which is now beating records for prosperity. When it was building all manner of mischances piled up the bill of costs and things continued to go wrong.

One of the directors, with some belief in the occult, inquired into the history of the land on which the building stood, and found that it had once belonged to a monastic community whose abbot, on being expelled, had solemnly cursed the ground and declared that no enterprise connected with it should prosper.

Ascertaining that a monastery of the same order existed in Devonshire, the director went thither and prevailed on the abbot to go through the form of removing the curse. His fellow-directors laughed when he told them the story, but the hotel has prospered ever since.

DIRECTION FINDER

New Wireless Device to Increase the Safety of Ocean Traffic

During a recent passage of the Royal George of the Canadian Northern line, across the Atlantic a series of demonstrations was given of the possibilities of a new wireless aid to navigation. The new device is classified as a "direction finder." Its duty is to seek out all wireless stations, whether stationary or in motion—or in other words on coast line or high seas, within a radius of fifty miles and to indicate for the guidance of the navigating officers the exact relation of the ship to these in terms of latitude and longitude. Its sphere of usefulness, even in the present experimental stage, is to assist the captain during "thick" weather, in maintaining a clear course in the travelled ocean "lanes" in passing points, and in making port. Like many inventions to mankind this wireless finder is remarkable for its simplicity. Although one of Marconi's engineers, Signor Emilio Ichino, came out on the "Royal George" to make the tests, its operation does not require an expert and any of the bridge officers can obtain a bearing as easily as with a compass and just as conveniently, the instruments being set up in the chart room.

Both the Marconi engineer, Signor Emilio Ichino, and the Captain of the "Royal George," expressed themselves on arrival at Quebec as highly pleased with the experiments which had been made on the voyage. The instrument had been accurate to a degree of detecting the compass direction of other stations whether on shore or on other vessels. They had been able to ascertain the compass position of Cape Ray, Father Point and the ships Columbia, Calgarian and Sicilian. The Columbia had been 63 miles away, the Calgarian 53 and the Sicilian 18. Both men were confident that neither wind, wave or fog would affect the accuracy of the new wireless device.

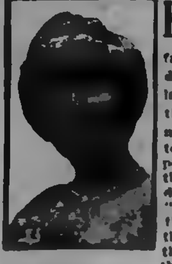
Beauty Hints

The Best Time to Aid Beauty Is Bed Time

By Lucrezia Bori

Prima Donna of the Metropolitan Opera Company, New York.

Special arrangements have been made with Senorita Lucresia Bori, the famous prima donna soprano, who has created a wonderful impression in Europe and New York on account of her remarkable beauty and artistic attainment, to write for this paper a series of articles on beauty. There is probably no authority her equal in giving the newest and most approved methods of attaining and preserving "the divine right of woman."



LUCREZIA BORI

HOW do you go to bed? Happy and carefree, or worried and disturbed? Do you lay your head on the pillow with a mind at peace, determined to get all possible good out of the night's rest? Or do you take the "cares that infest the day" over into the night, and turn the sweet dreams that are your due into hideous nightmares? If you can't wipe the slate clean of the day's worries when you go to bed, you have no right to expect to rise with radiant face.

Don't complain if you are heavy-eyed and dull-witted, with sallow skin and lack of ambition. Worrying all night over the work of the day never made any one beautiful, healthy, wise or rich. How can you help it? By calling mind to the rescue and letting common sense act.

How will worry help your work? How will staying awake all night solve the problems or lighten the labor of the day ahead?

The only excuse for worry of the day that is past is failure in application or honesty of effort. Determine to do better. Then stop worrying.

Night is the psychological time for beauty culture. It is the time for erasing the care-lines of the day, and making ready for rebuilding. It is a time of recuperation, of gaining strength, of repairing nerves.

If you want to rise with a sunshiny face, go to sleep with a mind freed from bitterness. Put away all "envy, hatred and malice." Set yourself at peace with the world, yourself and your fellow-men.

Take some simple exercise for the relaxation of tense muscles. Don't say you are too tired, and tumble into bed with the 'tired' thought. You have to breathe, whether you are tired or not. Twenty-five deep breaths will quiet nerves, start the circulation, loosen the tension of body and mind. A warm bath will do as much good as an hour's sleep.

Brush your hair with long, even strokes, breathing rythmically meanwhile. Massage the scalp. It will clear your head, and take away the feeling of being "bound with bands," which is the sign of a tired brain.

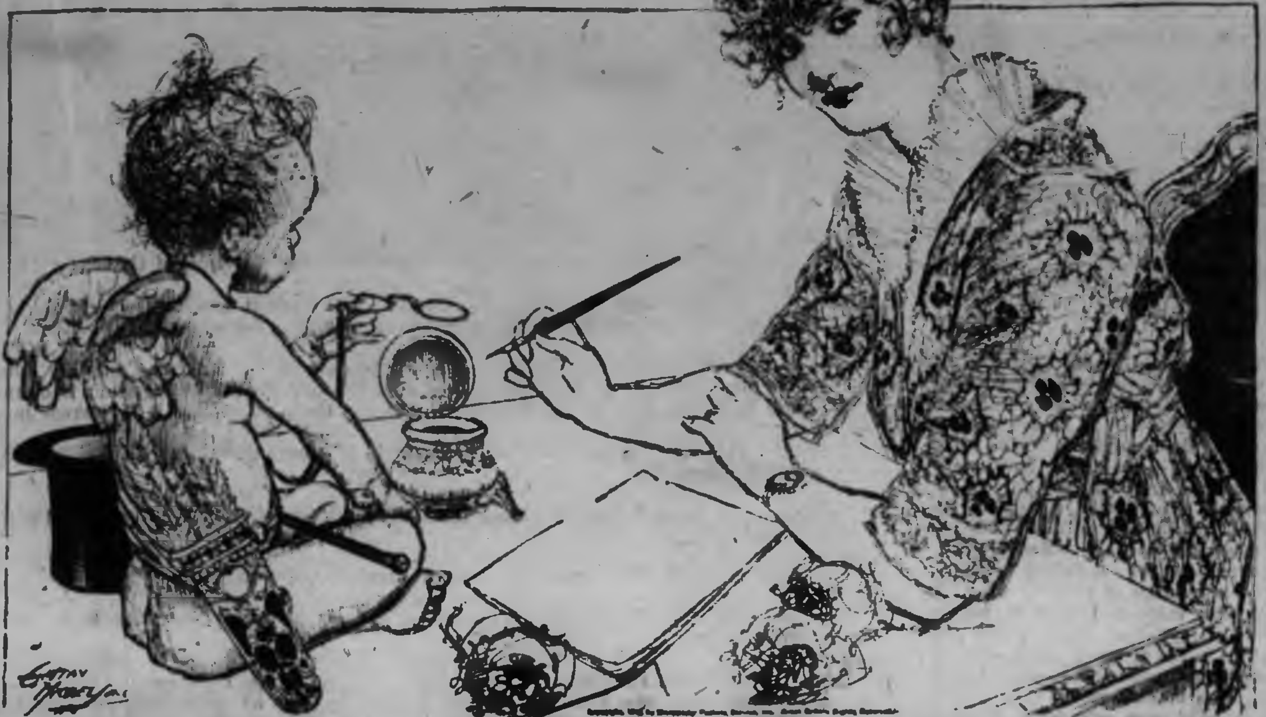
Sit before your mirror in a strong light and carefully smooth out all lines of worry, of petulance, of unhappiness. Work over the lines about the eyes and across the brow with some simple emollient. I have given dozens of recipes. If, however, you want a specific for wrinkles, try this:

> Half an ounce each of lanolin and cocoanut oil, a quarter of an ounce each of white wax and spermacetti, one ounce of oil of sweet almonds. Melt together and while stirring add half an ounce of orange flower water and a few drops of benzoin.

Brush the eyebrows into an arch. Massage the hands with a nourishing and whitening lotion. Push the cuticle back from the finger nails and gently pinch the finger tips into shape.

Brush your teeth, rinse your mouth and then consider its expression. Dispel all peevishness. Think pleasant thoughts. With happiness and peace in your heart, seek your pillow, and sleep the sleep of the just. Give "nature's sweet restorer" a chance to "knit up the ravelled sleeve of care."

TAKING DICTATION : : : By Michelson



"MISS WILLING," says the Boss, "will you please take some dictation?" Certainly. It is Miss Willing's job in thousands of offices all over the country. And the Boss proceeds with his unromantic commercial epistle.

But Miss Willing writes other letters that are SUPPOSED to be all her own. Her HEART goes into these letters—or as much of it as seems prudent at the moment. She doesn't know how often Master Cupid, the most dominating boss of all, is sitting there calmly telling her WHAT to write. She doesn't know that she is "taking dictation" at all, which only goes to show how clever Cupid is. The fact is that he dictates so softly and beautifully and plausibly that it is EASY for any writer to get down what he says if she once gets under his spell.

Of course, she signs HER name, you know! It would never do to divulge the real DICTATOR!

A Poet's Sweetheart

Petrarch was one of the unfortunate poet lovers. One day in the Church of St. Claire, in Avignon, he met Mme. de Sade, better known as "Laura," a delightful blonde whose soft dark eyes contrasted strangely, yet coquettishly, with the pale golden hair that rippled in ringlets over her white forehead. This dainty dame was of noble birth, enjoyed a high social standing, and was considered the belle of the entire sunny South of those days.

The Italian poet fell helplessly and hopelessly in love with the French beauty. He wrote in her honor hundreds of sonnets full of the choicest tenderness, in which he described his sweetheart's mental and physical charms, and vowed that never lived a fairer woman than she. Yet she was obdurate to his suit, though she confessed herself pleased with his society. She was by nature fond of admiration, and she felt proud of the fact that she had won the devotion of one of the greatest poets of the age. Wherever she promenaded, whether in the parks or streets, she heard the gossips murmur as she passed: "There goes the beloved of Petrarch."

Laura was platonically fond of her poet, but no amount of poetry could induce her to bestow a warmer affection upon him. She died of the plague in 1348. Her death was a rude shock to Petrarch, who still loved her, and mourned her loss for the remaining 26 years of his life.

Peter's Adventures in Matrimony

By LEONA DALRYMPLE

Author of the new novel, "Diane of the Green Van," awarded a prize of $10,000 by Ida M. Tarbell and S. S. McClure as judges.

The truth about "the girl in the case" distinguishes this new series by Miss Dalrymple. Her character studies will not appear unfamiliar to the majority of readers, who will follow the fortunes of "Peter" with interest.

Fainting Awake.

LEONA DALRYMPLE

HALF way across the street I met my wife with a shawl over her head.

"What's the trouble?" she demanded wildly. "Annie telephoned that mother was in hysterics, and that they had had to have the doctor. Oh, Peter, what have you done?"

"I've told your mother some plain truths," said I, "and I'm not sorry."

Oh, yes, I was a brute. I know that very well. I should have had some sympathy for a woman in hysterics, but I haven't. I'm too accustomed to Mrs. Penfield's brand of hysterics. She can turn them off and on at will. They're never spontaneous. Whenever my mother-in-law wishes to arouse a furore of sympathy and excitement she goes into hysterics, the maid phones for the doctor and Mr. Penfield, and, believe me, things hum.

Mary was so excited and upset that I went back with her. I'd reached the "What's the use?" state now and was quite calm. I expected Mary to turn furiously on me and tell me what she thought of me, but she merely rushed on across the street with me at her heels and into the house. Mrs. Penfield was still by the fire, wildly wringing her hands and sobbing and screaming. When she saw Mary she held out her arms and redoubled her spasm. When she saw me she let out a hysterical wail and closed her eyes.

"Mother," said Mary in great distress, "do please try to calm yourself."

Mrs. Penfield merely rocked back and forth and demanded why she had ever been born.

I wondered, too. We had a wild time. The doctor drove up in his car, and, next, Mr. Penfield arrived. He wasn't half so worried as one might have expected. He, too, was used to these cyclonic spells that might be turned off and on at will.

If I had been furious before I was hopelessly disgusted now. I have never seen a woman force hysterics as Mrs. Penfield did. I have learned since that it is a frequent trick of highly sentimental, emotional types. Any doctor can detect the genuine kind. I suspected from the doctor's air that inwardly he was none too patient.

Mrs. Penfield, of course, in time tired herself out and we had a rest. Then she complicated the situation again by fainting.

This time I was genuinely alarmed, for Mrs. Penfield talks some at times of having a temperamental heart. But the doctor didn't look worried in the least.

My mother-in-law moaned and groaned and faintly articulated something. Mr. Penfield went out of the room to get the spirits of ammonia for which she had asked. Mary was wildly chafing her mother's hands. The doctor drew me aside and looked at me keenly. He's a young chap who frequently helps Dad out with his patients and always takes his night calls.

"Don't look so glum, Peter," he said. "These talking faints that women have never amount to a great deal."

And I learned something new of the opposite sex. Women sometimes faint and talk!

"You can't mean it," I said to the doctor.

He shrugged.

"Of course," he said, "you can't really faint and talk—but you can pass away in spirit at least and keep one eye on the company to see how they take it. Mind I'm not saying Mrs. Penfield does that. But it is a trick of emotional women who want sympathy for fainting and are too darned healthy to experience the real thing."

Mystery—thy name is woman!

The Good Night Story

The Three Clever Boys :: By Vernon Merry

THERE was once an old man who had three sons. All his property and money was in the form of one house, so how could he, without selling it, divide that one house equally among three sons? He thought a long time and then he called his sons to him.

He told them that he could not decide and, therefore, they must go out and each one learn a trade. The boy that brought him evidence of the greatest mastery of his trade should have the house for his own.

The eldest boy became a blacksmith, and so well did he work that soon he secured the post of horseshoer to the King. He felt sure that he would win the house.

The second boy became a barber, and he was so fine a workman that he shaved the King every day. He was positive that he would be given the house.

The youngest boy became a fencing master and was so very clever with his sword that he taught the King's son the art of fencing. Naturally, he, too, felt that he had done well.

The time came when the three brothers went together to their father to show him the mastery they had gained in their professions. While they were talking together a runaway horse came tearing down the village street. "Watch me!" cried the oldest boy, and he ran out and took that horse's shoes off and replaced them, without stopping him at all. It was so wonderful that his father wanted to give him the house right away

But a hare came running along and the second boy pulled out his razor and lather brush, and lathered and shaved the hare's whiskers without stopping him at all, or cutting any other hairs than the whiskers. They were all so amazed that the house seemed surely his.

But just then it began to rain. The youngest boy drew his sword and made such swift passes through the air that not one drop fell upon his father or his two brothers. Although it poured in torrents, the three were kept dry by the moving sword.

They all agreed that his feat was the most wonderful and so his father gave him the house.

Useful Hints for the Housewife

By Ann Marie Lloyd

SUMMERTIME is sandwich time. Nothing more acceptable can be prepared for the children's midday lunch, for the porch tea, or the informal evening entertainment than these delicious oddities.

The wise housekeeper has plenty of sandwich secrets at her command. Sandwich-making has improved since the day they were invented to give the Earl of Sandwich nourishment without compelling him to leave the gaming table.

The earl was an inveterate gamester, and would rebel against leaving his game long enough to eat dinner. One day, after repeated urging to attend to his eating, he ordered slices of bread and meat to be brought that he might eat and play at the same time. The modern sandwich had its beginning.

There are only two rules to follow in making sandwiches. One is to have the bread cut thin. The other is to have the filling well seasoned. There are sandwich cutters to be had for a few cents, which make it possible to vary the form of this dainty.

Dates and English walnuts make a delicious sandwich mixture. Chop and sprinkle the mixture over bread which has been spread with cream cheese softened with cream.

Chopped figs and nuts will appeal to the children, and, used with brown bread, are nourishing.

Bits of chopped chicken may be mixed with mayonnaise and will make acceptable dainties for the summer supper table.

A delicious chicken sandwich filling, one especially good used with whole wheat bread, is made with one cup of chopped chicken, one cup of chopped almonds, moistened with cream and seasoned with salt and pepper.

Cheese fillings are sure to be well received. Cream two tablespoonfuls of butter and mix it with half a cup of grated cheese, two tablespoons anchovy paste, half a cup chopped olives, season with salt, paprika, and a bit of mustard and press between thin slices of white bread.

For those who like high seasoning, sliced tomatoes with a dressing of mayonnaise and horseradish, in equal quantities, will be encored. Such sandwiches are better served between whole wheat or brown bread.

Graham bread with egg filling is delicious. Chop two hard boiled eggs and mix with mayonnaise until of the spreading consistency.

Sardines, boned and reduced to a paste, seasoned with a little mayonnaise, and spread on a leaf of lettuce and served between thin white bread are good

For the tea, when daintiness counts for more than mere substantiality, try sprigs of mint or nasturtium flowers pressed between dainty forms of bread which is spread with mayonnaise. Numerous fillings will occur to the one who prepares the sandwiches, for there is something about this form of simple food which inspires originality.

Curious Meanings of River Names

Hudson river was named for Henry Hudson. The Indians called it Mahakeneghtuc, "the flowing water," and other appropriate names. Gomez called it St. Anthony's river, and to the Dutch it was known as Mauritius river, in honor of Prince Maurice of Holland

The Brandywine was first named the Fishkill. Bunce says that the stream was renamed by the Dutch to commemorate the loss at its mouth of a vessel loaded with brandy. Another authority says the name was given on account of a famous distillery on its banks.

The Colorado river was named by the Spaniards from a word in their language meaning ruddy or red, an allusion to the tint of the water. La Salle first named the river Maligne, misfortune, one or two of his party having been drowned in its current.

The Ohio was so-called from an Iroquois word Ohee, meaning "beautiful." It appears on various early maps as the Albacha, Cubach, O-o, Ochio, Sabogunga, Causisseppione, Kitono-cepe, Ohuipeekhanna, Ohui, Opeek, Alliwege-Sepe, Oheeuk, Hohio and Youghiogheny.

The Illinois river was so termed from the Illini, a tribe of Indians on its banks. Another derivation is suggested in Isle aux Noix, Island of Nuts. Several derivations more or less fanciful are suggested by the etymologists and geographers.

The French Broad, in North Carolina, was called by the Indians Tockyaste, "the little roarer." It received its present name from the early settlers, who called it so on account of its width at one place, and because the country to the west was then claimed by the French.

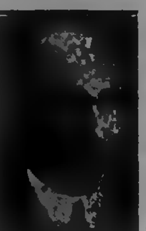
Secrets of Health and Happiness

How to Nurse Your Child Through Scarlet Fever.

By Dr. LEONARD KEENE HIRSHBERG

A. B., M. A., M. D. (Johns Hopkins).



DR. HIRSHBERG

NOW that smallpox, thanks to compulsory vaccination, has become a rarity in civilized communities, scarlet fever steps forward as the worst of the eruptive diseases of childhood.

It remains a puzzle unsolved, and an enemy unconquered. We are in doubt as to its cause, and there is as yet no drug or anti-toxin that will cure it. Yet the death rate from scarlet fever is steadily declining, and we may expect it to decline more and more as the years go by. The reason for this, I take it, lies in the fact that the modern doctor is a great deal more sparing with pills and powder than his predecessor, and a great deal more lavish with water, air and antiseptics.

Though the exact cause of scarlet fever is still far from certain, there is no doubt whatever that it will be determined with absolute accuracy within a few years. A large number of competent observers have come to the conclusion that the causative agent must be a minute parasite closely related to that which produces malaria.

An attack of scarlet fever may begin a day or so after the patient has been exposed to contagion, and then again there may be an incubation period of a week or even more. Several years ago, in the course of my practice, I visited a family in which there were four bad cases. Next day I left the city and remained away for a full week. On the day of my return I fell ill with the disease, and a very severe attack was immediately in progress. In this case the incubation period seems to have been no less than eight days.

The First Symptoms.

Scarlet fever usually begins with chills, rising fever, headache, loss of appetite and pains in the limbs, and sometimes, particularly in very young children, with convulsions. A sore throat and painful tonsils next afflict the patient, and at the end of a day or so the characteristic red rash appears. This commonly begins around the neck, and over the chest, and at the start consists of tiny scarlet blotches the size of pinheads. The blotches soon run together and the whole surface of the body becomes a brilliant red. The membranes of the mouth become swollen and take on the so-called "raspberry" appearance.

Despite the almost universal notion, there is no crisis in scarlet fever. A crisis, in medicine, means a sudden change in, or terminating of, symptoms. In scarlet fever, the fever does not cease suddenly, but slowly. This is called a termination by lysis, which is the very reverse of crisis. When the fever goes down—usually about the fifth day—the scarlet rash begins to disappear, and the skin of the patient peels off.

Whenever it is possible a trained nurse should be engaged, and in any event the doctor's orders should be obeyed with scrupulous exactness. Nothing could be more foolish than the common custom of seeking advice in such emergencies from grandmothers, neighbors who have "pulled their own children through" and other well-meaning, but blundering "experts" of that species.

Good nursing means not only intelligent care of the patient, and a capacity for quick and accurately recognizing threatening complications, but also intelligent efforts to prevent a spread of the infection. Scarlet fever is one of the most contagious of known maladies, and in achieving an effective quarantine of his patients the cautious physician often takes measures which, to the layman, may seem almost ridiculously elaborate.

Disease Very Contagious.

When one of your children develops the disease, put it to bed in a large and airy room, preferably on the top floor of the house, and prepare another room nearby into which the child may be taken when the sick-room proper is being aired and cleaned. Take all unnecessary furnishings out of both rooms. Under this heading come carpets, rugs, pictures, draperies and ornaments. In the sick-room a bed for the patient and a chair and table for the nurse are about all that may be called needful. A plain clothes-rack will suffice for holding the necessary changes of bed-clothes.

If it is at all possible, send the other children of the household to some relative's home, and keep them away from school for a week. If they are apparently well at the end of that time, it will be safe to let them go back to school. If sending them away is out of the question, and they must remain in the house, keep them away from all other children until the patient upstairs is well. They may take the disease at any time, even in the face of careful precautions, and you certainly would be greatly grieved to see them carry it to their fellow-pupils and playmates.

If you nurse your child yourself, you must make up your mind to an entire separation from the other children in the house for a period of at least six weeks. Your bedroom should be next to or very near that of the patient, of course, but I cannot advise your sleeping in the sick-chamber itself. Besides increasing the chances of infection, this practice results in unduly vitiating the air of the room. The oxygen that you consume is needed by the child, for in a sick-room the supply of oxygen is never too ample.

The Amateur Nurse.

With proper treatment the patient should be quiet enough to give you a reasonable amount of sleep, but you must school yourself to awaken easily in order that you may look after its nocturnal wants. It is highly important that you go out every day, for an hour or so, for fresh air and exercise, and during this time some one else must be on guard. This assistant nurse, during her stay in the sick-room, should wear a long coat and a dust cap over her hair as a safeguard. You yourself, on leaving the sick-room, should make a complete change of clothes, and wash your face and hands thoroughly. The clothes you wear outside should be kept in an anteroom.

The doctor will give you detailed instructions as to the care of the patient. The little sufferer will probably be greatly annoyed by the discharges from the nose, throat and ears, and these must constantly be looked to. Instead of a handkerchief or napkin for keeping it clean, use small bits of the absorbent cotton sold everywhere. This cotton is cheap, it has been sterilized and its application is not irritating. Every piece should be burned immediately after it has been used.

After the fever goes down and the child's skin begins to shed, it will suffer greatly from itching. This can be relieved by rubbing the body very gently with carbolated vaseline. During this stage the child should be bathed often in cold lime water or in water which contains a small amount of ordinary baking soda. Hot baths are to be avoided, but the water may be warm enough, as the phrase goes, "to take off the chill." Do not attempt to help matters by pulling off the pieces of loose skin. They will drop off themselves, just as soon as the new skin beneath them is hard enough to be exposed.

How to Disinfect.

Scarlet fever is most contagious from the third to the seventh day, but its contagiousness does not disappear entirely for a long while after that. Until the shedding of the skin and the discharge from the ears have quite ceased, no person, save the doctor and the nurses, should be permitted to approach the patient, and in any case the period of quarantine should be at least six weeks.

If you have had scarlet fever in childhood you need not fear for your own health, but even if you haven't, your chances of taking it are small. It is, in fact, rare among adults, but all the same it is well to adopt precautions.

After the patient has recovered, the sick-room should be thoroughly cleansed; and this means cleansed in the surgical, and not in the common, sense. In large cities the work is best entrusted to the health department. When such experts are not available, the floor, walls and ceiling should be mopped again and again with a solution of corrosive sublimate, and the windows should be thrown wide open. It is always best to have the wall paper scraped off.

There is no reason to fear the worst when the doctor's verdict is scarlet fever. In all maladies you should remember that the death rate is kept up by the enormous number of deaths among the children of the very poor.

Advice to Girls

By ANNIE LAURIE

Dear Annie Laurie;

I am a schoolgirl, and will soon be 15 years old, and there are three boys and I like the three of them.

They talk quite a lot to me and call me very nice names, and say I am pretty and they love me.

Especially one: he teases me, and sometimes, I get mad at him. But I couldn't stay mad with him if I tried. Do you think I am too young to have anything to do with him?

CUTEY.

WHY, you foolish little schoolgirl, you, you can't even spell quite correctly, and then you want to know whether you are old enough to choose a sweetheart.

Go on letting the three boys talk "quiet" a little to you, and have a good time with them but don't let them make a goose of you calling you such very nice names and pretending that they love you so dearly. Any boy anywhere near your age who is so very glib with very nice names is not in earnest. A 15-year-old boy doesn't talk when he's in love; he'd like to, but he can't.

When he's just fooling he can talk—a lot—and he does, and that's what they are doing with you, these three boys you like so very well.

They are just making fun of you, little girl, and they talk about you to each other; oh yes, they do. You are no different from any other girl who allows boys to make a goose of her.

I'm glad you're pretty and I'm glad you're sweet. Keep your beauty and your sweetness for some one who will really appreciate them. And don't waste them now before you realize what they really mean.

Annie Laurie

Miss Laurie will welcome letters of inquiry on subjects of feminine interest from young women readers of this paper and will reply to them in these columns. They should be addressed to her, care of this office.

HAD ALL HIS POCKETS CRAMMED WITH LOOT

Paris, Sept. 18.—One of the wounded. The Germans have endeavored to American Hospital yesterday has his pockets crammed with articles, making a package, when it was all tied up, measuring about eighteen inches square. Among them were fifty pocket books, a string of pearls and many small articles of jewelry.

The Germans are kept in a separate ward and a guard is maintained at each door in the fear that some of the Turcos in the hospital might attack them.

DR. J. M. LAMB WORKS WITH BROKEN NECK

New Orleans, Sept. 18.—There is a man in New Orleans with a broken neck—he walks the streets, does his work and feels as chipper as ever, he says. His neck has been broken for nine weeks. He found it out three weeks ago.

The man is Dr. J.M. Lamb of the United States Marine Hospical Service in the Customhouse.

When Dr. Lamb realized that his neck was not working exactly right he had an X-ray picture taken and discovered that his neck was broken. Then Dr. Lamb invented a steel collar. He strapped this around his neck and strengthened it with a cement wall.

MAIL CLERKS JAILED IN CADDO "HOLD-UP"

Shreveport, La., Sept. 18.—The two negro mail clerks, who reported that their mail car on a Kansas City Southern train was robbed late Saturday night, were arrested here today, charged with rifling the mail pouches.

Their names are T.L. Anderson and J.S. Vaughn. According to the negroes a white man entered their car at "Hobo Crossing," just outside the city, and after compelling them to stick their heads into sacks until ordered to remove them, left the car with all the registered mail.

The amount taken was estimated to have been small.

Tightens Her Skin—Loses Her Wrinkles

"I want to tell you how easily I got rid of my wrinkles," writes Luella March. "While in London a friend, much envied because of her youthful looks, gave me a formula for a home-made preparation which has the effect of instantly tightening the skin, thus smoothing out wrinkles and furrows.

"The principal ingredient is powdered saxolite, which can be had at drug stores here. An ounce of saxolite is dissolved in a half pint witch hazel. After bathing my face in this but once the transformation was so marvelous I looked years younger. Even the deep crow's feet were affected, and the annoying creases about my neck. It seems difficult to believe anything could produce such results. Several to whom I recommended the recipe have been similarly helped, one an elderly lady whose cheeks had become quite baggy."—Social Mirror.

Our Point of View

The two men best deserving of the title, "the right man in the right place," are Lord Kitchener and General French.

—o—

When the German troops begin to retreat through Germany it will be difficult to keep up that bluff about "glorious victories."

—o—

General French has added his testimony as to acts of barbarism committed by the Germans. Germany will be disgraced as well as beaten, because Kaiserism is a plague.

—o—

The indemnity paid to Germany by France in 1871 was five milliard francs ($1,000,000,000) and the whole of it was paid in three years. Will Germany be able to do as well after the present war?

—o—

In a speech at London recently Mr. Churchill struck a fine note of patriotism when he said he would be just as confident of success if the Allies had suffered the reverse instead of the Germans.

—o—

The Kaiser's charge that the Allies are using the dum-dum bullet has been refuted by both Great Britain and France. Can he, in turn, refute the charge that airships under his direction threw down bombs on women and children?

—o—

Those interested in the Canadian preserving industry state that their factories are now running full time, and will continue to do so, owing to the embargo put up by Great Britain upon the export of jams. That would seem like a good reason why the Canadian jam markets should enter upon a country-wide advertising propaganda. Now is the time to make Canada's goods known. When they are known they will hold the home market, jammed.

Kaiser William Alone Responsible

Further light upon the negotiations between the rival Powers out of which started the present European war is contributed by the White Paper just published in London containing the experience of Sir Maurice de Bunsen, British Ambassador at Vienna. Since the original ultimatum which touched the match to the gunpowder first came from Vienna, the published documents relating to what happened there prior to the war are of primary interest. The British Ambassador's testimony, backed up by the documents, supplies further evidence that Kaiser William of Germany was responsible alone for the present war.

According to Sir Maurice de Bunsen the controversy between Vienna and Petrograd which arose from the despatch of an intensely provocative ultimatum by Austria to Servia was already settled when the matter was transferred to Berlin. This rings true to what is known of the reputation of Count Berchtold, Austria's foreign minister. He has shown himself to be one of the most sagacious and dispassionate of European diplomats. That he should be a party to starting war in which Germany and Austria would find themselves arrayed against the rest of Europe seems most unlikely, and it is a reasonable solution of the problem to surmise that he was overridden for the moment in the councils of Austria when the provocative ultimatum was forwarded, and later did all in his power to stem the tide. But the interest and passion of the German Emperor had been aroused, and it was he that kept the flame burning.

From the British Ambassador's statement, it is plain that if Germany had shown any disposition to parley, if she had been content, as Russia appears to have been content, to leave the matter to arbitration as between Austria and Servia without forcing an issue between Russia and herself, this war would have been nipped in the bud. But after the matter between Russia and Austria had been patched up, the German Emperor deliberately and designedly opened up the quarrel again, and brought on the war.

Count Berchtold was too wise a man to enter this quarrel allied with Germany only against the rest of Europe. He is the man who for many years solved the very peculiar difficulties of the problem of ruling the Dual Monarchy. He is the man whose sagacity kept Italy in the Triple Alliance. It is plain from what has just come to light that only the ruthlessness of the German Emperor, against which he was powerless, povoked the big issue. At the time of the Balkan war, Russia warned Austria that any aggressive move by her against Servia would be interpreted as a move against Russia and Berchtold kept Austria from interfering, thus gaining for himself bitter unpopularity amongst the jingo party in Austria. It is simply unthinkable that any man with such a record would have deliberately lighted the flame which now threatens to engulf both Germany and Austria. His whole policy has been founded upon basic principles as sane as were the principles of Bismarck.

After this latest evidence of the Kaiser's perfidy, he will have a harder time to prove, against the mass of evidence, actual and circumstantial, that he did not cause the war, to which he had been preparing since he mounted the throne of the German Empire.

Lame Back Strengthened, Stiffness Taken Right Out

Was Relieved in An Hour, and Cured in a Night

A lame back? Quite unnecessary. All you have to do is to rub on Nerviline. It's simply a wonder for backache—relieves after one rubbing. "Nothing possibly could cure an aching back faster than Nerviline," writes Mrs. Arthur Kobar of Lower Chelsea, N.S. "I caught cold and was so prostrated with pain I could not bend over. We always have Nerviline at home, and I had the painful region rubbed thoroughly with this grand liniment. At once the pain departed. The lameness was rapidly reduced and in an hour I was able to be about my housework. I was rubbed again just before retiring, and awoke as usual in the morning without a sign of my back trouble."

There is no sort of muscular pain that Nerviline won't cure quickly. Thousands swear by it for rheumatism, neuralgia, sciatica and lumbago. It sinks to the core of the pain—right through muscle, tissue and nerve—it penetrates where no oily greasy liniment can go and invariably cures quickly. If you have an ache or a pain anywhere—use Nerviline—it will cure you. Family size bottle, very large 50c; trial size 25c, at all dealers.

LORD KINCHENER SAYS THE WAR IS SURE TO BE LENGTHY

Speaking in the British House of Lords Field Marshal Earl Kitchener revealed the strength of the British expeditionary force in France, and described what he believed must be done to assure a successful issue of the conflict. A steady flow of reinforcements was required, he said.

There were already in France, the Secretary of War said, rather more than six divisions of British troops and two divisions of cavalry, which were being maintained at their full strength (a total of about 175,000). Further regular divisions and additional cavalry were being organized from units drawn from overseas garrisons, which were now being occupied by territorials and volunteers. A division of territorials already had left for Egypt, a brigade had gone to Malta, and a garrison force to Gibraltar.

Referring to the two new armies, the Secretary said that new divisions were now being collected at the training quarters. The third army was being formed on the new camping ground, and the fourth army was being created. Meantime Indian divisions were on their way.

Tribute to French.

In his despatches from the front Sir John French, commander of the British expeditionary force, had omitted, the Secretary continued, one aspect of the situation—"the consummate skill and calm courage of the commander himself."

Earl Kitchener spoke in the highest eulogistic terms regarding Sir John French, the British commander-in-chief, who, he said, has met every difficulty presented by the situation in a manner that proved his worth as a soldier.

"Thanks to his superb leadership," continued the War Secretary, "the British army has been able at all times to fight a fight that has thrown terror into the enemy. Nothing has been wanting. His every move has shown that he has foreseen what was to come, and has so distributed his forces that the strongest German blows have sent their weight without bringing the disaster their authors had planned."

Tribute to All Ranks.

Earl Kitchener also paid a tribute to the other generals, and the bravery and endurance of the officers and men of the expeditionary force. The latest advices from General French did not materially change the situation as it was already known from published statements. The troops were reported to be in good heart and ready to move forward "when the moment arrived."

On the subject of recruiting Earl Kitchener said: "A country which prides itself on outdoor sport as does England should have no difficulty in finding men capable of making officers. The territorials are making great strides in efficiency, and before long will be able to take their part in the campaign. Meanwhile reserve units are being sent to augment the expeditionary force, and their places are being filled by territorials.

Bound to Be Lengthy.

"While England has good ground for quiet confidence it should be borne in mind that the struggle is bound to be a long one, and it behooves us to develop armed forces to carry on and bring the mighty conflict to a successful conclusion. It will be necessary in order to keep the army at its full strength to maintain a steady flow of reinforcements."

ROUMANIA MAY NOW RISE TO AID RUSSIA

Washington, Sept. 20.—Possibilities of Roumania entering the European conflict on the side of Russia are reported in brief official advices today from neutral observers in Bucharest. No reasons were given for probable action of Roumania.

Bulgaria, likewise, is reported showing strong sympathies for Russia.

On the receipt of news of Russian victories in Austria a few days ago, there were big demonstrations against Austria throughout Bulgaria, which had to be suppressed by the police.

Advices similarly show that Italy is having considerable difficulty in suppressing popular demonstrations in favor of the triple entente.

NICK ALTROCK A WARNING

Nick Altrock, the former Toronto and major league pitcher, who found it necessary to take a job piling lumber for a living in Chicago stands as a shining example to the youngsters breaking into the big leagues. Nick could to-day be fooling the batsmen as in other days, but he liked the Bohemian life, not wisely but too well. As a member of the Boston and Chicago clubs he was heralded as one of the best of the southpaws. But Nick built his shrine within the glare of the red lights, and it was easy come, easy go with him. What a contrast between Altrock and Eddie Plank! Eight seasons sees Altrock piling lumber. Thirteen years witness Plank standing a perhaps the threshold of a greater career than even he has known.

HOCKEY AS OF OLD

The Grand Old Game of Shinny Was Every Boy's Sport

Hockey is fast becoming a major sport in colleges, but it was always a major sport of boyhood. It was called shinny then, and the rules were not complicated, nor was team play always conspicuous. Rather was it a game in which the individual shone. But the same qualities of speed, control and accuracy were required of the successful player, and the same reverberant roar of the ice under a rush of runners sang like a battle hymn in the ears!

The sticks we made ourselves were cut in the woods, preferably of oak or ash, and it required long search to find a young sapling which had made a freak growth from the ground so that a bit of the root or the first six inches of the tree was at a sufficient angle to the stem. A good, natural stick was a treasured possession, and one never went skating without it. You hung your skates from it on your way to the pond. You used it to [illegible] over the [illegible] when you [illegible] it was a club to test the strength of new ice with or [illegible] over the brook when you were thirsty. If you condescended to "skate double" with a girl, you [illegible] your hands with [illegible] upon it. And finally, of course you must needs have it by you when the cry arose, "Shinny, come on an' choose up sides!"

The goals were made by placing two stones four or five feet apart. The two captains, elected by the rough democracy of boyhood, chose up sides, and everybody skated to the bank to deposit his overcoat or muffler. Usually the smallest boy on each side was put in goal, not because that was the wisest proceeding, but because he was least able to object, it being considered far more desirable to be out in the rush line. Sometimes there were twenty boys on a side, big fellers and little fellers, and when the ball was put in play you heard the rush and roar of all their runners and the clashing of their sticks as each individual player tried to get the ball into his possession and nurse it, dodging and doubling, toward the enemy's goal. We knew nothing of the science of passing in those days.

There were no periods. We played till we were exhausted, or early December twilight overtook us. Breathing spaces were afforded when a missed shot for goal sped past the mark and rolled a quarter of a mile up the pond. Or else it rolled in shore on the thin ice amid the weeds, and one or two boys crept warily after it while the rest panted not far off, ready to pounce again as soon as it was recovered.

These were thrilling matches, in which victory counted for little, since the score was forgotten the next day and the teams chosen anew, but in which no boy was too small to participate, and the best skater kept the ball.—W. P. Eaton, in Outing.

Antiseptic Varnish

Dr. Dubard, of Dijon, invented an antiseptic varnish, to take the place of surgeons' operating gloves.

The operator, after washing his hands with soap and then in alcohol, steeps them in a mixture composed of essence of juniper berries and an alcoholised solution of menthol.

The evaporation of this mixture, which takes place rapidly, leaves a sort of protecting and antiseptic varnish behind. Unlike the operating glove, the varnish in no way affects the surgeon's delicacy of touch.

Foxhunting in France used to provide the professional humorist and the comic artist with fine material, but in recent years Frenchmen have taken up hunting very seriously, and now France has at least fifty packs that hunt the fox and the hare and the deer and the wild boar, and show excellent sport into the bargain.

Granite in British Columbia

An important matter to Vancouver is the discovery on Texada Island, 59 miles from the city, of an inexhaustible ledge of mottled granite. Some of the stone was quarried experimentally, and the polished slabs used in the new Victoria Theatre. A $150,000 company leased the ledge from the Government to develop the quarry. During the past five years over $3,000,000 worth of marble was imported into Vancouver for interior work on new buildings. In the future most of the stone for such work will be quarried in British Columbia.

INTRODUCTION

The Glenaladale Silver Black Fox Company, Limited, was incorporated in 1913 with six pairs of foxes, at $60,000. This Company re-capitalised in 1914, with 20 pairs of beautiful Silver Black Foxes, at $15,000 per pair, making a total capitalization of $300,000.

THE FOXES

Six pairs (one year old) proven breeders, and fourteen pairs (1914 pups), making a total of 20 pairs — all young foxes— good for at least 10 years. This Company has bought some of this year's options on foxes with a guarantee that they are pedigreed and of the highest strain and very best quality P. E. Island famous foxes.

THE RANCH

The ranch is situated on the well known Glenaladale Farm, owned by Major C. McKinnon, formerly the homestead of Sir William McDonald, and is only 12 miles from Charlottetown, in a quiet locality sufficiently removed from any disturbance.

THE RANCHER

Mr. Arthur W. McKinnon, our Ranch Manager, has had much experience in breeding foxes, and has the practical knowledge necessary to efficiently manage and care for the animals.

The foxes will be ranched free of charge to the Company for the first year. This means a large saving to the shareholders, as some companies have to pay as high as 25 per cent. of the increase for ranching purposes.

The promoters of this Company are retaining $80,000 worth of stock for themselves. $20,000 worth has already been disposed of, leaving $200,000 to be offered to investors at $25.00 per share, with a guarantee that a dividend of 50 per cent. will be paid in cash in 1915, or whatever more it may be.

The Glenaladale Silver Black Fox Co., Limited, in 1913 guaranteed a dividend of 50 per cent. but are going to pay 50 per cent. in cash and 50 per cent., in stock in 1914. The Company is in good standing and to each and every investor the first of September, 1914, we can say:— "We have given you 50 per cent. more than we promised." And we feel sure that in 1915 all the shareholders in this re-capitalized company will be able to say they received more than they were promised.

This Company can truthfully say that they have not one cent of watered stock in the Company. Now Mr. Investor, if you were a Company and we the shareholders, we would look to you for justice to give us all that was honestly due us. We would not like for you to buy 3 pairs of foxes at $15,000 per pair ($45,000) and form a fox company and capitalize your concern at $90,000 and make us pay, as shareholders, for it. The Glenaladale Silver Black Fox Company, Limited, will ask you to do nothing like that. We want to let you in on the ground floor.

NOTICE

When a fox company guarantees any specified dividend to its shareholders, and when said company is an incorporated body, you need not be afraid of any unfair play, for such company is compelled to pay what they promise, and, besides, every interest is taken for the welfare of both the investor and the company.

The promoters of this Company are all above board and will not permit any crook to come in and do anything that is not right. Anyone holding stock in this Company who is dissatisfied can, by notifying the Secretary-Treasurer, have his or her money promptly refunded.

FORTUNES IN FOXES

There is money in fox ranching more than anything else ever known. It is good for the rich man and good for the poor man. A poor man cannot buy a pair of Silver Black Foxes but he can easily raise $25.00, $50.00 or $100.00. By investing in this Company he gets back his money in at least two years and then he will have an income for life and for his children to come—and after there will be money in fox farming. One of the reasons for this is that P. E. Island has now 95 per cent. of the world's foxes in captivity. For every one pelt that can be raised there are more than 25 wealthy people waiting for it in London, Russia, France and America.

PELT VALUES

The Fox Pelts have advanced greatly in price since 1910 and you can see for yourself what money was in them then.

Below are the particulars of sale of a consignment of Silver Fox Furs, shipped from Prince Edward Island to London, England, and sold there in March, 1910:

SHARES

Shares are selling at $25.00 each: 25 per cent. with application and the balance on or before September 1st, 1914.

Simply fill out the application form and mail to Major C. McKinnon, Secretary-Treasurer, Glenaladale, P. E. I.

All cheques must be made payable to "The Glenaladale Silver Black Fox Co., Ltd."

A POINTER

Just to give you a little idea of what the free ranching of foxes means to the investor, we will figure it out for you.

We have twenty pairs of foxes in the ranch and suppose each pair produces a litter of only four foxes this is equal to 40 pairs and at $15,000 per year it would figure out at $600,000. Now, if we had to pay even 15 per cent. of the increase for ranching purposes (which is considerably lower than some companies pay) it would mean that we would have to pay $90,000 for ranching expenses.

We ranch the foxes free for the first year, so that in addition to a guaranteed dividend of 50 per cent., we save you this large outlay of money. While we guarantee 50 per cent., still should each pair in our ranch produce four pups it would mean that your dividend would be about 200 per cent. instead of 50 per cent.

FINAL WORD

A great deal has been written about Ranches, Grades of Foxes, etc., but after all the one object that every investor should keep before him is the dividend he is going to get. We have tried to show you in plain English what we can do for you and now that you have our proposition, compare it with the offer made by any other company now in business— and then judge for yourself to have been paid by some of the Charlottetown daily newspapers.

Over Cliff to Save Dog

The Penarth, Wales, police effected the rescue of a spaniel dog which had fallen over the cliffs at Penarth, and had secured a foothold 40 feet from the summit. Sergeant Lewis and Police-Constables Davies and Humphries formed the rescue party, the constables in turn being lowered over the edge of the cliff with a stout rope fastened beneath their arms. Humphries secured the dog, and together policeman and dog, were hauled up the cliff, which at this spot is almost perpendicular.

A Gallant Postman

Robert M'Crae, a postman at Glasgow effected a gallant rescue of James Baird, a boy of eight, who accidentally fell into the Clyde at a point near Millerfield road, Dalmarnock. M'Crae, who was passing in the course of one of his deliveries, handed his bag to a boy and jumped into the water.

Women as Inventors

A man with an invention is generally looked upon more or less as a crank until his idea has proved valuable, when, as is the way of the world, all are ready to acclaim his greatness.

Women, however, as in all other branches, have come greatly to the fore in the inventive line. The number of applications for patents made by women during the past 10 years has increased several hundred per cent.

Inventions in connection with aeronautics have come to the fore very prominently, five hundred patents having been filed, whilst more than 2,000 applications have been received for inventions in connection with motor, railway, and other vehicles.

A striking patent, and one with great possibilities, is an automatic collapsible escape ladder for use at sea as a means of transferring passengers from a sinking vessel to other boats or rafts.

The Quebec Patriotic Fund last night stood at $107,843.70.

The Chatham Patriotic Fund has reached more than $12,000.

Royal Tapestries

King Alfonso has lent to the Anglo-Spanish Exhibition at Earl's Court the Tunez tapestries from the Royal Palace in Madrid. These, the most famous tapestries in the world, have been valued for insurance at $1,250,000. Their total length is nearly 300 feet, so that they cannot be hung in the Royal Pavilion, as was originally intended. Their history dates back to the reign of Charles V.

The tapestries depict the siege of Tunez (Tunis) beginning with a view of the Spanish and African coasts. They illustrate a review of troops at Barcelona prior to their departure for the siege, the landing of the troops, the attack on the Goleta, the taking of Tunez, and the sacking of this African port.

No Cheap Aeroplane Trips

Passenger flights in aeroplanes are likely long to remain the privilege of those with money to burn. A newspaperman at Hendon recently was informed that the various aviation companies find it impossible to reduce their charges for flights. At present an ordinary passenger ride works out to about $5.00 a mile, although in the case of a cross-country flight $3.50 per mile is paid if a return journey is made.

FORESTS AND NAVIGATION

Equality of Water Flow Dependent on Forest Cover

It has been urged that in the interests of navigation the Dominion Government should purchase such denuded forest land in the Eastern Provinces as might be necessary to reforest in order to prevent floods and the filling up of streams with sediment. In this connection the report on the Trent Watershed Survey, published by the Commission of Conservation, is of considerable interest. In this region of Ontario, as a result of fires, 150,000 acres are practically a desert and the report urges a policy of forest conservation under Dominion, provincial or municipal control, in order to preserve the usefulness of the Trent Valley canal, in which over $10,000,000 is invested. There are many such barren areas in the eastern provinces, which with the assistance of the Dominion Government might be made to produce valuable forest crops.

In Canada disastrous floods and low-water stages have been largely prevented by the timely action of the Dominion Government in setting aside as forest reserves the wooded slopes where the great rivers of the interior of the Dominion have their origin. On the east slope of the Rocky Mountains over 20,896 square miles of non-agricultural land have been thus reserved, for the double purpose of regulating the run-off and of providing a perpetual supply of timber to meet the ever-increasing needs of the prairie settlers. In the Railway Belt in British Columbia smaller reserves have also been set aside, chiefly for the purpose of maintaining a steady flow in the streams on which the fruit-growing industry is absolutely dependent.

New Head of Forest Laboratories

Mr. John S. Bates recently appointed Superintendent of the Dominion Forest Products Laboratories in connection with McGill University, was born at Woodstock, Ont., and is a graduate of Acadia University in arts and science. After leaving Acadia he went to Columbia University, New York, and graduated in chemical engineering, specializing in pulp and paper. He made a study of the utilization of Southern pine waste while at Columbia, and after the conclusion of a brilliant course there had practical experience with several big paper and chemical companies.

Strength of Hickory

Hickory is the strongest Canadian wood. When properly seasoned a hickory column will support a weight of twelve tons per square inch cross-section, which is considerably more than what could be borne by a pillar of cast iron or steel of the same length and weight.

Life of Wire

A telegraph wire in the open country lasts four times as long as one in a city.

SCHOOLS OF AGRICULTURE

It is not only what these boys learn in these schools, but the fact that they begin study again will mean that they will be better readers of farm journals, better students of books upon different agricultural subjects. In other words, the instruction they get in the schools will start them out upon the life study of the business of farming from a scientific standpoint. It will give them greater ambition not only for themselves, but for their boys in the future, and will mean not only an improvement in farm methods but an improvement intellectually among our farmers until the whole population on the land will finally recognize the necessity and importance of education and training, and its relation to agriculture. This can only be done by placing schools of agriculture at the very doors of the farmer. Fifty miles is quite a distance for a farm boy to travel to go to school, but he can be induced to travel that far, and there is no reason why a country that depends for the production of its wealth upon agriculture should not place the opportunity for education within easy reach of every boy and girl who expects to spend his or her life in developing and improving the land.—Hon. Duncan M[illegible] of Alberta, in Agricultural Gazette.

Two Costly Paupers

There died in the Mid-Lothian Asylum an old woman, aged eighty-one, who was chargeable to the Parish of Ratho for fifty-two and a half years. In that time she has cost the parish about $6,540. How People Feel

When They Have

Tape Worm

Tape worm is bred from a parasite. This parasite is a creature male and female in one. It is a pear shape, having two, four and six suckers. It lays the eggs, which are only connected together with slime. They develop and form a body, which is the worm. Each joint is an individual, having a sucker or mouth. The worm grows to be much longer than the bowels where it is located, and sometimes a whole colony of them are found, enough to fill a quart of solid worm, and when put in a bucket of water would apparently fill it. It is the hardest task in the world to destroy this parasite without doing injury to the individual who may be so unfortunate as to have it, as the parasite clings to the bowels, freeing itself from the body of the worm, and remains there to breed another. It is an internal demon and causes its victims to suffer all the symptoms of disease imaginable. The cleverest physicians are led to believe the patient is suffering from some other disease, as nearly every person has different symptoms. Some have been treated for cancer of the bowels, consumption of the bowels, consumption of the lungs, chronic dyspepsia, nervous prostration, melancholia, hypochondria, hysteria, inflammation of the bowels, appendicitis and other complaints, when one or more of these internal demons were eating their lives away.

Prof. Mulveney has made the discovery to free the victim of this monster without injury to the system, destroying the parasite as well as expelling the worm with one dose of medicine without any previous starvation. Visit his office, where he has in his possession the most wonderful collection of these death-dealing monsters in the world, which have been expelled from hundreds of people by his famous remedy, some bottles containing colonies of worms and anyone seeing them cannot imagine how a person could possibly live with them in his bowels. It is surprising the number of people that have them. Thousands have them and are not aware of the fact. The letters and testimonials the Professor has in his possession are enough to convince one of this alarming fact. Some of the most prominent symptoms are: ravenous appetite, dizzy spells, headaches, cramps in the bowels, a feeling of something moving in the bowels, also a feeling as though something was crawling up the throat. The only certainty of having it in the system is when segments or joints are seen, which come away at any time. They are flat and ¾ of an inch to 1 inch long. They have often been mistaken for pin worms by those who do not know the difference. There are many feelings of distress which would be too long to enumerate. Strange to say some people of strong constitution have very little distress.

Mulveney's world-famous Tape Worm Exterminator is safe, sure and harmless. No starvation, no dieting, it is not disagreeable to take. One dose nearly always affects a cure. Further information free. Send stamped envelope, telephone Parkdale 30 or call at 167 Dundas street, Toronto. Open from 8 a.m. to 8 p.m. daily.

TREATING BEES FOR FOUL BROOD

Infectious Disease and Spreads Rapidly—Some Hints as to How to Overcome It

Foul brood is such a bad disease and the risk of danger from it so great that it will well pay every bee-keeper to be thoroughly informed upon it. It is a germ disease and spreads like the germ diseases of the human family, says F. G. Herman in The Ottawa Valley Journal. It may be contracted from affected colonies within the distance as far as bees would fly to rob.

The first symptoms of foul brood are only noticeable to the expert on examining the combs in the brood-chamber. The grubs turn a yellowish color and stretch out in their cells instead of being a pearly white and curled up at the bottom. They die from the attack of the germ and become a source of infestation. A bad case is easily recognized by the stench arising from the hive and given off by the state of rottenness within. On examining the combs the open cells will be found to contain a dark, coffee-colored substance of a stringy and sticky nature, while those sealed over will be pierced with irregular shaped holes, and appear sunken instead of exhibiting the prominent and rounded appearance so characteristic of healthy capped broods.

With these suggestions there should be no difficulty in detecting a case of foul brood in any of its stages. Whenever a case is found, the hive should be instantly closed and every precaution taken to prevent other colonies robbing it. At the close of the day, when the bees have about ceased work, it should be thoroughly overhauled. The best plan to adopt would be to obtain a clean hive. If there are any on hand, then shake the bees from their frames on the alighting board of the clean hive, which should stand in the place of the affected colony. After the bees go in shut them up and leave them without food for at least 36 hours. No combs should be left in the hive. After this put them into a new hive with clean combs and a fertile queen, and feed

The best time to cure foul brood is during the honey-gathering season; but, with great care and feeding, it can be done at other times. Be sure to have a clean hive, a new one is best. An old hive can be used if scraped, and either boiled well or painted inside with kerosene oil and set afire, and then, when going well, some water thrown in and the hive closed tight.

Absolute cleanliness in the apiary is imperative. The hives from which the bees have been removed must not be allowed to stand about while they are holding diseased combs and harboring germs. The frames, combs, quilts, and other movable parts of the hives should be set afire and not left until every scrap is consumed.

ONE HUNDRED ACRES

What it Cost to Run and What it Produced in a Year

A young farmer who has been farming one hundred acres of land in Ontario for four years sent to The Canadian Farm the following account of his financial year, with explanations:

I grow my own roots (two acres and about four acres of corn for silage and twenty acres of hay every year to feed stock. I keep track of every cent going out and also coming in. My wife pays running expenses of house and little things with fowl and butter and eggs. I keep no track of it, but she does. Anyway, that is not mine.

THE PROPER CARE OF A HORSE'S FEET

Defects Can be Remedied by Proper Shoeing—Some Ailments and How to Cure Them

In buying a horse for any purpose it is important to know that the animal's feet are sound. The horse is a native of the grassy plains of the world, and the things we have been doing with him under conditions of civilization have resulted in some strange diseases and weakness of the feet. Hard roads, continual shoeings, etc., have combined to produce cracked hoof walls, side bones, ring bones, coffin joints, contracted heels, lameness and other common and uncommon troubles in the hoof of the modern horse.

Shoeing is almost as necessary for the modern work horse as his daily ration, but a great many of the foot defects so discouragingly common may be traced back through the generations of shoeing. Careless and ignorant shoers continue to ruin the feet of horses.

The foot of a horse is not all a block of horn. On the upper side is a different kind of horn from that of the bottom side, with a spongy triangle called a frog. Inside this box of horn is a bone of a shape much like that of the foot in which the bones of the lower part of the leg terminate. The back side or rear end of this triangular bone terminates in the point or ring.

Now when a shoe is too wide at the heel it presses the shell of the foot in against these wings, and when the shoe is allowed to remain on too long and the shell of the foot grows over the shoe, or the shoe bears on the sole of the foot, it brings direct pressure in the parts over the ends or wings of the coffin bone. So in either case it is the shoe which, being improperly adjusted, pressing unduly upon the wing of this bone that produces an injury. Sometimes it will be manifest in a little red spot in the sole of the foot when it is pared to level the shoe in shoeing, at other times there is no red spot. One is called a red corn and the other, when the horse is lame from this cause, a blind corn. When an ill-fitted shoe has remained on for a long period, an ulceration sometimes takes place in the sensitive parts of the foot, when we have what is known as a suppurating corn. Sometimes, too, there will be sprouting of the bone or a fungous bone will grow on the very tip of the coffin bone. This is more properly speaking a blind corn. As previously stated, the cause is bad fitting shoes.

The remedy should be to correct it by taking the pressure off the affected parts. This may be done in two ways. First, set the shoe so that it will not cause the shell of the foot to be pressed inward against the wings of the coffin bone. Make the shoe narrow at the heel and bevel it outwardly a little so as to spread the heel of the foot, instead of contracting it by pressing it inward against the coffin bone. Second, pare the sole of the foot over the wings of the coffin bone so that no weight will be brought to bear on the shoe at that point. Keep the red spot pared out all that can safely be done and not expose the sensitive sole of the foot. A rubber pad shoe will sometimes afford relief to the horse with corns, as it will bring a frog pressure to help bear the weight of the animal.

ITCHY NOSE AND RUNNING EYES CURED IN FIVE MINUTES BY "CATARRHOZONE"

Bronchial Distress and Bad Throat Trouble Relieved at Once.

Every day comes news of wonderful cures made by Catarrhozone. Cases are reported and personal testimony is given that proves beyond question the marvelous merit of Catarrhozone.

Bad colds and running eyes it stops in a few minutes.

Irritable throat and dry bronchial coughs are helped in a jiffy—always cured—if Catarrhozone is used as directed.

Chronic Catarrh in the nose and throat, the sort that keeps the breath rank and maintains a vile, sickening discharge—even that type of catarrh yields completely to the power of Catarrhozone.

Just think of it!

Not a drug to take, not an hour to wait for relief—you just simply inhale the pleasant, piney vapor of Catarrhozone and get well quickly.

"What Catarrhozone did for me in one week was simply a miracle," writes Malcolm R. McIntosh from Sydney. "I had a frightful attack of Catarrh. My ears buzzed and my head was full of noises. The end of my nose was red and itchy—on the inside it was sore and encrusted. I had vile dropping from my throat and was very sick. Relief came quick—so I kept up the treatment and was absolutely cured by Catarrhozone."

Nothing else will so effectively and quickly cure you as Catarrhozone. Get the $1.00 outfit; it always does the trick. Small size 50c; sample trial size 25., at all dealers.

Exhibition Judge Hurt.

Mr. Davidson, judge of light horses, was injured at the Exhibition grounds o Saturday afternoon. He was run into by one of the trotting horses and was removed to Dr. Moir's office, where his injuries were attended to.

Happy Monaghan.

At a special meeting of the North Monaghan Council on Friday night in May's School House at which all the councillors were present the township rates were reduced to 3½ mills, rescinding the rate of 5 mills decided upon on Monday last.

Lindsay Cheese Board.

At this morning's meeting of the Victoria County Cheese Board, which was held in order to let the patrons attend the big fair, 450 boxes were offered for sale. Buyers Flavelle and Thompson were on hand and secured cheese at 14 5-16 cents. Mr. Flavelle secured 331 boxes and Mr. Thompson 119.—Post.

A Correction.

In Saturday's issue of The Times appeared a remark that might be misjudged or misleading. In the article referred to we described Mr. Wearing as "Crown Attorney." This is incorrect, as Mr. Wood is still Crown Attorney for this County. This article was shown o Mr. Wearing, who wholly approved it. He is simply acting as Mr. Wood's partner during Mr. Wood's illness.

S. A. Army Extension.

Brigadier Rawling and Staff Captain Walton, of Montreal, who are in the city to assist Adjutant McElhenny with the harvest festival services at the local Temple, made a trip to Brownson on Saturday morning and the Adjutant states that a site was selected for building purposes, in connection with the extension work of the local corps.

Tamworth Case Recalled.

Mr. J. A. Hunter motored here on Saturday with his wife and party. Mr. Hunter is engaged in the saddling and piano business at Tamworth. Mr. Hunter, in conversation with a Times reporter, noted that he was on the Coroner's jury at the inquest on the girl Blanche Yorke, alleged to have died under an abortion performed by Dr. Robinson at the above named village. He said the girl's legs had been amputated below the knees, not with the use of a saw to cut the bones, but seemingly with an axe.

Peterborough Girl For the War.

Miss Beatrice Blewett of Peterboro, and Miss Florence Hunter of Orono, graduates of Grace Hospital, Toronto, have been chosen as nursing sisters for service abroad. They left Toronto on Friday to visit their former homes before proceeding to Valcartier. They have both taken military courses at the School of Instruction at Kingston. Both will leave with the first contingent, and are the only girls chosen from Toronto.

Carried Wet Goods.

C. P. R. Detective Fletcher, who has recently been working on a case of particular interest to the people of Bobcaygeon, one in which an express messenger has been under suspicion for carrying "wet goods" into 'Caygeon and disposing cases of liquor to a well-known merchant in the local option village.

It developed that the young fellow, who has always borne a good reputation, was used by some person in the above village to bring in the "wet goods" from Lindsay.

At this morning's hearing the young fellow, who is married and has a small family, was let go on suspended sentence. It is expected that further arrests may follow.—Lindsay Warder.

Fairy Tales Probably Ended.

At Saturday's police court the first charge of perjury in "blacklist" cases was ventilated. Herbert Landry was charged with having sworn that he, as a blacklister, got his liquor at Lindsay when, he got it here. Mr. Wearing acted for the prosecution and Mr. Gordon for the defense. Chief Thompson said in the witness box, that on September 12th that Landry was found guilty of being drunk as a blacklister, and fined. On that occasion Landry said, under oath, he got his liquor in Lindsay. The Chief said prisoner told him that a man named Liddell gave him his liquor. Detective Newhall said prisoner told him he got his liquor at Lindsay. Prisoner afterwards told witness Elma Liddell had supplied the liquor. Prisoner admitted he had not been to Lindsay as he swore in the police court. The prisoner was committed for trial on this perjury charge, without bail being applied for.

Should Follow Our Lead.

It is estimated that since August 1st last the patrons of the Victoria County Cheese Board have benefitted very largely by the increased price for cheese. This fact can be attributed to the war scare and the consequent altering of the price of cheese. One well known buyer, in conversation with a Warder man, estimated that the patrons of the Victoria County Board have in all probability benefited to the extent of some $1,500 or $2,000.

This being the case, would it not be an easy matter for the local board to fall in line with Peterboro, Belleville, and cheese boards throughout Ontario, in setting aside the output of one day's cheese in the interest of the Patriotic Home Fund? Individually the farmers would be giving perhaps $1 to the cause, and while this is a small amount individually, yet when bulked with that of the entire patronage of every creamery in the country, a considerable sum would be realized.—Lindsay Warder.

New Methodist Church.

Today the corner stone of Trinity church will be laid by Mr. H.B. Cox, of Toronto, son of the late Hon. Geo. A. Cox. The ceremony will commence at half past three, the pastor of the Charlotte Street church, Rev. J. P. Wilson, B.A., acting as chairman. The lesson will be read by Rev. William Johnston, chairman of the district, and addresses will be given by Mr. Cox, by His Honor Judge Huycke, who will make the presentation of the trowel, His Worship Mayor Buller, Rev. S. D. Chown, D.D., General Superintendent, Rev. James Rollins, President Ministerial Association and Rev. S.C. Shorey, D.D., Lindsay. Mr. W.G. Morrow will announce the contents of the box to be placed in the stone.

Local Street Car Service

Peterborough's Street Railroad has turned the decade point of its existence Under the capable management of Mr. Munro the public utility will assuredly give results that will not only reflect credit on the company, but be a continuance of this public utility service is good. There are, admiredly ility of Peterborough. The street car men who are possibly waiting to meet their sweethearts or some other fellow's sweethearts who kick because they have to wait because the particular skirt they are waiting for is fifteen seconds late. Still, such men should realize that in a city of this size, the street cars are run on the best and most reasonable schedule, compatible with current requirements, not for the men waiting for skirts.

CITY IN PARAGRAPH

The Peterboro Fair this year has scored a distinct success as far as the gate receipts are concerned.

Peterboro Industrial Exhibition of 1914 has come and gone. it was a great success as far as patronage went.

Rev. Dr. Bowles, chancellor of Victoria University Toronto, preached at Charlotte Street Methodist Church yesterday morning and evening.

It would seem that the Peterboro Industrial Exhibition would have more entries and a better "gate" if a few changes were made.

At a case tried in Victoria County police court it was proven that a Cambray youth threw a pail of water over an acquaintance soaking the latter. The former was soaked $9.62.

Peterborough recruits at Valcartier report that owing to the cancelled date of sailing for the war no letters are allowed to be posted from the camp.

A boy was fined $5.17, including costs for throwing an apple at a joyrider, at Lindsay. There are one or two joy riders in this town that should have bricks thrown at them, for careless driving.

Lindsay Fair was well patronized. It would have had better exhibits and a larger crowd of the Scugog River town had not used the same dates as those advertised by the Peterboro Fair.

...Judging by the strained attention and fixed eyesight of some of the police court railbirds, one would think they were watching an eruption of Mount Vesuvius, or Mauna Loa, in the Sandwich Islands, instead of simply following the history of a poor drunk's lapse from sobriety.

The police did good work on Saturday when they committed a blacklister for perjury. The Fairy Tales told, in the past, by blacklisters would have made Hans Christian Anderson blush from envy.

"CASCARETS" CLEANSE LIVER AND BOWELS

Cure Sick Headache, Constipation, Biliousness, Sour Stomach, Bad Breath—Candy Cathartic.

Get a 10-cent box now.

Are you keeping your liver, stomach and bowels clean, pure and fresh with Cascarets—or merely forcing a passage-way every few days with salts, cathartic pills or castor oil? This is important.

Cascarets immediately cleanse the stomach, remove the sour, undigested and fermenting food and foul gases; take the excess bile from the liver and carry out of the system the constipated waste matter and poison in the bowels.

No odds how sick, headachy, bilious and constipated you feel, a Cascaret to-night will straighten you out by morning. They work while you sleep. A 10-cent box from your druggist will keep your head clear, stomach sweet and your liver and bowels regular for months. Don't forget the children—their little insides need a gentle cleansing, too.

ACTUAL DEMONSTRATION OF OSTEOPATHY UPON A LOCAL PATIENT

The annual meeting of the Ontario Association of Osteopathy will be held in Toronto, October 30. The most spectacular feature of this convention will be the actual demonstration upon a local patient of the wonderful new method of correcting spinal curvature in one operation, instead of taking two or three years to do it by the old-fashioned methods. This work will be shown by Dr. E. S. Detwiler of London, Ont.

A distinguished guest at this osteopathic congress will be Dr. John Deason of Chicago, director of the A. T. Still Research Institute, a new institution which is devoted exclusively to laboratory investigation to establish the truth by scientific methods of testing the various claims regarding osteopathic treatment of disease. Some remarkable discoveries have been made at the institute during the last few months. Dr. Deason in his lecture at Toronto will give the first announcement regarding some experiments of world-wide interest. Other speakers on the program are Dr. E. Comstock of Chicago and Dr. A. S. Hollis of Detroit. Dr. Hollis was for some years a member of the American College of Osteopathy at Kirksville, Mo., and is one of the best known demonstrators of technique in the profession. Dr. R. B. Henderson of Toronto, president of the association, will preside. Dr. C. E. Amsden, of Toronto is vice-president Dr. E. D. Heist, of Berlin, secretary, and Dr. J. N. MacRae of Galt, is treasurer.

PATRIOTIC CONCERT IN OPERA HOUSE TO-NIGHT

The concert in aid of the Patriotic Relief Fund in the Opera House tonight, commencing at 8 o'clock should draw a capacity house. The proceeds will go towards aiding the dependents of our brave volunteers for overseas service, and those needing relief through the exigencies of the war. The programme comprises the city's best vocal, elocutionary and instrumental talent, including the 57th Regiment Band, and the Opera House orchestra and is entirely voluntary. Our brave soldier boys have cheerfully volunteered their services in the biggest war the world has ever seen, to eliminate once and for all military oppression of the weak and defenceless and the least we stay-at-homes can do is to see to it that their families are not oppressed by want in their absence. It is our duty to see to it that this concert for a worthy cause is worthy attended; consequently a record attendance is urged. The prices are 25c, with a few 50c seats.

German Rally and Counter Attacks Seems To Be A Huge Bluff to Cover Inevitable Retreat—They Are Repulsed With Heavy Losses all Along Line

ALLIES TAKE NEW POSITIONS BIG TOTAL OF PRISONERS AND GUNS

Violent Struggles, Including Use of Cold Steel, in Which British and French Excel--Continued Bombardment of German Entrenched Positions--The Enemy is Repulsed Everywhere With Enormous Losses--No Material Change in Situation However

Paris, Sept. 21.—The following official announcement was given out in Paris today'

"First—On our left wing, on the right bank of the River Oise, we have advanced as far as the heights of Lassigny, west of Noyon. To the east of the Oise and to the north of the River Aisne, the Germans have given evidence of a recrudescence of activity.

"In the region of Craonne there have been violent encounters which did not stop short of bayonet charges. The enemy has been everywhere repulsed, with considerable losses. In the country around Rheims the enemy has not undertaken any infantry attack, confining himself to artillery fire, directed against our front, from heavy guns.

"Second — On the centre, in the Champagne country and on the western slopes of the Argonne River, an exception being made of Souain, we have taken Mesnil-Les-Hurlus and Massiges. In the Woevre district the enemy still holds the region of Thiaucourt, and has cannonaded Hattonchatel.

"On our right wing, Lorraine and the Vosges, there is nothing new. The Germans are fortifying themselves in the vicinity of Delme, to the south of Chateau Salins."

Bears the Brunt.

Paris, Sept. 21.—There is but little change in the situation in the great battle of the Aisne, according to the latest official announcements.

The extreme left of the allies continues to bear the brunt of the fighting and one time Saturday or Sunday (the official reports do not bring out the time clearly), the Germans, in a furious counter attack, gained some ground, which, however, was rapidly regained.

Elsewhere along the big battle front the successes of one side have been counterbalanced by forward movements of the other, but military experts here claim the Allies have bettered their position so far as it affects the continuation of the struggle, since they have reached and entrenched themselves on high ground.

Destruction of Rheims.

The best opinion here, however, inclines to the belief that the frontal attacks of forces, both apparently of equal strength, will continue for some time yet without result unless something unforseen happens.

The havoc wrought in the famous Cathearal of Rheims by the German guns, as told in official and other despatches from the front; is the subject of bitter comment here. It is stated that the French Government will lodge a protest with all the Powers regarding the bombardment of the cathedral, which unofficial despatches say, was sheltering several hundred German wounded and flying a Red Cross flag.

THE NATION MUST MAKE ARMIES TERRITORIALS MUST BE SEASONED

Accurate Shooting at Both Moving and Stationary Objects at a Distance Must be Positively Mastered--Must Be Hardened for the Field by Daily Marches--Volunteers Must Acquire That Confidence Which Practice Alone Gives Birth to--High Standard of Health and Physicial Stamina Required for Modern Warfare

"The nation's task now is to make armies," writes Professor Spencer Wilkinson in a recent issue of the London Morning Post. "Anyone who has read the accounts of the fighting at Mons and at Cambrai," he continues, "will see that only first-rate soldiers will be able to stand in that kind of fiery ordeal." He accordingly proceeds to discuss the training needed by the Territorials, as follows:—

"Living together in complete units at full strength, the Territorial troops must be gradually gaining that quality of cohesion which marks an army. Daily marches will harden them for the field. Their officers are keen and intelligent and many of them have studied war. What they are now acquiring is the confidence which comes from practice. But there is one other thing which is indispensable to give officers and men the spiritual quality which will enable them to emulate the achievements of the army now in France. That one thing is the power to shoot straight. It is everything.

"The weapon with which the infantry soldier destroys his enemy is the [illegible] bullets which he carries. The rifle is merely a machine for directing them. Give a recruit a rifle and he will be afraid of it. When he fires it kicks him, and the bullets seem to go everywhere except to the particular point at which he thought he was aiming. A man in that condition is bound to be afraid when he hears the enemy's bullets whistling past him in the air. He may hope that one of his bullets may hit the enemy, but in his heart he is quite sure that it will not. But let the recruit be quietly taught to handle the rifle; let him practice every day on the range firing in every practice only a few deliberate shots, and let this practice be continued day after day for weeks. By degrees the man will find that he can hit the target and even the bulls-eye. The practice should begin at short ranges, and continue until the recruit has reached the stage when he knows that at short range he will hit the target and probably the bulls-eye. Then the bull's-eye man be diminished and, in proportion to the power the recruit has acquired the range may be lengthened. The object is not merely to teach the man to hit, but to give him the knowledge that he can do it and the confidence that comes of that knowledge.

"The second stage consists in practice against the kind of targets which are offered by the battlefield, small objects, moving objects that appear and disappear. Only constant practice will give the necessary skill. Yet only in proportion as that skill is really acquired can the man be expected to rely upon himself. All this is a matter of individual training; it is an education which each man must conquer for himself, of course, under proper guidance and instruction, the mastery of his weapon.

"Then comes the third stage. A group of men, each of whom has made himself a good shot, must be placed under a leader for the attack by bullets upon a group of targets. They must be extended, must advance towards the target as they would in battle, and halt from time to time to fire. In these conditions they will be disciplined by the fact that every shot means a bullet fired. This collective practice must aim at something more than mere steadiness; it must convince the soldiers of the value of control. A description of two exercises will illustrate what is meant. Suppose a squad of ten men with ten rounds apiece advancing from a distance of a thousand yards against a row of ten targets representing men lying down a few yards apart, and let each target be such that when hit it will fall down and disappear, the targets being numbered from one to ten. It is assumed that the men's previous training has been such that each of them may be expected to hit his target with at least one of his ten bullets. In the first practice each man will aim every time at the target corresponding to his own number. When the ten rounds have been fired all ten targets should be down, but they will fall irregularly. In the second practice all the ten men will fire at the one target named by the leader, beginning with number one. In this case the targets will go down in orderly succession, one at each round. The men will then be asked to consider the frame of mind of the enemy represented by the targets, which kind

Germany Army On Down Grade Cannot Resume The Offensive

Is Standing at Bay While Covering Retreat of Forces to the Frontier. Crown Prince Saves Himself by Hurried Retirement. Von Kluck the Hero of the Enemies Forces. His Strategy is Brilliant. To Him Falls the Hardest Task

London, Sept. 21.—The military correspondent of The Daily News says:

"The Germans have been losing instead of gaining great ever since they rallied their routed forces in the positions now occupied by them. The loss of ground at present is only slight but it is sufficient to be a warning to the enemy to know what to expect if they hold on much longer where they are, and the probability is that under cover of their repeated counter attacks they have already made preparations for their inevitable retreat, which has been forced on them by the failure of their strategy. Their counter attacks are not to be taken as implying an intention to resume the lost offensive, or even to break through the allies lines. The German army in France has gone down the hill too far, both morally and materially, since it was driven in disorder from the Marne to enable it to advance again on Paris with any hope of success.

GAINING TIME FOR RETREAT.

What the German commanders are now doing is gaining time for their retreat. Meanwhile the German right wing is being reinforced by troops coming from Lorraine. This is what might be expected.

Fortunately for the Germans, the rear of their battle front is through Thionville, Montmedy and Hezieres, and thence south to Hirson and Laen. This enables such reinforcements as are available at Metz to be detrained within a day's march of any threatened point on the German line.

VON KLUCH IS HOLDING WELL.

Though the German commander on the right is holding on to the Noyon-la-Fere position, it can hardly be with the hope of keeping his line of retreat open through Belgium. It is too exposed and too circuitious a route for a retreating army to use under the circumstances in which Von Kluck finds himself placed.

What seems possible is that the Germans will hold the line of the Meuse from Liege up through Namur and Givet to Mezieres, and then bring their armies back to Germany through the Belgian Ardennes and the Duchy of Luxemburg.

The Prussian Crown Prince, by his precipitate retirement, has already secured his safe retreat through Luxemburg, and the Grand Duke of Wuertemburg can abandon his present communications and do the same, leaving the three German armies on the right to fall back through the Belgian Ardennes under cover of rear guards established at Mezieres and Mont-Medy.

We may expect then to find Von Kluck holding on to his present position with all his might till he finds he is decidedly in danger of being outflanked. Then he will endeavour to fall back to Hirson, make as prolonged a stand as possible there, and then retire to the Meuse to cover his lines of retreat through the Ardennes. Von Kluck is evidently a general of great resources and ability.

BREAD IS GERMAN LUXURY.

Copies of letters said to have been found on German prisoners continue to be made public here. One credited to a non-commissioned officer reads: "Our life is not a gay one. For nine days we have camped in water and we are living on beets and sugar. Bread is a luxury. The tension is frightful and our losses are enormous. There is not a single officer left in my company, which has been reduced from 250 to 60 men."

Other letters of a similar tenor are given out and wonder is expressed at how men living on raw vegetables have still the courage to fight with such desperation, especially under the most trying weeks.

BLOODHOUNDS STILL USED TO HUNT CRIMINALS

Birmingham, Ala., Sept. 21—Search was continued tonight for the train wreckers believed to have caused the death of ten persons and the injury of thirty others, by derailing Queen and Crescent train No. 2 at 3 a.m., today near Livingston, Ala. Bloodhounds have failed so far to pick up a trail.

Wm. Jones, engineer of the train who was killed, is said to have been given the "clear" signal at the last automatic switch post before the Klondyke switch where the wreck occurred.

Supposters of the wreck theory think some one tampered with the switch. It also is said that the switch was thrown against the train, that the switch light was out and that the oil tank of the light was empty.

M. J. McDonough of Birmingham, assistant general freight agent of the Frisco, is among the killed

The train was running over the tracks of the Alabama Great Southern at the time.

PATRIOTIC RELIEF FUND

The teams in several divisions have about completed their canvass. They have met with encouraging success.

All the teams are urged to complete their work in the week beginning September 21st and to hand in the complete lists by Sept. 29th.

These funds are to care for the wives and families of volunteers who have gone on active service, and of those who, in consequence of the war, are in need of relief.

Large sums will be required to prevent suffering.

Liberal contribntions are urgently requested.

W. BULLER, Mayor,
Chairman Patriotic Relief Fund Committee.

Cannot Stop the Russians Austria Needs More Surgeons

London, Sept. 21.—A despatch from Petrograd, via Rome, to Reuter's Telegram Company, says the Russians who are pursuing the Austrians along the River San have captured Dubiecko, 75 miles west of Lemberg, and have crossed the river, despite an attempt made by the Austrians to prevent them. They captured several batteries, a number of transports and arms and ammunition.

Appealing For Doctors.

Despatches say that the newspapers of Austria-Hungary continue silent concerning the operations in the Austrian province of Galicia and, against the Servians, but they are appealing daily for more nurses, doctors and medical supplies to be sent to the front. The Austrian hospital equipment is said to be entirely adequate.

From Trieste, the principal Austrian seaport on the Adriatic Sea, concerning whose attitude in case of an attack there has been so much speculation, came a statement to-day from the Governor that in case of being attacked he would not evacuate the city.

FRENCH GOVT PROTESTS AGAINST VANDALISM

Bordeaux, Sept. 21.—The French Foreign Office has forwarded to neutral Governments a protest against the German bombardment of the cathedral of Rheims, couched in the following terms:

"Without being able to invoke even the appearance of military necessity, and for the mere pleasure of destruction, German troops have subjected the cathedral of Rheims to a systematic and furious bombardment. At this hour the famous basilica is but a heap of ruins.

"It is the duty of the Government of the Republic to denounce to universal indignation this revolting act of vandalism, which is giving over to the flames this sanctuary of history deprives humanity of an incomparable portion of its historic patrimony.

GERMAN FORCES MUST RETIRE TO POSITION ON FRONTIER

Contemplated Picturesque Entry Into Paris a Force and Grievous Disappointment--Crown Prince Frederick William Sets the Pace for Retreat--Outflanking of German Right Wing Expected Hourly. Terrific Pressure on This Army by the Allies

Naturally there has been no intimation from German sources in corroboration of the report that a comparatively small part of the German army proposes to maintain merely a defensive position in France while the main body makes a stand on the frontier, but optimists among the Allied adherents believe it to be extremely improbable that Emperor William's troops again during the present war will assume a general offensive on the French territory.

They contend, moreover, that a retirement of the German forces from French soil must shortly become inevitable. Further encouragement is seen here in the backward movement of the army of Crown Prince Frederick William, which, it is argued, means the failure to establish for the invaders new and shorter communications by way of Metz and the Rhine.

London, Sept. 21.—England waited in vain today for confirmation of the reported beginning of a retirement of the bulk of the German army from France, and is prepared for another period of anxiety and suspense which must last so long as the great battle of the Aisne, now in its tenth day, remains undecided.

Though British official reports say that the Allies still are gaining ground, their progress necessarily is snail-like and the public here is beginning to feel that the turning point of the battle never will be reached until one side or the other has been outflanked. The suggestion that the Allies would accomplish this Saturday or Sunday on the German right was not fulfilled, and apparently their efforts are being continued today.

For days the British press referred to "Von Kluckjs peril," but so far the German commander has been able to check what must have been terrific pressure from the British and French left.

England's Roll of Honor In First Casualty List

A great English newspaper, The Morning Post, made the publication of the first great casualty list, which showed a loss for Sir John French's army of some 5000 men, the occasion of a noble and high-spirited article, "The Roll of Honour" which is here reproduced in part.

To-day (said the Morning Post) we publish the first instalment of the list which we have called the roll of honour, the list of our soldiers who have died in defence of their country. And we desire to use the occasion which some may think melancholy but we regard as glorious, to enforce the appeal for more soldiers in the cause for which these men have died. There are many who speak hardly of war as a thing altogether evil, bearing fruits only of suffering and misery. They point to the rare handiwork of God destroyed in a moment, and to the labours of man brought to naught. Such critics of war dwell exclusively upon the loss to the individual his personal suffering, the extinction in this life of the divine spark, and the agony and deprivation of those other individuals who depend upon the extinguished life. We agree that there is much to be said for this censure of war, but we hold nevertheless that there are evils worse than the swift calamities of battle. A shameful peace, by which, for the sake of material comfort and security, a nation sold its honour and betrayed its friends, would be a calamity far worse than war. Fighting may arouse certain evil passions of cruelty, but such a peace would nourish evils more injurious to the soul of a nation—sloth, the desire for comfort, selfishness, cowardice, greed. These vices are worse for a nation than the manly animosities of war. As to death, it may be an evil, but it is an evil which comes to all soon or late. And we cannot think that death on the field of battle is a greater ill than death upon the sick bed by the more gradual processes of disease. For in war the mind is so set upon victory and the hearts so full of the ardour of conflict that the very pangs of dissolution lose their terrors. In the heat and fury of battle the terrors of death are little regarded. What in peace is dreaded above all things, in war is rather besought and courted. For in the height of such a crisis men feel that their lives are nothing and that victory is everything.

Perhaps after all, this view of death is not a fallacy. What matters is the life of the race; in the life of the race lies the immortality of the individual. The soldier dies that is country may liveand if race survives in the spirit of the race, and in death partakes of its life. The soul of England is the soul of the sum of Englishmen living and dead. The slain in battle still live in the soul and character of the people. These great spiritual trials and exaltations which we call wars and battles mould and shape the mind and character of future generations of Englishmen. Individuals die that the nation may continue; if the sacrifice were refused the nation itself would become a thing diseased and corrupt. Therefore war is not altogether an evil; it cleanses and purifies; it invigorates the national sentiment and intensifies the national life. In this war every Englishman must feel a keener sense of the national spirit, a new feeling of friendliness and brotherhood towards the rest of his nation. It is a communion of the national spirit which draws us all together and makes us feel that we are not individuals merely, but parts of a great whole, whose destiny and interests are of infinitely higher importance than our own.

These feeling are felt by all and therefore we are a sanguine enough to think that our roll of dead will be our best aid to recruiting.

U. S. WILL AID POWERS EXCHANGE CAPTIVES

Paris, Sept. 21.—The French and German governments are arranging through Washington for the exchange of prisoners of war. It is understood that James W. Gerard, the American Ambassador to Germany, has cabled Germany's adhesion to the plan.

AN ENGLISHMAN SEES FOOTBALL IN CANADA

A writer in London Answers says: If an Association football secretary emigrating to Canada is lucky enough to get a similar appointment with one of the numerous clubs scattered throughout the Dominion, he will find that he is faced with difficulties which he has not been subject to in Great Britain. In the first place, as all clubs are as yet amateur clubs, he will receive no salary for his work, unless he becomes secretary to one of the provincial football associations, such as the Ontario Football Association or the Province of Quebec Football Association, and even then he will receive only one hundred dollars for the entire season.

In the second place, the Canadian employer of labor is adverse to closing his office on Saturday afternoon. The secretary, therefore, often will find, when he thinks he has got together a winning eleven, that his best men have been detained at business. Remonstrance with the employer is useless.

The ground question is another great difficulty. Canada is a land of subdivided real estate, and it often happens that about half-way through the season a club finds that its ground is required for building purposes. The best equipped clubs are those connected with the railway companies

FIRST WORLD SERIES WON BY HAMILTON

Baseball Tournament a Continuous Performance With Weird Rules When This Happened

The interleague struggle for supreme baseball honors, the world's series as it is known to-day, began in 1884, but the first series for the baseball championship dates back to 1865, and James Conaty, now a cobbler in Kansas City, was the hero of the occasion, pitching and winning seven straight games in one week. Conaty, now old and bent, with his weight of seventy-seven years, told in his little shop at New York the story of his great record, which, however, failed to win the pennant for Detroit. Hamilton, Ont., took the pennant and the world's championship.

Conaty, then a rollicking young Irishman, just home from the war, joined the Detroit White Stockings in the spring of 1865. The baseball fever ran high in Detroit, and during the summer a committee of business men arranged for a big baseball tournament, the first world's series, to be held, in the early fall. Two teams were entered from Detroit and one each from Chicago, Pittsburg, Albany, Toronto, Quebec, Montreal, Buffalo, Boston, New York, Brooklyn, Philadelphia, Hamilton and Cleveland.

"The series began the morning of Sept. 5, 1865, the White Stockings opening with the Brooklyns," Conaty said. "Because of the great number of teams entered, the games were only three innings long. The rules were vastly different then, too. We won 3 to 0 and I pitched and won the next six straight. I don't remember what teams came up in order. We didn't figure percentage in those days like they do now. My team won 80 games if I remember right, losing 34. The tournaments lasted six days, each team playing 42 three-inning games, the tournament being a continuous performance.

"In those days three strikes were out, and one retired the side. If a fielder muffed the ball, he threw it at the runner, and if he hit him the runner was out. Each inning was counted separately, the best two out of three winning the game. There were no such things as gloves, masks or pads in those days, and many fine players retired with broken hands. If a base runner was injured while making the circuit he could be tagged out, unless he was on a base, for no one was allowed to run for him. A case of that kind was what nearly cost the Hamilton unknowns the championship.

"A player named Richardson came to bat in the last game of the series, in which the Unknowns and the Buffalo Reds had each taken one inning. He was a poor batsman and the crowd began to leave the field as he came up, as it was late and they believed the Reds had the game won, having scored six runs in their half. The Unknowns had scored three when Richardson came to bat. But as luck would have it he hit the ball a terrific wallop that sent it over the fence into the weeds, and won the world's championship for Hamilton, Canada."

SMALL RACING STABLES

Only If Owner Has Good Horses is Game Profitable

"Is racing profitable?"

The question was put to a well-known turfman at Latonia.

"It is and it is not," said he. And then he explained: "By that I mean the game is worth the candle if one has a small stable of good horses, and can win one race a week; otherwise it is a hard fight to make both ends meet. Racing in Kentucky is more profitable to-day than it has been in many years, and the members of the racing commission are to be thanked for that. They have compelled the various tracks to hang up larger overnight purses, and a man does not need a stake horse to win a purse now and then. However, there are not many owners getting rich. Those who maintain big stables and frequently are at the top of the list of winning owners are not always big winners on the season, and in some cases I have known such owners to be heavy losers. The majority live from day to day, and some constantly are fighting the feed man. It is a wonder how some owners with one or two horses that win about one race a year get along. They travel from one track to another, year after year, and few of them look as if they were starving. It is a fascinating game. If a man is looking for a life of ease and not inclined to worry where he will get his next meal, the turf is the place to enjoy this idea of life."

Strolling Musical Genius

A movement is on foot in Girvan to erect a memorial to William Jackson, the composer of the music to the songs "The Bonnie Lass of Ballochmyle" and the "Dear Little Shamrock." Jackson was a musical genius, but like many other men of his calibre fell on evil days. During the last years of his life he earned a precarious living as a strolling musician. Coming to Girvan in that capacity many years ago he was seized with illness and died very suddenly.

THE SPORT OF KINGS

Reigning German Princes Are Lovers of the Horse

In Germany racing is becoming the sport of Kings. The recently-proclaimed King of Bavaria is a good friend of the turf. He raced during the period of regency he held, and his private estate at Leutstetten includes a small thoroughbred stud, while horses have run in his colors in Hungary he established a stud for the half-breds, following the example of his Majesty of Wurtemberg, who takes an active part in racing, and, free to follow the bent of his inclination, has made considerable and wise changes at the Well Stud, allotting the best paddocks to the Anglo-Arabian race horses which carry his colors, and removing the pure-bred Arabs to the quarters formerly assigned the racing stud.

The Duke of Brunswick has a few jumpers which he races at cross-country meetings.

Prince Von Schaumberg-Lippe races under the name of the "Fasanenhof" Stud.

The Crown Prince of Germany and Prince Friedrich Sigismund are known to have a partiality for cross-country sport, and the present Emperor and Prince Friedericx Charles have both of them been owners irrespective of those bred at Gradits, the stud of the kingdom of Prussia.

Reigning Grand Dukes have during their military career raced, and possibly the advent of the Hanoverian Prince to the Dukedom of Brunswick may tempt him to draw on the resources of the Harzburg Stud, as did his predecessor, William of Brunswick, who, before leaving his throne, had a racing stable of his own to utilize the produce of the fiscal stud.

NATIONALITY REVEALED

Shape of Head Varies in Different Races

Among many interesting facts that are revealed by a study of heads is the one that the left side of a head is almost always larger than the right due, it is supposed, to the universal practice of using the right hand more than the left.

Another curious fact pointed out by a writer on the subject is that nationality considerably affects the shape of the head. It would surely be an interesting subject for a biologist to explain why it is that the nearer the equator a race resides the rounder their heads become. No one needs reminding of the round, bullet shaped skull of the negro, but the hatter will assure us that a Frenchman's head is rounder than an Englishman's and similarly an Englishman's rounder than a Scotchman's.

The average Scot's head tip is considerably towards the front, narrows at the temples and becomes square and prominent at the forehead. German heads, on the average, are rounder than English, and broader at the back. Irish heads, in general, are long, like the Scotch, but scarcely as narrow. The Slavonic head is narrow in front and very broad at the back.

Peter's Adventures in Matrimony

By LEONA DALRYMPLE

Author of the new novel, "Diane of the Green Van," awarded a prize of $10,000 by Ida M. Tarbell and S. S. McClure as judges.

The truth about "the girl in the case" distinguishes this new series by Miss Dalrymple. Her character studies will not appear unfamiliar to the majority of readers, who will follow the fortunes of "Peter" with interest.

No. 111

Economy and Locality.

LEONA DALRYMPLE

HOW many times Mary and I discussed economy, how many times we quarrelled about it, and how many times it worried me could certainly not be counted upon one's fingers and toes. Theoretically, at least, we did a great deal of economizing—practically, we did none at all.

For the life of me I could not figure out why it cost so much more to live in this new apartment of ours than it had in the old—outside, of course, the $15 difference in rent—but even our table expenses seemed higher.

When I checked over the bills at the end of the first month I was absolutely appalled.

"Why do you want to look over those old bills anyway, Peter?" asked Mary. "They only make you grouchy. And you've never once insisted upon going over them before. Why now?"

The Mystery of the Bills.

"We've never before lived so extravagantly," I retorted. "This living in a fashionable locality has had a mysterious effect upon all our bills. For one thing, the grocer's bill is a great deal higher than it ought to be, and there is in addition a delicatessen bill that would stagger a millionaire. Does the air in this elite section of the town make us both any hungrier?"

"Don't be silly," said my wife.

I pored industriously over the bills on my desk again.

"We drink more tea than the King of China," I said puzzled. "There's tea and tea and tea and more tea. And it's 20 cents more than you used to pay for it. The other tea, by the way, was always pretty good. In fact, I haven't noticed any particular improvement in flavor."

"Of course you wouldn't," said Mary. "You're getting exactly the same tea you've always had."

"What do you do," I inquired puzzled, "make yourself a cup of expensive tea and economize on the cheaper for me. Great Stuff! Man being by far less exquisitely strung of the two sexes, etc."

I meant to be funny. Mary flashed an angry answer.

"It's merely because I have some people here to tea occasionally," she said, "and you can't give them cheap tea. Mother's brought some of her friends over once in a while to see the apartment, and you can't expect people to call in the afternoon and then go away without anything at all. They expect you give them a cup of tea at least."

"And I pay for entertaining mother's friends," said I, nettled. "Excellent! Just when I'm so keen upon economizing, too."

Mary burst into tears.

Prices for the Fashionable.

"Oh, Peter," she said, "I wish you'd put up those bills. You've been cranky ever since you found them."

I ignored Mary's tearful bid for immunity.

"The butcher's bill is a great deal higher," I said. "Do mother's friends eat chops and steaks when they come to see the flat?"

Oh, I know well enough I was sarcastic, but I was genuinely worried. Instead of saving the fifteen additional dollars on the rent we were spending more than we ever had before. I saw myself sliding into the financial state of Micawber.

"Do you know, Peter," said Mary, suddenly, "the butchers do honestly have two prices for different sections of the town. Mrs. Calvin says so. She went down to the butcher shop in person, and she said she knew very well that some of the people in there couldn't afford to pay the prices she paid. And I—I notice a difference, too."

It may very well be. A fashionable address surely has a psychological effect upon a tradesman.

"I—I guess I'll have to have one afternoon at home every week," Mary was saying. "Then everybody who's likely to come will come the same day."

"Would it cost any less," I wondered, "to feed them all on one day instead of seven?" Mary refused to answer.

CONVERSATIONAL EMERGENCY SHELVES

Margery Pearson

How One Girl Won Fame for Cleverness

By Eleanor Ames

DID you ever find yourself seated at a dinner table without an idea in your head and your tongue cleaving to the roof of your mouth, when you struggled with all your mental energy to make some fairly appropriate utterance?

Did you ever try to think of something to say when you knew it was up to you to say something, and end by stammering and grinning like a ninny? You have? Well, so have most of the rest of us.

Margery Pearson, who has a wise as well as pretty head on her graceful young shoulders, says it is because we depend too much upon our own resources and fail to take advantage of all the wisdom of the ages and the great minds with which we are surrounded.

I confess it sounded like a scheme of piracy and plagiarism, but it turned out to be a sensible plan of having an emergency shelf in your mind for unexpected occasions, just as the wise housekeeper has one in her pantry for uninvited company.

In the blue and gray living room of her three-room "flat" Miss Pearson unfolded to me the plan of what she calls her "reference library of conversation." It is such a simple and excellent plan I pass it on for all to follow, with her blessing on the users.

"I shall never forget the agony of my first big dinner party," said Miss Pearson. "I was a stupid little nonentity. The only comfort is that I was saved from saying some foolish things because I was not able to talk at all.

"I made up my mind when I got home and hid my shamed head that never again would I allow myself to be so stupid. 'Did you see and hear all those other women, Margery Pearson?' I asked myself, 'and aren't you just as bright as they are?' I sat down and thought out the topics of general conversation. I realized that no one can hope to be interesting who is not informed regarding topics of the day. She must read the papers, the weeklies, the magazines.

"She must know about the latest discoveries, the latest achievements in art, science, literature. She should know familiar facts about the great. That forms one of the heads in my reference library. Under the names of men and women great in the events of the world I have written facts which give me a little familiarity with them. There is no excuse for not reading at least a synopsis of the latest books. We can at least know the plots of the latest plays and the names of the actors. We can know what picture is most in mind in the art world and something about the artist.

"It is a simple matter to classify topics in your mind, once you have the scheme worked out, and you will find yourself digging up some fact as a contribution to the conversation which may be important and will, at least, show intelligence.

"Most of us think we must talk all the time. Most of us talk too much. Have your remarks fresh, pat, pertinent, couched in good language. Leave out personalities. You never know whose toes you may be stepping on. For pity's sake don't talk about yourself. Others will do that. Don't feel that you must tell your past, present and future to every one you meet, just to hear your own voice. Learn some good quotation each day and learn a good poem every week. You may not have the chance to use it the day you learn it, but it trains your mind.

"Asking tactful questions and listening to the answers is often wiser than giving your own ideas. Let others have a chance to tell you something. Smile and look sympathetic and interested. Be interested. Some day you will be called clever.

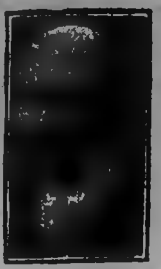
"I keep a book of bright sayings. And another of current events. When I am going to any social affair I glance them over. It refreshes my emergency shelf."

Secrets of Health and Happiness

Why Pain Is a Boon; What It Teaches You

By Dr. LEONARD KEENE HIRSHBERG

A. B., M. A., M. D. (Johns Hopkins).



DR. HIRSHBERG

PAIN is one of the most useful of all human sensations. Were it not for this capacity resident in living tissues there would be little or no life on earth. A sting left behind, which works endless pain, does more physical and mental good than all the ointments and greases in the world. Nature's best delights are purchased with pain. That more knowledge comes in later life, long after school days, is pictured in Gray's beautiful ode:

Ah, happy hills! ah, pleasing shade!
Ah, fields beloved in vain!
Where once my careless childhood strayed,
A stranger yet to pain!

Happily, pain is no longer pain when it is past. There is nothing more helpful, yet irritating, and nothing so quickly forgotten, which leaves so many benefits behind. Many physiologists and psychologists have pointed out that certain areas of the skin and membranes are always and absolutely free of pain. You cannot induce pain in such places. On the other hand, there are many localities in the flesh which transfer a sensation of pain to your brain upon the slightest provocation.

Where Pain Occurs.

Sensibility to pain differs in degree in various areas of the skin as well as in different people. A nerve may be stimulated in any part of its course from the skin to the brain, and if such stimulation be sufficient pain will be localized either at or in the neighborhood of the end of that nerve. Furthermore, when nerves that are closely associated or near each other are irritated, the pain will radiate.

Pain in middle ear disease is relieved by pressing on or closing the canal with the finger. Pulling on the ear lobe will not influence the pain.

But the pain of boils in the ear will be increased by such manipulations.

Pain in front of the ear may be caused by carious teeth, joint inflammation, or a boil in the anterior wall of the canal.

Obscure pain in the ear may be due to a wisdom tooth not yet out.

Pain back of the ear may be due to mastoid pimples in the posterior wall, zoster, hysteria or an inflamed lymphatic gland.

So much has been written of the eye in producing headache that it is needless to emphasize it. All cases of chronic headache in which the cause cannot be found, and satisfactorily explained, should have eye examination made.

There will be, however, increased tension of the eyeball, changes in the cornea in the depth of the anterior chamber, and, upon ophthalmoscopic examination, cupping of the optic nerve head.

Its Real Reward.

Pain due to eye affections is located in the brow, occiput and back of eyes. Pain referred to the chest may be due to overeating, ribs, muscles, pleurisy, joints, constipation or tuberculosis. It may be referred to the back or between the shoulders, with tenderness along the upper part. Breast-pang, that consists of an intolerable pain felt in the upper part of the chest, may extend to one or both sides of the neck and be felt as far as the angles of the jaw. New growths may cause spontaneous shoulder pain.

Hard arteries, aneurism, are often accompanied by chest pains. Tummy pains and aches in the abdomen may be due to muscular exertion, to persistent cough, neuralgia, locomotor ataxia, gastric crisis, acute gastritis, stomach ulcer, gall stone, cancer of the liver or stomach, hernia, gastralgia, lead colic, congestion or abscess.

Pain below the right ribs suggests gall bladder disease, duodenal ulcer, cancer, flatulence, pleurisy, pneumonia, appendicitis, usually only tenderness.

Pain in the arm may arise in locomotor ataxia, disease of the vertebrae, compression by enlarged glands and the presence of extra ribs. Abnormal use of the muscles, piano playing, may occasion pain.

Back pains, finally called erroneously "lumbago," "rheumatism," and "kidney disease" are due to flat feet, standing on one foot, short leg, constipation, swayback, lateral curvature, internal troubles, ulcers of the stomach, enlarged arteries, and many other distortions and twists of the hips, legs, spine and organs.

Pain itself is not without its boons. It may be violent and frequent, but it is seldom long continued. Mankind learns more from punishment than reward, hence pain and its causes become ultimately real pleasures. It has the power to shed satisfaction which is crowned in the end with knowledge and ease.

Advice to Girls

By ANNIE LAURIE

Dear Annie Laurie:

I have always read your advice to young people; it always seems the right thing to do, but I have often wondered if it was a farce or really true, and now I have finally decided to write.

I am an orphan, [illegible] years old, and have no one in the city. I am like the young man that wrote some time ago. I abhor flirting, but I am [illegible] for companionship. [illegible] a nice young [illegible] any one but [illegible] I know you will [illegible] I can't go morn[illegible] Sundays, too, [illegible] alone. [illegible] my place of [illegible] a little talking [illegible] acquaintance, but I [illegible] meeting people [illegible] I am so dread[illegible] [illegible] I can [illegible] an old maid with [illegible]

[illegible] LONESOME LITTLE GIRL.

NO, Little Lonesome, there is nothing "[illegible]" wrong" with you at all. It's just the situation that ought to be different. It's a shame for a [illegible] pretty girl to be so lonely [illegible] of people living right in the [illegible] street with you who would be only too glad to know you.

Where do you live? Why don't you pick out a nice, pleasant boarding house somewhere and make a few acquaintances that way? How about the girls who work alongside of you? Maybe there's a girl right in the very next room who's so lonely she doesn't know what to do with herself. You're just one, you know, among a thousand others.

Never mind about the "one boy" yet awhile. He'll come along all right just about when he is due. Be natural and simple and friendly, and if some of the young men who come into your place of business are nice to you be nice to them. Don't be afraid of them, and don't be too familiar with them. Some decent chap will see you and like you, and he will find a way to get acquainted with you, never fear.

Make friends with all the girls of your own age that you can—and, let me whisper, take pains to make friends with the mothers of those girls, too. They'll do more to help you out of your loneliness than the girls. They're looking on, you know, and they see more than the girls, who are themselves playing the game.

Cheer up, Little Lonesome—you won't be lonesome long.

Annie Laurie

Miss Laurie will welcome letters of inquiry on subjects of feminine interest from young women readers of this paper and will reply to them in these columns. They should be addressed to her, care this office.

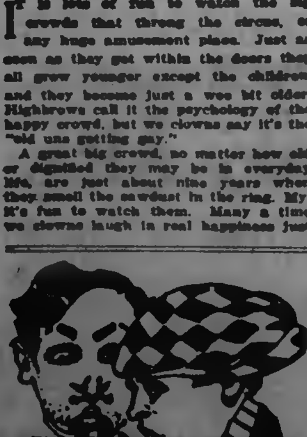
As a Clown Sees Us

By Harry La Pearl

Premier Clown of the New York Hippodrome.

IT is lots of fun to watch the big crowds that throng the circus, or any huge amusement place. Just as soon as they get within the doors they all grow younger except the children, and they become just a wee bit older. Highbrows call it the psychology of the happy crowd, but we clowns say it's the "old uns getting gay."

A great big crowd, no matter how old or dignified they may be in everyday life, are just about nine years when they smell the sawdust in the ring. My, it's fun to watch them. Many a time we clowns laugh in real happiness just because the "old uns" make us laugh with their happiness.



No Longer Orthodox.

"Is your new minister thoroughly orthodox?"

"Hardly. He [illegible] regard religion as a [illegible]."

Augustus and Angelina were climbing the highest peak of the Alps, and she stood above him some 20 feet.

"What," he gasped, "what do you see?"

"Far, far below," she cried, "I see a long white streak stretching like a paper ribbon back almost to our hotel."

"Ha, ha!" he ejaculated. "It's that hotel bill overtaking us."

Doctor (to patient)—You'll have to rouse yourself up and take more interest in your business.

Patient—My dear thir, that ith abtholutely impothible.

Doctor—Why? What is your business?

Patient—I'm a money lender.

Rosemary—Isn't it wonderful how prolific some of the old novelists were when it is taken into consideration that they had to do all their composition with pen and ink?

Thornton—Yes; I shudder to think of what they might have turned out if they could have had the advantage of typewriters.

A bachelor of considerable wealth was much sought after by many of the most charming young women of the town. A very pretty maiden was sure she had brought him almost to the point of a proposal.

"What was the happiest moment of your life?" she asked, while they were taking a stroll one evening.

"The happiest moment of my life," answered the bachelor, with a reminiscent smile, "was when the jeweller took back an engagement ring and gave me some cuff-links in exchange."

The Servant Route to Honors

THE rich girl isn't going to be a trained nurse after all. She tried it for three weeks, and she said, "There's too much drudgery about it."

"I wanted to be a nurse," said the rich girl yesterday to a newspaper reporter who was asking her about it, "because I thought I could aid suffering humanity.

"I have been at the hospital for some weeks now and I find that three-fourths of my time was taken up in dusting, sweeping and making beds.

"And yesterday the doctor made me go to work and clean up a whole linen closet—just because he didn't like the way the sheets were arranged. If I'm going to do everyday housework, I might as well go home and do it in my own house."

So the rich girl is going home. I doubt if she does much housework there or anywhere else.

I'm glad the rich girl is going home—she wouldn't have made a good nurse at all.

A Nurse's Qualities.

The first requisite of a good trained nurse is patience, and the next is obedience, and the next is attention to details. I'm afraid the rich girl has shown very plainly that she possesses not a single one of these most essential qualities.

The doctor has had a "drudge" of a trained nurse save the life of a patient for him time and time again, and she wouldn't have saved the life at all if she hadn't been willing and eager to do a lot of "drudgery" to do it.

I knew a very brilliant priest once, high in an order renowned for its learning and academic polish.

This priest came of a famous family; his father was one of the leading generals in our great civil war; his mother was a woman of the highest social gifts and position.

The priest who went into the church was a proud man, brilliant, quick-witted, ironic, and a bit ambitious.

One day while he was still a novice it was whispered that there was going to be a distinguished guest to dine at the college.

The refectory was adorned with flowers; there were special bouquets in the chapel and the whole place wore an air of unmistakable festive adornment.

The young novice was sent for. "Now," he thought, "I shall be of some importance"; but they only wanted him to go into the kitchen and help peel potatoes and strip corn and shell peas for the big dinner, to which he was not invited, even in the humble capacity of a waiter.

When the dinner was over and the young novice was helping to wash the dishes and listening to the stories of the wit and eloquence of the guest from the others in the kitchen who had heard a few choice sallies—through the kitchen door—a telegram came to the convent. It was from a distinguished body of statesmen then in convention assembled close by, and they asked for the honor of the young novice's presence as chaplain to their meeting.

The novice hurried to the office of his superior with the telegram. The superior read it—"I'm," he said—"ah—have you finished washing your dishes?" "No?" "Go back and wash them."

And that was all that the novice ever heard of the great dinner, or his invitation to be chaplain to the great convention.

The priest who told me this story laughed when he told it. He said it took him almost six months to learn to laugh about it.

Tried and Found Wanting.

It wasn't your linen closet that was under the test, my poor little Rich Girl. It was you, and you didn't even guess at it.

Weighed in the balance and found wanting—that was the verdict the doctor found in your case, poor little Rich Girl. And not all the dollars in all your father's bank can alter that doctor's opinion of you and your fitness for the high and holy calling of a nurse.

For if ever there was a high and holy calling it is the profession of nursing.

You won't do, poor little Miss Rich Girl, you won't do at all. You're just a nice, sweet, pretty, kind-hearted little doll. It takes a woman to do a woman's work in a world that is not made for women.

Three Minute Journeys

Where Men Play "Catch" Like Women

By TEMPLE MANNING

TWO hundred and forty miles from Mecca, the place of pilgrimage of all true believers in the Mohammedan faith, is a town of nearly equal religious reverence—Medina. Here rests the body of Mohammed in a marble-paved mosque, whose entire surface is covered with costly praying rugs. It was to Medina, where it is death for a "Nasrani," or Christian, to be found, that I foolishly tried to make my way.

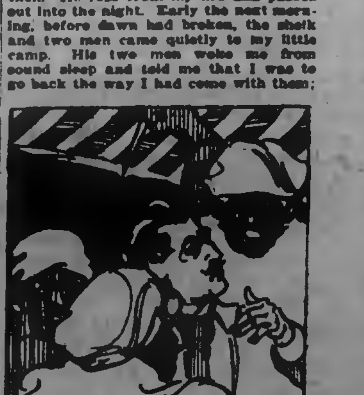
I thought that I might be able to pass for a Mohammedan where so many different nationalities meet in a common babel of speech. Other Europeans had been successful, and, although their number can be counted on the fingers of your two hands, I hoped to add my name to theirs. How I tried and why I failed was a sad experience, but now a laughable incident, to me.

With the help of an Eurasian I dyed my skin, donned Arab costume, and spent many long days in practising Mohammedan customs so I might pass as one of the elect. When my teacher pronounced me perfect in all my lessons I joined a caravan and set out with 400 pilgrims to cross the desert.

Encamped near the village of Gubima, close by a slave caravan, whose hopeless merchandise we could hear wailing in the night, the picketed camels and glowing campfires of our 400 pilgrims made a picturesque sight. The leader of our company, a Bedouin sheik, who had taken a liking to me, was sitting beside my fire. Quite suddenly he glanced up and spoke rapidly to his men, who left us alone, and then he turned to me. Without warning he tossed a small tobacco pouch toward me and called: "Catch it!"

Let any one do that to you. If you are a man you will bring your legs together, if you are sitting down, so you can catch the missile in your lap. Now, it must be remembered that, after the fashion of a Bedouin, I wore a long, flowing robe. To all purposes it was a dress, and women and Bedouins make their laps, not by bringing their legs together, but by spreading them out. As I have said, I brought my legs sharply together. I did not know what a mistake I had made until later.

The sheik never said a word to me then. He rose from my fire and passed out into the night. Early the next morning, before dawn had broken, the sheik and two men came quietly to my little camp. His two men woke me from sound sleep and told me that I was to go back the way I had come with them; in other words, I was not to be permitted to go to Medina. I protested, and my captors threatened me; then the sheik came and spoke to me.



I Was Found Out.

He told me, more in laughter than anger, that he had found me out, and he told me how he had made the discovery. If he had permitted me to go further my life would probably have been forfeited by my ignorance. As it was, I went back along the desert, having failed because I did not know how to play "catch" with a drum cat.

A WAY IN WHICH HYDRO-ELECTRIC MIGHT GIVE RELIEF

Trade depression caused by the war is keenly felt in Canada, and in Peterborough in particular, where hundreds of laborers and mechanics are out of work. Our City Council, in taking up street paving and outfall sewer operations is relieving the situation to some appreciable extent in so far as a certain class of laborers is concerned. But a huge bulk of our unemployed is composed of Canadian General Electric employees, who could not handle a pick and shovel to advantage were they paid $5 a day to do so. To them the city's commendable consideration in undertaking public work at an increased rate of interest on borrowed money is of no benefit. If, however, the C.G.E. was enabled to resume operations on a generous scale much needed relief would be felt in Peterborough.

And this leads one to the question, would it not be possible for the Hydro-Electric Commission of Ontario to anticipate their requirements for prospective state and municipal controlled utilities by placing generous orders now with the CANADIAN General Electric Co. Such action, if practicable, would afford relief to a large extent in this city. It is understood that many orders with this big Company have been cancelled owing to the war, and these will unquestionably be replaced when conditions are re-adjusted. And were the Hydro-Electric Commission able to anticipate future requirements now, at a time when work is so badly needed, the C.G.E. would be free to handle the big business which must be called for later on in a progressive country like Canada, and the Hydro-Electric Commission would have on hand the power machinery necessary for installing public utilities plants where now contemplated in the near future. Such a course would give present relief, and foster an equable distribution of electrical manufacture over an extended period.

Our local legislature unquestionably will do all they can in this labor and trade crisis, and were the above suggestion adopted by the Hydro-Electric Commission of Ontario, the legislature could probably find the funds, even if the pleasure of a big surplus at the end of the financial year is forfeited. And after all said and done legislature surpluses are not going to worry Canadians these days, so long as their legislatures leave no stone unturned to afford work for our unemployed. And the "stone" herein referred to might possibly prove turnable to good advantage.

RAISE $1,000,000 FOR BELGIUM

New York, Sept. 20.—Madam Lalla Vandervelde, wife of the Belgian Minister of State, announced yesterday afternoon that she expected to raise a goodly proportion of the $1,000,000 she is seeking here for the benefit of her stricken country through the penny aid of American school children. Madam Vandervelde said she contemplated touring the country and speaking in public in the principal cities on behalf of the stricken Belgians.

Wilson's Attitude Correct

The reply of President Wilson of the United States to the Belgian delegation which protested to him yesterday regarding alleged German atrocities was in perfect conformity and good taste. One always knows, with regard to Mr. Wilson, that he will take the course dictated by common sense.

At the same time, it will be noted that Mr. Wilson refrained from expressing any intention to attempt to interfere in the European war, beyond voicing the general hope that peace would soon be restored. It appears from his speech that he has no intention of taking the initiative, but will wait until the nations have decided upon peace, when his services, as spokesman for a great neutral nation will be of advantage for the general good in putting forward the views of humanity in general.

The compliment paid to Mr. Wilson by the Belgians in submitting their protest against German atrocities to him is well-deserved. Certainly no American President, in recent years ever has won to the same extent as he the respect and admiration of foreign people, sentiments in which the people of Canada share. The United States looms larger in this world-crisis since Woodrow Wilson is her first citizen. The example of the democracy of her institutions of government which Great Britain has recently given the world has been received in the United States with the greatest interest and enthusiasm, and has gone far to supply a vindication for that admiration for British rule which has always been a characteristic of Mr. Wilson's writings and public addresses, some to his embarrassment in political life.

When the time comes for a statesman to act, President Wilson of the United States will do his part, and he may be depended upon to further the cause of humanity.

Well Done

Hon. T. Chase Casgrain had addressed a letter to La Patrie expressing his opinion of the course Canadians of French descent should follow in the present war. The sentiments of Mr. Casgrain are so distinctly in contrast with the campaign Mr. Henri Bourassa has been carrying on that, in justice to the French-speaking people of Canada, they are deserving of wide publicity.

In repudiation of Mr. Bourassa's claim that Great Britain was prepared, previous to the declaration of war, to leave France to her fate before the advancing German hordes, Mr. Casgrain quotes from Sir Edward Grey's speech in Parliament passages in which that statesman most pointedly shows where Great Britain deliberately, and more than once refused German proposals which entailed the sacrifice of French territory or French blood. He is able to prove by these quotations that in the eyes of Great Britain the territory of France was held to be as sacred as the territory of Belgium.

Mr. Casgrain voices the protest of every sensible man against inquiring into the causes of war when war is an actuality. He implies that to do so is no more sensible than to hesitate to put out a fire which is raging until one makes sure how it started, whether by spontaneous combustion, by the act of one of ourselves, or by some one else. He objects to debating about the causes of the fire until it has gone too far to be stopped. He cannot understand how men are willing to risk the loss of their liberty and their nationality in order to satisfy themselves as to what has caused the war. He puzzles over the question of how men are able to reconcile themselves to passing under a domination which means the restriction of every liberty they possess in order to satisfy themselves that their public representatives have acted as they would act themselves under similar circumstances.

But he issues an historic clarion call to his compatriots to enter the ranks of those who are fighting under the British flag, and to support the British cause. He thinks the example of France in her enthusiastic rushing to arms irresistible to men of that race in Canada. He expresses in eloquent terms the appreciation of the French-speaking people of Canada for the liberties they enjoy under British rule, and he calls upon them to respond like men of spirit to the needs of the time, as their forefathers did in 1775 and 1812.

The French-speaking people of Canada are to be congratulated that the despicable campaign carried on by Mr. Bourassa has not been allowed to pass unchallenged. Everything they hold dear is at stake in this war, their freedom under British rule, and their affection for a great and prosperous France, as well as their own national identity. Should Canada be saved from all threats of German domination the French race in Canada will owe a particular debt of gratitude to Hon. Mr. Casgrain because he comes forward at this time with a loyal, patriotic and honorable statement of the feelings of a self-respecting people.

Our Point of View

It is a safe bet that Kaiser Bill is in no mood to present General Von Kluk with a medal of the Order of Imperial Budweiser.

Owing to circumstances over which he had no control, the visit of Kaiser Bill to Paris seems to have been indefinitely postponed.

There are times when we are inclined to believe that the war news which comes from the Bug river is really intended for individuals who are looney.

The fact that Belgium is still fighting after being overrun by the German hordes, proves that the little nation is the bantam gamecock of the European barnyard.

A war correspondent says the Allies can not listen to peace just now. Of course not. There is so much shooting of big guns that they can't hear what is said to them.

England and France have forbidden their armies to use intoxicants, yet it appears that the soldiers are full of the war spirit and intoxicated with the prospect of victory.

The national board of movie censors has eliminated the saloon scene of "Ten Nights in a Barroom." The next thing, no doubt, will be the presentation of Hamlet with Hamlet pulled out of the show.

Commenting on the European war the Baltimore Sun says: "Civilization is on trial." But not a few of us have reached the conclusion it has been disgraced and slaughtered.

Add War News—Last night we attempted to go out and spend a few hours with the boys, but friend wife by a turning movement cut our line of communication and forced us to retire.

Every Stiff Joint Limbered Rheumatism Cured

THAT OLD FAMILY REMEDY, "NERVILINE" IS GUARANTEED FOR THE WORST CASES
CURES NEURALGIA, BACKACHE, AND LUMBAGO

Rheumatism to-day is unnecessary. It is so well understood and so readily curable that every day we have reports of old chronics being freed of their tormenter.

"I can speak confidently of the Nerviline treatment, for the simple reason that it cured me," writes Albert B. Cornelius, from Kingston. "You can't imagine how stiff and lame and sore I was. Nights at a time I couldn't sleep well. I followed the Nerviline directions carefully—had it rubbed into the sore regions four or five times every day. Every rubbing helped to reduce the pain. The swelling went down. I got a fair measure of relief in a week. I also took two Ferrozone Tablets with my meals. They increased my appetite and spirits, purified my blood and toned up my system generally.

"I am as well to-day as a man could be—in perfect good health. I give Nerviline all the credit."

A large family size bottle of Nerviline costs only 50c., or the trial size 25c., and is useful in a hundred ills in the family. Whether it's toothache, earache, headache, neuralgia, lame back or a cold, Nerviline will cure just as readily as it will cure rheumatism. For family use nothing equals Nerviline.

BRITISH-CANADIAN

Do you desire to make large profits on your investment in Alberta Oil Shares?

If you do you must use good judgment in the selection of the companies in which you invest.

In order that you may use this good judgment it is absolutely necessary that you investigate and analyze a company thoroughly before placing your money in its shares.

In order that you may do this in the case of the British Canadian Oils, Ltd., we hereby give you the information we have secured through our rigid investigation and analysis of said company, and in giving this information we would say that we believe it is correct in every detail.

(1) The British Canadian Oils, Ltd., is incorporated for $1,000,000; 10,000,000 shares at the par value of 10c.

(2) About 500,000 shares of the stock have already been sold, and are now in the hands of the investing public.

(3) The Directors' and Officers' stock is all pooled.

(4) The Company is the holder of petroleum and natural gas leases on over 7,000 acres of land in the Province of Alberta.

(5) The Directors, Officers and Solicitors of the Company are all reliable and conscientious business men who have the welfare of the company at heart, and who desire in every manner in their power to give the public a square run for their money.

(6) The Company is now erecting on Section 31, Township 24, Range 4, an up-to-date combination rotary and standard rig.

(7) The Company expects to commence drilling inside of 3 days, and continue with all possible despatch.

(8) The Company has secured as Field Superintendent a man who knows his business thoroughly.

(9) The said Superintendent has engaged competent drillers to carry out his instructions.
(10) The treasury of the Company is now well financed.

(11) A reputable local geologist in reporting on adjoining property makes the following statement in said report:

"There is a plunging tendency in the crest of the anticline which causes its crest to sink toward the Elbow river. The crest of this dome-shaped structure seems to be in the neighborhood of Section 31, of Township 24, and Section 6 of Township 25."

(12) A reputable petroleum engineer in reply to an enquiry from us, stated that the lease held by the British Canadian Oils, Ltd., in Section 31, is situated on the most perfect anticline he has seen in Western Alberta.

(13) British Canadian shares are listed on the three Calgary exchanges, and are very active traders.

(14) The price of British Canadian shares is very low at the present time; we expect to see it go much higher.

In view of the above information secured by us, we have no hesitation whatever in advising you to at once buy the shares of the British Canadian Oils, Limited, at 15c per share, believing that you will get a square run for your money, and big profits on your investment.

We are prepared to fill your orders for British Canadian shares at 15c each, but this price is subject to raise without notice. Any new strike in the oil field, or any other exciting report might send this stock to a very high price. We would suggest that you wire us at our expense and let your remittance follow, or if you prefer, write us and enclose your remittance.

Our market letter giving information on the Alberta Oil Fields is free for the asking. Write for it.

INTRODUCTION

The Glenaladale Silver Black Fox Company, Limited, was incorporated in 1913 with six pairs of foxes, at $60,000. This Company re-capitalised in 1914, with 20 pairs of beautiful Silver Black Foxes, at $15,000 per pair, making a total capitalization of $300,000.

THE FOXES

Six pairs (one year old) proven breeders, and fourteen pairs (1914 pups), making a total of 20 pairs —all young foxes— good for at least 10 years. This Company has bought some of this year's options on foxes with a guarantee that they are pedigreed and of the highest strain and very best quality P. E. Island famous foxes.

THE RANCH

The ranch is situated on the well known Glenaladale Farm, owned by Major C. McKinnon, formerly the homestead of Sir William McDonald, and is only 12 miles from Charlottetown, in a quiet locality sufficiently removed from any disturbance.

THE RANCHER

Mr. Arthur W. McKinnon, our Ranch Manager, has had much experience in breeding foxes, and has the practical knowledge necessary to efficiently manage and care for the animals.

The foxes will be ranched free of charge to the Company for the first year. This means a large saving to the shareholders, as some companies have to pay as high as 25 per cent. of the increase for ranching purposes.

The promoters of this Company are retaining $80,000 worth of stock for themselves. $20,000 worth has already been disposed of, leavinb $200,000 to be offered to investors at $25.00 per share, with a guarantee that a dividend of 50 per cent. will be paid in cash in 1915, or whatever more it may be.

The Glenaladale Silver Black Fox Co., Limited, in 1913 guaranteed a dividend of 50 per cent. but are going to pay 50 per cent. in cash and 50 per cent., in stock in 1914. The Company is in good standing and to each and every investor the first of September, 1914, we can say:— "We have given you 50 per cent. more than we promised." And we feel sure that in 1915 all the shareholders in this re-capitalised company will be able to say they received more than they were promised.

This Company can truthfully say that they have not one cent of watered stock in the Company. Now Mr. Investor, if you were a Company and we the shareholders, we would look to you for justice to give us all that was honestly due us. We would not like for you to buy 3 pairs of foxes at $15,000 per pair ($45,000) and form a fox company and capitalize your concern at $90,000 and make us pay, as shareholders, for it. The Glenaladale Silver Black Fox Company, Limited, will ask you to do nothing like that. We want to let you in on the ground floor.

NOTICE

When a fox company guarantees any specified dividend to its shareholders, and when said company is an incorporated body, you need not be afraid of any unfair play, for such company is compelled to pay what they promise, and, besides, every interest is taken for the welfare of both the investor and the company.

The promoters of this company are all above board and will not permit any crook to come in and do anything that is not right. Anyone holding stock in this Company who is dissatisfied can, by notifying the Secretary-Treasurer, have his or her money promptly refunded.

FORTUNES IN FOXES

There is money in fox ranching more than anything else ever known. It is good for the rich man and good for the poor man. A poor man cannot buy a pair of Silver Black Foxes but he can easily raise $25.00, $50.00 or $100.00. By investing in this Company he gets back his money in at least two years and then he will have an income for life and for his children to come—and after there will be money in fox farming. One of the reasons for this is that P. E. Island has now 95 per cent. of the world's foxes in captivity. For every one pelt that can be raised there are more than 25 wealthy people waiting for it in London, Russia, France and America.

PELT VALUES

The Fox Pelts have advanced greatly in price since 1910 and you can see for yourself what money was in them then.

Below are the particulars of sale of a consignment of Silver Fox Furs, shipped from Prince Edward Island alive to London, England, and sold there in March, 1910:

Average — £284,15.10 or $1385.96 er skin.

These figures may be verified by enquiry to Messrs. C. M. Lampson & Company, 64 Queen Street, London.

SHARES

Shares are selling at $25.00 each; 25 per cent. with application and the balance on or before September 1st, 1914.

Simply fill out the application form and mail to Major C. McKinnon, Secretary-Treasurer, Glenaladale, P. E. I.

All cheques must be made payable to "The Glenaladale Silver Black Fox Co., Ltd."

A POINTER

Just to give you a little idea of what the free ranching of foxes mean to the investor, we will figure it out for you.

We have twenty pairs of foxes in the ranch and suppose each pair produces a litter of only four foxes this is equal to 40 pairs and at $15,000 per year it would figure out at $600,000. Now, if we had to pay even 15 per cent. of the increase for ranching purposes (which is considerably lower than some companies pay) it would mean that we would have to pay $90,000 for ranching expenses.

We ranch the foxes free for the first year, so that in addition to a guaranteed dividend of 50 per cent., we save you this large outlay of money. While we guarantee 50 per cent., still should each pair in our ranch produce four pups it would mean that your dividend would be about 200 per cent. instead of 50 per cent.

FINAL WORD

A great deal has been written about Ranches, Grades of Foxes, etc., but after all the one object that every investor should keep before him is the dividend he is going to get. We have tried to show you in plain English what we can do for you and now that you have our proposition, compare it with the offer made by any other company now in business— and then judge for yourself to have been paid by some of the Charlottetown daily newspapers.

UNITED STATES LEVIES A WAR ASSESSMENT

Washington, Sept. 21.—Stock brokers who have protested against a proposed special tax of $50 a year will not escape assessment. Democrats of the ways and means committee determined today to include them in the war revenue bill which is now being perfected.

Argument that brokers should not be taxed because stock exchanges now are closed was not regarded as sufficient to entitle brokers to exemption.

The stock revenue bill was not complete today. Stamp rates will be taken up tomorrow.

Democrats today approved of the additional tax of fifty cents a barrel on beer, the tax of two cents a gallon on gasoline and the special taxes on bankers, brokers and tobacco dealers. It is proposed to fix the wine tax at fourteen cents a gallon on dry wines and two cents on sweet wines. The matter was left open pending a hearing.

ATTEMPT TO KEEP RUSSIAN PORT OPEN

Report That Icebreakers Will Be Used to Keep Archangel Clear of Ice This Winter

London, Sept. 21.—According to information received by the British Board of Trade, it may be found possible to keep open the Russian port of Archangel, in the Arctic Ocean, by means of ice-breaking steamers until the end of November and possibly until the middle of December. It also is hoped to make arrangements for additional berths which will facilitate the discharge of private cargoes.

Archangel is the most northerly point in the railway system of Europe, and is the only large sea port on the north coast of the Russian Empire. The harbor usually is free from ice only between July and September.

Big Enlistment in England Welsh Corps Being Raised

Throughout the British Isles enlistment continues unabated and noteworthy feature is the high standard of the recruits. Students and young professional men are conspicuous in every squad seen upon the London streets.

"It's a Long Way to Tipperary" now has become a fixed classic in this war, much in the same manner as "There Will Be a Hot Time in the Old Town tonight" swept through the American army in the Spanish-American war.

Germans Take Up Song.

Even the German prisoners enterned in England have got the fever and may be heard singing it as well as hey can.

It was announced here today that Mr. Lloyd George the Chancellor of the Exchequer is heading a movement to raise a complete Welsh corps.

MOTHER! IF CHILD'S TONGUE IS COATED

If cross, feverish, constipated, bilious, stomach sour, give "California Syrup of Figs."

A laxative today saves a sick child to-morrow. Children simply will not take the time from play to empty their bowels, which become clogged up with waste, liver gets clogged up with waste, liver gets sluggish; stomach sour.

Look at the tongue, mother! If coated, or your child is listless, cross, feverish, breath bad, restless, doesn't eat heartily, full of cold or has sore throat or any other children's ailment, give a teaspoonful of "California Syrup of Figs," then don't worry, because it is perfectly harmless, and in a few hours all this constipation poison, sour bile and fermenting waste will gently move out of the bowels and you have a well, playful child again. A thorough "inside cleansing" is oftimes all that is necessary. It should be the first treatment given in any sickness.

Beware of counterfeit fig syrups. Ask your druggist for a 50-cent bottle of "California Syrup of Figs," which has full directions for babies, children of all ages and for grown-ups plainly printed on the bottle. Look carefully and see that it is made by the "California Fig Syrup Company."

INDIAN PRINCE OFFERS ALL HE POSSESSES

London, Sept. 21.—"All my troops and resources." This is the latest offer of the Gaekdar of Baroda to the British Government, as announced by the Secretary of State for India.

Nearly all the Indian potentates have expressed a desire for personal service in the field, and many have offered the British Government "all I possess." The Government of Madras will supply a fully equipped hospital ship of 300 beds for use of the Indian expeditionary force.

Over Cliff to Save Dog

The Penarth, Wales, police effected the rescue of a spaniel dog which had fallen over the cliffs at Penarth, and had secured a foothold 40 feet from the summit. Sergeant Lewis and Police-Constables Davies and Humphries formed the rescue party, the constables in turn being lowered over the edge of the cliff with a stout rope fastened beneath their arms. Humphries secured the dog, and together, policeman and dog, were hauled up the cliff, which at this spot is almost perpendicular.

A Gallant Postman

Robert M'Crae, a postman at Glasgow effected a gallant rescue of James Baird, a boy of eight, who accidentally fell into the Clyde at a point near Millerfield road, Dalmarnock. M'Crae, who was passing in the course of one of his deliveries, handed his bag to a boy and jumped into the water.

FORESTRY FARMS

Saskatchewan requires more Forestry Farms. Then there would be at least two lecturers continuously on the road to hold meetings, giving lectures on forestry, shelter-belts, etc. The gospel of tree-planting should be brought to farmers. These lecturers could take the names and locations of farmers who are anxious and ready to plant trees, send in the lists to the head office in the province, and inspectors should be sent out to examine each farm, so as to advise farmers where to plant, and how to prepare the ground for the following year's planting. It is all right to expend money on the general Conservation Commission to enthuse citizens the Dominion over on what our natural resources are and how they should be conserved, but the practical working end of the problem should not be neglected. Give Saskatchewan forestry farms and practical men to meet progressive farmers and in a few years the treeless, wind swept prairies would be changed to a park-like country, with trees on every farm.—Saskatchewan Farmer.

HAND WASHING EXTRAORDINARY

Cleanliness Given More Credit Than Skill For Saving Lives

Most people attribute the immensely decreased rate of mortality in cases of severe surgical operations to the increased skill of the profession, to their greatly improved instruments, and the more skilful nursing which is obtained in these days. But the surgeon himself would tell you that it is almost all a matter of absolute cleanliness, the fact that nothing is left undone to insure absolute freedom from infection of any kind. This fact is emphasized by the extraordinary hand-washing regulations which are in force at the various hospitals. Everybody who is even remotely connected with an approaching operation is supposed to spend twenty minutes in the all-important process of washing his hands. For five minutes the surgeon washes his hands with soap and water, and then cleans his fingernails. When he has done this, he spends another five minutes doing it all over again. But this is but a preparation for a third and far more drastic ablution, for this time he must wash his hands in alcohol. Not content with this cleansing process, however, he must now put his hands through a process of sterilization by soaking them for at least five minutes in a wash of corrosive sublimate. By that time he may commence his duties, which mean life or death to some patient, with the satisfactory feeling that he has done his best to approach his task with clean hands.

Cheap Gas Invention

A young Kansas man announces the invention of a process for solving the fuel problem. By means of a special motor and generator he claims his ability to produce pure hydrogen gas from a decomposition of water at the low cost of 2 cents per 1,000 cubic feet. His generators and motors, he declares, will be available for use on motor cars, launches, stationary and marine engines, and heating and lighting plants.

Granite in British Columbia

An important matter to Vancouver is the discovery on Texada Island, 5 miles from the city, of an inexhaustible ledge of mottled granite. Some of the stone was quarried experimentally, and the polished slabs used in the new Victoria Theatre. A $150,00 company leased the ledge from the Government to develop the quarry. During the past five years over $3,000,000 worth of marble was imported into Vancouver for interior work on new buildings. In the future most of the stone for such work will be quarried in British Columbia.

Automobile Stretcher

A bed which can be folded compactly when not in use has been invented for the transportation of invalids in automobiles.

Woman as Inventors

A man with an invention is generally looked upon more or less as a crank until his idea has proved valuable, when, as is the way of the world, all are ready to acclaim his greatness. Women, however, as in all other branches, have come greatly to the fore in the inventive line. The number of applications for patents made by women during the past 10 years has increased several hundred per cent.

Inventions in connection with aeronautics have come to the fore very prominently, five hundred patents having been filed, whilst more than 2,000 applications have been received for inventions in connection with motor, railway, and other vehicles.

PATRIOTIC CONCERT A HUGE SUCCESS

A Capacity House Patronizes A Public Event in Aid of Families of Volunteers and Those in Distress by Reason of the War

The efforts of the committee in charge of the Patriotic concert in the Opera House last night were rewarded by a crowded house of patriotic citizens, only too willing to contribute in this way to the maintenance of the families of our volunteers for the front, and those in distress owing to the exigencies of the war. The programme was one of the best of its nature ever presented in this city, while the many patriotic numbers rendered called for intensely demonstrative approval. Officers and non-coms of the local military forces were present in uniform.

The talent for this meritorious occasion was entirely voluntary, and the thanks of the whole community is due the ladies and gentlemen rendering the same, as well as to the capable executive in charge of the concert.

Programme.

The programme was as follows:

An Appeal to the Intelligent Investor !

Does a logical presentation of a good investment interest you? Do you believe there is an oil in commercial quantities in Alberta? If you are alive to the situation you do. Then it will pay you to investigate our proposition and our holdings.

Please Read Carefully and Note!

THAT Oil authorities are agreed the Alberta Oil Field is of an anticlinal formation. It has been fairly accurately ascertained in what general direction these anticlines run. Geologist B. W. Dunn chose wisely in the selection of the now famous Monarch well. WINDSOR OILFIELDS, LIMITED, has holdings located close to the Monarch.

THAT Cunningham Craig, one of the world's most eminent geologists, selected the site of the Mowbray-Berkeley well. Stock in that company is not offered at any price. We possess acreage adjoining the Mowbray-Berkeley (Section 12, Township 23, Range 5, West of 5th). If a strike is made at the Mowbray-Berkeley what will shares in our company be worth?

Our holdings consist of 1380 acres, carefully selected and judiciously spread over the entire oil field.

VALUE OF BIRDS BEYOND TELLING

Without Them Insects Would Very Soon Destroy Everything That Grows For Man's Use

Ontario's recent experience with the army worm brought to the fore the "greatest friend of man"—the bird. Scientists say that if birds were to be wiped from the earth man would be unable to survive more than twenty-five years, the entire food supply in the meantime being destroyed by insects.

It is probable that no species of insect is so completely protected by its habits of life that it is not found and preyed upon by some bird. There are some insects that smell and taste badly. Certain beetles have a strong caustic secretion giving off a choking odor and cause a burning sensation on the tongue of man. Some draw in their limbs and antennæ and look like pieces of earth; others play possum. There are so-called blister beetles, used medicinally to blister one's skin; many caterpillars are covered with hair, others having stinging rays. Yet some birds eat all of these in egg, larval state, or adult form and do not suffer thereby.

This continent is greatly favored in the number and character of its birds which not only include some of the gems of the bird world such as the warblers and humming birds, but on the whole possess few destructive species. No other creatures are so well fitted to capture flying insects as swallows, swifts, and night hawks. The wren also, trim of body and agile of movement, creeps in and out of holes and crevices and explores rubbish heaps for hidden insects. The woodpecker, whose whole body exhibits wonderful adaptation of means to an end, is provided with strong claws to hold him firmly when at work, a chisel-like bill driven by powerful muscles to dig out insects and a long extensile tongue to still further explore the hidden retreats of insects and drag forth concealed larvæ safe from other foes.

Fifty thousand birds of different species have been examined in 25 years. One man fed a young robin 70 cut worms a day for fifteen days. A young crow in a day eats twice its weight of almost anything. Two parent grosbeaks have been known in eleven hours to make 450 trips to their nest with one or more larvæ at a time. Sparrows, chickadees, vireos, martoms and warblers have been known to make forty or sixty trips an hour with their beaks filled with all manner of insects. More than fifty kinds of birds feed upon different varieties of caterpillars, including the army worm, 38 varieties upon the devastating plant lice; 50 kinds feed upon the most destructive species of scale insects.

The hawks work by day, the owls chiefly by night: so that for the twenty-four hours activities are continued. As many as a hundred grasshoppers have been found in the stomach of a swinson's hawk representing a single meal, and in the retreat of a pair of barn owls have been found more than 3,000 skulls, 97 per cent. of which were field mice, house mice and common rats. A ring-neck pheasant's crop contained 800 seeds of chickweed and dandelion's head, more than 12,000 seeds have been found in a duck's stomach.

Of the woodpeckers there are 45 species in Canada some remaining throughout the year; two-thirds to three-quarters of their food consists of insects, chiefly noxious. Of two specimens of flickers' stomachs one showed 3,000 ground ants, the other 5,000.

Of the yellow bill cuckoo, a Canadian bird, one stomach contained 250 tent caterpillars and another 217 web worms. The night hawk or bull bat is one of the most useful birds. There have been identified more than 600 kinds of insects taken from the stomachs of this bird, some birds having thirty to fifty different kinds. They eat the ant and the malaria-bearing mosquito.

Of two hundred and eighty-five stomachs of the meadow lark examined, seventy-three per cent. of the food found was insects. The vegetable food consisted of grain and weed and other seeds. Farmer and town dweller therefore have every reason to protect the birds as their best friends.

As light as lager, but better for you.

You wash dishes about two hours every day. That's one hour wasted!

Dishes get dirty, greasy and sticky and soap will not clean them. Soapy dish water merely cleans the surface; it doesn't dig into the corners and drive out the decayed food particles.

Gold Dust is the sanitary dish washer. It not only cleans the surface, but digs deep after hidden particles of dirt and kills the germs of decayed food which ordinary dish-water overlooks. Gold Dust sterilizes as well as cleanses.

Besides doing the work better than soap or any other cleanser can, Gold Dust will save just half the time you spend in washing dishes.

Gold Dust is sold in 5c size and large packages. The large package means greater economy.

How People Feel When They Have Tape Worm

Tape worm is bred from a parasite. This parasite is a creature male and female in one. It is a pear shape, having two, four and six suckers. It lays the eggs, which are only connected together with slime. They develop and form a body, which is the worm. Each joint is an individual, having a sucker or mouth. The worm grows to be much longer than the bowels where it is located, and sometimes a whole colony of them are found, enough to fill a quart of solid worm, and when put in a bucket of water would apparently fill it. It is the hardest task in the world to destroy this parasite without doing injury to the individual who may be so unfortunate as to have it, as the parasite clings to the bowels, freeing itself from the body of the worm, and remains there to breed another. It is an internal demon and causes its victims to suffer all the symptoms of disease imaginable. The cleverest physicians are led to believe the patient is suffering from some other disease, as nearly every person has different symptoms. Some have been treated for cancer of the bowels, consumption of the bowels, consumption of the lungs, chronic dyspepsia, nervous prostration, melancholia, hypochondria, hysteria, inflammation of the bowels, appendicitis and other complaints, when one or more of these internal demons were eating their lives away.

Prof. Mulveney has made the discovery to free the victim of this monster without injury to the system, destroying the parasite as well as expelling the worm with one dose of medicine without any previous starvation. Visit his office, where he has in his possession the most wonderful collection of these death-dealing monsters in the world, which have been expelled from hundreds of people by his famous remedy, some bottles containing colonies of worms and anyone seeing them cannot imagine how a person could possibly live with them in his bowels. It is surprising the number of people that have them. Thousands have them and are not aware of the fact. The letters and testimonials the Professor has in his possession are enough to convince one of this alarming fact. Some of the most prominent symptoms are: ravenous appetite, dizzy spells, headaches, cramps in the bowels, a feeling of something moving in the bowels, also a feeling as though something was crawling up the throat. The only certainty of having one in the system is when segments or joints are seen, which come away almost any time. They are flat and from ⅛ of an inch to 1 inch long, which have often been mistaken for pin worms by those who do not know the difference. There are many other feelings of distress which would take long to enumerate. Strange to say, some people of strong constitution, have very little distress.

Prof. Mulveney's world-famous Tape Worm Exterminator is safe, sure and harmless. No starvation, no danger, is not disagreeable to take. One dose nearly always affects a cure. Further information free. Send stamped envelope, telephone Parkdale 4830 or call at 167 Dundas street, Toronto. Open from 8 a.m. to 10 p.m. daily.

HOARD OF JEWELRY IN ANCIENT TOMB

Professor Petrie's Wonderful Find South of Cairo—Heap of Gold and Gems

Professor Flinders Petrie has recently found in an Egyptian pyramid one of the greatest hoards of Egyptian jewellery that has survived.

A quarter of a century ago he found the entrance to the pyramid, but recently he returned to it with the students and resources of the British School of Archæology in Egypt, and found the splendid jewels of an Egyptian princess who, perhaps, has lain in her long sleep over 5,000 years.

A Splendid Pyramid

"At the mouth of the Fayum, about sixty miles south of Cairo, stands the high, dark mass of the brick pyramid of Senusert II., built about 2400 B.C.," begins Professor Petrie.

"Around the enclosure wall were the tombs of the Royal family, of which fourteen have been found. One of the most remarkable is a great tunnel descending by steps to 50 feet deep; after giving access to one tomb, it branched, and another long passage led to a second tomb 70 feet farther on.

"So far, nothing unusual appeared, and our workman was told to clear the hard mud out of a small recess, about 3 feet wide and 5 feet deep, in the side wall of the passage. This recess had stood open for many years, gradually filled with mud washed down and caked hard—nothing could look less promising.

Located the Treasure

"After a few cuts of the pick the man found some tubular beads of gold. [illegible]

"The first large object found after a pound weight of gold beads was the diadem. This is a band of burnished gold over an inch wide, and large enough to surround the full wig. In front is an inlaid cobra, the Royal uræus, and around the band are attached fifteen rosettes, each composed of four flowers and four leaves of openwork inlaid. It is thus of an entirely new pattern, most like that painted on the statue of Nefert. Behind the crown stood up high plumes of gold; at the back and sides streamers of gold descended—the whole crown being over a foot and a half high. This is now in the Cairo Museum.

Some Things Found

"A pectoral of gold inlaid with lazuli and amazon-stone (green felspar) must have belonged to the girlhood of the princess; it has the cartouche of Senusert II., upheld by a kneeling man with palm branches, the emblem of millions of years. It is flanked by a hawk on each side, and is altogether 3¼ inches wide. The back is exquisitely engraved in the gold. A second pectoral of similar design was a gift in the mature years of the wearer, as it has the cartouche of Amenemhat III. This also is in the Cairo Museum. The pectorals from Dahshur have square frames, but these outlined by the forms of the birds are more graceful in design. Collars of large gold cowries and of double lionheads in gold each over an inch wide, are similar to those found at Dahshur. A third collar was of beads and pendants of gold lazuli, amazon-stone, and carnelian.

"A pair of armlets, over 3 inches wide, are fastened by a broad sliding strip of gold inlaid with the titles and name of Amenemhat III. in carnelian. Each armlet has also six broad bars of gold to separate the rows of minute beads of gold, carnelian and amazon-stone. A pair of bracelets of the same kind are 1½ inches wide, with plain gold sliders. The mirror was of silver, with a head of Hat-hor of cast gold, and a handle of polished obsidian inlaid with plaited gold bands and leaves of carnelian and blue and white paste. This is now in the Cairo Museum. The toilet outfit also included three obsidian vases, and a khol-pot, all with gold mounting at top and base. Eight other vases of alabaster belonged to the funeral outfit.

It has been rather humorously suggested that Staffordshire's greatest claim to fame is that Jonathan Wild and Jack Sheppard, both hanged at Tyburn, were born within its borders; but those who made the remark wilfully forget that that county was the birthplace of Samuel Johnson, Izaak Walton, father of fishermen.

Expected a Deluge

An extraordinary case of religious mania was found in Panama. An individual who had proclaimed himself the Messiah predicted the destruction of the world by a deluge in a short time, and some of his eighty adherents engaged in building an ark, while others collected in pairs animals of all species found in their region.

PAUL PANZER

There are few, if any, men in the photoplay world who have had greater success than Paul Panzer. Every patron of the "movie" houses knows him; though, more often than not, he appears in some clever character guise which almost hides his identity. Panzer has had a varied life. Sometimes he was business man; sometimes traveling man; sometimes student and so forth. To the work in pictures, he has brought a wealth of experience from all these different sources.

OIL VERSUS COAL

Canada Occupies Eighth Place as Crude Petroleum Producer

The world's production of crude petroleum per year according to the last available figures is 52,921,750 tons, with Canada in eighth place as a producing country. The sources, respective quantities and percentages were as follows:

Country.	Tons	Percentage of total production
United States	32,897,060	62.16
Russia	10,173,560	19.23
Mexico	2,910,000	5.50
Roumania	1,987,260	3.76
Dutch East Indies	1,672,000	3.16
Galicia	1,298,620	2.45
India	1,101,450	2.08
Canada	38,750	0.073
Other countries ..	841,260	1.59

If the whole of this crude petroleum were employed as fuel in steam raising it would not replace, allowing for its higher thermal efficiency, much more than 5⅛ per cent. of the world's output of coal, whilst if used in internal combustion engines it would be equivalent, as a source of power, to about 16 per cent. of the coal.

Only a small proportion, however, of the crude petroleum can be regarded as available for use as a source of power, for by far the larger part is in demand as an illuminating agent and as a lubricant for machinery.

As the United States produces over 62 per cent. of the world's production of petroleum, it is interesting to note that Dr. Day, of the United States Geological survey, considers that, at the present rate of increase of the output of petroleum, the known oil fields of the United States will, on the basis of the minimum quantity of oil obtainable, be exhausted by the year 1935, while, even if only the present output were maintained, the supply would, on the same basis, not last more than 19 years.

In many countries there are, no doubt, vast tracts of undeveloped petroliferous territory, but only drilling can determine this.

Huge Sums For Racing

Statistics relative to prize money allotted by the various racing clubs at Australia show the great strides made in the Commonwealth of late years. For one racing season the prize money amounted to a grand total of $3,111,165, while the combined race clubs of Great Britain and Ireland disbursed $2,792,935, a record amount.

How He Qualifies

Vean Craig, the Cleveland southpaw, spends his off seasons acting as a sleuth in a Cleveland department store. The experience he has had in determining just the moment when Ty Cobb is going to steal a base makes him fairly skillful in detecting a shoplifter in the act of making off with the firm's goods.

Peroxide From Water

In Germany there has been patented a process for converting water into hydrogen peroxide by the use of chemicals which are recovered afterward for further use.

Breathing Tube For Barbers

So that a barber's breath will not strike the faces of his patrons there has been invented a branching tube, to be fastened to his nostrils.

ADVERTISE IN THE TIMES

A BRONCHIAL COUGH, PERHAPS WEAK THROAT USE "CATARRHOZONE"--DEAD SURE CURE

Wonderful Success Reported in Thousands of Bad Cases.

How many thousands are there who would gladly pay any sum to be cured of bronchitis or catarrh. Many could be cured if they would just use common sense in selecting their remedy.

Bronchitis of course is an inflammation of the bronchial tubes which were made for the passage of air alone, and neither the moisture of an atomiser nor the liquid of a cough syrup can get where the trouble really is. The diseased parts can only be reached by a remedy that can force its way through all the breathing organs. Doctors who have used "Catarrhozone" say it is the only rational cure for bronchitis. It cures by inhalation.

You breathe in its healing balsams, inhale its soothing antiseptic vapor and relief is immediate.

Simple to use, delightful and pleasant—nothing compares with Catarrhozone which is the cure of the day for all bronchial and throat troubles.

Mr. H. B. McLaughlan, the well-known representative of Parks and Blackwell, Toronto, says: "I have used Catarrhozone for years and can honestly say it is the only remedy that relieves me from a painful attack of Bronchial Catarrh. The inhaler for Catarrhozone is always in my pocket and I simply couldn't get along without it. I firmly believe Catarrhozone is a wonderful remedy."

Large size sufficient for two months' use, guaranteed, $1.00; small size 50c; sample or trial size 25c. Sold by dealers everywhere.

CITY AND DISTRICT

DASHES HERE AND THERE BY TIMES REPORTERS.

No Aeroplane at Lindsay.

The aeroplane that was to have sailed from and over Lindsay's Fall Fair "failed to connect." The man in charge tried a flight but in making the ascent the machine swerved and broke one of its wings. The engine also went out of commission as the machine rose.

More Local Men Employed.

The concrete surface of the street paving was commenced on Charlotte street yesterday morning. The work has also been entered into Simcoe St. which is now undergoing the mutilation of the plough. The new work necessitated the taking on of extra men and it was stated that twenty more men were taken on. This would make about eighty-five men who are now at work as a result of the city authorizing Messrs. Foley and Gleason to go ahead with the paving.

Similar Case Recalled.

Recalling a local case here two weeks ago when a young woman tried to poison herself after an ill-advised trip to Toronto, the following is taken from the Peterboro Times of Sept. 19th, 1902, or 12 years ago, says:—

"Blanche Royal, the young woman who kicked up dido in a local hotel by swallowing a quantity of laudanum, was before the Police Magistrate on remand, and was allowed to go, on being taken charge of by a local clergyman."

Former Local Girl Dead.

Last night despatches from Chicago say that a Peterboro girl dropped dead at the corner of Custom House place in that city. It seems, according to the despatch that the dead girl formerly lived in this city. Some years she went to Chicago, and, whilst in the Windy City became addicted to the cocaine habit. On Sunday night she was with several of her friends, also victims of this drug. The former local girl, after supplies of her friends ran out, found a bottle of cocaine solution on her person. She pulled out the bottle of solution, and, to avoid her friends seeing her use an injection of the same, omitted to expel the air from her syringe. Unfortunately the deadly point of the hydro needle entered a vein in the leg into which she injected the dose. This caused a blood clot at the heart. Consideration forbids us mentioning the girl's name.

A Local Lady's Experience.

A few days ago, a local lady returned to Peterboro from a somewhat long visit to several European cities. During her trip this young lady absorbed quite an amount of local "atmosphere" and a slight working acquaintance with several European tongues. Talking with a Times reporter, she said, in part, "Ah! deah old Lonnon. I was there whilst the war forces were gathering their respective strengths. One would not know that deah old Lonnon was engaged in war except by the gathering of thousands of soldiers, the high price of all commodities and the general talk of the restaurants. One night as I was going to the Hotel Cecil, a well dressed Englishman stodped me on the Strawnd and remarked, "Hallo, chicken!" I just gave him one look. He, apologising, remarked, "Pawdon me, Miss, I thought you came from our loyal Dominion of Canedah," and remembering that Canadians had offered supplies of poultry, my mistake was a natural one. He was good looking, with slight waist and broad shoulders. He bade me good-bye. When I got in Paris I was welcomed as a country woman of the British Allies. I met with the greatest courtesy in Paris. Any Canadienne is sure of the best treatment by the Parisians, but not by the Parisienne milliners. She is shuah to be stung by these dispensers of feminine frivolities. As I emerged from the Hotel de la Bretagne on Rue Caumartin one night, I was greeted with a cry of "Vive la belle Canadienne."

CITY IN PARAGRAPH

Yesterday was New Year's Day with the local Jew population and as such, was fittingly celebrated.

Isn't it about time that a city of 20,000 people like this should have an Exhibition Building not a BARN?

ADMIRALTY ADVISES CAPE RACE PASSAGE

London, Sept. 21.—The Admiralty has directed that for the present season all ships running to and from the Dominion must abandon the route through the Straits of Belle Isle and travel exclusively by way of Cape Race. The Admiralty points out that this alteration in the Canadian route is made in order that British warships employed in the North Atlantic may give more effective supervision to the crossing of vessels. British ships have quite recently intercepted wireless messages between German cruisers a few hundred miles off Cape Race.

of practice would be most likely to make an enemy's squad of ten may go away. They will say to themselves that any ten soldiers lying down and exposed to fire will expect some of their number to be hit. So long as the hits are irregular each of them will trust to his luck and keep his place, hoping that his own turn will not come. But if they fall in regular order, beginning from a flank, by the time the first five are down, the sixth, unless he is an absolute hero, will be off. In this way the men of the practice squad will perceive the nature of the effect on the enemy's spirit of a fire which is directed and controlled. A perfectly disciplined battalion would be one which was accustomed to advance for a thousand yards in extended order, firing bullets at targets.

"All that is required to make the Territorial Force a first-rate army is daily practice with bullets against targets, beginning with individual practice until that has produced its full results and then going on to field firing by squads, by platoons, and by companies. The only requisites are plenty of ammunition and plenty of ground. Ten rounds a day per man for thirty days fired attentively would put the infantry of the Territorial Force at least on a level with the infantry of any Continental army. A second ten rounds a day for a second month would make them the best shooting troops in the world.

"These shooting practices properly arranged will occupy each company only a fraction of each day, the rest of the time is available for marching and for the various branches of instruction in evolutions and in field service."

INDIGESTION GAS OR SICK SOUR STOMACH

Time It—"Pape's Diapepsin" makes your upset, bloated stomach feel fine in five minutes.

"Really does" put bad stomachs in order—"really does" overcome indigestion, dyspepsia, gas, heartburn, and sourness in five minutes—that—just that—makes Pape's Diapepsin the largest selling stomach regulator in the world. If what you eat ferments into stubborn lumps, you belch gas and eructate sour, undigested food and acid; head is dizzy and aches; breath foul; tongue coated; your insides filled with bile and indigestible waste, remember the moment "Pape's Diapepsin" comes in contact with the stomach all such distress vanishes. It's truly astonishing—almost marvelous, and the joy is its harmlessness.

A large fifty-cent case of Pape's Diapepsin will give you a hundred dollars' worth of satisfaction or your druggist hands you your money back.

It's worth its weight in gold to men and women who can't get their stomachs regulated. It belongs in your home—should always be kept handy in case of a sick, sour, upset stomach during the day or at night. It's the quickest, surest and most harmless stomach doctor in the world.

Battle Of The Aisne No Longer a Battle, But a Siege
Would-Be Besiegers of Paris at Bay in Fortifications

ADVANCE OF ALLIES THREATENS GERMANS' LINE OF RETREAT

Destruction of Rheims Cathedral Bad Investment for the Germans--French Are Now Determined to Win at Any Cost, and They Will--Lack of Confidence Prevails in Germany Army--Feverish Activity Bespeaks Defeat

Paris, Sept. 22.—The Battle of Charleroi lasted three days, the Battle of the Marne covered six days, though the retirement of the Germans commenced on the third day. To-day is the seventh day of the Battle of the Aisne, the most violent of the three, but the limit of human endurance seems to have been reached as the intensity of the struggle has diminished in front of Rheims.

At Craonne, after a brief lull, the fighting has become fierce again and the losses of the Germans were increased. Here alone, of the whole line, hand to hand fighting occurred yesterday. Everywhere else the invaders left the attack to the Brummers, as they call the immense mortars which did so much damage to the Cathedral at Rheims.

Allies Make Obvious Gains.

It may well be asked if the result of the lavish use of these immense projectiles between five and six feet long, is a good investment, as the serious damage of the Rheims Cathedral has had only the result of increasing the determination of the French to win.

The significance of yesterday's official communications to be seen on consulting the maps, is that the Allies have advanced at points where the danger to the invaders is greatest. The progress to the west of Noyon threatens the German right and the advance between Rheims and the Argonne threatens their line of retreat and communications through Stenay.

Lack Of Confidence.

The deduction of the military experts here is that the weariness shows more decidedly in the German camp. They are said to be feverishly active in their work on the fortifications along the Sambre, from Maubeuge to Namur, and even on their lines of defence across the German frontier, and this is taken to indicate a lack of confidence in the final issue of the clash of the Aisne

250,000 Austrians Beaten.

Paris, Sept. 22.—A despatch to the Havas Agency from Nish, Servia, says:

After several days of battle near Kroupani, ten miles from the Bosnian border, in which 250,000 Austrians were engaged, the Austrians suffered a complete defeat and are flying in panic from the banks of the River Drina.

Allies Making Slow Progress Under Immense Difficulties

The Battle of the Aisne is Characterized as Another Sebastapol in Which the Enemy Will Be Defeated--Germans Doubted Success of Campaign Against Paris

London, Sept. 22.—The Times' military expert says that the line of the Allies now extends on the east from a point near St. Die through Luneville, Pont a-Mousson, Etain, ConsenNoye, Mont Faucon, Souan, Rheims, Craonne, Loyon, Lassigny and Roisel, to Lecalelet.

"The news of the day," this expert says, "is the appearance of fresh forces around Peronne, seventeen miles northwest of St. Quentin, attacking the German extreme right at St. Quentin.

"The British army is near Soissons. On the British left are French troops, who probably reach through to Lassigny toward Ham, twelve miles southwest of St. Quentin, and are endeavouring to close in upon La Fere, fourteen miles northwest of Laon."

A SIEGE, NOT A BATTLE.

The correspondent of The Times in Paris, discussing the big battle, says:

"The Battle of the Aisne continues, having lasted a week, with the Allies making slow progress against extraordinary difficulties.

"It is no longer, properly speaking a battle, but a siege, the Germans having constructed, along their hundred-mile front a series of small fortresses from the Oise to the Meuse, made of old forts and disused quarries.

HAD DOUBTS OF SUCCESS.

"Bomb-proof shelters, formed of bags of cement, and subterranean passages connect the casements on the heights of Pommiers with the open country by means of which the enemy secures victuals and is supplied with ammunition. These elaborate works were prepared by the Germans before the march on Paris, thus indicating that they had some doubts of success.

ANOTHER SEBASTOPOL.

"The Plains of Champagne are admirably suited for the French offensive. They bristle with trenches and redoubts, but if these hamper French action they also stop German attacks. The Battle of the Aisne thus becomes a kind of Sebastopol. Operations of this sort always result in the defeat of the besieged unless reinforcements arrive.

GERMAN RIGHT BENDING BACKWARDS UNDER PRESSURE OF ALLIED LEFT

Enemy is Thrown Back--Numerous Prisoners Taken--British Troops Pursuing Favorite Movement of Beating Round the Foe's Flank--No Decisive Results Yet For Either Side--But Allies are Reported as Making Progress

London, Sept. 22.—All eyes are fixed on the western section of the great battle line in France, where the Allies' army is expected to descend on the German right, which already is bending backwards under persistent pressure from the British and French armies to the northward of the River Aisne. If these German positions are once carried, strategists here are of the opinion that the whole German front will be in danger.

Meanwhile, however, "a perceptible progress" is all the light the official chronicler permits himself to throw on the great siege of the fortified positions which now has lasted 10 days.

Result The Same? No One Knows.

Thus far the Battle of the Aisne reproduces on a larger scale the chief features of the struggle on the Marne but whether in the final outcome the victory will rest with the same side, is likely to remain a secret for a few days more.

Working Around the Flank.

Ten days of the most furiously contested struggle known in modern history has left both armies in such a position that neither can aim a definite advantage over the other and the result must largely be dependent upon what reinforcements the opposing commanders are able to control.

On the river Aisne, as on the River Marne, the Germans are thrusting persistently at the Allies' centre, while the French and British troops are pursuing their favorite movement of working round the German flank. Day by day the allied line, though stationary in the centre, seems, according to official statements, to gain a little ground on both wings.

Paris, Sept. 22.—The following official announcement was made in Paris today:

Along the entire front, from the Oise to the Woevre, the Germans manifested yesterday, Sept. 21, a certain activity, without, however, obtaining appreciable results.

First—On our left wing, on the right bank of the River Oise, the Germans were obliged to cede ground before the French attacks. Between the Oise and the Aisne the situation remains unchanged. The enemy has not delivered any serious attacks, contenting himself, Monday evening, with a continued cannonading.

Second—On the centre, between Rheims and Souain, the enemy attempted an offensive movement which was repulsed, while between Souain and the Argonne we have made some progress.

Germans Thrown Back.

Between the Argonne and the River Meuse there has been no change.

In the Woevre district the enemy made a violent effort; he attacked the heights of the Meuse along the front between Tresauvaux, Vigneulles and Hendicourt, without, however, succeeding in gaining position on these heights.

On our right wing, in Lorraine, the enemy has again passed the frontier, using in this operation a number of small columns. Donestee, to the south of Blamont, has been reoccupied by the enemy.

Prisoners Are Numerous.

During the day of Sept. 20 and Sept 21, we captured 20 automobiles used in the moving of provisions, together with the men attached to them. We also captured on these days numerous prisoners belonging principally to the 40th, 60th, 70th, 80th, 90th, 140th, 150th, and 160th German corps, to the Bavarian Landwehr, and to the reserve corps.

Concerning the Russians in Galicia, the rear guards of the Austrian armies have been pursued by the Russians, and have suffered considerable losses. Russian troops have come in contact with the Austrian garrison, near Przemysl. The heavy Russian artillery is bombarding the fortifications of Jároslav.

3 British Cruisers Sunk Were of Obsolete Type

London, Sept. 22. The British warships Aboukir, Hogue and Cressy have been sunk in the North Sea by submarines, according to an announcement given out by the Official Bureau this afternoon.

Crews Mostly Saved.

Continuing the announcement says that a considerable number of the crews of three vessels were saved by H.M.S. Lowestoft and by a division of torpedo boat destroyers. Trawlers and their boats also aided in the work of rescue.

The Aboukir was torpedoed first. The Hogue and the Cressy drew in close to her and were standing by to save her crew when they also were torpedoed.

Were Built in 1900.

The warships Aboukir, Hogue and Cressy are cruisers of the same type. Their tonnage, armament, etc., are identical. These vessels had a displacement of 12,000 tons, were 440 feet long, 69.5 feet wide, and drew 20 feet of water. Each one had a complement of 755 men, including officers and crew.

These three cruisers had armements consisting of two 9.2 inch guns, twelve 6-inch guns, twelve 12-pounders, and five 3 pounders. The Aboukir and the Cressy were built at Govan in 1900, and the Hogue was built at Barrow in the same year.

Ships Called Obsolete.

The Cressy, Captain Rob. Wi Johnson; the Aboukir, Captain John E. Drummond, and The Hogue, Captain Wilmot S. Nicholson, were sister ships They were armoured cruisers and a comparatively obsolete type, and were built fourteen years ago. The lists of the casualties among the crews will be published as soon as they are known.

Servians Success Complete Austrians Quit Till Spring

Paris, Sept. 22.—In a despatch from Nish, Servia, dated Sunday Sept 20 the correspondent of the Havas News Agency, says the Austrians have been forced to retreat along the entire front between Lioubovia, Svornik, and Losnitza, and that they are being hotly pursued by the Servian forces near Kouriateitsa. The Servians destroyed the bridges over the River Drina, and after suffering heavy losses, the Austrians succeeded in gaining the opposite bank.

The Austrian attempt, the correspondent continues, to cross the River Save between Mitrovitza and Shabats has failed. In Bosnia yesterday, the Servians occupied the heights west of Rogatuitza.

The Pope Sends Protest to Kaiser.

London, Sept. 22.—A Rome despatch to the Central News says that Pope Benedict XV, has telegraphed to the German Emperor, protesting against the destruction of the Cathedral of Rheims.

A great number of Edinburgh University graduates are joining the forces.

CANADIANS WILL TRAIN IN ENGLAND

This is Real Significance of Announcement by Robert Borden

Ottawa, Sept. 22.—There will be a Canadian army depot established in England where Canadian men and officers will be trained. Your correspondent understands on the best authority that this is the real significance of the announcement of Sir Robert Borden at Valcartier last night that all of the men and officers at the Quebec camp would leave for the Old Country. This does not mean that all of the 32,000 men will go at once to the front. The army division of 22,000 which was originally planned will likely go to the scene of war direct or shortly after arriving in England.

Made Canadian Headquarters.

A mobilization depot will be established in England which will be made Canadian headquarters. The remainder of the men will complete their training there and can then be sent forward to join the Canadian army as fast as they are needed to fill up the losses. Further Canadian regiments for the front will also be sent to this Canadian depot in England.

The decision to send all of the officers and men at Valcartier with the first contingent was followed by an order of the Ordnance Department here to rush the supplies and equipment for the full 31,200. The Department will have a busy time of it, but every possible effort is being made to equip the men before the date tentatively decided on for the sailing of the contingent.

Bad Complexions Are Now Easily Discarded

Every woman has it in her own hands to possess a beautiful and youthful complexion. No matter how soiled, faded or coarse the cuticle, ordinary mercolized wax will substitute a skin as soft, clear and lovely as a child's. The action of the wax is not drastic, but gentle and agreeable. Minute particles of scarf skin come off day by day, yet no evidence of the treatment is discernible, other than the gradual complexional improvement. One ounce of mercolized wax, procurable at any drug store, suffices for most cases. It is put on at bedtime like cold cream and taken off in the morning with warm water. It is a certain method of discarding freckles, liver spots, moth patches, blackheads and pimples.

Wrinkles can be treated with benefit by bathing the face in a lotion prepared by dissolving 1 ounce powdered saxolite in ½ pint witch hazel. Instantaneous results are secured.

LARGE WORKS COMPLETED

Recapitulation of Work on the C.P.R. Spell Out During the Present Year

In spite of the depression from which all interests suffered more or less, even before the war broke out, it may be interesting to recapitulate the outstanding features of the work the C.P.R. did during the present year from January up to date on its whole system.

At McAdam Junction the C.P.R. recently completed a new machine and erecting shop; and added over one mile of new storage tracks to their yard at McAdam Junction; a fireproof elevator with a capacity for 1,000,000 bushels with an up-to-date power plant was completed this summer at West St. John, not to speak of great improvements to the terminal facilities. The improvements at the passenger and freight terminals at the Windsor station are marked by bulk and efficiency. The train shed, which is just completed, is one of the largest of the modern types now in use. At the same time the improvements at Place Viger, which have been in hand for three years, are now completed. These, in their entirety, of station, hotel and trackage, cost nearly $5,000,000.

The Union Station at Quebec has been commenced. There was the double track bridge at Lachine which cost nearly $3,000,000, the new Lake Shore Line which was opened for traffic in June; the new station and viaduct at Toronto which are only held up temporarily; the extension of the Kippewa Branch line 10 miles in a northerly direction; a 30-mile extension from Expanse to a junction with the Weyburn-Sterling branch of the C.P.R., and which will be completed this fall; the line between Swift Current and Empress, a distance of 112 miles, and which will be completed this year; the main line cut off from Swift Current to Bastano of which 150 miles are completed; the 78 miles of the C.P.R. branch from Lacombe to Kerrobert, a new extension; the operation of the Alberta-Central Railway to Lochearn, a distance of 65 miles from Red Deer; the great tunnel at Roger's Pass, and of which one mile of the pioneer tunnel has been completed; the C.P.R. depot and terminal offices at Vancouver; the Kootenay Central which is now open for traffic, from Golden, 60 miles south. Work on this road is being pushed vigorously on the line to join up Golden and Colvalli; the opening of the Esquimalt and Nanaimo line from Parksville Junction to Courtenay.

The C.P.R. is interested in the Kettle Valley Railway, and in connection with the same it is building a line from Midway to Penticton—a distance of 134 miles, 70 of which are already open for traffic. A line from Penticton to Osprey, 41 miles in length, has been completed, and work has been commenced on a new line between Osprey Lake and Princeton. The Kettle Valley Railway is also rebuilding a line 54 miles in length between Hope and Otter Summit. A part of the track has already been laid. Merely hinted at and which is a record of eight months, the C.P.R. has continued its policy of double tracking all the way through.

SERVIAN ARMY HAS CAPTURED SARAJEVO

London, Sept. 22.—In a despatch from Rome the correspondent of The Star says Servian and Montenegrin forces have occupied Serajevo, which was abandoned by the Austrians after an overwhelming defeat.

PATRIOTIC RELIEF FUND

The teams in several divisions have about completed their canvass. They have met with encouraging success.

All the teams are urged to complete their work in the week beginning September 21st and to hand in the complete lists by Sept. 29th.

These funds are to care for the wives and families of volunteers who have gone on active service, and of those who, in consequence of the war, are in need of relief.

Large sums will be required to prevent suffering.

Liberal contributions are urgently requested.

W. BULLER, Mayor,
Chairman Patriotic Relief Fund Committee.

Reliability

is what a doctor must be assured of in recommending a food or drink. He must know that it is honest, efficient, pure and wholesome.

In cases of nervousness, heart flutter, headache, biliousness, indigestion, etc., where the patient is a tea or coffee drinker, most doctors order: "Quit tea and coffee and use Postum."

Doctors recommend Postum because they know that it is a pure food drink—absolutely free from the drug—caffeine—which makes tea and coffee injurious to most users.

It is significant that thousands of physicians not only recommend, but themselves use

POSTUM

—its worth having been fully demonstrated, not only in the home, but in Sanitariums Hospitals and Colleges.

Postum now comes in two forms:

Regular Postum—must be well boiled—15c and 25c packages.

Instant Postum—soluble—no boiling—made in the cup with hot water, instantly. 30c and 50c tins.

Both kinds are delicious—cost per cup about the same—sold by Grocers everywhere

AN ENGLISHMAN SEES FOOTBALL IN CANADA

A writer in London Answers says: If an Association football secretary emigrating to Canada is lucky enough to get a similar appointment with one of the numerous clubs scattered throughout the Dominion, he will find that he is faced with difficulties which he has not been subject to in Great Britain. In the first place, as all clubs are as yet amateur clubs, he will receive no salary for his work, unless he becomes secretary to one of the provincial football associations, such as the Ontario Football Association or the Province of Quebec Football Association, and even then he will receive only one hundred dollars for the entire season.

In the second place, the Canadian employer of labor is adverse to closing his office on Saturday afternoon. The secretary, therefore, often will find, when he thinks he has got together a winning eleven, that his best men have been detained at business. Remonstrance with the employer is useless.

The "ground" question is another great difficulty. Canada is a land of subdivided real estate, and it often happens that about halfway through the season a club finds that its ground is required for building purposes. [illegible]

NEWS OF BRITAIN BRIEFLY TOLD

Ancient Shepherd

Job Green, an old Dorset shepherd, and now an inmate of the Dorchester Workhouse, has celebrated his hundredth birthday.

Aeroplane Kills Valuable Dog

While Mr. Allcock was preparing for a flight at Sunbury the propellor blade struck and killed a valuable dog.

In a small [illegible] cottage there were twenty-seven people living, twenty being children, it was stated, in a case at Feltham.

Gipsy's Tragic Death

A tragic scene was witnessed in a [illegible] W[illegible] Sarah Antrobus, a gipsy, went into the hotel and asked for a glass of rum and said, "Oh, dear, there is no cab to take me home." Before she could be served she fell back and expired.

Fox in a Garden

In his garden in Burford road, in the heart of Nottingham, Mr. David Willman saw a fox prowling about. Chased into a shed the animal was captured, but it was not chained up before it had bitten Mr. Willman badly in the hand. The fox is a fine specimen, with a splendid brush.

Judge Objects to Hatpins

Judge Mackarness, at Lewes County Court drew attention to the injury likely to be caused to other people by protruding hatpins. He requested one lady, whose hatpin was sticking several inches from the side of her hat, to adjust it in a safer position.

Old Employe of Pears'

Fifty years' unbroken service at the Isleworth works of Messrs. A. and F. Pears has been completed by Mr. George Hammond.

Thunder Causes Suicide

At the inquest on Mrs. Ada Hardy, aged fifty-six, of Northwich who hung herself in a tool house, her suicide was attributed to a thunderstorm.

"She had been suffering from depression and sciatica," said Dr. Terry, "and was a very highly strung woman. There was a great thunderstorm in the district during the night. I think that this roused her, and that, feeling miserable, the impulse came on her then."

Bath's Roman Temple

When Aquae Sulis, as Bath was called in the first century, was a fashionable Roman health resort, a temple was erected to the worship of Sul-Minerva, a combination of Sul—the native deity of the Hot Springs—and the Roman goddess, Minerva. Quite recently a replica of the portico of this temple was opened by the Marquis of Bath in the Sydney Gardens.

Cupid on the Ocean

A romance of the sea ended in the orthodox manner when Mr. David Oscar Hughes, of Liverpool, an officer of the Elder-Dempster line, and Mrs. Elizabeth Case-Case, widow of a Leicester jeweller, who met during a voyage in the Mediterranean, were married at Matlock. The day after the ceremony Mr. Hughes had to leave Matlock for Liverpool to rejoin his ship for a voyage to West Africa. Mrs. Hughes who is seventy-four, is interested in several businesses in Leicester. Her husband is only twenty-eight.

Supposed Spy Insane

Charges under the Official Secrets Act against Samuel Maddick, an electrical fitter employed in Portsmouth Dockyard, resulted in the discovery that the man was insane. He was discharged by the Portsmouth magistrates, and at once taken charge of by a relieving officer for conveyance to where he will be placed under supervision.

Horse's Great Leap

An extraordinary jumping achievement by a cob belonging to Mr. Baker, an Ascot butcher, was witnessed in High street, Ascot. The horse, which was harnessed to an ordinary butcher's cart, took fright, and as it bolted along the High street it broke away from the cart. Coming to a [illegible] carriage, which was being drawn across the [illegible], the horse jumped clean over the carriage, one of its hind hoofs cutting the rubber tire of the carriage as the horse came down on the other side.

There are two relatives of the poet laureate living in Canada. These are the Misses Bridges, nieces of the doctor, who have a five-acre ranch in a delightful part of British Columbia, near Mission City. These two ladies came from England some years ago and bought land in British Columbia, and have led a retired life since that time, raising chickens and gardening. Naturally they are greatly pleased with the honor [illegible] on their uncle, Dr. Robert Bridges, by Premier Asquith, in appointing him poet laureate.

BRITAIN'S FISH TRADE

Value of Sea Fish in One Year Over $50,000,000—Growing Export Trade With the Continent

The value of the sea fish landed in England and Wales for one year amounted to $51,685,000, and reckoned in terms of human food, the year's catch amounted to some 16 million hundredweight, exclusive of "shellfish," which for statistical purposes includes lobsters, crabs, and other edible [illegible].

Not all this quantity of food went to supply British [illegible], for there is a great and growing export trade with the [illegible] herring [illegible] generally recognized how large a part the fisheries play in our foreign trade, and it may, perhaps, come as a surprise to most persons to learn that approximately [illegible] million hundredweight of fish were exported from the United Kingdom in 1913. The herring plays by far the larger part in this export business.

The Prolific Herring

The outstanding feature of the year has again been the record herring fishery. In last year 1912 the landings of herrings in England and Wales exceeded those of any previous year by some [illegible] hundredweight; the landings of 1913 exceeded the record total of 1912 by little short of 2,000,000 hundredweight, and the value increased by more than $3,000,000. It is a matter of considerable interest that this phenomenal rise in the take of herrings should have occurred at a time when [illegible] apprehensions are being [illegible] and vigorously expressed of disaster to the herring industry through the operations of those who are taking herring by means of the trawl.

The fishing industry is a great employer of labor. The number of men and boys regularly employed is given as 37,112, while occasional labor brings the total up to 44,204. For the whole of the British Islands the total number employed is 99,530. It appears that this population is fairly constant, and the prosperity of the industry has in all probability had a stimulating effect on employment in allied trades, especially shipbuilding and engineering.

Defrauding Butcher Punished

Butchers are very prone to label foreign meat as "Prime Scotch" and "English." Albert William Adlington, who has shops in Walton street, Chelsea, and High road, Chiswick, did this and at Westminster was fined $100 with $31.00 costs, the magistrate saying he regarded the offence as one which must be taken notice of in a serious way. Adlington was no doubt trying to steal a march on other tradesmen, and to a certain extent he was defrauding and misleading the public.

RAILWAYS FOR THE PEOPLE

Of the [illegible] shareholders of the Pennsylvania road 49 per cent. are women. The increase in the number of shareholders of the railways in the United States since 1904 has been 115 per cent. This shows the wide-spread degree of interest that is taken by the people themselves in the railways of the country. The Canadian Pacific has something like 65,000 shareholders scattered over the world. [illegible] to give the number in each country; but it is known that [illegible]

Hints on Home Management

Business Efficiency Pays In Kitchen as in Office

By ANN MARIE LLOYD

MEN have often said that women do not know how to lighten household tasks. They have contended that women neither invent, adopt nor evolve labor savers. They insist that women have made little progress in household methods since primitive days. And these statements seem to have more or less truth.

Women, since earliest times, have had to get along with any old utensils for their housework. If there were any new ones to be had, they were bought to make the work of the man of the house easier.

The man reaped the wheat with the newest-fangled reaper. The woman mixed the flour into bread with her calloused and tired hands, just as her mother's mother did. Women have learned to do without—and keep still about it.

Right Tools Needed.

They have been slow in realizing the importance of their job. They are just waking up to the fact that running the home is a business and just as important as the man's business. Now they must learn to run it on business principles, in order to make the money earned through business methods go the farthest and do the most good.

In order to make it a profitable business the woman has the right to appreciate good tools and demand them, satisfactory conditions under which to work and proper pay for her efforts.

As I said before, women are beginning to wake up. I spent a recent summer on a farm in New England. Women had washing machines, bread mixers, vacuum cleaners and a plentiful supply of the smaller utensils which lighten work. They did most of their cooking over an oil stove or in a fireless cooker and had time to sit on the porch and enjoy life. Said one of them to me: "I used to save so Pa could have all the right tools for the farm, but I'm having some of the helps myself now."

There are many homes all over the land which are still indifferent to "helps." The workers are scrimped for means to do the necessary work, conditions are bad under which the work is done, household tasks are done in the hardest way. The woman who does her own work, more often than not, fails to save herself. She will stand on a hard floor and wash or iron, with blistered feet and throbbing head and ragged nerves, when an old piece of cloth, tacked to a carpet lining would make a soft pad and give her ease.

She will carry a slopping pail of water from one end of the room to the other when four casters fastened to a piece of board would let her wheel it about as she wished.

She will bend her aching back over an ironing board which is too low, when a block of wood nailed to each end would raise it to the right height.

She will stand on tip-toe on a rickety chair or a step-ladder to dust a wall or a molding, when in 15 minutes she could tack a piece of cloth to an old broom stick and do the work in half the time, and with a tenth less effort.

She will save $10 to buy a cut-glass dish or a silver ladle and will not spend 10 cents for a strainer, when the one she is using has a hole in the side that makes it unworthy its name.

Kitchen Enterprise.

She will work trees and birds in cross stitch on bath towels and wipe her dishes on her husband's old shirt tail.

She will wear her eyes out putting monograms on linen sheets and use an old cotton sheet to cover the ironing board, which makes an unsatisfactory foundation for the monograms, when there is a heavy, firm material expressly for ironing board covers, costing but a few cents a yard, and if the board is slipped into calico slips when not in use it will last a long time.

Household efficiency is more than a phrase. It means making use of modern methods to carry on a legitimate business—one of the most important and respected enterprises in the working world.

Advice to Girls

By ANNIE LAURIE

Dear Annie Laurie:

I am almost 17 years old, and am going to boarding school, and because I do not care to go around with fellows they call me proud—which I am not.

One night a fellow asked to come home with me, and I let him come; he stayed until I thought he would never go home, and when he did he caught me in his arms and kissed me. I thought that terrible, and began to cry; he was sorry then.

Later I was with a bunch of girls, and some fellows came up to us and wanted to take us home. This fellow was one of them, and I would not let him bring me home. The girls got [illegible] and will not speak, and now [illegible] to [illegible] with [illegible] to school. What could [illegible] or do [illegible]

[illegible] I want your advice. E. R. H.

I WOULDN'T do a thing, little E. R. H.—not a single thing. [illegible] and don't [illegible] you have sense enough to know your own mind, why let them go, they and their hobble-de-hoy beaux. What do you want with them anyway?

The boy you speak of probably thinks you have more sense in your little finger than the whole crowd of them have in their whole bodies put together. No, I do not think it was very nice for him to act as he did, but I do think that you were very sensible yourself, and I haven't a doubt that he thinks so, too. He was just trying you to find out what sort of girl you really were. Now he knows—and likes you a thousand times better than he did before.

If he wants to take you home again, say yes, and notice how much better he will behave this time.

You did right; now don't spoil it all by wishing you had done wrong.

Annie Laurie

Miss Laurie will welcome letters of inquiry on subjects of feminine interest from young women readers of this paper and will reply to them in these columns. They should be addressed to her, care this office.

Peter's Adventures in Matrimony

By LEONA DALRYMPLE

No. 112.

Mary's "At Home."

SO [illegible] my [illegible] expenses [illegible] been added my wife's "At Home" day. I had talked economy so persistently that I felt tired and disgusted [illegible] I [illegible] "at home" idea go by without objection. [illegible] situation suddenly made me furiously angry.

"Did your mother suggest [illegible] day?" I demanded.

"Everybody around here has one," evaded Mary. "It's the proper thing."

"I wonder," I pointed out, "if you realize that you'll have to buy expensive wafers, make sandwiches, tea, and maybe punch. Then there's lemon and sugar and cream—it's bound to count up."

"I don't see how you can have such a cheap mind!" exclaimed Mary indignantly. "It wouldn't take more than three or four lemons at most."

[illegible]

you're mad! I gave you enough for that and more to spare. What in the world did you do with it?"

"Do I have to account for every single penny I spend—like—like a common servant?" flashed my wife.

"If you will be so good," I said evenly, "you will tell me exactly what you have done with this particular sum of money. It is necessary that I should [illegible]"

"Well," said Mary, "I had to buy [illegible] doily [illegible] and some smaller ones—they're edged with real Cluny, and they're expensive. I can't have people coming here 'at home' [illegible] They can see the house is nicely furnished, and it—it wouldn't look well. Mother says 'always buy good things at the beginning.' It's the [illegible] of economy. Then they last. You've said the same yourself."

But I was too indignant to answer. The money I had given Mary for a furniture [illegible] had gone for fool [illegible] an 'at home' day in which I [illegible] interest or sympathy [illegible] put on my hat and coat and started for the door.

"Where [illegible]" [illegible] Mary.

"Out," said I curtly. I banged the door.

That my wife would [illegible] over to her mother's I knew [illegible]. That she would pour forth the whole situation into a very attentive ear I was equally sure. Indeed, as I swung rapidly on in the cold night air, I tortured myself with building imaginary critical dialogues between my wife and my mother-in-law.

My mother-in-law! The very words made me grind my teeth in impotent fury. [illegible] extravagant influence leading Mary on to all sorts of financial indiscretions. Why had we never found our income insufficient [illegible] a comfortable distance off from the [illegible] my expensive [illegible] expensive furniture [illegible] and, last of all, this accursed "at home" [illegible] I could attribute to my mother-in-law.

I [illegible] and it was midnight [illegible] still angry and unhappy and worried.

WHAT A MUSIC CAREER MEANS

Marie Hertenstein.

Hard Work the Price of Artistic Success

By CECILE MANNING

MARIE HERTENSTEIN, the young pianist, who recently was declared by members of the American colony in Berlin to be the most beautiful of their countrywomen now in that city, is strong in the belief that an American girl desiring to study music in Europe is perfectly safe in the venture, provided she pays strict attention to her own affairs and applies herself to the task at hand.

"Apropos of the agitation of the moment against an American studying music in Europe," Miss Hertenstein [illegible] certain there is no reason in the world why a young girl should not go to Europe to acquire her musical education, provided she wishes to do so.

"My motto has been, 'Mind my own business.' In following out this suggestion, in the ten years I have spent in Europe, I have yet to be treated in any but a courteous manner by my preceptors, or others connected with music.

"For young girls taking up the serious study of the piano, there are several hard and fast rules which must be followed if real artistic success is to be attained.

"First and paramount, whether abroad or at home, is the matter of the selection of a teacher. Choose the best. The price per lesson should not be counted. By this I mean a cheap teacher is generally sure to use cheap methods. One lesson from a competent instructor is worth more than a million from an incompetent one.

"The sooner the pupil comes to a full realization of what an artistic career really means the better. Long hours of [illegible] work are ahead of the aspirant. An analysis of the [illegible] successes will quickly demonstrate this point. Only those who have assiduously applied themselves have succeeded in raising their artistic heads above water.

"Then, again, as the technical skill of the pupil advances, she must at once begin to disabuse herself of the almost generally accepted idea that the acquisition of technique is the major part of piano playing. In a [illegible] this is true, but a technician without musicianship and interpretative genius soon finds her [illegible] place in the background."

Blue and Rose Season's Latest Shades

By MABEL MARVEL

IN spite of flounces [illegible] draping [illegible] great designers have the courage of their artistic convictions [illegible] to beauty of line and simplicity of detail, following the classic [illegible] of [illegible] and [illegible] create gowns that are delightful [illegible] that [illegible] an attraction as they are different.

Blue, Silver and Rose.

Such is the gown shown, designed by one of the French dress artists, and worn by a noted beauty at a recent Parisian fete. The fact that the wearer was the target for the lorgnons of all other women guests, and that orders for similar gowns followed the affair, gives evidence that [illegible] the unrelievedly draped gowns of the moment is perfectly possible, if some attractive and original substitutes were offered.

The gown illustrated is of pale blue mousseline brocaded in silver, the interweaving of the silver on the blue giving the effect of moonlight. It is in one piece and sleeveless, save for the angel-wing drapery at the shoulder. It follows absolutely the lines of the natural and uncorseted figure, gives not the slightest concession to the existence of a waistline and is slightly draped between bust and knees. The drapery is drawn to the side, giving a slight fulness in front which accentuates the straight-up-and-down lines of the figure.

Garlands of pink roses are used over the shoulder and down the side front to the hem. Just under the bust line there is a suggestion of a girdle, essentially Grecian.

Drapery Clings Close.

The gown is mounted over faint pink chiffon and clings to the figure following every curve. To wear successfully such a gown a woman must conform to classic proportions, having neither too little and, above all, not the fatal europe too-much avoirdupois.

This combination of pink and blue is one of the most popular of the season. The French designers have always favored it, and this year it has been generally adopted. Nattier blue and pink, [illegible] and either [illegible] pink or deep rose, dark blue and rose, all the varieties of [illegible] and pink are combined in gowns, suits, silks, chiffons and millinery with universally pleasing results.

[illegible] to silk or chiffon [illegible] continues to be used to trim the summer evening frocks. The same designer that is responsible for this gown uses blush pink rose-shading to gold at their hearts to edge the tunic of a pale yellow [illegible] embroidered in gold and brocade [illegible]

What Causes Old Age; How You Can Avoid It

By DR. LEONARD KEENE HIRSHBERG

A. B., M. A., M. D. (Johns Hopkins).

DR. HIRSHBERG

LIKE most things which everybody believes the silly platitude "when age is in, the wit is out," is not true.

If there is anything which makes people madder than a wet hen oftener than to wake them from their cherished dreams, it is unknown to humble me.

Age, like financial pre-eminence and eminent position, is not proof against errors. Nor is it true that manhood, when it verges into age, grows more thoughtful. The contrary is the truth. The more thoughts a man learns the younger he becomes.

Years do not make age, because time, according to psychology, is only a relative matter. It depends only on changes inside of you and me, not outside of us.

The swing of the pendulum, the tick of the clock, the revolution of the earth do not make time. These things move relatively to human life.

Time's Substance.

Pale, withered hands, weazened, trembling bodies may come at any time, according to your ancestry, yourself and your surroundings. The minutes, days, months, years, even ages, are the accidents—you are the substance of which time is made.

There can be no finer heritage than tissues trained to a long career. Justly proud may be any man who can point to grandfathers and grandmothers who passed beyond this life only when over 80 annual thresholds.

Time fleeting in its hurried gait stamps not wrinkles or decay upon any man. 'Tis blasts, distempers, appetites and excesses of you, yourself, and your forbears.

To prevent old age, then, is not to stem the tide of years. It is not the attempt to thwart nature's panoramic changes of going nights and coming days.

To draw on futurity, to steal a march on age, to forestall the drying up of the blood and the cloyed appetites you must begin at 20.

Early to bed, rather than early to rise, are among the greatest essentials to a long life. An outdoor life, full of sunlight, enthusiasm and fresh air sports is necessary, but swimming, golfing and all other exercise will be futile if early hours of good recuperating rest are not among the requisites.

Knowledge at Hand.

The knowledge of how to postpone old age is like the knowledge of how to prevent typhoid, diphtheria and smallpox—ready at hand. It is only a question of using this knowledge.

Plain food, uncontaminated with condiments, is imperative as a senile prophylactic.

A rigid regimen in the way of calm, deliberate mental habits is among the life-long disciplines of absorbing necessity to a hundred years of youth. If there is anything which contributes more to the fruition of a youthful five score of years than the avoidance of excessive exercise, excessive eating, excessive wakefulness and the excesses of ravaging infectious disorders, it is emotional strain, passion and outburst of sentimentality.

One of these aging, irritating things which gives wrinkly, sour faces to many proud people who think themselves good is the tendency of human nature and the law to certain seeming sins.

Many ascetic persons, who consider themselves very good and strait-laced, shrivel themselves up into premature senility by denouncing and hunting down the wickedness in [illegible]. Indeed, when these anti-vice scribes and pharisees do not see badness [illegible] tormented, terrorized and inquisitioned they feel themselves unappreciated.

This emotion strain and irritation causes an excess of thyroid, pineal, adrenal, pituitary and the other glandular juices to be poured into the vital rivulets. The wear and tear causes hardening and general decay. This old age is luckily independent of the flight of years.

Answers to Health Questions

R. L. P.—1—Can you tell me any way to eliminate all the uric acid from the system? 2—I've been told to live entirely on milk.

1—No. If you wish to be murdered the best way is to take something to get rid of all your uric acid! Uric acid is as necessary as your saliva. Forget this antiquated fallacy. 2—You can die on an exclusive milk diet, but you cannot live on it.

ENTHUSIASTIC DISCIPLE—I have a half-tired feeling in my limbs upon arising which wears off usually later in the day. Seems to be aggravated when I haven't slept well. Am 23 years old. 2—Will you kindly explain what induces fermentation in the stomach? What beside disease in the chest may cause a cough?

1—Go to bed one hour earlier and take a cold wash before you do so. Awaken an hour earlier, then turn over and snooze again for half an hour. Have plenty of air in the room. 2—Fermentation is due to growth of bacteria in the food, which remains there too long. Usually the muscular coat of the stomach is weak and neglected, just as the muscles of the arm grow flabby from lack of tone or exercise.

The Good Night Story

Dobbin and the Lion—By VERNON MERRY

ONCE upon a time there was an old horse named Dobbin that had come to be so old he could not plough any more. His master did not want him for carriage use because he had just bought an automobile, and he felt it hard that he had to feed Dobbin when Dobbin could not do any work. The master sat down in front of the horse one night in the stable and thought about it a long time. He nodded as he thought.

"Dobbin," the man said, "I hate to spend money on oats and hay when you don't earn any money for me. I'll tell you what I'll do: I am going to turn you loose to get your own food, but if you bring me back a lion I'll keep you in food, myself, as long as you live."

Poor old Dobbin went out into the woods with drooping head. His heart was nearly breaking when a fox ran out from the bushes and asked him why he was so sad. So Dobbin told him all about his master and the lion.

"Look here," said the fox. "I'll fix it for you. You lie down as if you were dead. Now, don't you move a muscle until I get back."

With that the fox ran away to where a lion lived, and he called to the lion and said:

"Oh, Mister Lion, come with me. I know where there is a dead horse in the woods, and you can have a fine dinner."

The lion was pleased at Mister Fox's thoughtfulness, and he ran with him to where Dobbin lay perfectly still in the road. When the lion saw Dobbin he licked his chops and said:

"This is a fine meal all right, but I can't eat him here. How can I drag such a big beast away?"

"That's easy," chuckled the fox. "Lie down and let me tie your tail to the tail of the horse, then you can drag him easily."

The lion agreed, and when the fox tied the two tails together he entangled Dobbin's tail so firmly in the lion's legs that he could not move. "Get up and go home—giddap!" clucked the fox.

So Dobbin walked into the home stable with his lion.

The noise of a falling pitchfork woke Dobbin's owner. He stared at Dobbin. Dobbin was quietly eating, and there was no sign of a lion. His master rubbed his eyes.

"Well," he said, "I guess I must have been dreaming, but I won't turn good old Dobbin out. I'll keep him comfortable as long as I can. See how sad his eyes are."

WORD ORIGINS

A dun took its name from a celebrated bailiff of London during the reign of Henry VII. named Joe Dunn. He was extremely clever in devising ways and means to compel unwilling creditors to settle their accounts, and hence the saying, "Send Dunn after him" or "Dun him."

UNITED STATES LEVIES A WAR ASSESSMENT

Washington, Sept. 21.—Stock brokers who have protested against a proposed special tax of $50 a year will not escape assessment. Democrats of the ways and means committee determined today to include them in the war revenue bill which is now being perfected.

Argument that brokers should not be taxed because stock exchanges now are closed was not regarded as sufficient to entitle brokers to exemption.

The stock exchange bill was not complete today. Stamp duties will be taken up tomorrow.

Democrats today approved of the additional tax of fifty cents a barrel on beer, the tax of two cents a gallon on gasoline and the special taxes on bankers, brokers and tobacco dealers. It is proposed to fix the wine tax at fourteen cents a gallon on dry wines and two cents on sweet wines. The matter was left open pending a hearing.

The World Judges Against Germany

Count von Bernstorff, German ambassador to the United States, has made public g statement showing the attitude of his country towards peace. His statement contains as many falsehoods as could be crowded into the few sentences in question. One of the saddest revelations of this war has been the exhibition of deceitfulness and actual mendacity on the part of German generals, diplomats and statesmen. The sturdy qualities which made Germans prominent and useful to society in time of peace have been lost in the uprise of propensity fot falsehood and double dealing.

Count von Bernstorff's statement, "the world knows that Germany never wanted war," must inevitably give rise to sarcastic comment and stern reproof. Germany has never ceased to prepare for war. Her toast to "The Day" has floated on the four winds of Heaven since the present Emperor ascended the throne. Here is a very belated statement of Germany's policy. The world knows that Germany held the peace of Europe in her hands immediately Austria had sent the provocative ultimatum to Servia. A word from the German Emperor could have prevented war. Instead of speaking it, he rejected every proposal made by Sir Edward Grey looking to a settlement of the difficulty by arbitration, and bluntly refused to make any suggestions for arbitration himself. The world knows this from the White Paper that has been published by Germany as well as Great Britain. But Germany believed her hour had struck, or "the day" had dawned. She most pointedly and deliberately refused to consider peace "under honorable conditions," which was suggested many times to her.

Before the war Germany was not ready for peace under honorable conditions. According to Count von Bernstorff she is now. But what is the situation now? The German fleet is skulking in hiding while the German commerce is a prey to her enemies. The German armies in the field are hurled back from Paris, and are standing with their backs to the wall. All this high handed talk about what Germany will take and not take sounds very feeble in the light of what is happening, or not happening, in the North Sea and in Europe.

So the German policy is peace with honor, "live and let live," is it? Reconcile with that policy her willingness to let Austria crush little Servia, and her own act in crushing down little Belgium, burning her cities and mutilating her manhood and her womanhood. The German idea of peace with honor is peculiar to herself. The world does not share it. The world is a pretty good jury, and its verdict has been given against Germany. Count von Bernstorff's statement only emphasizes the necessity of crushing Germany, since she still holds to her doctrine that might is right. A peace with Germany giving and taking would simply mean a postponement of the tragedy.

Chest Colds and Hoarseness Quickly Rubbed Away

"Nerviline" Gives Speedy Relief and Cures Over Night.

Got a cold?

Is your voice raspy—is your chest congested or sore?

If so, you are the very person that Nerviline will cure in a jiffy.

Nerviline is strong and penetrating. It sinks right into the tissues, takes out inflammation and soreness, destroys colds in a truly wonderful way. Rub Nerviline over the chest—rub on lots of it, and watch that tightness disappear. Nerviline won't blister, it sinks in too fast—doesn't simply stay on the surface like a thick, oily liniment would. If the throat is raspy and sore, rub it well outside with Nerviline, and use Nerviline as a gargle diluted with warm water. Just one or two treatments like this and your voice and throat will be quick normal again.

Just think of it—for forty years the largest used family medicine in this country—Nerviline must be good, must quickly relieve and cure a hundred ills that befall every family. Try it for earache, toothache, coughs, colds, sore chest, hoarseness and muscular pains in every part of the body. Large family size bottle 50c; trial size 25c. at all dealers.

The City and It's Unemployed

Appreciable relief is being afforded our army of unemployed in the prosecution of street paving work. Operations on the new outfall sewer have been delayed owing to the lack of cement pipe. Owing to the sandy and spongy nature of the soil through which this sewer is to traverse it is necessary to lay the pipe as soon as excavation is ready. The manufacture of these cement pipes is now being rushed, and as soon—very shortly now—as sufficient quantity is on hand to assure the pipe-laying keeping apace with excavating, work on this sewer will be started. It might not be out of place to suggest that the work be carried on as long as absolutely practicable in a fight with weather conditions, even though the cost of operations is thereby increased. At this crisis economy must give place to the crying need for employment. The labor army of Peterborough must live, and they may better do so at an increased cost of production to the city for permanent improvements than on a revenue for charity produced from the city's assessment.

J. W. Flavelle, of Toronto, came back from England greatly impressed with the capacity shown by the British nation, and by British public men in particular, in the face of the gravest crisis in history. The cool efficiency with which the whole nation grappled with an unprecedented situation earned the admiration of all observers, and Mr. Flavelle left for Canada fully imbued with the conviction that instead of being decadent, England is more virile than ever before in her history. He was particularly struck with the efforts of the premier and Sir Edward Grey to avert war, and with the immense capacity shown by Mr. Lloyd George at the treasury; Mr. Winston Churchill at the admiralty, and Lord Kitchener at the war office.

BRITISH-CANADIAN

Do you desire to make large profits on your investment in Alberta Oil Shares?

If you do you must use good judgment in the selection of the companies in which you invest.

In order that you may use this good judgment it is absolutely necessary that you investigate and analyze a company thoroughly before placing your money in its shares.

In order that you may do this in the case of the British Canadian Oils, Ltd., we hereby give you the information we have secured through our rigid investigation and analysis of said company, and in giving this information we would say that we believe it is correct in every detail.

(1) The British Canadian Oils, Ltd., is incorporated for $1,000,000; 10,000,000 shares at the par value of 10c.

(2) About 500,000 shares of the stock have already been sold, and are now in the hands of the investing public.

(3) The Directors' and Officers' stock is all pooled.

(4) The Company is the holder of petroleum and natural gas leases on over 7,000 acres of land in the Province of Alberta.

(5) The Directors, Officers and Solicitors of the Company are all reliable and conscientious business men who have the welfare of the company at heart, and who desire in every manner in their power to give the public a square run for their money.

(6) The Company is now erecting on Section 31, Township 24, Range 4, an up-to-date combination rotary and standard rig.

(7) The Company expects to commence drilling inside of 3 days, and continue with all possible despatch.

(8) The Company has secured as Field Superintendent a man who knows his business thoroughly.

(9) The said Superintendent has engaged competent drillers to carry out his instructions.
(10) The treasury of the Company is now well financed.

(11) A reputable local geologist in reporting on adjoining property makes the following statement in said report:

"There is a plunging tendency in the crest of the anticline which causes its crest to sink toward the Elbow river. The crest of this dome-shaped structure seems to be in the neighborhood of Section 31, of Township 24, and Section 6 of Township 25."

(12) A reputable petroleum engineer in reply to an enquiry from us, stated that the lease held by the British Canadian Oils, Ltd., in Section 31, is situated on the most perfect anticline he has seen in Western Alberta.

(13) British Canadian shares are listed on the three Calgary exchanges, and are very active traders.

(14) The price of British Canadian shares is very low at the present time; we expect to see it go much higher.

In view of the above information secured by us, we have no hesitation whatever in advising you to at once buy the shares of the British Canadian Oils, Limited, at 15c per share, believing that you will get a square run for your money, and big profits on your investment.

We are prepared to fill your orders for British Canadian shares at 15c each, but this price is subject to raise without notice. Any new strike in the oil field, or any other exciting report might send this stock to a very high price. We would suggest that you wire us at our expense and let your remittance follow, or if you prefer, write us and enclose your remittance.

Our market letter giving information on the Alberta Oil Fields is free for the asking. Write for it.

INTRODUCTION

The Glenaladale Silver Black Fox Company, Limited, was incorporated in 1913 with six pairs of foxes, at $60,000. This Campany re-capitalized in 1914, with 20 pairs of beautiful Silver Black Foxes, at $15,000 per pair, making a total capitalization of $300,000.

THE FOXES

Six pairs (one year old) proven breeders, and fourteen pairs (1914 pups), making a total of 20 pairs — all young foxes— good for at least 10 years. This Company has bought some of this year's options on foxes with a guarantee that they are pedigreed and of the highest strain and very best quality P. E. Island famous foxes.

THE RANCH

The ranch is situated on the well known Glenaladale Farm, owned by Major C. McKinnon, formerly the homestead of Sir William McDonald, and is only 12 miles from Charlottetown, in a quiet locality sufficiently removed from any disturbance.

THE RANCHER

Mr. Arthur W. McKinnon, our Ranch Manager, has had much experience in breeding foxes, and has the practical knowledge necessary to efficiently manage and care for the animals.

The foxes will be ranched free of charge to the Company for the first year. This means a large saving to the shareholders, as some companies have to pay as high as 25 per cent. of the increase for ranching purposes.

The promoters of this Company are retaining $80,000 worth of stock for themselves. $20,000 worth has already been disposed of, leavinb $200,000 to be offered to investors at $25.00 per share, with a guarantee that a dividend of 50 per cent. will be paid in cash in 1915, or whatever more it may be.

The Glenaladale Silver Black Fox Co., Limited, in 1913 guaranteed a dividend of 50 per cent. but are going to pay 50 per cent. in cash and 50 per cent., in stock in 1914. The Company is in good standing and to each and every investor the first of September, 1914, we can say:— "We have given you 50 per cent. more than we promised." And we feel sure that in 1915 all the shareholders in this re-capitalized company will be able to say they received more than they were promised.

This Company can truthfully say that they have not one cent of watered stock in the Company. Now Mr. Investor, if you were a Company and we the shareholders, we would look to you for justice to give us all that was honestly due us. We would not like for you to buy 3 pairs of foxes at $15,000 per pair ($45,000) and form a fox company and capitalize your concern at $90,000 and make us pay, as shareholders, for it. The Glenaladale Silver Black Fox Company, Limited, will ask you to do nothing like that. We want to let you in on the ground floor.

NOTICE

When a fox company guarantees any specified dividend to its shareholders, and when said company is an incorporated body, you need not be afraid of any unfair play, for such company is compelled to pay what they promise, and, besides, every interest is taken for the welfare of both the investor and the company.

The promoters of this company are all above board and will not permit any crook to come in and do anything that is not right. Anyone holding stock in this Company who is dissatisfied can, by notifying the Secretary-Treasurer, have his or her money promptly refunded.

FORTUNES IN FOXES

There is money in fox ranching more than anything else ever known. It is good for the rich man and good for the poor man. A poor man cannot buy a pair of Silver Black Foxes but he can easily raise $25.00, $50.00 or $100.00. By investing in this Company he gets back his money in at least two years and then he will have an income for life and for his children to come—and after there will be money in fox farming. One of the reasons for this is that P. E. Island has now 95 per cent. of the world's foxes in captivity. For every one pelt that can be raised there are more than 25 wealthy people waiting for it in London, Russia, France and America.

PELT VALUES

The Fox Pelts have advanced greatly in price since 1910 and you can see for yourself what money was in them then.

Below are the particulars of sale of a consignment of Silver Fox Furs, shipped from Prince Edward Island Niches to London, England, and sold there in March, 1910:

These figures may be verified by enquiry to Messrs. C. M. Lampson & Company, 64 Queen Street, London.

SHARES

Shares are selling at $25.00 each; 25 per cent. with application and the balance on or before September 1st, 1914.

Simply fill out the application form and mail to Major C. McKinnon, Secretary-Treasurer, Glenaladale, P. E. I.

All cheques must be made payable to "The Glenaladale Silver Black Fox Co., Ltd."

A POINTER

Just to give you a little idea of what the free ranching of foxes mean to the investor, we will figure it out for you.

We have twenty pairs of foxes in the ranch and suppose each pair produces a litter of only four foxes this is equal to 40 pairs and at $15,000 per year it would figure out at $600,000. Now, if we had to pay even 15 per cent. of the increase for ranching purposes (which is considerably lower than some companies pay) it would mean that we would have to pay $90,000 for ranching expenses.

We ranch the foxes free for the first year, so that in addition to a guaranteed dividend of 50 per cent., we save you this large outlay of money. While we guarantee 50 per cent., still should each pair in our ranch produce four pups it would mean that your dividend would be about 200 per cent. instead of 50 per cent.

FINAL WORD

A great deal has been written about Ranches, Grades of Foxes, etc., but after all the one object that every investor should keep before him is the dividend he is going to get. We have tried to show you in plain English what we can do for you and now that you have our proposition, compare it with the offer made by any other company now in business— and then judge for yourself to have been paid by some of the Charlottetown daily newspapers.

GERMAN AUTHORITY IN PACIFIC GONE

London, Sept. 22.—The destruction of the wireless telegraphy station on the Island Nauru, which removes the last German stationary wireless apparatus in the Pacific Ocean is reported in a despatch to the Reuter Telegram Company today from Sydney, New South Wales. The British flag now flies over the island, although the German governor and his staff have been allowed to remain.

Scattered fighting has taken place at Rabaul, Neupommern, an island in the Bismarck archipelago. The natives under German leaders proved very troublesome, but the Australian landing party took to cover cleverly and suffered no loss. After this skirmish Rabaul practically surrendered.

Dr. Pockley, a member of the Australian Red Cross detachment, was shot by a German officer after he had removed his coat with the Red Cross band on the sleeve to cover a wounded man.

INDUSTRIAL AND SOCIAL OUTLOOK FOR CANADA

Commissoner Lamb, of the Salvation Army, Treats of Conditions in An Intelligent Manner, Now is the Time to Meet Emergencies

At this important time in the history of the Dominion, permit me to submit a few observations and offer the following suggestions for your consideration. In doing so I am satisfied that the men of affairs in Canada who have in the past shown such capacity for development and organization will not fail at this juncture to develop schemes to meet the need.

Now is the time to do the clear thinking and the quiet preparation necessary to meet the emergencies likely to arise from the changing conditions with which the country will be confronted during the coming months. Do not wait until they are upon you.

Two general propositions will, I dareway, be universally accepted :

(1) That Canada cannot afford to have a single idle man or woman. Apart from the fact that work means food and shelter for the worker (and it may mean nothing more) the need of the Empire calls for every person contributing his or her share to the common wealth. Should not we all be working overtime?

(2) That work of a directly productive nature should have a first place in your consideration.

Failure to organize our civil forces would indicate a failure of the organizing brain power of the country — a state of affairs I cannot conceive. Idleness is at all times waste—at this stage it would be a wicked waste!

I am not going to attempt to formulate schemes for meeting the needs of the unemployed, for obviously they will vary according to the local requirements and opportunities, and each community ought to take its share in this matter. But I venture to make the following suggestions, and in doing so I am assuming that all employers of labor, including of course Public Authorities, will continue to strive to maintain as far as possible normal conditions, and that you will only be called upon to address yourself to the abnormal state created by the War.

(1) That without delay all possible public works should be scheduled in three classes :—

(a) Local ;
(b) Provincial ;
(c) Federal.

and that financial considerations be governed accordingly.

(2) That in considering the foregoing preference be given to schemes calling for the minimums of capital expenditure in plant, etc., Utilisation of existing implements so long as they are reasonably effective is of more importance at this time than anything else. It would be ten thousand pities if when any special efforts were ended there was nothing left but useless machinery.

(3) That special consideration be given to the cultivation of land for immediate production and in preparation for the probable influx of a large number of settlers at the close of the War. The possibility of spade work on city lots and on land in close proximity to cities should not be overlooked.

(4) That in all public works so scheduled the ordinary rate of wages be suspended, and that some special scale be applied and, in the last resort, that need only provide for food for the worker and his family.

(5) That leaders should come forward prepared to organize the thousands of people throughout Canada who do not feel called upon to fight, but who, I believe, are greedy and willing to organize, to sacrifice, to work, and to endure for the safety of the Empire.

(6) I venture further to suggest that the present state of affairs calls NOT FOR CHARITY but for cool, hard-headed (warm-hearted if you like) business treatment. When that is done there will probably still be left enough "by-products" and "mis-fits" to keep the charitable organizations busy.

I pray God to guide you and your colleagues in all your deliberations, and that we have a speedy and permanent peace.

Yours sincerely,
DAVID C. LAMB,
Commissioner, S. Army,
(International Secretary)

Commissioner Lamb, whose contribution on a vital question appears above, is the International Secretary of the Salvation Army, with Headquarters in London, Eng., and who has had charge of the Army's Immigration and Colonization work for many years. The Commissioner has recently visited Australia, New Zealand and has within the last few weeks visited most of the Canadian cities of importance from Halifax to Victoria, and has thus had an opportunity of studying Social and Industrial conditions, not only in Great Britain, but in Canada, and elsewhere, and is regarded as an authority on social and industrial questions.

(We are indebted to the Commissioner for his valued article, which is exceedingly well timed.—Ed.)

Flanking Movement Needed Many Rnmors Here and Therv

London, Sept. 22.—The dearth of official news this morning from the long battle front in the western arena of the war has led to the usual crop of rumors. These attract interest, and in the minds of some people are important, from the fact that originating simultaneously at widely different points they seem more or less to confirm each other. The unsubstantiated report from Antwerp to the effect that General Von Kluck, the commander of the German right wing, has removed his headquarters back to Mons, completes these rumors.

The latest official communication from Paris, even more laconic than usual, declares that the Allies are making progress between Rheims and the Argonne, although the fighting during the day of yesterday was less vicious.

A wounded professor, who has returned to Paris, from the front, has supplemented the official news with the declaration that the Allies on their left, have advanced 7 miles.

2,000,000 In Galician Fight.

If the report that Gen. Von Kluck has moved his headquarters back to Mons be true, it will be of the greatest importance, as showing his recognition of the danger which might threaten him from an army marching from the west.

The third great battle between the Russians and Austrians in Galicia, which started with a bombardment of Przemysl, in which 2,000,000 men are said to be engaged, is expected to be in full swing within a few hours when the whole line along the new positions occupied by the Austrians between Przemysl and Cracow will be involved.

Need Flanking Movement.

Nowhere else along the battle line is any great effort being made to carry a frontal attack, and unless one side or the other executes an outflanking movement, Rheims may witness the most decisive battle of the war

Belgian sorties continue from the shelter of Antwerp, but neither the Belgians nor the Germans have brought about any real change in their relative positions in this district.

From Petrograd comes stories of the continued flight of the broken Austrian armies in Galicia, while at the same time Vienna declares that these armies are reorganizing for offensive action. It would seem clear, however, that only Przemysl is today standing out against the total occupation of Galicia by Russia.

GIRLS! DRAW A MOIST CLOTH THROUGH HAIR

Try this! Hair gets thick, glossy wavy and beautiful at once— Stops falling out.

Immediate? — Yes! Certain—that's the joy of it. Your hair becomes light, wavy, fluffy, abundant and appears as soft, lustrous and beautiful as a young girl's after a Danderine hair cleanse. Just try this—moisten a cloth with a little Danderine and carefully draw it through your hair, taking one small strand at a time. This will cleanse the hair of dust, dirt or excessive oil, and in just a few moments you have doubled the beauty of your hair. A delightful surprise awaits those whose hair has been neglected or is scraggy, faded, dry, brittle or thin. Besides beautifying the hair, Danderine dissolves every particle of dandruff; cleanses, purifies and invigorates the scalp, forever stopping itching and falling hair, but what will please you most will be after a few week's use, when you see new hair—fine and downy at first—yes—but really new hair growing all over the scalp. If you care for pretty, soft hair, and lots of it, surely get a 25 cent bottle of Knowlton's Danderine from any drug store or toilet counter and just try it.

SEALED TENDERS addressed to the undersigned, and endorsed "Tender for Electric Passenger and Freight Elevators, Langevin Block, Ottawa, Ont.," will be received at this office until 4.00 P.M. on Friday, October 2, 1914, for the installation of three (3) standard passenger and one (1) standard freight elevators, in the Langevin Block, Ottawa, Ont.

Plans, specification and form of contract can be seen and forms of tender obtained on application to this Department, at the offices of Mr. Thos. Hastings, Clerk of Works, Postal Station "F", Toronto, Ont., and Mr. R. L. Deschamps, Superintendent of Public Buildings, Montreal, Que.

Persons tendering are notified that tenders will not be considered unless made on the printed forms supplied, and signed with their actual signatures, stating their occupations and places of residence. In the case of firms, the actual signature, the nature of occupation, and place of residence of each member of the firm must be given.

Each tender must be accompanied by an accepted cheque on a chartered bank, payable to the order of the Honourable the Minister of Public Works, equal to ten per cent. (10 p.c.) of the amount of the tender, which will be forfeited if the person tendering decline to enter into a contract when called upon to do so, or fail to complete the work contracted for. If the tender be not accepted the cheque will be returned.

The Department does not bind itself to accept the lowest or any tender.

An Appeal to the Intelligent Investor !

Does a logical presentation of a good investment interest you? Do you believe there is an oil in commercial quantities in Alberta? If you are alive to the situation you do. Then it will pay you to investigate our proposition and our holdings.

Please Read Carefully and Note!

THAT Oil authorities are agreed the Alberta Oil Field is of an anticlinal formation. It has been fairly accurately ascertained in what general direction these anticlines run. Geologist B. W. Dunn chose wisely in the selection of the now famous Monarch well. WINDSOR OILFIELDS, LIMITED, has holdings located close to the Monarch.

THAT Cunningham Craig, one of the world's most eminent geologists, selected the site of the Mowbray-Berkeley well. Stock in that company is not offered at any price. We possess acreage adjoining the Mowbray-Berkeley (Section 12, Township 23, Range 5, West of 5th). If a strike is made at the Mowbray-Berkeley what will shares in our company be worth?

Our holdings consist of 1380 acres, carefully selected and judiciously spread over the entire oil field.

ENGLAND'S GREATEST NAMES

Interesting Debate on Which County Produced Most Illustrious Men

Many readers will probably dispute the decision arrived at by the judges at a debate on the subject of which English county has produced the greatest men, given by the Society of Warwickshire Folk in London, who, after listening to the champions of celebrities of thirteen counties, gave their verdict in favor of Lancashire. Lancashire was the native county of John Bright whose oratory fascinated and enthralled men, among other famous statesmen which it claims being Gladstone, who was born at Liverpool, Sir Robert Peel, born near Bury, and Lord Morley, who claims Blackburn as his native place.

In literature the county is very strongly represented: De Quincey, Mrs. Hemans, the famous poetess, Hall Caine, Harrison Ainsworth, and Richard Le Gallienne, being among other famous authors who were born in Lancashire. Neither must one forget Sir Richard Arkwright, the inventor of the cotton-spinning frame, Romney, the famous painter; and such actors as John Kemble, Sothern, and Edmund Kean, three of the greatest who ever appeared on the English stage.

Hampshire and Derbyshire

Hampshire is proudly referred to by its people and admirers as the cradle of the English race—the cradle of the ecclesiastical system, cradle of the English Navy, and the cradle of the national game of cricket. Palmerston, Thomas Arnold, Charles Dickens, George Meredith, Millais, and Tennyson, who, though he was born in Lincolnshire, had his favorite residence in the Isle of Wight, are men who have added lustre to little Hampshire.

"Mr. Morice" Gerard (the Rev. J. Jessop Teague), author of many popular books, proudly claims for Derbyshire that it is the county which started everything. In other words that its famous men were the pioneers in all things. It produced James Brindley, founder of canals; Sir Francis Chantrey, one of the finest sculptors who ever lived; Herbert Spencer, the founder of that school in which Huxley and Darwin graduated; Sir Hugh Willoughby, the first of a long line of explorers who set out in the sixteenth century from Deptford to find the Northeast passage; Sir James Outram, the Bayard of India; and last but not least, "Little John," Robin Hood's great small man.

Claims of Warwickshire

On the other hand, Warwickshire claims to have produced Robin Hood himself, and among other greater celebrities Shakespeare, acknowledged to be among the greatest of Englishmen, Walter Savage Landor, George Eliot, Sir Edwin Arnold, David Cox, Sir Francis Galton, Burne-Jones, James Watt, Richard Baxter, and Cardinal Newman.

Mr. Joseph Chamberlain was certainly born in Camberwell, but his finest work was done in Warwickshire, where he spent the greater part of his life.

Gallant little Sussex, however, not only claims to have produced the man who evolved the mangel-wurzel, but such men as Cobden and Shelley. It is also not a little proud of the fact that F. W. Lillywhite, one of the fathers of cricket, was a Sussex man. But the Channel Islands do not feel inclined to give way to any English county in regard to sporting champions, for it was from Jersey that those two wonderful golfers Ray and Vardon came.

Good old "Zummerset" claims Henry Fielding, father of the English novel, who was born a few miles from Glastonbury. It also produced Roger Bacon, father of science; Chatterton, the boy poet; Sebastian Cabot, the great explorer; Sir Henry Irving, too, came from Somerset, as well as John Locke, one of the greatest philosophers of his time, not to mention John Bull, who was erroneously believed to be the author of "God Save the King," and who was a Somersetshire man and a notable scientist.

Nelson a Norfolk Man

Those pioneers of liberty, Coke, Walpole, and Tom Paine, as well as Nelson, Lord Cromer, and George Borrow, hailed from Norfolk; while Yorkshire is represented by the two famous explorers and pioneers, Captain Cook and Frobisher. William Wilberforce, too, was a Yorkshire man, while mention might also be made of Lord Hawke, the famous English admiral.

WASTED $250,000

Rich Man Reduced to Singing For Coppers and Asking For Crusts

A man who had been left several fortunes, and after spending all came to be charged with begging, found himself in the dock at Northwich, England.

He was John Marsh, aged sixty-nine, of St. Helens. He declared that he had been left by various relatives sums totalling $250,000, which had all been spent in drinking, gambling, and helping others. He had inherited his [illegible] spendthrift nature and his [illegible]er's generosity.

He was formerly in a grocery and confectionery business at St. Helens, but now worked for farmers solely for his food, varying the monotony by singing in publichouses songs of his own composition, and dancing.

Reduced to hunger, he pleaded, he simply begged a crust. His one desire was to tide over another year to qualify for an old age pension, as he had an aversion to becoming a pauper. The magistrate gave him money to help him on his way, and dismissed the case.

FIFTY MILE GOLF DRIVE

Certain extraordinary facts with respect to Mars have been established by the astronomers, says an article in the "London Magazine."

It is known that the size and density of Mars are so much less than the size and density of the earth that a man weighing 300 pounds here would weigh only 75 pounds there. Lead there would weigh no more than stone with us, and stone there no more than water here.

A man on Mars would be nearly three times more powerful than an earth-dweller. He could leap a wall 8 feet 4 inches in height with no more effort than it would cost him here to spring over a 3 foot fence, and he would be able to drive a golf ball no less than fifty miles!

Clean pots and pans with
GOLD DUST

Germs of decay accumulate on oft-used pots and pans. Ordinary soap and water only clean off the surface.

Gold Dust does the work—and does it right. It digs deep after germs, cleans like a new whistle and leaves your pots and pans as new, as bright as the day they were new—and sanitarily safe.

Gold Dust does this work in just half the time required by soap or any other cleanser. Does it better, too.

Gold Dust cleans everything like magic.

Gold Dust is sold in 5c size and large packages. The large package means greater economy.

How People Feel When They Have Tape Worm

The tape worm is bred from a parasite. The parasite is a creature male and female in one. It is a pear shape, having two, four and six suckers. It lays the eggs, which are only connected together with slime. They develop and form a body, which is the worm. Each joint is an individual, having a sucker or mouth. The worm grows to be [illegible] longer than the bowels where it is located, and sometimes a whole colony of them are found, enough to fill a quart of solid worm, and when put in a bucket of water would apparently fill it. It is the hardest task in the world to destroy this parasite without doing injury to the individual who may be so unfortunate as to have it, as the parasite clings to the bowels, freeing itself from the body of the worm, and detaches itself to [illegible] another. It is an internal demon and causes its victims to suffer all the symptoms of disease imaginable. The cleverest physicians are led to believe the patient is suffering from some other disease, as nearly every person has different symptoms. Some have been treated for cancer of the bowels, consumption of the bowels, consumption of the lungs, chronic dyspepsia, [illegible], chondria, hysteria, inflammation of the bowels, appendicitis, and other complaints, when one or more of these internal demons were eating their lives away.

Prof. [illegible] has made the discovery to free the victim of this parasite without [illegible] the system, destroying the parasite as well as expelling the worm with one dose of medicine, without any previous starvation. [illegible] has in his possession the most wonderful collection of these death-dealing monsters in the world, which have been expelled from hundreds of people by his famous remedy, some bottles containing colonies of worms, and anyone seeing them cannot imagine how a person could possibly live with them in his bowels. It is surprising the number of people that have them. Thousands have them and are not aware of the fact. The letters and testimonials [illegible] has in his possession are enough to convince one of this alarming fact. Some of the most prominent symptoms are: ravenous appetite, slimy spells, headaches, cramps in the bowels, a feeling of something moving in the bowels, also a feeling of [illegible] something crawling up the throat. The only certainty of having one in the system is when segments or joints are seen, which come away almost any time. They are flat and from ½ of an inch to 1 inch long, which have often been mistaken for pin worms by those who do not know the difference. There are many other features of distress which would take long to enumerate. Strange to say, some people of strong constitution have very little distress.

Prof. [illegible]'s World-Famous Tape Worm Exterminator is safe, sure and harmless. No starvation, no danger, is not disagreeable to take. One dose nearly always effects a cure. Further information free. Send stamped envelope, telephone Parkdale 4000 or call at 167 Dundas street, Toronto. Open from 8 a.m. to 10 p.m. daily.

NICK ALTROCK A WARNING

Nick Altrock, the former Toronto and major league pitcher, who found it necessary to take a job [illegible] [illegible] stands as a shining example to the youngsters breaking into the big leagues. Nick could to-day be fooling the batsmen as in other days, but he liked the Bohemian life, not wisely but too well. As a member of the Boston and Chicago clubs he was heralded as one of the best of the southpaws. But Nick built his shrine within the glare of the red lights, and it was easy come, easy go with him. What a contrast between Altrock and Eddie Plank! Eight seasons sees Altrock piling lumber. Thirteen years witness Plank standing on perhaps the threshold of a greater career than even he has known.

HOCKEY AS OF OLD

The Grand Old Game of Shinny Was Every Boy's Sport.

Hockey is fast becoming a major sport in colleges, but it was always a major sport of boyhood. It was called shinny [illegible] the rules were not complicated, nor was team play always conspicuous. Rather was it a game in which the individual shone. But the same qualities of speed, control and accuracy were required of the successful player, and the same reverberant roar of the ice, under a rush of skaters, sang like a battle hymn in the ears.

The sticks we made ourselves, were cut in the woods, preferably of oak, or ash, [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] at a sufficient angle to [illegible]. [illegible] natural stick was a treasured possession; one never went skating without it. You hung your skates from it on your way to the pond. You used it to hammer over the lever when you put your skates on. It was a club to test the strength of new ice with or to make a hole over the brook when you were thirsty. If you condescended to "skate double" with a girl you alternated your hands with hers upon it. And finally, of course, you must needs have it by you when the cry arose, "Shinny, come on an' choose up sides!"

The goals were made by placing two stones four or five feet apart. The two captains, elected by the rough democracy of boyhood, chose sides, and everybody skated to the bank to deposit his overcoat or muffler. Usually the smallest boy on each side was put in goal, not because that was the wisest proceeding, but because he was least able to object, it being considered far more desirable to be out in the rush line. Sometimes there were twenty boys on a side, big fellers and little fellers, and when the ball was put in play you heard the rush and roar of all their runners and the clashing of their sticks as each individual player tried to get the ball into his possession and nurse it, dodging and doubling. It was like the enemy's goal. We knew nothing of the science of passing in those days.

There were no periods. We played till we were exhausted, or early December twilight overtook us. Breathing spaces were afforded when a missed shot for goal sped past the mark and rolled a quarter of a mile up the pond. Or else it rolled in ashore on the thin ice amid the weeds, and one or two boys [illegible] after it, while the rest panted and [illegible] ready [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] was recovered.

Those were [illegible] matches, in which victory counted for little, since the score was forgotten the next day and the teams chosen anew, but in which no boy was too small to play [illegible] and the [illegible] kept the ball.—W. P. Eaton, in Outing.

Antiseptic Varnish

[illegible] [illegible] [illegible] invented an antiseptic varnish to take the place of surgeons' operating gloves.

The operator, after washing his hands with soap and then in alcohol, steeps them in a mixture composed of essence of juniper berries and an alcoholised solution of [illegible].

The evaporation of this mixture, which takes place rapidly, leaves a sort of protecting [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] glove, the varnish in no way affects the surgeon's delicacy of touch.

Foxhunting in France used to provide the professional humorist and the comic artist with fine material, but in recent years Frenchmen have taken up hunting very seriously, and now France has at least fifty packs that hunt the fox and the hare and the deer and the wild boar, and show excellent sport into the bargain.

SCHOOLS OF AGRICULTURE

It is not only what these boys learn in these schools, but the fact that they begin study again will mean that they will be better readers of farm journals, better students of books upon different agricultural subjects. In other words, the instruction they get in the schools will start them out upon the life study of the business of farming from a scientific standpoint. It will give them greater ambition not only for themselves, but for their boys in the future, and will mean not only an improvement in farm methods but an improvement intellectually among our farmers until the whole population on the land will finally recognize the [illegible] importance of education and training, and its relation to agriculture. This can only be done by placing schools of agriculture at the very doors of the farmer. Fifty miles is quite a distance for a farm boy to travel to go to school, but he can be induced to travel that far and there is no reason why a country that depends for the production of its wealth upon agriculture should not place the opportunity for education within easy reach of every [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] and improving the [illegible].—Duncan Marshall of Alberta, in Agricultural Gazette.

CHANCE WON FORTUNE ON THE DIAMOND

Some Sidelights on the Early History of the "Peerless Leader"—Might Have Been Banker

Expert definition of the word "amateur" can be had from Frank Leroy Chance. Chance at one time caught for an "amateur" team in California at a salary of $125 a month, which disposes of the amateur question.

Chance's father was William Harvey Chance, president of the First National bank of Fresno, Cal., and his ambition was that his son follow his footsteps, and if he had been alive in 1898 when Frank was deciding between baseball and banking, the chances are that Frank would never have drawn sufficient attention as a base ball manager.

Chance was born Sept. 9, 1877, at Fresno. He attended the public schools and [illegible] a "kid" nine, of which he [illegible] position and was the star. In 1896 he played with a [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] did not pay expenses, and the next year four [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] an "amateur" team for $125 a month. Chance batted .379 with this club and was signed by Jim Hart, owner of the Chicago National league club, for $1,200 a year. He joined the team in 1898, and made good, despite his greenness. In 1903, Manager Selee transferred Chance to first to get the benefit of his hitting, and in 1905, when Selee quit, Chance was made manager.

Chance found the makings of a good team. He made it great with a few trades, and the marvelous Cub machine resulted, winning pennants in 1906, 1907, 1908 and 1910 and world's series in 1907 and 1908.

When C. W. Murphy became president of the Cubs, Chance secured a tenth interest on the same terms. In 1906 the club paid for itself and Chance owned the stock clear.

As manager of the Cubs, Chance received $10,000 a year. After his "release" in Cincinnati he retired to his orange grove, determined to quit the game, but $25,000 a year, plus the hypnotism exerted by the American league heads, caused him to change his mind.

LEADING OFF BASES

It Can be Got Down to a Science and Helps to Win Games

"There is one outfielder on the Browns who should be one of the best baserunners in the American league," says Branch Rickey. "That he isn't is entirely due to trouble. I watched him a whole season and I have yet to see him slide back to first when a pitcher threw there."

[illegible] [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] never has to slide back to first to beat a pitcher's throw?

"It means that he isn't getting a big enough lead. It means that, instead of worrying the pitcher and thus helping the man at the bat [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] the steal, and every cut of second on a fast man is by a matter of inches.

"The baserunner should keep [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] he'll worry the pitcher."

A BRONCHIAL COUGH PERHAPS WEAK TROAT USE "CATARRHOZONE"--DEAD SURE CURE

You Get Instant Relief by Inhaling the Soothing Vapor "Catarrhozone."

Catarrh is bound to come with this weather, Slight colds become more offensive and sickening every day. The inflammation extends further into the head. Soon the ears begin to buzz and ring. The head aches, the eyes pain dreadfully, the nose gets plugged up and this forces the patient to breathe through the mouth. Vile filthy secretions are forced back into the throat, requiring a great deal of coughing to keep the air passages free. Finally, this foul matter finds its way into the stomach, causing dyspepsia and general ill-health. By this time the patient has SYSTEMATIC CATARRH, which saps strength, depletes the vital energies till consumption is the unhappy result.

There isn't the slightest use in trying to cure this condition with tablets, snuff or spray. Such treatments are wholly inadequate. You must employ Catarrhozone the only remedy that possesses power to kill the germs of Catarrh. The healing vapor of Catarrhozone is carried by the air you breathe to the most minute cells of the nose, throat, bronchial tubes and lungs. Its antiseptic medication goes everywhere that air can go. No case is too chronic, no person too old—everybody that has catarrh of any kind can be cured by this grand treatment which is endorsed by thousands of physicians throughout America who say: "The only way to permanently get rid of Catarrh is to use Catarrhozone."

DASHES HERE AND THERE BY TIMES REPORTERS.

Mary Nixon Must Do Time.

Mr. J.H. Burnham, M.P., has received word from the Minister of Justice that he declines to interfere in the case of Mary Nixon, the local nurse sentenced to six months for stealing goods from Turnbull's store. Mr. Burnham had asked the Minister to look into the matter.

Lindsay Soldiers Home.

Several privates belonging to the 45th Regiment arrived home from Valcartier Camp, Quebec on Saturda afternoon, their services being dispensed with for an indefinite time, or until the forming of a second contingent, which may be inside of two weeks. Many of the officers will return home likewise, and await orders following the formation of a second battalion.—Warder.

No Arrests at Lindsay Fair.

Chief of Police Short reports that although the extra police were very busy during the three days of the fair, yet the crowd on the whole was very orderly. No arrests were made and the visitors were treated very courteously. Saturday night there were a large number of visitors on a jollification, but as long as they could take care of themselves without creating a disturbance or annoying pedestrians they were allowed to reach their trains and get home in safety. Chief Short is keen observer and in the case of those who imbibe is very careful to give them as much rope as possible, knowing that they were visitors to the big fair and meant no harm.—Warder.

Local Jews Patriotic.

As first announced in the Times the New Years festival of the Jews has been on for several days. Among the prayers offered by this, the oldest sect belonging to those who worship the same God as we do is the following: "May He who granteth victory unto kings and dominion unto princes, whose sovereignty is everlasting who delivered David, His Servant, from the destroying sword, who maketh a way through the sea, a path through the mighty waters—O, may He bless, preserve and guard, aid and extol, magnify and exalt on high, our Gracious King George the Fifth, and His Royal Highness the Duke of Connaught, Governor-General of Canada, whose glory be enhanced."

Gratitude Expressed.

Th? committee in charge of the following event thanks Mr. Turner for the use of the Opera House and also the 'Examiner,' 'Review' and 'Times' for cards, tickets and programmes respectively, to the J.M. Greene Music Co. for piano, the Fuel & Cartage Co for carting same, to Mr. Stocker for bill posting, 57th Battalion Band, and all those contributing to the programme and to many others who offered their services, The total receipts were approximately $155, and as there were no expenses, this sum will be paid over to Treasurer Adams of the Patriotic Fund.

"NEPTUNE'S DAUGHTER"

Annette Kellerman, whose exquisite figure has been described as the perfect presentment of the famous Venus de Milo, and whose natatorial expertness has earned for her the title of the world's most famous woman swimmer and diver, will be seen at the Grand Opera House in a marvelous series of motion pictures entitled "Neptune's Daughter," presented by the Universal Film Co., of New York, direct from a record run at the Globe Theatre, New York. Engagement is for three days Matinee and night of Monday, Sept. 28, 29 and 30 at 2.30 and 8.15. Prices, Matinee 15 and 25c Night 25c. to any part of the theatre. Tickets now on sale.

Cut This Out

Famous Specialist's Recipe for Catarrhal Deafness and Head Noises.

If you know someone who is troubled with head noises, or catarrhal deafness, cut out this formula and hand to them, and you will have been the means of saving some poor sufferers perhaps from total deafness. Recent experiments have proved conclusively that catarrhal deafness, head noises, etc., were the direct cause of constitutional disease, and that salves, sprays, inhalers, etc., merely temporize with the complaint and seldom, if ever, effect permanent cure. This being so, much time and money has been spent of late by a noted specialist in perfecting a pure, gentle, yet effective tonic that would quickly dispel all traces of the catarrhal poison from the system. The effective prescription which was eventually formulated and which has aroused the belief that deafness will soon be extinct, is given below in understandable form, so that anyone can treat themselves in their own home at little expense.

Secure from your druggist 1 oz. Parmint (Double Strength), about 75c worth. Take this home, and add to it ¼ pint of hot water and 4 oz. moist of granulated sugar; stir until dissolved. Take one tablespoonful four times a day.

The first dose promptly ends the most distressing head noises, headache, dullness, cloudy thinking, etc., while the hearing rapidly returns as the system is invigorated by the tonic action of the treatment. Loss of smell and mucous dropping in the back of the throat are other symptoms that show the presence of catarrhal poison, and which are quickly overcome by this efficacious treatment. Nearly ninety per cent. of all ear troubles are directly caused by catarrh, therefore there are but few people whose hearing cannot be restored by this simple home treatment. Every person who is troubled with head noises, catarrhal deafness, or catarrh in any form, should give this prescription a trial. There is nothing better.

Important—In ordering Parmint always specify that you want Double Strength: your druggist has it or he can get it for you; if not, send 75c to the International Laboratories, 74 St. Antoine St., Montreal, P.Q., who make a specialty of it.

10 CENT "CASCARETS" STRAIGHTEN YOU UP

No Sick Headache, Billous Stomach, Coated Tongue or Constipated Bowels by morning.

Get 10-cent box now.

Turn the rascals out—the headache, biliousness, indigestion, the sick, sour stomach and bad colds—turn them out to-night and keep them out with Cascarets.

Millions of men and women take a Cascaret now and then and never know the misery caused by a lazy liver, clogged bowels, or an upset stomach.

Don't put in another day of distress. Let Cascarets cleanse your stomach; remove the sour, fermenting food; take the excess bile from your liver and carry out all the constipated waste matter and poison in the bowels. Then you will feel great.

A Cascaret to-night straightens you out by morning. They work while you sleep. A 10-cent box from any drug store means a clear head, sweet stomach and clean, healthy liver and bowel action for months. Children love Cascarets because they never gripe or sicken.

OBITUARY

TIMOTHY CROWLEY.

The death occurred on Monday evening at St. Joseph's Hospital of Mr. Timothy Crowley of Otonabee. The deceased who was seventy-eight years of age, has been ill about two weeks. He leaves to mourn his death a wife, three sons and three daughters. The sons are Messrs. Evy of British Columbia, George and Albert at home, and the daughters are Misses Ada Amy and Beatrice, residing at home. The funeral will take place tomorrow morning at 8.30 o'clock to the church of the Sacred Heart and thence to St. Peter's Cemetery.

MRS. NICHOLS.

A former resident of Peterboro has passed away in Beaver City. An exchange says: Elizabeth Northey was born in Devonshire, England, February 11, 1827. She moved from England to Peterborough, Canada, with her parents in 1840, and was married to Aaron Nichols, September 5, 1846. To this union were born 13 children, six girls and seven boys, of whom there are seven living, four daughters and three sons. She moved with her husband and family to Furnas county in 1863 and died in Beaver City, Sept. 11, 1914. Her husband preceded her to the great beyond three years last month. She was a member of the Baptist Church of England. She was always conscious of the fact that the great blessing come to those who serve, and so her life was spend in serving those who most needed her help. The funeral services were held at the home on Thursday afternoon, conducted by Rev. C. Forney, and the interment was made in the Mt. Hope Cemetery in the family lot.

BRITISH CRUISER "CRESSY" FIRING AS SHE SANK IN THE NORTH SEA

Dutch Rescue Three Hundred Survivors and Treat Them Generously--Crews of the Destroyed Boats Were Mostly Naval Reservists--British Fleet Roused to Action--London Demands Retaliation

Ymuiden, Holland, Sept. 23.— This little seaport town is all agog with excitement over the landing here of 287 survivors from the British cruisers sunk in the North Sea by German submarines. The men were brought here by the Dutch Steamer Flora, which happened to be in the vicinity when the disaster overtook the British warships.

The streets are crowded in the vicinity of the hotel where the survivors are staying and around the hospital where twenty wounded are being cared for by the Dutch Red Cross.

From the outside of one of the hotels crowds could see a number of the British sailors enjoying a generous meal at a long table. They were dressed in all manner of clothing, mostly from the little store possessed by the Dutch sailors. The Englishmen are evidently in the best of spirits.

Mostly Naval Reservists.

The crews of all three of the sunken warships were composed largely of naval reservists. The Aboukir was the first ship sunk. About six o'clock in the morning she received three torpedoes and the explosion of terrific force blew out a big section of the bottom at the bow, capsizing the ship. The crew had no time to launch lifeboats and tried to save themselves by jumping into the water. The boat was out of sight beneath the waves within three or four minutes after the explosion.

Hogue Crew Mostly Saved.

The cruiser Hogue, which was nearby, heard the explosion and realized the danger at once, although at first those aboard her believed their sister cruiser had struck a mine. The Hogue immediately launched numerous life boats and began to save the swimming survivors, but while this was going on the Hogue herself was torpedoed, apparently in an exactly similar manner as the previous ship three shots reaching her hull according to the survivors. The Hogue sank in a few minutes, but the greater part of her crew were saved in her own boats.

Both Submarines Demolished.

The cruiser Cressy at this point discovered the presence of two German submarines on the way back to attack her and began shelling them with heavy projectiles. The Cressy's marksmanship was excellent and both submarines were demolished according to survivors. This statement, however is not confirmed from official sources. Meanwhile from the other side the Cressy was torpedoed in two places, and sank immediately. When the attack was made, the ships were three miles apart. The presence of the submarines was unsuspected until two of them were sighted by the Cressy. No other ships were in sight at the opening of the attack, but the Dutch steamer Flora came in view on the horizon just after the Hogue sank.

Saw Cressy Keel Over.

The captain of the Flora was only the Cressy and was going to steam on his way when he saw the Cressy suddenly keel over and go down. He immediately steamed toward the scene and lowered his lifeboats. It was then for the first time that he understood that three cruisers in all had been sunk. He picked up many sailors clinging to spars and to pieces of wood. Among the survivors is the captain of the Hogue. The captain of the Flora says that several English sailing boats are coming to Ymuiden with more survivors.

Will Rouse Fleet To Action.

London, Sept. 23.—The Globe's naval expert, dealing with the sinking of the three British cruisers by submarines says:

Our fleet is necessarily exposed to these dangers. It has to wait upon the pleasure of the enemy. It dare not wait too far away because the sea is small. The risks must be run and we need not fear that our men will shrink before them. Nevertheless, death dealt by an unseen hand is the most detestable of all.

This disaster will rouse the British fleet to action as nothing else could have done and the success of these submarine attacks may yet prove the death knell of the German army.

Sir John French Praises Troops Under His Command

London, Sept. 23.—Field Marshal Sir John French, in his latest report, describing how the British troops won and held dearly bought positions for which gallant work he congratulates all ranks, concludes with these words:

"When we were brought face to face with a position of extraordinary strength, carefully entrenched and prepared for defence are thorough adepts in such work, throughout the thirteenth and fourteenth of September that position was almost gallantly attacked by the British forces and the passage of the Aisne effected. This is the third day the troops have been gallantly holding the position they have gained against most desperate counter attacks and the hail of heavy artillery.

"I am unable to find adequate words in which to express the admiration I feel for their magnificent conduct.

"The French armies on our right and left are making good progress and I feel sure that we have only to hold on with tenacity to the ground we have won for a very short time longer when the allies will be again in full pursuit of a beaten enemy. The self sacrificing devotion and splendid spirit of the British army in France will carry all before it

(Signed) "J. D. P. French,
Field Marshal, Commander-in-Chief of the British army in the field."

Canadians On The Victorious British Cruiser Berwick

Ottawa, Sept. 23.—The announcement of the British Admiralty that the British cruiser, Berwick had captured the German armed cruiser Spreewald in the North Atlantic was received with more than ordinary interest at Ottawa. There are ten young Canadians on board the Turwick who got their first taste of action. Lieut. Victor Brodeur, son of Hon. L. P. Brodeur, of the Supreme Court, is on the Berwick, and in addition there are eight Cadets with naval instructor W. Robinson, a Toronto boy. It is presumed that there were no casualties in the encounter or they would have been reported.

Allies Are Still Winning Ground In Attack On Enemy's Right Wing

Situation in Other Parts of the Contested Area Unchanged--Germans Have Evacuated Nomeny and Arracourt, and are Inactive Around Domevre--General Battle in Servia--Russians Capture Fortress of Jareslan

Paris, Sept. 23.—According to official announcement, given out in Paris this afternoon, the Allies, after severe fighting, advanced on their western wing. They also repulsed German attacks on their eastern wing.

The official communication is as follows :—

First—On our left wing, on the right bank of the River Oise, we have advanced in the region of Lassigny, where there have been violent encounters with the enemy. On the left bank of the Oise and to the north of the River Aisne, the situation is unchanged.

Second—On the centre, between Rheims, and the River Meuse, there has been no change of importance. In the Woevre district, to the northeast of Verdun, and in the direction of Nouilly and Dompierre, the enemy undertook violent attacks which were, however, repulsed. In the southern part of the Woevre district the enemy holds a line from Richecourt to Seicheprey to Lironville, from which he has not issued.

Third—On our right wing, in Lorraine and the Vosges, the Germans have evacuated Nomeny and Arracourt, and have shown little activity in the country around Domevre.

The capture by the Russians of the fortress of Jaroslau, in Galicia, is announced.

GERMANS AGAIN IN LORRAINE.

Washington, Sept. 23.— The German left wing in Lorraine has crossed the French border and "reoccupied Domevre, south of Balmont and Nomey and Dilme, north of Nancy" according to despatches received today at the French Embassy. Futher advices to the Embassy describing the engagement on the right bank of the River Oise in which the Germans were forced back, state that the enemy then directed his movement toward Saint Baussant and Limey.

Another telegram states that "In Servia a general battle has been in progress for a week, in the region of Krupanj."

AUSTRIA TO INVADE ITALY.

Rome, Sept. 23.—Via Paris.—In spite of denials to the contrary made by the Austrian Government, newspapers here publish detailed descriptions purporting to show that Austrian armaments are being placed on the Italian frontier, and declare that preparations are being made by Austria to invade Italy.

ATTACK CATTARO FROM LAND SIDE

Rome, via Paris, Sept. 23.— News received here from Cetinje, says that within this week the Montenegrins expect to have on top of Mount Lovchen long range cannon capable of dismantling the forts at Cattaro, and with which they can bombard the Austrian ships, thus allowing the Anglo-French fleet to capture the stronghold.

Bordeaux, Sept. 23.—The Minister of Marine announced today that a French fleet has landed heavy guns and a detachment of gunners at Antivari, Montenegro. The guns will be mounted on Mount Lovchen, whence they will open an energetic bombardment on the forts and harbor of Cattaro, in Dalmatia. The forts at the mouth of Cattaro harbor were destroyed some days ago by a bombardment carried out under the direction of Admiral de la Peyrere

3 GENERALS SLAIN IN FRANCE

Berlin, via London, Sept. 23— The casualty list published to-day shows the death of two German generals in the western camp, Generals Von Wrochem and Von Arbon, [illegible] of Major-General Von [illegible], whose death occurred on Aug. [illegible]th. Among the slightly wounded are two lieutenant-generals, Von Wil[illegible] and Von Kuehne.

The list containing [illegible] names gives the name and date of the battle for the first time, and indicates that the casualties have been so far covered as (deleted by the censor). The total losses so far published aggregate 10,066 dead, 38,769 wounded, and 17,621 missing.

GERMAN ATROCITIES

Wide publicity is given to German atrocities. This publicity is borne out by substantial evidence, and appalls the whole civilized world. In this connection Dr. Hewson, late of Peterborough, now surgeon on the "Royal George," in conversation with City Solicitor G. N. Gordon, said he met many Belgian refugees in Bristol, England, from whence he has just returned. Most of them are highly cultured and refined. One lady assured him that the Germans took her sixteen year old boy and cut off both his arms without any provocation whatever—merely to satisfy their brutal nature, apparently. She produced reliable witnesses in support of her complaint. War is hell at any time, but it exceeds one's conception of hell when such barbaric savagery is indulged in. The Powers who took part in The Hague conferences with a view in part of humanising war as far as practicable, and yet stand aloof without either protest or action against a militarism composed of fiends in human shape are wanting in their duty. One such nation not far from The Hague, and posing as a Pro-Christian people, goes out of the way to aid Germany in the matter of supplies under cover of neutralism. Of course they are protected under the laws of nations, but morally speaking they are aiding and abetting the prosecution of barbaric warfare, the effects of which they will, in all probability, before long, experience themselves to no small degree.

RUSSIANS ON ROAD TO BRESLAU WILL EFFECT WESTERN CAMPAIGN

Fall of Jareslan Most Decisive Stroke in European War Announced the Last 24 Hours--Russian Army Hot in Porsuit of the Austrians--The German Right Reported to be Turned--This Lacks Confirmation

London, Sept. 23.—The fall of Jaroslau, the Austrian fortified position in Galicia, is regarded here as the most decisive stroke announced from the continental battlefields in the past 24 hours, and the Russian occupation of this important fortified railroad centre is considered in London as likely to have a great effect on events in the western arena of the war than anything repotted from France for several days past. The Russian army which took Jaroslau by storm is in hot pursuit of the Austrians, who are reported in London to be retreating on Cracow. As Przemysl is now isolated, it seems probable that the Muscovites will be content to mask this fortress while they push on to Cracow with the view of joining up their forces preparatory to a march in the direction of Breslau

After Koenigsberg Again.

Further north the Russians, according to information reaching London, have resumed the offensive against the Germans in East Prussia, and they are reported again as preparing to attack Koenigsberg, the home of the kings of Prussia.

The twelfth day of the fighting finds the Battle of the Aisne stil swaying undecidedly. The Germans, according to British opinion, obviously hold the advantage in heavy artillery, and the formidable natural positions they occupy would render a frontal attempt to dislodge them an almost superhuman task. Hence importance is attached to the movement of the allied army working to the eastward with the view of outflanking General Von Kluck's forces and threatening his communications. The German right already is reported in news despatches to have been turned. Confirmation of this is stil lacking.

Entrenching on the Sambre.

Reports have been received here that entrenched positions have been prepared by the Germans along the River Sambre, for use in the event that they are compelled to retreat.

Austrian Cruisers Damaged.

London, Sept. 23.— In a despatch from Rome, the correspondent of the Central News says that travelers who have arrived in the capital from Sebenico, in Dalmatia, declare that the Austrian cruisers Maria Theresa and Admiral Staun have put into that port badly damaged.

DRY DOCK WILL BE BUILT

It will be gratifying to the public to find that the abandonment of the dry dock scheme has not been total. The whole scheme was composed of two parts. The original part was under Public Works and comprised the dry dock and the roadway approach to it. The Railways and Canals Department decided to add to that a comprehensive scheme which has been referred to in these columns, and much larger than the Public Works scheme; but owing to difficulty in acquiring land the Minister of Railways and Canals has served notice of abandonment of his scheme. It may be said that the latter's plan was very largely his Engineer's suggestion. The dry-dock was Mr. Burnham's suggestion which was adopted by the Public Works on the report of the Engineer. We understand that Mr. Burnham was advised yesterday morning as follows:—"As you are aware we have expropriated one and thirty-three one hundred acres which gives us quite sufficient land for the dry-dock and the roadway approach thereto. Attached I am sending you blue print of plan which shows exactly the property this Department requires and has expropriated. The plans have been revised and have now been returned to Ottawa, leaving out the repair basin, wharf, etc., etc., and limiting the proposal to the construction of the dry-dock alone." This will be very satisfactory so far as it goes, although it will necessarily result in a delay of the whole scheme, which will not in all probability be gone on with till spring, especially as the delay by the contractor in the contract below Campbellford postpones the deep draught opening of the Canal until next spring.

AMERICAN PEOPLE CONSTRAINED TO SYMPATHIZE WITH THE ALLIES

Arrogating "Lordship" of the Kaiser in Opposition to "Leadership" of Western Civilization a Distinction Which Antagonizes American Freedom--Democracy Based Upon a Truth More Comprehensive and Profound, Than Even Utopian Ideal. Americans Can be Led But Not Lorded

Under the heading "Leadership versus Lordship" the well known New York weekly journal, The Independent, publishes a striking article, which may be quoted in part. It illustrates vividly the way in which Americans find themselves compelled to sympathize with the cause of the Allies.

Descriptions of Berlin behavior on the day William II drove in from Potsdam, made his balcony speech and declared war are strange reading for Americans. It is difficult for us to get into the mental attitude of a populace intelligent but powerless, waiting to be told by an owner whether "his people" were to be driven forth to slaughter, or permitted to go on with peaceful pursuits.

Self-consciods abjectness is for us unthinkable, while the scene in the House of Commons, where the freely chosen representatives of a democracy tence with an overwhelming sense of responsibility, were calmly asking what national honor and moral obligation demanded of them, holds us breathless with its reality.

Never before in the world's history has the distinction between leadership and lordship been so sharply drawn. Political thinking and, let us hope, thinking on all the problems of social democracy, has been clarified for all time to come

The apologists for privilege, for divine right, for ecclesiastical authority strive unwearingly to bemuddle the popular mind upon the relations of the few and the many, the minority and the majority, to efficiency and to truth. What do the many know they say, about managing a business, operating a railroad, planning a military campaign? To such questions put in this question-begging way, the answer of course is "Nothing."

If democracy required that the masses of mankind should be scientific, industrial and military experts, it would remain forever Utopian, a dream. But it does not. Democracy is based upon a truth more comprehensive, more profound. Democracy is possible because leadership, initiative, genius for guidance, are one thing, while ultimate responsibility, ultimate decision, sovereignty are a wholly different thing. In democracy the few lead, inspire and guide; the many are sovereign they make the final, the fateful decision, to them alone belongs ultimate responsibility.

In the absolutist empire, the few not only direct, they also decide. They are sovereign. For all practical purposes they own the many, whatever the empty phrases of formal law may say to the contrary. They are not merely leaders, they are lords.

The resistless, overwhelming massing of intelligent sympathy throuout the western world upon the side of England, Belgium and France in this appalling struggle has come about, as our German friends will one day understand, because the western world instantly grasped the essential fact that democracy and leadership have been assailed by lordship. The attempt to raise a false issue by alleging that Russia is more to be dreaded than Germany has deceived nobody in his senses. Sufficient unto the day is the evil thereof. Whatever may happen in the future, Russia today is hurling her strength against the only enemy which as yet has aggressively attempted to substitute in the western world the law of lese majeste for constitutional liberty, and militarism for the moral obligation of solemnly accepted treaties. The crimes of Russian imperialism have been many and the day of retribution will come, but Russia does not yet stand before the world forsworn. The German Empire does

So the issue is drawn, and Mr. Winston Churchill with appalling clearness has portrayed its practical aspects. Leadership and lordship have closed in a life and death struggle. For the moment there is only one question. Which is stronger? Which can annihilate the other? For there will be no quarter this time, asked or given. It is the Darwinian fight for the survival of the fittest, at last

CITY TAKES OVER ELECTRIC PLANT THIS AFTERNOON

Peterborough Light and Power Co's Property to be Absorbed by the Municipality To-day—Exact Purchase Price Not Yet Fixed

A special meeting of the City Fathers was held last night, when a by-law authorizing the taking over of the Peterborough Light and Power Company's distributing plant for public utilities purposes, better known as municipal hydro-electric.

The Mayor, City Engineer Parsons, Street Commissioners Evans and Fitzgerald and City Solicitor G.N. Gordon were named the officials to take possession of the company's plant, and remove same to wherever directed by the Mayor of Peterborough.

Robert A. Ross, of Montreal, was appointed an arbitrator for the city to fix the sum to be paid the Peterborough Light and Power Company for the expropriation of their property.

It appears that the $100,000 already paid in the court by the city for the purchase of the company's plant is merely an instalment in good faith ordered to be paid by the Hydro-Electric Commission. The exact purchase amount is still to be fixed by arbitration, Mr. Ross to act in the city's behalf in that connection.

Two Hydro-Electric engineers will arrive in town from Toronto today noon.

From the beginning of next month, consumers of light and power will have to deal with the City's Utilities Commission.

The rates arranged by the Hydro-Electric Commission for this city are characterised as very low indeed, perhaps lower than in any other municipality in Ontario

DUTCH ARE ASKING: WHO DROPPED BOMB?

London, Sept. 23.—The Exchange Telegraph Company Hague correspondent, telegraphing on Tuesday, says:

The Dutch Government has decided upon an official inquiry into the dropping of bombs from an aeroplane of unknown nationality on the town of Maestricht to-day. The Government will submit reports to the German and Belgium Government, asking whether the bombs were dropped by the flying corps of their countries.

BRITISH CRUISER "CRESSY" FIRING AS SHE SANK IN THE NORTH SEA

Dutch Rescue Three Hundred Survivors and Treat Them Generously--Crews of the Destroyed Boats Were Mostly Naval Reservists--British Fleet Roused to Action--London Demands Retaliation

Ymuiden, Holland, Sept. 23.— This little seaport town is all agog with excitement over the landing here of 287 survivors from the British cruisers sunk in the North Sea by German submarines. The men were brought here by the Dutch Steamer Flora, which happened to be in the vicinity when the disaster overtook the British warships.

The streets are crowded in the vicinity of the hotel where the survivors are staying and around the hospital where twenty wounded are being cared for by the Dutch Red Cross.

From the outside of one of the hotels crowds could see a number of the British sailors enjoying a generous meal at a long table. They were dressed in all manner of clothing, mostly from the little store possessed by the Dutch sailors. The Englishmen are evidently in the best of spirits.

Mostly Naval Reservists.

The crews of all three of the sunken warships were composed largely of naval reservists. The Aboukir was the first ship sunk. About six o'clock in the morning she received three torpedoes and the explosion of terrific force blew out a big section of the bottom at the bow, capsizing the ship. The crew had no time to launch lifeboats and tried to save themselves by jumping into the water. The boat was out of sight beneath the waves within three or four minutes after the explosion.

Hogue Crew Mostly Saved.

The cruiser Hogue, which was nearby, heard the explosion and realised the danger at once, although at first those aboard her believed their sister cruiser had struck a mine. The Hogue immediately launched numerous life boats and began to save the swimming survivors, but while this was going on the Hogue herself was torpedoed, apparently in an exactly similar manner as the previous ship three shots reaching her hull according to the survivors. The Hogue sank in a few minutes, but the greater part of her crew were saved in her own boats.

Both Submarines Demolished.

The cruiser Cressy at this point discovered the presence of two German submarines on the way back to attack her and began shelling them with heavy projectiles. The Cressy's marksmanship was excellent and both submarines were demolished according to survivors. This statement, however is not confirmed from official sources. Meanwhile from the other side the Cressy was torpedoed in two places, and sank immediately. When the attack was made, the ships were three miles apart. The presence of the submarines was unsuspected until two of them were sighted by the Cressy. No other ships were in sight at the opening of the attack, but the Dutch steamer Flora came in view on the horizon just after the Hogue sank.

Saw Cressy Keel Over.

The captain of the Flora was only the Cressy and was going to steam on his way when he saw the Cressy suddenly keel over and go down. He immediately steamed toward the scene and lowered his lifeboats. It was then for the first time that he understood that three cruisers in all had been sunk. He picked up many sailors clinging to spars and to pieces of wood. Among the survivors is the captain of the Hogue. The captain of the Flora says that several English sailing boats are coming to Ymuiden with more survivors.

Will Rouse Fleet To Action.

London, Sept. 23.—The Globe's naval expert, dealing with the sinking of the three British cruisers by submarines says:

Our fleet is necessarily exposed to these dangers. It has to wait upon the pleasure of the enemy. It dare not wait too far away because the sea is small. The risks must be run and we need not fear that our men will shrink before them. Nevertheless, death dealt by an unseen hand is the most detestable of all.

This disaster will rouse the British fleet to action as nothing else could have done and the success of these submarine attacks may yet prove the death knell of the German army.

Sir John French Praises Troops Under His Command

London, Sept. 23.—Field Marshal Sir John French, in his latest report, describing how the British troops won and held dearly bought positions for which gallant work he congratulates all ranks, concludes with these words:

"When we were brought face to face with a position of extraordinary strength, carefully entrenched and prepared for defense are thorough adepts in such work, throughout the thirteenth and fourteenth of September that position was almost gallantly attacked by the British forces and the passage of the Aisne effected. This is the third day the troops have been gallantly holding the position they have gained against most desperate counter attacks and the hail of heavy artillery.

"I am unable to find adequate words in which to express the admiration I feel for their magnificent conduct.

"The French armies on our right and left are making good progress and I feel sure that we have only to hold on with tenacity to the ground we have won for a very short time longer when the allies will be again in full pursuit of a beaten enemy. The self sacrificing devotion and splendid spirit of the British army in France will carry all before it

(Signed) "J. D. P. French,
Field Marshal. Commander-in-Chief of the British army in the field."

Canadians On The Victorious British Cruiser Berwick

Ottawa, Sept. 23.—The announcement of the British Admiralty that the British cruiser, Berwick had captured the German armed cruiser Spreewald in the North Atlantic was received with more than ordinary interest at Ottawa. There are ten young Canadians on board the Berwick who got their first taste of action. Lieut. Victor Brodeur, son of Hon. L. P. Brodeur, of the Supreme Court, is on the Berwick, and in addition there are eight Cadets with naval instructor W. Robinson, a Toronto boy. It is presumed that there were no casualties in the encounter or they would have been reported.

ATTACK CATTARO FROM LAND SIDE

Rome, via Paris, Sept. 23.— News received here from Cetinje, says that within this week the Montenegrins expect to have on top of Mount Lovchen long range cannon capable of dismantling the forts at Cattaro, and with which they can bombard the Austrian ships, thus allowing the Anglo-French fleet to capture the stronghold.

Bordeaux, Sept. 23.—The Minister of Marine announced today that a French fleet has landed heavy guns and a detachment of gunners at Antivari, Montenegro. The guns will be mounted on Mount Lovchen, whence they will open an energetic bombardment on the forts and harbor of Cattaro, in Dalmatia. The forts at the mouth of Cattaro harbor were destroyed some days ago by a bombardment carried out under the direction of Admiral de la Peyrere

Situation in Other Parts of the Contested Area Unchanged--Germans Have Evacuated Nomeny and Arracourt, and are Inactive Around Domevre--General Battle in Servia--Russians Capture Fortress of Jaroslau

Paris, Sept. 23.—According to official announcement, given out in Paris this afternoon, the Allies, after severe fighting, advanced on their western wing. They also repulsed German attacks on their eastern wing.

The official communication is as follows :—

First—On our left wing, on the right bank of the River Oise, we have advanced in the region of Lassigny, where there have been violent encounters with the enemy. On the left bank of the Oise and to the north of the River Aisne, the situation is unchanged.

Second—On the centre, between Rheims, and the River Meuse, there has been no change of importance. In the Woevre district, to the northeast of Verdun, and in the direction of Jouilly and Dompierre, the enemy undertook violent attacks which were, however, repulsed. In the southern part of the Woevre district the enemy holds a line from Richecourt to Seicheprey to Lironville, from which he has not issued.

Third—On our right wing, in Lorraine and the Vosges, the Germans have evacuated Nomeny and Arracourt, and have shown little activity in the country around Domevre.

The capture by the Russians of the fortress of Jaroslau, in Galicia, is announced.

GERMANS AGAIN IN LORRAINE.

Washington, Sept. 23.— The German left wing in Lorraine has crossed the French border and "reoccupied Domevre, south of Balmont and Nomey and Dilme, north of Nancy" according to despatches received today at the French Embassy. Futher advices to the Embassy describing the engagement on the right bank of the River Oise in which the Germans were forced back, state that the enemy then directed his movement toward Saint Baussant and Limey.

Another telegram states that "In Servia a general battle has been in progress for a week, in the region of Krupanj."

AUSTRIA TO INVADE ITALY.

Rome, Sept. 23.—Via Paris.—In spite of denials to the contrary made by the Austrian Government, newspapers here publish detailed descriptions purporting to show that Austrian armaments are being placed on the Italian frontier, and declare that preparations are being made by Austria to invade Italy.

3 GENERALS SLAIN IN FRANCE

Berlin, via London, Sept. 23.— The casualty list published to-day shows the death of two German generals in the western camp, Generals Von Wrochem and Von Arbos, [illegible] of Major-General Von [illegible], whose death occurred on Aug. 30th. Among the slightly wounded are two lieutenant-generals, Von Wilikens and Von Kuehne.

The list containing 3,595 names gives the name and date of the battle for the first time, and indicates that the casualties have been so far covered as (deleted by the censor). The total losses so far published aggregate 10,096 dead, 38,769 wounded, and 12,621 missing.

Baseball Ability of Youngsters Never Underestimated by Themselves

A glance through the mail of any baseball magnate most any morning would serve to dispel any idea that might exist as to the modesty of aspiring big leaguers.

Lest this statement be taken with a grain of salt we herewith append a few excerpts from some epistles received by a manager of a big league team. The prize goes to one young man who wrote in part as follows:

"Being a young pitcher left handed with good offers to try out with the Brooklyn ball club, I am writing you to see if you can't give me a try. I stand 5 feet 11 inches high, weigh 180, big and broad, aged 21, good habits, and I got the stuff on the pill. I have a spitter I will put along side of any left hander in the biz. I had 10 different offers last summer to try out with good clubs. I had Artie Hoffman after me. He wants me to come to the Pacific Coast to Frisco, but it takes too much coin to get out there. You give me the chance and I'll show you the makings I got. Charles Ebbets was after me but I decided to rest up. Well, anyway, let me here from you. I will sign for $175 a month."

Here's another one: "I think I ought to get $135 or $150 a month, but I you think that is too much send me a contract anyway and we will talk over [illegible]

THE PINCH HITTER MUST WATCH BALL

"It's just a case of hit or miss. Today you do. To-morrow you don't."

Ham Hyatt thus sizes up the art of pinch hitting. Nearly always he makes good, sometimes he fails. Occasionally he strikes out—but not often. By some baseball followers Ham is hailed as the greatest pinch hitter in the world. The Pittsburg club carried the great norther-westerner for his pinch hitting alone. With muscles like steel and nerve as cool as an iceberg, together with the eye and the knack of hitting, Ham was a big asset to the club.

Time and again the big fellow delivered the punch that won for the Pirates. A few times he failed, but not even Hyatt can always hit the ball out of the lot.

Meet Ball Squarely

"It is all in meeting a ball squarely," said Ham when asked to discuss the art of batting. "You may hit a ball ever so hard, but if you have taken your eye off it and not hit it fairly it matters not how hard you swing. It will not travel."

Ham was asked why he invariably lets the first ball go by in a pinch without offering at it.

"Well, now, do you think that is a fair question?" laughed Ham. "If I answer that don't you think I will be tipping my hand to the pitchers?" After a little urging he undertook to explain the point. "I pass up the first one," he said, "and so do most hitters, to see what the pitcher has. By that I mean that I try to judge his speed if it is a fast ball and to see his curve if it is a curve. As I only get to bat in pinches I can't tell just what the pitcher has. I can't judge a pitcher's speed from the bench, nor can folks in the grand stand. You must be at the plate to look 'em over to get a line on them.

Learning His Lesson

"When I was with Kansas City I was hitting well above the .300, and they told me that if I would quit hitting at the first ball I would be even better. The manager remarked once that I was better with a strike or two against me than by cracking at the first one, which often resulted in my popping out or grounding out. I followed his advice and learned from him that it was a lot better to look on or two over so that I could judge the speed and the break of the pitcher's curve and time my swing better. I improved my hitting." Asked about his first appearance as a pinch hitter Ham replied:

"Oh, it was over in Cincinnati one day in 1909, if I remember correctly. I had never been in a big league game nor had I acted as a pinch hitter in the minors, where they played me regularly. I forget who I batted for that day, but I think it was one of the pitchers. I got a three-base hit and we won the game. From that time on "Cap" Clarke gave me lots of chances."

GARDEN MEDICINES

Every vegetable garden is a medicine chest full of remedies that are recognized by physicians as of considerable value in the treatment of various diseases.

Onions, for example, contain sulphur oil, and are recommended for insomnia and as an aid to gastric digestion. They should have a prominent place in the diet of sufferers from rheumatism, for they help to allay the pains.

Turnips and parsnips both have peculiar oily principles which are of value as an aperient and diuretic. It is also claimed that they are good for coughs and hoarseness.

Carrots are useful for correcting derangements of the liver. They are also excellent as a dressing for painful wounds and swellings.

The tomato exercises medicinal effects which are not completely explained by the presence of alkaline salts. There is a principle present which, when taken in a concentrated state, produces salivation and a free stimulation of the liver.

How the Ant Salutes

Ants have long been known for their excessive industry, says The Family Herald and Weekly Star of Montreal, but from a curious communication which has just appeared they seem to have surpassed all other insects by organizing an elaborate system of signalling. Professor Bugnion, who has recently investigated the habits of the white ant, reports that the "soldiers" of that species give warnings or encouraging signals by knocking with their jaws upon dry leaves, thereby emitting a crackling sound. Placing some of these ants on a big plate and covering it with paper, he found that the "soldiers" among the ants responded to his taps with a rustling, crackling sound.

Moreover, apart from this audible signalling, there appears to be some inaudible form of signal, for the professor asserts that the "soldier" ants salute the worker ants. To do this, "the insect stands firmly on its legs with the head raised and the body slightly oblique, and shakes itself for an instant with a convulsive shudder. This seems to mean something."

CHAS. F. NILES

Until recently almost unknown among airmen, Chas. F. Niles took rank among the world's most daring flyers in feats he performed at the Garden City aviation field, near New York. Wearing a leather harness to keep him from spilling out of his machine, Niles flew half a mile upside down, his engine stopped, dependent on the air pressure from below to throw up the tail of his descending monoplane till it became vertical, and the gasoline flowing into the mechanism, made the motor hum again.

The Hotel's Curse

A curious story is being told of a big London hotel which is now beating records for prosperity. When it was building all manner of mischances piled up the bill of costs and things continued to go wrong.

One of the directors, with some belief in the occult, inquired into the history of the land on which the building stood, and found that it had once belonged to a monastic community whose abbot, on being expelled, had solemnly cursed the ground and declared that no enterprise connected with it should prosper.

Ascertaining that a monastery of the same order existed in Devonshire the director went thither and prevailed on the abbot to go through the form of removing the curse. His fellow-directors laughed when he told them the story, but the hotel has prospered ever since.

Legless Chauffeurs

For motorists who have lost one or both legs there has been invented drive mechanism enabling all the controls to be operated by the hands.

A Park Novelty

An amusement park novelty takes its passengers in imagination through the Panama canal, the features of which are realistically reproduced.

Lightning Struck 42 People

A single stroke of lightning in the Belgian Congo killed nine men a woman and severely injured 32 other persons, two of whom died later.

Improved Coal Oil Lamp

An essential feature of the new kerosene vapor lamps adopted by the United States lighthouse service is a carburetor for vaporizing the oil before it reaches the burner.

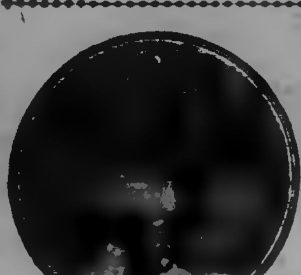
Which Life View Is Best, My Friend's or "Boy's"

By Winifred Black

Copyright, 1914, by Newspaper Feature Service, Inc.



Winifred Black

MY friend is dreadfully discouraged about things. The world is all wrong, and the people in it are all wicked. There are a few who think they are happy—but they're mistaken. Nobody is honest, nobody is true, nobody is prosperous, and nobody counts.

He told me all about it yesterday.

"The world grows worse and worse," said my friend. "I can't bear to read the papers at all. Bloody war in Mexico; labor troubles in Colorado; oppression, thievery, tyranny—everywhere. The rich grind the faces of the poor—and the poor whine, and dare not resent it.

"There's no more chance for a poor man in this country today than there was in darkest Russia 500 years ago. You might as well be dead as to be poor—and I'd rather be dead than to be rich—and have all my tainted money on my conscience. Every dollar I take into my hand makes me tremble, for I know it is stained with the blood of some driven slave of a man, or with the tears of some heart-broken woman.

"Bombs? Yes, I believe in them—they're the only things that are ever going to destroy our present system of society and make the world worth living in again.

What Two "Grown-ups" Said.

"We're all sick—heart-sick and body-sick and brain-sick and soul-sick. We'll never be well again until the whole system of things is changed."

"And how are you going to change it?" said I to my discouraged friend.

"I don't know," said my discouraged friend to me, "but I'm going to try."

And then he went away to take somebody else out into the perfectly good sunshine, and try to make it look as if the sky was thick with black and threatening clouds.

On the very next corner from the one on which my discouraged friend left me I met Another. Another is a woman—a nice, plain, motherly, uninteresting, rather stupid, very good little woman.

The world is glorious. The sun shines all day—and the moon or the stars all night—in the world where my friend, Another, lives. There is no sickness there and no pain and no sorrow.

Everybody's rich—if they want to be, and nobody is poor unless they prefer poverty. There are no ugly women and no weak men. The cowards are all dead and buried long ago—and so are the liars. Money is a good thing, and everybody can have all of it they want.

Nothing that you eat ever disagrees with you in the world where my friend, Another, lives. Nothing ever wears you out. Work is a delight, anxiety is a stimulant, discouragement is a sin and sorrow is a wicked folly.

I stood on the next corner and had Another tell me all about it.

"Who told you I was ill?" said my friend Another: "I am not ill, I am perfectly well. Oh, yes, I did think I was suffering—once, but that was before I knew. Now that I realize that it was all just an illusion—there isn't any more suffering. There isn't any suffering anywhere. There can't be—it's all a mistake.

"Poverty? Why, the idea. There's no sense in being poor.

"Old? Why, nonsense. I couldn't be old if I tried.

"Sad? Take the word out of the dictionary; it doesn't mean anything.

"We're all rich; we're all well; we're all strong; we're all good; we're all happy; everything is for the best."

And my good, kind, rather stupid little plain friend, Another, brushed an imaginary thread off her threadbare little gloves, straightened her shabby little hat, shook out her worn little skirts and walked jauntily away—as happy as a lark and, I'm afraid, almost as irresponsible.

What the Little Boy Thought.

When I went home I met the children skipping hand in hand from school. And they were laughing and the Little Boy sang as he skipped.

"What do you think of the world?" said I to the children. "Is it a good place to live in—are you very happy?"

The Little Boy laughed aloud for very joy.

"Yes," he said, "I'm so glad I live in this world!"

The Little Girl smiled wistfully and looked very grave, and very kind.

"But this morning, when you could not spell the word the teacher gave you, you cried," said the Little Girl very gently.

The Little Boy laughed again. "B-o-y, boy," he chanted triumphantly. "I can spell it now—and that's what makes me laugh."

And the Little Girl and I both laughed, too, and the Little Boy waltzed ahead of us and [illegible] a martial tune. Bravely did he sing it and lustily—we all marched home in martial step to luncheon.

Tears [illegible] there—then the laughter—then love. What a strange world it would be if most of us were not just a little bit like the children!

I don't want to live in the hideous world my friend who is so worried about things seems to know.

I'm afraid I should not quite like it in the strange world that is all light and no shadows at all in which my sweet friend, Another, appears to live.

"B-o-y, boy." When Johnny comes marching home again—hurrah, hurrah—how blithely the brave old tune led us up the hill—to home.

Come, children, I'll live with you—if you will let me.

Advice to Girls

By ANNIE LAURIE

Dear Annie Laurie:

I am not like the 14 and 16-year-old lovesick girls who write to you. I have lived 25 years. I am writing you for a few words of consolation, because I don't think much advice can be given.

I dearly love a young man, but I don't know that he cares for me in the way that I do for him. I have been associating with him for almost two years, every day, but just in a business way. He has treated me splendidly, and shown every courtesy that a young man could.

I want to say and do just what will help me win him.

I have learned to love him, so that I must tell some one, although I have not confided even in any of my girl friends.

He doesn't keep company with any girls, although he accompanies with a couple of girls that I know, yet he never goes to see them. There is nothing in that. [illegible] and his position in life is not a hindrance.

[illegible] the restriction upon girls [illegible] young men [illegible] [illegible] feelings [illegible] only being asked him.

[illegible]

SO it's the old story—brand new to you? Dear girl, my heart aches for you. There is nothing funny in your little story. To me it is very pathetic.

If you like the man and he likes you, and there are no other people in the way, you ought to be able to get him to take really a deep interest in you—if you are his type. Many of the happiest marriages are those in which the women do the real courting. But you must not let the man suspect that you are trying to interest him in you. That would be fatal.

What sort of a chap is he? Does he live at home? Or is he, like so many young men, alone in a big city and starving for real friendship and companionship? If he is, that is your chance; invite him to your home, make him welcome there, have a nice little dinner for him and a good comfy chair for him to sit in; don't show him off to your friends or your family, let him alone. Then if he is for you, and you are for him, it won't be long before you both find it out.

Annie Laurie

Miss Laurie will welcome letters of inquiry on subjects of feminine interest from young women readers of this paper and will reply to them in these columns. They should be addressed to her, care this office.

DANGERS OF THE DEEP :: By Michelson

Copyright, 1914, by Newspaper Feature Service, Inc. Great Britain Rights Reserved.

HONEST, there are a great many dangers in boats. You will guess some of them right away. The danger of feeling safely ALONE, for example, and of being carried away by the wonderful blue and green and gold romance of the sea.

What may happen to the boat is another matter. Rocks and shallows need to be VERY plainly marked to attract any attention under some circumstances.

Fortunately there is a dinky in case of accident, and LOVE, silent and watchful, his wireless always working, is on the job. Love knows the value of a life preserver. He knows that the sea of life is full of hazards. He knows the joy of the open, but he knows the need to reach at last the snug harbor of HOME.

Peter's Adventures in Matrimony

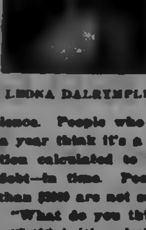
By LEONA DALRYMPLE

Author of the new novel, "Diane of the Green Van," awarded a prize of $10,000 by Ida M. Tarbell and S. S. McClure as judges.

The truth about "the girl in the case" distinguishes this new series by Miss Dalrymple. Her character studies will not appear unfamiliar to the majority of readers, who will follow the fortunes of "Peter" with interest.

No. 110.

Mary on Income Tax.



LEONA DALRYMPLE

"PETER, tell me about the income tax," said my wife one night with the air of one bent upon solving all the riddles of the universe.

"Well," said I, cautiously, "the income tax is a bee that stings. There's a diversity of opinion about its excellence. People who make less than $3000 a year think it's a heaven-born inspiration calculated to pay off the national debt—in time. People who make more than $3000 are not so enthusiastic."

"What do you think of it?"

"I think it's a bully idea," I said with a grin. "I'm not in the bee's path."

Mary was silent for some time—then:

"I wish you did have to pay an income tax," she said.

"In heaven's name, why?"

"Oh, I don't know," said Mary airily.

"I wish I were making sufficient to necessitate it," I agreed, "but I'm not."

"That's what I mean," said Mary eagerly. But I guessed from her air of guilt that there was something else in her mind.

"Peter," she said again, after a while, "will they publish a list of everybody in town who has to pay an income tax?"

"I don't know."

"How much do you have to make to be taxed?"

"Caesar's Ghost, dear," I exclaimed, "it isn't a privilege, you know. I'm not struggling to get into the taxable class by a long shot."

"But honestly," persisted Mary, "just how much do you have to have to be taxed?"

"Over three thousand a year if you're single—four thousand if you're married."

"Well," exclaimed Mary, "I simply do not believe Freddy Jones makes four thousand a year and that's all there is about it. I do not believe it."

"Nor I."

"At the club today," went on Mary indignantly, "Mrs. Jones was rustling about and talking in bored accents about how Freddy had to make out some income tax blank, and how annoying it was."

"I doubt if Freddy wasted more than a bottle of ink," I ventured.

"Peter!"

"Yes?"

"Couldn't you—couldn't you——"

"Yes?"

"Couldn't you say your income was over four thousand?"

"What for?"

"Well, I've thought it all out—and—you'd only have to pay a small sum of money—and—and it looks awfully well, Peter, it really does. It would be worth that much money just to——"

"Just to what?"

"Well, just to be among those who—who have to pay. It does make a difference, Peter. Today everybody was awfully nice to the women whose husbands have to pay an income tax, and the women whose husbands didn't have to pay one were—were sort of slighted."

"Good Lord!" I exclaimed. "Mary, would you honestly want me to pay a tax on a fictitious excess of income merely to gain a little tinsel glory out of it?"

"It's little things like that," defended Mary, "that help one's social position."

And to Mary there was no moral question involved. Only a woman would think of the income tax as a means of measuring social distinction.

Secrets of Health and Happiness

Why You Should Not Eat All Your Appetite Craves

By DR. LEONARD KEENE HIRSHBERG

A. B., M. A., M. D. (Johns Hopkins).

DR. HIRSHBERG

SPRUNG up of late, like the armed men from Cadmus's dragon's teeth, is the absurd instruction "when a child craves candies give him all he wants," and, "whenever you have the appetite, eat."

The exponent of this melancholy propaganda sacrifices physiology and health to a magician-like twist of the wrist. Accuracy is degraded to pay homage to punch and clap-trap, truth is subverted to fine phrases.

"Put a knife to thy throat if thou be a man given to appetite," said Solomon with keen insight. Digestion, true enough, requires a fair appetite, but even an appetite in time proves an abomination.

The little balloon-like arrangement recently discovered by physiologists, which is swallowed and returned for examination, quickly proves the difference between real hunger—the need of the tissues for food—and appetite sharpened with cloyless sauces.

An increase of appetite is the vain boast of many very sick persons, who foolishly convince themselves of good health. An augmented appetite grows on what it feeds.

Actually any one without an appetite—even the sickest of mortals—can summon it quickly enough by chewing, munching and swallowing food. Appetite comes with eating, and Rabelais was by no means the first to discover this.

It is best to preserve your natural appetite in that tone and degree of strength which nature gives. Beware of acquiring a fuller appetite than that with which you have been endowed. The instant you omit the physiological habits of life by eating fondly and too well, your appetite grows apace, and becomes voracious and Gargantuan.

There is nothing more shameless and pathological than the civilized appetite. It does not suffice to slake its thirst at some sweet, neighboring brook, but seeks for sauce and caters to the cook. The fair fruits and tempting viands of wonderful tables are more fatal Loreleis to modern man than veritable Sargasso seas of poisonous liquors.

What the eye sees and wants, and what the tissues need and crave are separate and distinct. Those who are happy enough to lead the simple, primitive life have a mild, moderate, sane sort of hunger. There is no false, artificial appetite engrafted upon it.

Homer said there is nothing more shameless than appetite, which still, whatever anguish loads the breast, makes you remember your own despite both food and drink. Homer did not nod then, for he expressed poetically the fact that the more you eat the greater grows the appetite.

This, too, explains the life insurance statistics, to wit, that the tissue degenerations which cause most middle life deaths are the upshot of overeating as much as overdrinking.

Instinct enables a spider to save its own life by entrapping its prey, but appetite almost neutralizes this effect by nearly gorging the spider to death when it attempts to swallow it.

Answers to Health Questions

GEO. H.—1. How can I reduce my flesh?

2. Can catarrh of the nose be cured?

1. Avoid eating after 6 P. M. Do not eat any fats or greasy foods. Walk, dance, ride a bicycle and run.

2. Most nasal troubles, no matter what they are, can be cured by the nasal surgeon.

• • •

INQUISITIVE—1. My right ear is practically useless, although I hear very good from the other. What causes this? Could ear wax or picking the ear with a pin cause this? Can it be remedied?

2. How can I get rid of too much posterior abdominal flesh?

1. Never dig a sharp instrument into such a delicate structure as the ear. It may injure the ear drum or some other part of the delicate mechanism. Go to a good ear surgeon at once.

2. By rolling, bicycle riding, trapeze exercises, gymnastics and avoidance of all salt in your food. Eschew fats, oils, sweets and all eating and drinking after six.

Useful Hints for the Housewife

By Ann Marie Lloyd

IN summer there is nothing more cooling and delicious than ice cream that is well made. Every one has some favorite recipe with which she has good luck, but, when you grow tired of your own favorite, try one of these four that have proved very satisfactory to me.

FRENCH ICE CREAM.

Two cups of milk, five egg yolks, one cup of sugar, two cups of cream, one tablespoonful vanilla, pinch of salt.

Make a custard of eggs, milk and sugar. When thoroughly cool add the whipped cream, flavoring and freeze.

CHOCOLATE ICE CREAM.

Four cups of cream, six egg yolks, one and one-half cups sugar, four ounces of chocolate, vanilla and pinch of salt.

Scald one cup of cream and add to melted chocolate and cook until it is smooth. Add sugar, salt and vanilla and the other three cups of cream beaten stiff. Lastly the eggs well beaten. Freeze.

STRAWBERRY MOUSSE.

One pint whipped cream, two cups of mashed berries, half a cup of powdered sugar.

Pack in a mould in ice and salt and let stand five or [illegible] coffee mousses use [illegible] instead of berries.

PHILADELPHIA ICE CREAM.

Four cups of light cream, three cups heavy cream, one cup milk, one cup sugar, one tablespoonful flavoring, quarter teaspoonful salt. Mix and freeze without cooking.

To make banana ice cream, which is delicious, add the pulp of four bananas over which the juice of a lemon has been squeezed, to Philadelphia cream.

Ginger ice cream may be made by adding one cup of preserved ginger, chopped fine, two tablespoonfuls lemon juice and three tablespoonfuls of ginger syrup to French ice cream.

Strawberry mousse is a favored frozen sweet to serve at the afternoon garden party, the reception or the luncheon.

The Good Night Story

The Foolish Wife—By VERNON MERRY

NOT so very long ago a poor man left home telling his wife that a man would call to take away seven pretty little pictures, and that she should not give them to him until he had paid her $70. The wife took the pretty pictures and was looking at them when the purchaser called. She asked him for the $70.

"I'm very sorry," said the man, "but I left my purse at home. If you will let me have them I will leave you good security. I shall take only five, and leave the other two until I bring you the money."

The good wife was foolish enough to do this, so the man took the pictures and went away. When her husband came back he asked her for the money. Then she told him how clever she had been. He was so angry that he could scarcely speak a word. He just went out and sat on the doorstep. He wondered if in all the world there was any one half as foolish as his wife.

As he sat there on the steps a young man came down the street, stopped in front of the house, and asked him if he could tell him where a man by the name of John Smith lived. The husband thought he would try and see if this young fellow was as foolish as his wife, so he said:

"Certainly, I know John Smith. What do you want to see John about?

The young man explained that his mother had given him some money to take to Mr. Smith, but he had been unable to find his house.

"I'm sorry," said the husband, "but John is out of town. I do all his business for him while he's away. If you want to give me the money I'll take care of it."

"Here it is," said the young man. "I am so tired walking around looking for Mr. Smith that I'm glad to get rid of it."

Thereupon the young man bowed and went away, and the husband of the foolish wife just sat there on the steps and sighed. He looked at the money and counted it—exactly $70.

"Goodness gracious!" gasped the husband, "precisely the amount of money that I lost through my foolish wife. I know I should not keep it, but how can I find the young man again? I never thought he would be silly enough to give it to me. I am very much ashamed of myself. Yes, after all, there are lots of foolish people in the world besides my wife."

CANADIANS WILL TRAIN IN ENGLAND

This is Real Significance of Announcement by Robert Borden

Ottawa, Sept. 23.—There will be a Canadian army depot established in England where Canadian men and officers will be trained. Your correspondent understands on the best authority that this is the real significance of the announcement of Sir Robert Borden at Valcartier last night that all of the men and officers at the Quebec camp would leave for the Old Country. This does not mean that all of the 32,000 men will go at once to the front. The army division of 22,000 which was originally planned will likely go to the scene of war direct or shortly after arriving in England.

Made Canadian Headquarters.

A mobilization depot will be established in England which will be made Canadian headquarters. The remainder of the men will complete their training there and can then be sent forward to join the Canadian army as fast as they are needed to fill up the losses. Further Canadian regiments for the front will also be sent to this Canadian depot in England.

The decision to send all of the officers and men at Valcartier with the first contingent was followed by an order of the Ordnance Department here to rush the supplies and equipment for the full 31,200. The Department will have a busy time of it, but every possible effort is being made to equip the men before the date tentatively decided on for the sailing of the contingent.

Millions of men and women take a Cascaret now and then and never know the misery caused by a lazy liver, clogged bowels, or an upset stomach.

GERMAN AUTHORITY IN PACIFIC GONE

London, Sept. 23.—The destruction of the wireless telegraphy station on the Island Nauru, which removes the last German stationary wireless apparatus in the Pacific Ocean is reported in a despatch to the Reuter Telegram Company today from Sydney, New South Wales. The British flag now flies over the island, although the German governor and his [illegible] have been allowed to remain.

Scattered fighting has taken place at Rabaul, Neupommern, an island in the Bismarck archipelago. The natives under German leaders proved very troublesome, but the Australian landing party took to cover [illegible] and suffered no loss. After this [illegible] Rabaul practically surrendered. Dr. Pokley, a member of the Australian Red Cross detachment, was shot by a German officer after he had removed his coat with the Red Cross band on the sleeve to cover a wounded man.

BRITISH STEAMER IS LOST; 22 ARE DROWNED

Trinidad, Asia Minor, Sept. 23.—Twenty-two persons lost their lives by drowning as a result of the sinking of the British steamer Belgian King near Cape Kurell yesterday.

Well Done Saskatoon!

Saskatoon citizens subscribed generally and generously to the Patriotic Fund, and the Committee now announces that as it now stands, the fund will permit of an allowance of $7.00 per week to the wives of men who have gone to the front, with 50 cents additional for each child. When the soldier's own pay is added to the above, the provision should be ample.

Saskatoon Shows Fine Example

Doctors, lawyers, real estate men, jurists merchants government officials and capitalists of Saskatoon turned out in answer to the call for recruits for business men's company which is drilling so as to be ready to take their part in the great war when the call comes. There were forty-one men at the drill exercises, and, although some of them were not in athletic shape and on some the ruthless hand of time had frosted thinning hair, all were enthusiastic and went through the drill like patriotic men. In addition to above, local architects and engineers have forwarded an application to the Adjutant General for permission to form an engineering corps. Enthusiasm characterises the whole effort.

Our Point of View

The only certainty about the intervention of Turkey in the European war would be the disappearance of that blot from the map of the world.

We are frank enough to say that up to this writing we have not been able to pronounce Przemsyl nor have we met anybody who could.

When a man says he can remember when good beefsteak was sold for six cents a pound you can figure that he is over sixty years old.

Like the small boy who fooled with the throttle of a steaming locomotive, our old friend, Franz Josef, of Austria, now realizes that he can't stop.

The only fact that has been clearly established by the war news is that when General Von Kluck attempted to lay for Paris he hatched out a good deal of trouble.

Again we are told that the small, hot bullet causes little pain. But we remember that the same was said once for certain pills and experience proved to us that it is not wise to believe everything you hear.

Writing to his wife from France, an English soldier says: "You would have been jealous if you had seen the women, old and young, kiss us. I was kissed scores of times." Great Scott. No wonder war is hell.

Colonel Bolivar Beasley says he dreads the coming of cold weather because every night his wife instead of holding the center as she should do makes a turning movement on the right and carries all the bedclothes with her.

It appears that the Russian commander, General Rennenkampf, his army and his whiskers were in a dangerous position when General Kickeminthesbinski came to his assistance and the German enveloping movement was defeated.

One of the results of the war is that people in their conversations are using "deleted" and "debacle" in a way to make you think that they have been familiar with those words from infancy.

Emperor William announced that he is willing to sacrifice a million men. Well, according to exper, analysis, the million is already sacrificed. What now? He suggests peace, but that will be denied him until he has learned the lesson that the way of the transgressor is hard.

Says the Urbana (Ohio) Democrat: "About thirty friends gathered at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Ben Carter Tuesday to remind Mrs. Carter of her birthday. She was in the wash tub, and to say she was surprised is putting it mildly." We should say so. A wash tub is no place in which to surprise a lady.

GIRL ESCAPES JAIL AT AMITE BY ROUSE

Amite City, La., Sept. 22.—Another "bold" and "daring" fail delivery has been added to the record of the Tangipahoa prison.

This time it is a girl. Mary Applegate Kennedy, arrested at Hammond several month ago on a charge of conducting a blind tiger, is it.

Mary had been allowed every privilege by prison authorities. Thursday, just before noon, she developed an almost unbearable toothache. Her agony was plainly visible to Jailer Wainwright.

For more than an hour she walked the prison floor. The girl at last requested Wainwright to let her go to the artesian well for a pitcher of water so that she might prepare some medicine. The request was granted.

It was not until more than an hour elapsed before the jailer realized that he was the victim of a clever plot to escape.

The jailer is still suffering from the shock occasioned by the escape.

It is reported that the girl had secretly planned to get away with her brother, who waited her with a horse and buggy on a public road leading from Amite to the Tangipahoa river swamps.
